Transit District Against Toll Hike

Demands Service First

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Hikes in Golden Gate Bridge tolls for commuters and buses, approved Friday by bridge district directors were criticized today by Marin County Transit District directors in a unanimous vote urging repeal of all toll hikes until the bridge district has its own transit system in operation.

Bridge district directors voted to hike the cost of the 25-round trip commute book from $6.50 to $10, effective Dec. 26, and to eliminate the commute book after next June. The net result will be to raise the cost of 25 round trips, ultimately to $12.50 at the current rate of 50 cents per round trip.

NOT DISCUSSED

An erroneous report in San Francisco's Sunday newspaper, claiming the bridge district was going to raise the round-trip toll to $1 for private automobiles, was blasted by Supervisor Michael Wornum as "completely fallacious and irresponsible."

Wornum, a member of the bridge board, said a $1 toll "was neither discussed or intended."

He explained that on Friday he had suggested hiking the commute book cost to $10 "as the best positive action to ensure the fastest possible implementation of public transit to give commuter relief."

AGAINST MOTION

His suggestion for the hike to $10 was amended by San Francisco representatives on the bridge board to include elimination of the books six months later, so Wornum voted against the motion on Friday.

Today, however, he joined in urging repeal by bridge directors of all increases in tolls, including his own suggested $10 ticket book cost.

"Unfortunately, the San Francisco representatives, whose extremists sometimes tend to regard the Marin commuter as an alien form of life, seized the occasion to demand the total elimination of the commuter book," Wornum said.

CURRENT REVENUE

But he added that he "did the right thing, although politically hazardous . . . An immediate increase in current revenue is one of the vital requirements if such transit is to be operational," Wornum said.

"In spite of popular belief in the unlimited wealth of the bridge district," he said, "only $6 million is free of prior legal commitments for implementing a bus, ferry and long-term transit system."

Supervisors Flay Fair-Marin Acts

By WAT TAKESHITA

An angry Marin County Board of Supervisors today gave the Fair-Marin board of directors an ultimatum: Produce now or get out of the auditorium and county fair business.

Supervisor Chairman John F. McInnis laid it on the line, charging the Fair-Marin board with:

1. Failing to make adequate preparations for holding the 1971 Marin County Fair at the Civic Center fairgrounds.

2. Doing nothing so far to raise $500,000 needed to complete the second phase of the news veterans memorial auditorium to make it usable. McInnis said Fair-Marin had promised to complete the second phase without the use of any more county funds but has done nothing to raise the funds.

Harold Stockstad, president of Fair-Marin, replied that Fair-Marin can put on the county fair in 1971 at the Civic Center. On the fund-raising, both Stockstad and Leon Kalimos, executive director of Fair-Marin, declared that long-range goals for further development of the fairgrounds, with additional buildings, must be laid out before major donors will come up with large donations.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss charged that Fair-Marin is concentrating on cultural and other exhibits such as ballet at the expense of the traditional agricultural fair which includes rur-

Reputed Mafia Boss In Gaming Indictment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fifty-five persons, including a reputed leader of the Mafia, have been indicted by a federal grand jury on various criminal charges stemming from interstate gambling activities in New Jersey, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell announced today.

Mitchell said the two sealed indictments, returned yesterday in Newark federal court, included charges of conspiracy to violate racketeering and extortion credit laws.

Simultaneous with Mitchell's announcement, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said FBI agents had already begun rounding up some of the 55 in what he called "the largest series of federal gambling arrests ever conducted" in the area.

Hoover said Samuel Rizzo De Cavalcante, who he said, has been identified as a boss of La Cosa Nostra, was one of those charged in the indictments.

The indictments came after a long investigation by an organized crime strike force of the Justice Department, with FBI agents joining in the probe.

The investigation was coordinated by Asst. Atty. Gen. Will R. Wilson, chief of the department's criminal division and Frederick B. Lacey, the U.S. attorney in Newark.

The indictments charged the individuals with using interstate telephone communications to promote illegal bookmaking activities.

Other charges involved travel in interstate commerce to carry on illegal gambling activities and soliciting information about pending raids from law enforcement officials.

De Cavalcante, 58, of Princeton, N.J., was identified as the owner of Kenworth Corp. of Kenilworth, N.J. He was charged on two counts.

Officials withheld the identities of others charged pending arrest.

Laird Denies Federal Split Over Toxins' Warfare Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today the Army will be allowed to use germs to produce poisonous substances for its chemical weapons arsenal.

Laird said these poisonous materials, called toxins, are considered to be chemical agents and thus are not prohibited under President Richard M. Nixon's recent ban on production of offensive biological weapons.

The defense chief made the point while commenting on a published report that the Pentagon and the State Department differ over whether toxins could be produced under Nixon's limitation on germ weapons.

"There is no disagreement with the Department of State in this area," Laird told a news conference. "There is no disagreement between the President's science adviser and the Department of Defense."

Laird said the administration was agreed on the position that toxins, while a byproduct of germs, fall in the field of chemical agents.

This same position also has been taken, he said, by a 14-nation commission formed to advise the secretary-general of the United Nations on chemical and biological warfare matters.

The New York Times reported that Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, the President's adviser on national security affairs, had instructed

Panama's Leader Foils Ouster Try

PANAMA (AP) — Brig. Gen. Omar Torrijos, deposed as the strong man of Panama, regained power today with the support of loyal officers and troops of the National Guard.

Torrijos, who took over from a civilian regime 14 months ago, was removed from the top command of the National Guard, and thus the nation's leadership, yesterday while he was on a weekend social visit to Mexico City.

But he returned to the city of David in western Panama early today by plane and immediately won the support of the National Guard garrison there.

Then the National Guard in this capital threw its support to him and reliable sources here said this garrison arrested the two colonels who led the coup against Torrijos. Other garrisons around the country fell into line.

Torrijos' arrival in this capital was reported as imminent.

The two leaders of the coup—Col. Ramiro Silvera and Col. Amada Sanjur—were reported in jail.

There were no immediate reports of casualties, although some shots were heard.

Troops of the elite Tocumen airport garrison on the outskirts of the city took over the headquarters. Witnesses reported that about five truckloads of troops arrived at headquarters in downtown Panama City just before the shooting started.

The return of Torrijos to power came after businessmen in Panama City took the occasion of his ouster to call for a return to civilian rule.

Laird Sees 10 Pct. Cut In Draft Call

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today that draft calls will be reduced next year about 10 per cent because of President Richard M. Nixon's decision to withdraw another 50,000 men from Vietnam by mid-April.

Laird told a news conference a reduction from the planned draft of about 250,000 men next year will be possible because the total strength of U.S. armed forces will be reduced by virtually all of 50,000 being withdrawn from Vietnam over the next four months.

Draft calls already have been slashed heavily as the Nixon administration's "Vietnamization" program moved forward.

GOP Chairman Rogers Heeds Nixon Role Plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon announced personally today that, at his request, Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton of Maryland will remain as Republican national chairman, forsaking a possible Senate bid in 1970.

After Nixon spoke to newsmen, Morton plugged Rep. J. Glenn Beall Jr., and C. Stanley Blair of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's staff as possible alternative Senate candidates to challenge the Democrat incumbent, Joseph D. Tydings.

Nixon said his decision to ask Morton to remain at the helm of the national committee was "a very close one." But he pictured Morton as one of the most outstanding GOP chairmen ever and said he is needed in the post because "he is presenting a positive picture of the Republican Party across the nation."

Morton, who had just met with Nixon, said he felt he and the President had independently reached the same conclusion—that he remain as national chairman.

Concerning Republican chances to defeat Tydings, Morton said:

"It's a winnable seat . . . I think that Glenn Beall in many respects might run stronger than I would."

He said Beall is a younger man, closer in age to Tydings, and bears a name that "is a household word in Maryland."

He said he didn't feel Tydings "has any great franchise."

A six-year veteran of the House, Morton took over as national chairman in 1968.

Continuing Mortgage Rate Spiral Forecast Next Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Preston Martin, chairman of the federal agency that regulates saving and loans associations, predicted today that mortgage rates will rise still further in 1970, but called on consumers to refuse to pay higher costs.

"It's time the consumer got up on his hind feet and said, 'we're not going to pay that rate'," Martin, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, told a news conference.

He said he thought the interest rate on money the FHLBB system advances to savings and loan associations for home lending would go to 8 per cent by August or September 1970. The rate is now 7.25 or 7.5 per cent in different regions.

Although savings and loan association charge 1.5 per cent above that rate, Martin said he did not think market forces would allow them to charge 9.5 per cent for mortgages. But at the same time, he said, there is no indication yet that prospective homeowners are rebelling against rising rates, which have passed 8.5 per cent in some loans.

The associations, he said, will tend to use their savings money —for which they must pay less than 6 per cent—for private homebuilding, reserving the costlier money for higher risk projects such as apartments.

U.S. Pulling Out Of Libyan Base

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has begun the evacuation of the giant Wheelus Air Force Base in Libya, removing equipment and material, the State Department announced Tuesday.

No personnel has been withdrawn as yet though there was "some reduction in personnel" earlier, after Sept. 1 when a military coup ousted the monarchy, State Department press officer Carl Bartch told a news conference.

Libya asked the United States to liquidate the Wheelus base.

Board Votes To Retain School Aide

The Bolinas-Stinson Beach School District board, after meeting for three hours and 47 minutes in closed session, last night decided to retain a popular teacher's aide at Bolinas School after Supt. C. B. Larison reversed an earlier decision to dismiss her.

The board upheld Larison's decision to dismiss a second aide.

The aide, given board backing, Pamela Smith, had been given notice effective tomorrow that she would no longer be employed as a teacher's aid in the district's seventh and eighth grades due to a reorganization of the aide program.

Several parents appeared at a board meeting last week to oppose Miss Smith's dismissal.

With backing from Trustee Jessie Reasoner, the parents insisted that Miss Smith, a student at San Francisco State College, should be allowed to continue as an aide, particularly because of new math programs she has started at the school.

Larison, after restudying the question of Miss Smith's employment, last night recommended to the board that she continue to be employed by the district at the aide salary of $2.50 an hour.

The board went into closed session at 9:28 p.m. yesterday and did not reconvene in open session until 1:15 a.m. today. It then immediately passed a unanimous motion saying a special override tax approved ear-

Pullout Plan Carries Stiff Hanoi Warning

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon is pulling out another 50,000 troops from South Vietnam but over a longer period than he allowed for previous withdrawals, evidently because of the growing possibility of a major new enemy offensive.

Nixon announced his third cutback in a television speech yesterday afternoon. He set April 15, four months from now, as the deadline for removing the 50,000. For his two previous withdrawals he had allowed about three months each.

The President coupled his announcement with a renewed warning to North Vietnam that he will take "strong and effective measures" if he finds that "increased enemy action jeopardizes our remaining forces in Vietnam."

At the same time he said he had received "cautiously optimistic" reports from observers and from U. S. civilian and military leaders in Vietnam. He quoted from a report made to him by one observer, Sir Robert Thompson, a British veteran of anti-Communist warfare in Southeast Asia, who was, Nixon said, earlier pessimistic about the conduct of the war.

"A winning position in the sense of obtaining a just peace (whether negotiated or not) and of maintaining an independent, non-Communist South Vietnam has been achieved but we are not yet through," Nixon quoted Thompson as saying.

Thompson recommended carrying on a "do it yourself" policy for South Vietnam with "continuing U. S. support in the background." The recommendation is in line with Nixon's stated policy.

Nixon did not say he agrees that a "winning position" has been achieved. But White House officials did not quarrel with the assessment.

Nixon said, however, "there is one disturbing new element in the situation:"

"Enemy infiltration has increased substantially. It has not yet reached the point where our military leaders believe the enemy has developed the capability to mount a major offensive, but we are watching the situation closely to see whether it could develop to that extent."

His choice of an April 15 target date to complete the new troop withdrawal, officials said, gives him more flexibility to assess—and if necessary adjust to—a Communist offensive and still meet his withdrawal deadline. His advisers believe that if North Vietnam launches an offensive it will come in the January-March period.

Last June Nixon started the troop withdrawal program with announcement of the removal of 25,000 men by the end of August. In September he said another 35,000 would come out by Dec. 15. Both rounds have been completed. By April 15 the third round should bring the total of removals to 110,000

Laird said these poisonous materials, called toxins, are considered to be chemical agents and thus are not prohibited under President Richard M. Nixon's recent ban on production of offensive biological weapons.

The defense chief made the point while commenting on a published report that the Pentagon and the State Department differ over whether toxins could be produced under Nixon's limitation on germ weapons.

"There is no disagreement with the Department of State in this area," Laird told a news conference. "There is no disagreement between the President's science adviser and the Department of Defense."

Laird said the administration was agreed on the position that toxins, while a byproduct of germs, fall in the field of chemical agents.

This same position also has been taken, he said, by a 14-nation commission formed to advise the secretary-general of the United Nations on chemical and biological warfare matters.

The New York Times reported that Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, the President's adviser on national security affairs, had instructed

Thieu Backs Cuts; Reds Blast Policy

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu expressed approval today of President Richard M. Nixon's new troop withdrawal plans said South Vietnam's forces are gradually assuming their "increasing share" of the war effort.

North Vietnam rejected the announcement as meaningless. Radio Hanoi said the withdrawal of 50,000 more American troops by April 15 "makes absolutely no progress toward ending the war." It called once again for "complete and unconditional withdrawal of all American aggressor troops."

Thieu said in a communique issued simultaneously with Nixon's televised speech: "This troop replacement, like the two previous replacements, lay within the policy of the government of the Republic of Vietnam to gradually assume its increasing share of the responsibility to defend its country. This troop replacement also lies within the framework of troop replacements for 1970."

"Nixon's Dec. 15 speech," Radio Hanoi said, "clearly shows that he aims to continue the American war of aggression by his despicable policy of Vietnamizing the war—in which he seeks to use Vietnamese to kill other Vietnamese in furtherance of American imperialistic neo-colonialism of our nation."

The 50,000-man withdrawal will raise to 110,000 the number of American troops pulled out of Vietnam since last June and will cut the authorized troop ceiling to 434,000.

The U.S. Command said the decisions on which American units will be pulled out in the new redeployment will be made in the near future by a conference of top officers with Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S. commander in Vietnam.

An hour before Nixon began speaking, the Viet Cong made its first major terrorist attack in Saigon in three months.

Moving in under a volley of covering rifle fire, three terrorists used plastic explosives to blow up the printing plant of an independent, anti-Communist daily newspaper published by Sen. Dang Van Sung. Military spokesmen said six persons were wounded and the terrorists escaped.

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — About 2.5 million cigarette smokers kicked the habit between 1966 and 1968, according to a new government survey.

Cigarette smokers of every age and both sexes are quitting, it said. And the number of young people aged 17 to 24 who have never smoked at all is increasing.

The survey was released by the National Center for Health Statistics, which used Census Bureau reports to reach its conclusions.

Coward Honored

LONDON (AP)—Noel Coward turned 70 today and almost 100 stars came out at midnight yesterday to celebrate the event.

The maestro of the London stage was honored by a spectacular birthday reception at the Phoenix Theater as the day began — the high point of a week jam — packed with nothing but Noel.

Some of the biggest names in Britain's theater and movie world stood — many on their seats — to applaud as Coward stepped smiling into the royal box a few minutes after midnight.

The pre-dawn variety show, called "A Talent to Amuse," was devised from Coward's works and a recent biography.

Soviet Industry

MOSCOW — (AP) — The Soviet Union's top economic planner reported today industrial output increased by 7 per cent in 1969, slightly under the 7.3 per cent goal set a year ago.

But Nikolai Baibakov, chiarman of the State Planning Commission, added that the over-all state industrial plan would be fulfilled.

For 1970 he set a more modest goal for industrial production — a 6.3 per cent rise.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Authorities were to conduct tests today on seven articles of clothing believed stained with blood that were discovered near the Benedict Canyon estate where actress Sharon Tate and four other persons were slain.

Three black T-shirts, one white T-shirt and three pairs of blue jeans were found by a television news crew yesterday and turned over to police.

A spokesman for KABC-TV said the clothing was stained with what appeared to be blood.

To appeal conviction

Actor's Son Sentenced On Draft Stand

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Christian W. Hayden, 21, son of actor Sterling Hayden, said he would appeal his conviction on two draft law violations after he was sentenced to three and one-half years in prison yesterday.

Hayden told U.S. District Court Judge Manuel L. Real he intended to appeal the conviction and was granted a stay of execution until tomorrow to file a motion for bond.

Hayden, who acted as his own attorney at the trial, testified he refused to report for induction because he is against fighting and killing and because the Selective Service laws "violate the natural rights and laws of the people."

Just prior to the sentencing, Hayden said, "I would rather spend the rest of my days in jail than make a butchery of my conscience." He was quoting author John Bunyon.

It was the third trial on the charges for Hayden. He was acquitted last year for failure to report for induction because of a procedural error by his draft board. Judge Warren J. Ferguson stated at the time he thought Hayden was a conscientious objector but the board reclassified him 1A.

When Hayden again failed to report, he was tried Nov. 4 and a jury returned two guilty verdicts. But when the jurors were polled, one said the verdicts did not reflect her vote and a mistrial was declared.

Hayden's father, a Marine captain during World War II, has said he supports his son's stand.

Christmas Hopes For Tax Reform?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Handlers of the big tax reform bill, after seeing progress made composing House-Senate differences on one major issue and scores of minor ones, held out hope today for a law on the books by Christmas.

A 15 per cent increase in Social Security benefits was nailed down yesterday when the House passed 397-0, separate legislation providing such a boost.

The Senate has included a similar but broader provision in its general tax reform bill.

The big issue to be resolved is an additional Senate provision making a special increase in the minimum payment—from $55 to $100. This makes the Senate version cost about $6.4 billion a year, $2 billion more than the House measure.

The conference committee handling the differing Senate and House tax reform versions has yet to consider the other issue which brought veto threats from President Richard M. Nixin— a increase from $600 to $800 in the personal income tax exemption spread over two years, beginning in 1970.

There have been suggestions the conference might agree on a modified version, combined with tax rate reductions and taking effect later.

But Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, senior Republican member of the House delegation, told newsmen he has doubts about writing future tax reductions into present legislation.

Rep. Wilbur Mills, the Arkansas Democrat who chairs the committee, said he is hopeful the conference can keep up its pace of disposing of detailed provisions. If so, Mills said, it can produce a compromise bill by the end of this week, allowing time for final House and Senate action before Christmas.

Asst. Secretary of the Treasury Edwin S. Cohen, talking with newsmen after the session, said tax collections would be seriously hampered if Congress adjourned before Jan. 1 without completing action on the bill.

Since the income surtax would expire—although the House and Senate separately have voted to extend it six months at 5 per cent—there would be no authority for withholding at present rates, Cohen said. Certain excise taxes extended by both versions of the bill also would drop, he said.

Senators Tie Strings On Combat Troop Cash

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate approved nearly $70 billion for defense, turning aside a last thrust by Safeguard opponents, and banning funds for any U.S. combat troops in Thailand and Laos.

Approved 85-4, the Senate's version setting defense appropriations at $69.3 billion was some $5 billion less than asked by the Pentagon. The House has approved $70 billion. An additional $2 billion for military housing and construction will be covered in other legislation.

Senate galleries were cleared and chamber doors bolted yesterday for debate that led to a ban on using money for "introduction of American ground troops in Laos and Thailand." The vote on this amendment was 73-17 after two hours of secret discussion, only the fifth time since World War II the chamber has been closed.

In the Safeguard debate Republican, Margaret Chase Smith of Maine said, "I am all the more convinced that spending for ABM is a tragic waste of funds and resources." Her amendment to strike out nearly all the $779.4 million for the first phase of Safeguard was defeated 49 to 36.

Oregon Republican Mark Hatfield said the Pentagon has told him the cost for the first phase of ABM had increased $277 million just since last summer.

At this rate of overrun, Hatfield said, the first phase—deployment at two sites only—would reach $13.7 billion by 1976 instead of the $4.18 billion estimated by the Pentagon.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, sponsored the restriction on ground troops finally accepted by the Senate.

The appropriations bill provides $2.2 billion for support of local forces in Vietnam, our allies there, and support for local forces in Laos and Thailand.

Hayakawa In Noisy Session At Columbia

NEW YORK (UPI)—President S. I. Hayakawa of San Francisco State College held his fist in the air before nearly 1,200 Columbia University students last night and said he would finish his speech, even if it took until four o'clock in the morning.

In an apparent roar of approval students applauded, yelled and whistled in the school's McMillian Theater, where Hayakawa, of Mill Valley, spoke on the goals of higher education.

300 PROTESTORS

A crowd of nearly 300 radicals protesting Hayakawa's appearance gathered outside the gates of Columbia, scene of massive student demonstrations and building takeovers in 1967. Hayakawa took a hard line against similar demonstrations at San Francisco State in 1969.

A large contingent of police, including mounted police, the tactical patrol force, and the specially trained special events squad watched the protesters and kept all of them off the sidewalk in front of the theater.

Hayakawa began his speech to both jeers and applause. He was introduced by a student representative as a man specialized in semantics. Some in the crowd laughed and catcalled.

Hayakawa said it appeared by the interjections that students "had been effected by the news media as much as any one."

"You don't look like your TV image, at least not all of you," he said. He also said that "a minority of the student generation, not more than 2 per cent, had been pictured by the news media and middle-aged adolescents in the faculty as representatives of the students generation."

Two Expelled

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — Harvard University has expelled two students and suspended 14 for their part in forcibly confining the dean of the college in his office during a demonstration on Nov. 19, it was announced yesterday.

Of 25 students whose cases were considered, one was acquitted, one was admonished, five were warned and two were placed on probation.

Fifteen of the 25 students were male undergraduates, six were women and four were graduate students. The university did not identify them.

Post Office Warns Tardy Yule Mailers

Rain, snow or dark of night may not deter the postman from his appointed rounds, but the Christmas rush of letters and packages seems to be slowing him down considerably.

Persons who mailed parcel post packages to the East Coast after Dec. 10 will probably find their packages will not arrive by Christmas, San Rafael Postmaster Hugh Cassidy said today. And those with packages to the Midwest may find themselves in the same situation if they mail them this week.

Cassidy said that only those items mailed to areas West of the Rocky Mountains still have a good chance of getting there in time for the holiday. And the time is running out for even those packages, with tomorrow designated as the last possible mailing time.

As for letters, those mailed to the East Coast should go out by tomorrow to insure their delivery before Christmas, the postmaster said.

Although the holiday postal traffic appears no heavier than in previous years, it is still monumental, according the Cassidy who indicated the San Rafael post office is handling an average of 3,500 incoming parcels and between 12,000 and 16,000 outgoing packages every day.

Cassidy said his office is processing about a quarter of a million outgoing letters and 200,000 incoming letters each day.

Taxpayers Criticize Teachers' Initiative

A tax relief proposal by the California Teachers Association actually has a greater potential for increasing the total tax load, the Marin County Taxpayers Association has charged.

The CTA claims the initiative measure would provide $850 million in tax relief to local taxpayers but the Marin association believes taxes would "increase significantly" if the proposal became law.

The proposal would: Add $500 million a year to state public school appropriations and provide for a 50-50 split between state and local governments of the cost of financing local schools;

Require the state to pay 90 per cent of the cost of welfare, up from the current 65 per cent;

Boost the property tax exemption to $1,000 and increase by 50 per cent state school appropriations to poor areas.

The taxpayers group contended in its Tax News bulletin, the measure imposes substantial new costs on the state without providing revenue sources to meet these obligations.

It also grants large income increases to counties and school districts without imposing any obligation on these agencies to reduce local taxes in proportionate amounts, the Marin taxpayers maintained.

In a letter to the Marin County Board of Supervisors, the group also argued against the measure because it deals with two unrelated governmental activities and there is no way voters can approve or reject separate parts.

The group also said state officials have arrived at different amounts than those provided by CTA.

Christmas Lighting Judging Due Tonight

The outdoor Christmas lighting contest judging in Marin Country Club Estates in Novato will be tonight at 7:30, according to a spokesman for the Marin Country Club Garden Club, which sponsors the competition.

Judges are: Mr. and Mrs. William E. Campbell, Mrs. and Mrs. Robert W. Dinsmore and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Lindauer, all winners in last year's contest.

Reagan Has The Votes Now Says Democrat Brown

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Former Gov. Edmund G. Brown said yesterday that if the governorship election were held today, Gov. Ronald Reagan would defeat any of his potential opponents.

"But it's a long way to November, and things change rapidly," Democrat Brown said at a luncheon meeting of the Comstock Club of Sacramento. He lost to Republican Reagan in 1966.

He cited the rapid declines from popularity peaks both he and President Lyndon B. Johnson suffered and said the same thing could happen to Reagan.

"The morale of state employees is down," Brown said. " . . . and the same issues he beat me on in 1966 are still unresolved."

Nixon made his first announcement was 542,500 men, which will be reduced to 432,500 by April 15.

In his broadcast Nixon used a slightly different set of figures based on maximum authorized strength. That is normally somewhat higher than actual strength, White House officials said.

The ceiling figure when he took office was 549,500. He said with his new order that ceiling "has now been reduced by 115,500 men," indicating the cuts in authorized strength total about 5,500 more men than withdrawals based on real strength.

Nixon called the new reduction in force "another orderly step in our plan for peace in Vietnam."

He said he had consulted with U. S. allies in Vietnam before ordering it. In Saigon President Nguyen Van Thieu said it is in line with South Vietnam's policy of assuming the burden of combat gradually.

The White House said in spite of the threat of increased enemy activity, the planned withdrawal is expected to proceed as announced. Nixon can, however, slow it down if he finds evidence of a massive North Vietnamese troop buildup, and if signs of a coming offensive multiply.

One official estimated that, according to reports from the field infiltration is running five to 10 times the flow of troops from North to South Vietnam two or three months ago.

That indicates a level of perhaps 10,000 to 20,000 men a month.

Nixon based his third withdrawal order on the ability of South Vietnamese forces to take over the war from U. S. forces. One of his three criteria for such decisions has been a low-level of enemy action, which is now uncertain; the other has been progress in the Paris peace talks and on that point he reported "no progress whatever." He appealed to the North Vietnamese for negotiations.

The President also strongly indicated that until he has word that Hanoi is ready for serious negotiations he will not replace Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, who recently resigned as his top negotiator in Paris.

Nixon said he had designated Philip Habib, a career diplomat who has been active in the Paris talks for 18 months, "as the acting head of our delegation with the personal rank of ambassador."

Though yesterday's statement is probably his final one this year on Vietnam, Nixon did not assess his progress in Vietnamization of the war in terms which have been much discussed publicly—that is, whether he is moving as rapidly as he hoped last spring. At that time he said he hoped to beat goals which had been proposed by former Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford, who served in the Johnson administration.

Clifford called for removal of 100,000 men by the end of 1969 and withdrawal of all ground combat forces by the end of 1970.

lier in the year would continue to be used for aides.

The motion said the district should retain Miss Smith, Marcia Hensell, Marie Dern and Elizabeth Blodgett. It also said Elizabeth Okamura will continue to act as music aide for grades 1 through 6.

Susan Breitrose, who was given notice at the same time as was Miss Smith, was not reemployed. The board's failure to mention her in last night's motion had the effect of endorsing Larison's recommendation.

Last week, Larison said Miss Breitrose and Miss Smith were being dismissed without prejudice because of a reorganization in the aide program.

The board motion ordered that a detailed plan on how the teacher aides will be used in the two grades be presented to it at its Jan. 5 meeting.

The board adjourned after the motion but quickly reconvened to accept Larison's resignation which he handed to the board last week. The resignation, accepted unanimously, will be effective at the end of the school year.

The board last night also reviewed future plans for the district being prepared by Bolinas architect Richard Borgstrom and moved the kindergarten closing hour back from 12:30 p.m. to 11:45 a.m.

Burglary Plea

Steven E. Bigelow, 20, of Larkspur, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of burglarizing an Alto residence on Oct. 23, 1968.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson set sentencing for Jan. 19.

Theft From Car

Stereophonic equipment valued at $119 was stolen Friday from a car parked in the carport of the owner Jimmie Carroll Harris at 108 Professional Center Parkway, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

TOLL

$10 commuter book, failed, 3-4.

Also criticized by transit district directors was the bridge board's hike of bus tolls from 26 cents to $2 for a round trip. The hike will be passed on to Marin commuters and discourage ridership, thus adding to auto congestion, the transit district directors said.

Greyhound Lines West told the Independent-Journal yesterday that it would file an application this week with the California Public Utilities Commission to raise fares by about 5 per cent to cover the cost of the higher bridge tolls.

Meyer noted that he was the only bridge director to oppose the higher toll for buses. The Independent-Journal incorrectly reported yesterday that he joined Wornum and Marin's other bridge board representative, Joseph E. Sheeks of Belvedere, in voting for the higher bus toll.

The San Francisco Examinier, in a Monday edition, also claimed that property owners in the six-county bridge district were subject to taxation by the bridge board to pay for a new transit system between Marin and San Francisco.

But the bridge district's general manager, Dale W. Luehring, told the Independent-Journal today that such a proposal had received "absolutely no consideration whatsoever at any time" by the bridge board. Financing of a rapid transit system, to be built someday, will be so costly that property taxes "couldn't even do the job," he said.

Federal and state money will be needed to buy such a system, he said.

The bus and ferry system being planned now by the bridge district, however, probably can be financed from tolls and existing reserves, Luehring noted.

Sister Follows Brother; Takes Oratory Trophy

Lucette Katerndahl, a seventh grader at St. Rafael's Parochial School, last night was named winner in a citywide oratory contest sponsored by Davidson Junior High School in San Rafael.

Lucette, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Katerndahl of 31 Roberts Avenue, was the second member of her family to win the speech contest. Her brother, Richard Jr., took first place in last year's competition.

Runnerup in this year's contest was Kevin Barr, also of St. Raphael's, son of Dr. and Mrs. William H. Barr, 11 Maywood Drive, San Rafael.

Students representing St. Raphael's, Davidson and the San Rafael Military Academy spoke on President John F. Kennedy's maxim, "Ask not what your country can do for you; ask what you can do for your country."

All finalists and winners received certificates. Other finalist were: Scott Hickman, Marianne Nave, Kathleen Melia, Sharon Ives, Denise Silva, Andrew Pearce and Steven Dunlap.

Tomales FFA Club Is Winner

Jeanne Ballatore and Dale Jones of the Tomales Future Farmers of America won first place for Tomales High School at the annual Co-Op quiz contest at Santa Rosa High School last night.

Schools participating in the Sonoma Section included Petaluma, Santa Rosa, Napa, Healdsburg, Sebastapol, Sonoma and Tomales. This is the third consecutive year Tomales has won the contest.

Winning schools are determined by the highest average score on local contest, per cent of participation and highest scores of the two contestants on a section level. Tomales had 100 per cent participation and a local average score of 75.4 per cent.

Vandals Hit Homes

Vandals broke $134 worth of windows in three homes under construction in the Monarch Manor subdivisions Sunday night, Petaluma police reported. The damaged homes included ones at 1001 and 924 Catalpa Way and 908 St. Francis Drive.

Nixon Gets School Fund Bill Rebuff

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee kept in a money bill today a provision that the Nixon administration said could cripple the government's school desegregation efforts.

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., told newsmen after the committee's closed meeting that his motion to strike the language was rejected by a 14-6 vote.

The bill, appropriating $20 billion to finance the Health, Education and Welfare Department, the Labor Department and related agencies, was rushed to the Senate floor for immediate debate.

Case said he would renew his efforts in the Senate to delete the desegregation provision, a slightly revised version of an amendment written into the bill in the House.

The amendment would prohibit the government from requiring any school district to bus students, close down schools, or assign pupils against their parents' wishes.

In effect, it would give congressional sanction to freedom of choice plans which the Supreme Court has held are unconstitutional unless they bring about an end to dual school systems.

Yesterday, the committee amended the big appropriation bill to permit a cutoff of federal funds to colleges that fail to control campus violence.

Case said "the underlying purpose of today's amendment is to undercut the Supreme Court's recent direction" for immediate school desegregation.

al exhibits such as 4-H and Future Farmers. "If you're not going to have anything to do with agricultural fairs, then you won't be getting any more money," said Gnoss.

Lotte McWatters, member of the Marin-Fair board, replied that Fair-Marin certainly intends to continue the agricultural and rural type of exhibits. She said Gnoss must have misunderstood what Fair-Marin plans to do.

Chairman McInnis also criticized the Fair-Marin board for trying to get its manager, Kalimos to spearhead a fund raising drive. "If you hired him to raise money, I think you hired the wrong man," said McInnis.

Stockstad answered that one of the qualifications that led to Kalimos being hired was his past experience in fund raising.

Today's discussion was sparked by County Administrator Alan Bruce's blunt recommendation that Fair-Marin board of directors should be stripped of its authority over the auditorium and the county fair, and the county should take over.

Lagunitas School Bid Review Set

A special meeting of the Lagunitas School District board will be held at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the San Geronimo Valley Elementary School to consider bids for lease of the old Lagunitas School.

The board has indicated it favors a plan by Lagunitas artist Jean Brenensmeier but decided to call for bids on the recommendation of the county counsel.

A valley citizens group promoting law and order has also eyed the building as a sheriff's substation.

Cancels Again

The Southern Marin Target Area board canceled its scheduled meeting in Marin City last night due to a lack of a quorum, the third consecutive meeting canceled because not enough members attended. The antipoverty agency did not reschedule the meeting.

OBITUARIES

William A. Silva Dies At 35

William A. Silva, 35, manager of the Santa Venetia Little League, collapsed and died yesterday in the office of a Greenbrae physician, apparently of a heart attack.

Silva had complained of arm and chest pains Sunday, and went to the office of Dr. Wendell H. Butler at 1350 South Eliseo Drive yesterday morning for an examination. He collapsed on the floor of the examination room shortly before 9:30 a.m.

Silva, of 122 Birch Way, Santa Venetia, was employed as a mechanic for Don Collins Buick in San Rafael. He had been a mechanic 18 years and belonged to Machinists Union Local 238 of Marin.

Born in Monterey, Silva had lived in Marin County for 33 years.

Survivors are his wife, Laura; two sons, Tony and Billy Jr., and a daughter, Doreen, all at home; his parents, Anthony H. and Erma Silva of Corte Madera, and two sisters, Mrs. Robert Stine of Petaluma and Mrs. Gerald Stone of San Rafael.

Requiem Mass will be offered at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at Blessed Sacrament Church, Santa Venetia, with recitation of the Rosary at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Contributions to the Gallinas Valley Little League or the Babe Ruth League are preferred.

GRACE SEWELL

Graveside service for Grace E. Sewell of Mill Valley will be at 11:30 a.m. tomorrow at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael. Funeral cortege will leave the Russell and Gooch funeral chapel in Mill Valley at 11 a.m.

Mrs. Sewell died Sunday at a local hospital following a long illness. She was 84.

Born in San Francisco, Mrs. Sewell moved to Sausalito in 1913 and to Mill Valley in 1918 with her husband, the late Thomas J. Sewell, one of the early owners of the Mill Valley Lumber Co. Mrs. Sewell recently lived at 187 Elm Avenue.

She was a member of the Mill Valley Outdoor Art Club and Mill Valley Chapter 219, Order of Eastern Star. She also was a 50-year member of the order's Colfax chapter.

She is survived by a brother Arthur J. Paine of Oakland.

DOUGLAS FOX

Private funeral for Douglas A. Fox, San Rafael building contractor, was held today at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

Fox had been a partner in the Ross Valley Construction Co. for the past five years. He was a native of Troy, Idaho.

Survivors are his wife, Jan, and two children, Paul Douglas and Karen Lee Fox, all of the home at 705 Pine Lane, San Rafael; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fox of Azusa, Los Angeles County; a brother, Bruce Fox of Carmichael, Sacramento County, and a sister, Karn Hables of Monrovia, Los Angeles County.

Memorial contributions may be made to the donor's favorite charity.

DILWORTH HUGHES

A memorial service for Dilworth L. Hughes of Corte Madera will be tomorrow at 2 p.m. in Holy Innocents Episcopal Church, Corte Madera.

Hughes, 56, owner of a San Francisco publishing firm and manager of the Subcontractors Association of Marin County, died unexpectedly in his sleep Friday at his home.

A native of San Francisco, he had lived in Marin County for 17 years, making his home at 357 Corte Madera Avenue. He was owner of D. L. Hughes Associates Inc., a company which publishes college alumni directories.

Hughes was a member of a Chicago Lodge of the Free and Accepted Masons, the Islam Shrine, the Marin Shrine Club and the Mill Valley Golf Club.

He is survived by his wife, Margaret; three daughters, Dee Ellen Hughes of Chicago, Barbara and Kinberlee Hughes of Corte Madera; a son, Thomas Hughes of Corte Madera and a sister, Floy-Margaret Reynolds of San Francisco.

Inurnment will be in Cypress Lawn Cemetery, Colma. The family prefers contributions to the American Diabetic Foundation.

BRUCE LEWIS

of the new 50,000 man withdrawal last night. Laird disclosed that Nixon had instructed him to go to Veitnam the first week in February to "assess the situation as it affects the security of our forces" and to size up the enemy's military capability and infiltration.

The defense chief acknowledged his visit will come just about in the critical Tet period which in the past has seen major enemy offensives, including the great countrywide assault of early 1968.

Laird said that, on the basis of present infiltration rates, and a 40,000 man drop in enemy strength, he does not regard the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong as able to mount a sustained offensive at this time.

Asked about other enemy forces grouped outside of South Vietnam, in Cambodia and Laos, Laird said "I rule out the possibility they could move" these elements into South Vietnam's III corps and IV corps in time to be ready for an offensive soon.

the Army to stop producing toxins until the National Security Council could clarify the President's recent announcement.

Both the White House and Army denied the report.

In his recent announcement on CBW limitations, Nixon said the United States could support a treaty proposed by Britain for the Geneva Disarmament Conference prohibiting the production, stockpiling and the use of biological agents.

According to some interpretations, the British treaty would prohibit toxins.

Nixon made his first announcement was 542,500 men, which will be reduced to 432,500 by April 15.

In his broadcast Nixon used a slightly different set of figures based on maximum authorized strength. That is normally somewhat higher than actual strength, White House officials said.

The ceiling figure when he took office was 549,500. He said with his new order that ceiling "has now been reduced by 115,500 men," indicating the cuts in authorized strength total about 5,500 more men than withdrawals based on real strength.

Nixon called the new reduction in force "another orderly step in our plan for peace in Vietnam."

He said he had consulted with U. S. allies in Vietnam before ordering it. In Saigon President Nguyen Van Thieu said it is in line with South Vietnam's policy of assuming the burden of combat gradually.

The White House said in spite of the threat of increased enemy activity, the planned withdrawal is expected to proceed as announced. Nixon can, however, slow it down if he finds evidence of a massive North Vietnamese troop buildup, and if signs of a coming offensive multiply.

One official estimated that, according to reports from the field infiltration is running five to 10 times the flow of troops from North to South Vietnam two or three months ago.

That indicates a level of perhaps 10,000 to 20,000 men a month.

Nixon based his third withdrawal order on the ability of South Vietnamese forces to take over the war from U. S. forces. One of his three criteria for such decisions has been a low-level of enemy action, which is now uncertain; the other has been progress in the Paris peace talks and on that point he reported "no progress whatever." He appealed to the North Vietnamese for negotiations.

The President also strongly indicated that until he has word that Hanoi is ready for serious negotiations he will not replace Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, who recently resigned as his top negotiator in Paris.

Nixon said he had designated Philip Habib, a career diplomat who has been active in the Paris talks for 18 months, "as the acting head of our delegation with the personal rank of ambassador."

Though yesterday's statement is probably his final one this year on Vietnam, Nixon did not assess his progress in Vietnamization of the war in terms which have been much discussed publicly—that is, whether he is moving as rapidly as he hoped last spring. At that time he said he hoped to beat goals which had been proposed by former Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford, who served in the Johnson administration.

Clifford called for removal of 100,000 men by the end of 1969 and withdrawal of all ground combat forces by the end of 1970.

lier in the year would continue to be used for aides.

The motion said the district should retain Miss Smith, Marcia Hensell, Marie Dern and Elizabeth Blodgett. It also said Elizabeth Okamura will continue to act as music aide for grades 1 through 6.

Susan Breitrose, who was given notice at the same time as was Miss Smith, was not reemployed. The board's failure to mention her in last night's motion had the effect of endorsing Larison's recommendation.

Last week, Larison said Miss Breitrose and Miss Smith were being dismissed without prejudice because of a reorganization in the aide program.

The board motion ordered that a detailed plan on how the teacher aides will be used in the two grades be presented to it at its Jan. 5 meeting.

The board adjourned after the motion but quickly reconvened to accept Larison's resignation which he handed to the board last week. The resignation, accepted unanimously, will be effective at the end of the school year.

The board last night also reviewed future plans for the district being prepared by Bolinas architect Richard Borgstrom and moved the kindergarten closing hour back from 12:30 p.m. to 11:45 a.m.

TOLL

$10 commuter book, failed, 3-4.

Also criticized by transit district directors was the bridge board's hike of bus tolls from 26 cents to $2 for a round trip. The hike will be passed on to Marin commuters and discourage ridership, thus adding to auto congestion, the transit district directors said.

Greyhound Lines West told the Independent-Journal yesterday that it would file an application this week with the California Public Utilities Commission to raise fares by about 5 per cent to cover the cost of the higher bridge tolls.

Meyer noted that he was the only bridge director to oppose the higher toll for buses. The Independent-Journal incorrectly reported yesterday that he joined Wornum and Marin's other bridge board representative, Joseph E. Sheeks of Belvedere, in voting for the higher bus toll.

The San Francisco Examinier, in a Monday edition, also claimed that property owners in the six-county bridge district were subject to taxation by the bridge board to pay for a new transit system between Marin and San Francisco.

But the bridge district's general manager, Dale W. Luehring, told the Independent-Journal today that such a proposal had received "absolutely no consideration whatsoever at any time" by the bridge board. Financing of a rapid transit system, to be built someday, will be so costly that property taxes "couldn't even do the job," he said.

Federal and state money will be needed to buy such a system, he said.

The bus and ferry system being planned now by the bridge district, however, probably can be financed from tolls and existing reserves, Luehring noted.

Sister Follows Brother; Takes Oratory Trophy

Lucette Katerndahl, a seventh grader at St. Rafael's Parochial School, last night was named winner in a citywide oratory contest sponsored by Davidson Junior High School in San Rafael.

Lucette, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Katerndahl of 31 Roberts Avenue, was the second member of her family to win the speech contest. Her brother, Richard Jr., took first place in last year's competition.

Runnerup in this year's contest was Kevin Barr, also of St. Raphael's, son of Dr. and Mrs. William H. Barr, 11 Maywood Drive, San Rafael.

Students representing St. Raphael's, Davidson and the San Rafael Military Academy spoke on President John F. Kennedy's maxim, "Ask not what your country can do for you; ask what you can do for your country."

All finalists and winners received certificates. Other finalist were: Scott Hickman, Marianne Nave, Kathleen Melia, Sharon Ives, Denise Silva, Andrew Pearce and Steven Dunlap.

Tomales FFA Club Is Winner

Jeanne Ballatore and Dale Jones of the Tomales Future Farmers of America won first place for Tomales High School at the annual Co-Op quiz contest at Santa Rosa High School last night.

Schools participating in the Sonoma Section included Petaluma, Santa Rosa, Napa, Healdsburg, Sebastapol, Sonoma and Tomales. This is the third consecutive year Tomales has won the contest.

Winning schools are determined by the highest average score on local contest, per cent of participation and highest scores of the two contestants on a section level. Tomales had 100 per cent participation and a local average score of 75.4 per cent.

Nixon Gets School Fund Bill Rebuff

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee kept in a money bill today a provision that the Nixon administration said could cripple the government's school desegregation efforts.

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., told newsmen after the committee's closed meeting that his motion to strike the language was rejected by a 14-6 vote.

The bill, appropriating $20 billion to finance the Health, Education and Welfare Department, the Labor Department and related agencies, was rushed to the Senate floor for immediate debate.

Case said he would renew his efforts in the Senate to delete the desegregation provision, a slightly revised version of an amendment written into the bill in the House.

The amendment would prohibit the government from requiring any school district to bus students, close down schools, or assign pupils against their parents' wishes.

In effect, it would give congressional sanction to freedom of choice plans which the Supreme Court has held are unconstitutional unless they bring about an end to dual school systems.

Yesterday, the committee amended the big appropriation bill to permit a cutoff of federal funds to colleges that fail to control campus violence.

Case said "the underlying purpose of today's amendment is to undercut the Supreme Court's recent direction" for immediate school desegregation.

al exhibits such as 4-H and Future Farmers. "If you're not going to have anything to do with agricultural fairs, then you won't be getting any more money," said Gnoss.

Lotte McWatters, member of the Marin-Fair board, replied that Fair-Marin certainly intends to continue the agricultural and rural type of exhibits. She said Gnoss must have misunderstood what Fair-Marin plans to do.

Chairman McInnis also criticized the Fair-Marin board for trying to get its manager, Kalimos to spearhead a fund raising drive. "If you hired him to raise money, I think you hired the wrong man," said McInnis.

Stockstad answered that one of the qualifications that led to Kalimos being hired was his past experience in fund raising.

Today's discussion was sparked by County Administrator Alan Bruce's blunt recommendation that Fair-Marin board of directors should be stripped of its authority over the auditorium and the county fair, and the county should take over.

Lagunitas School Bid Review Set

A special meeting of the Lagunitas School District board will be held at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the San Geronimo Valley Elementary School to consider bids for lease of the old Lagunitas School.

The board has indicated it favors a plan by Lagunitas artist Jean Brenensmeier but decided to call for bids on the recommendation of the county counsel.

A valley citizens group promoting law and order has also eyed the building as a sheriff's substation.

Cancels Again

The Southern Marin Target Area board canceled its scheduled meeting in Marin City last night due to a lack of a quorum, the third consecutive meeting canceled because not enough members attended. The antipoverty agency did not reschedule the meeting.

OBITUARIES

William A. Silva Dies At 35

William A. Silva, 35, manager of the Santa Venetia Little League, collapsed and died yesterday in the office of a Greenbrae physician, apparently of a heart attack.

Silva had complained of arm and chest pains Sunday, and went to the office of Dr. Wendell H. Butler at 1350 South Eliseo Drive yesterday morning for an examination. He collapsed on the floor of the examination room shortly before 9:30 a.m.

Silva, of 122 Birch Way, Santa Venetia, was employed as a mechanic for Don Collins Buick in San Rafael. He had been a mechanic 18 years and belonged to Machinists Union Local 238 of Marin.

Born in Monterey, Silva had lived in Marin County for 33 years.

Survivors are his wife, Laura; two sons, Tony and Billy Jr., and a daughter, Doreen, all at home; his parents, Anthony H. and Erma Silva of Corte Madera, and two sisters, Mrs. Robert Stine of Petaluma and Mrs. Gerald Stone of San Rafael.

Requiem Mass will be offered at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at Blessed Sacrament Church, Santa Venetia, with recitation of the Rosary at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Contributions to the Gallinas Valley Little League or the Babe Ruth League are preferred.

GRACE SEWELL

Graveside service for Grace E. Sewell of Mill Valley will be at 11:30 a.m. tomorrow at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael. Funeral cortege will leave the Russell and Gooch funeral chapel in Mill Valley at 11 a.m.

Mrs. Sewell died Sunday at a local hospital following a long illness. She was 84.

Born in San Francisco, Mrs. Sewell moved to Sausalito in 1913 and to Mill Valley in 1918 with her husband, the late Thomas J. Sewell, one of the early owners of the Mill Valley Lumber Co. Mrs. Sewell recently lived at 187 Elm Avenue.

She was a member of the Mill Valley Outdoor Art Club and Mill Valley Chapter 219, Order of Eastern Star. She also was a 50-year member of the order's Colfax chapter.

She is survived by a brother Arthur J. Paine of Oakland.

of the new 50,000 man withdrawal last night. Laird disclosed that Nixon had instructed him to go to Veitnam the first week in February to "assess the situation as it affects the security of our forces" and to size up the enemy's military capability and infiltration.

The defense chief acknowledged his visit will come just about in the critical Tet period which in the past has seen major enemy offensives, including the great countrywide assault of early 1968.

Laird said that, on the basis of present infiltration rates, and a 40,000 man drop in enemy strength, he does not regard the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong as able to mount a sustained offensive at this time.

Asked about other enemy forces grouped outside of South Vietnam, in Cambodia and Laos, Laird said "I rule out the possibility they could move" these elements into South Vietnam's III corps and IV corps in time to be ready for an offensive soon.

the Army to stop producing toxins until the National Security Council could clarify the President's recent announcement.

Both the White House and Army denied the report.

In his recent announcement on CBW limitations, Nixon said the United States could support a treaty proposed by Britain for the Geneva Disarmament Conference prohibiting the production, stockpiling and the use of biological agents.

According to some interpretations, the British treaty would prohibit toxins.

Mill Valley Unable To Find Fern Canyon Plans Fund

The City of Mill Valley may not be able to contribute its promised 25 per cent of the Fern Canyon Road Assessment District cost because city staff has been unable to find an allocation for the project in the city's budget, the Mill Valley City Council heard last night.

City Mgr. William H. Cunningham said he had been unable to locate any allocation for improvements to the road in the 1969-70 budget prepared by former City. Mgr. Bert A. Balmer.

The city's share of the controversial asseessment district for paving the short hillside road would be approximately $10,000, City Engineer Stanley M. Bala reported. The remainder of the costs would be paid by property owners in the area.

Mayor Dean N. Meyer said he was "surprised the money isn't there" since the council had voted to allocate the funds at budget sessions held last spring.

The lost money is the latest in a series of budget confusions arising with the changeover from Balmer's administration to Cunningham's. Previously, Cunningham had asked the council to delay making any new allocations until he and the finance director, Carl W. Reynolds, have a clear picture of where the city stands financially.

The financial picture was further complicated when Finance Director James L. Phillips, hired to replace Fred Kerr who retired in June, quit after only a few weeks on the job. Since then, Cunningham hired Reynolds.

In his reports to the council, Cunningham has stressed there is no question of mismanagement but merely a difference in accounting systems which has caused the confusion.

Last night the council voted 3-2 with Councilmen Robert H. Andresen and George Wickham dissenting, to set a public hearing on the assessment district.

However, Councilman Edward J. Boessenecker, who noted he supported the contribution now because of the city's apparent past commitment, said he would oppose any contribution if the funds could not be found.

Andresen and Wickham have consistently opposed the city's participation in the assessment district as being contradictory to the purpose of the policy which authorized contributions for street improvements.

They argued the policy refers specifically to upgrading existing city streets used by a large segment of the community, not construction of neighborhood streets used only by those living on it.

However, other councilmen argued that the policy did not make any such distinction and therefore the city was committeed to making a contribution.

Proposed Residential Art School Rejected

A proposed children's art school was rejected last night by the Mill Valley City Council after neighbors objected the school would cause noise and traffic congestion in their neighborhood.

The council voted 3-2 with Councilmen Edward J. Boessenecker and Mayor Dean N. Meyer dissenting, to overrule a planning commission approval of a use permit for the school at 127 Sycamore Avenue.

Applicant Patricia Zoline said the school would operate only three hours a day, in the afternoon, and classes woild be limited to 15 children, all under 12. She said she wanted the school in her home because it was more convenient and a home provided a more conpatible atmosphere for children's art classes.

She also cited a report by the police department saying such a use would not create a traffic problem.

Councilman Jerome C. Hauke said it was a matter of balancing the peace of mind of 30 residents who can't move against one art school which can move" to another area.

Boessenecker said he thought neighbors would be "pleasantly surprised" at the school's operation, if they would only give it a six-month trial.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

FARES — Asked staff to prepare a resoultion requesting the Golden Gate Bridge District not to increase commuter fares.

SHELTER RIDGE — Instructed the city attorney to prepare an ordinance rezoning a portion of Shelter Ridge from limited multiple residential to planned residential and commercial zones, and approved a master plan for the remaining portion of Shelter Ridge, previously zoned planned residential.

CLUBHOUSE — Heard all repairs have been made to the city's golf clubhouse except for staining which the parks and recreation department staff will undertake shortly.

GREEN ZONES — Approved temporary installation of two additional limited parking zones on Sunnyside Avenue across the street from the post office.

SAUCELITO CANAL — Agreed that assessments for the Sausalito Canal should be based on land ownership in Project 17 as it existed prior to the land exchange between the city and the Mill Valley School District.

NUISANCE — Set a hearing for Jan. 5 to abate a drainage nuisance in Scott Highlands Unit 2A.

ASSESSMENT DISTRICT — Approved boundary maps and agreements with the city engineer and special bond counsel for the Cascade Drive and Lovell Avenue Sanitary Sewer Assessment District.

YACHT HARBOR — Introduced an ordinance regulating use of the city's small craft harbor.

APPOINTMENTS — Took no action on an appointment to the Marin County Mosquito Abatement board and heard Meyer say he plans to reappoint Commissioners Paul C. Rosenthal and Robert E. Burton to the planning commission.

LIGHTS — Allocated $1,109 in state gas tax funds to finance half the cost of flashing yellow lights on school signs on East Blithedale Avenue near Park School with the remainder of the cost to be paid by the school district.

Sgt. Sunshine Switches Pot Counts Plea

I-J Special Report

MARTINEZ — Richard Bergess, former San Francisco police officer who was arrested for possession of marijuana last Jan. 25 on a tip from television personality Pat Michaels of Tiburon, yesterday changed his plea to guilty.

Appearing in Contra Costa County Superior Court, Bergess (Sergeant Sunshine), and his wife, Paulette, reversed pleas of innocent entered last June.

The two were arrested following an interview by Michaels during which Bergess smoked what he described as a marijuana cigarette. Michaels showed the film of the incident to law officers.

The possession charge against Bergess, who is appealing a nine-month jail term for smoking pot on the San Francisco Hall of Justice steps, was not reduced to a misdemeanor, but the charge against his wife was.

Both will appear for sentencing before Judge Martin E. Rothenberg on Jan. 26.

Mink, Suede Coats Stolen

Two expensive coats were reported stolen Sunday from the coatroom of the Lodge, a Novato motel and restaurant.

Alberta M. Damas of 401 Prince Royal Drive, Corte Madera, told sheriff's deputies her dark-skinned mink coat, valued at $1,200 was taken while she was having a drink with friends in the Lodge's bar.

Two Booked On Predawn Brawl

Corte Madera police jailed two men after a fight today at an all-night restaurant, booking both on suspicion of interfering with an officer, distrubing the peace and being drunk in public.

Stanley T. Tresknell, 40, of 26 Park Avenue, Mill Valley, and Charles F. Bowen, 26, of 553 San Rafael Avenue, San Rafael, were held in lieu of $625 bail apiece to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Police said they went to the Hyatt House on Tamalpais Drive at 2:50 a.m. to break up a reported fight. While they questioned Bowen and another man, they said, Tresknell interferred and grabbed one officer. After Tresknell was arrested, police said, Bowen tried to free him from the patrol car and was himself arrested.

Mill Valley Works Out Trash Hauls

After months of struggling with the problem of trash disposal when the Jan. 1 backyard burning ban goes into effect, the Mill Valley City Council last night approved a two-way attack on the rubbish problem.

The council authorized changes in its contract with the Mill Valley Refuse Co. to allow four trash pickups a year at an additional cost to each household in the city of 25 cents a month.

Further, it specified any additional pickups would cost $1.25 a cubic yard if hauled away from the curb or $2 if taken off the property.

Vote was 4-1 with Councilman Robert H. Andresen dissenting. Andresen said he objected to the four scheduled pickups which he said would be charged against everyone in the city although it would benefit only a small number of households.

Instead, he said he supported the second part of the proposal allowing anyone needing the service to contract for it on an individual basis.

However, Councilman Jerome C. Hauke argued that some residents would dump their trash in creeks and on empty lots rather than pay the $1.25 to have it hauled away.

Mill Valley Unable To Find Fern Canyon Plans Fund

The City of Mill Valley may not be able to contribute its promised 25 per cent of the Fern Canyon Road Assessment District cost because city staff has been unable to find an allocation for the project in the city's budget, the Mill Valley City Council heard last night.

City Mgr. William H. Cunningham said he had been unable to locate any allocation for improvements to the road in the 1969-70 budget prepared by former City. Mgr. Bert A. Balmer.

The city's share of the controversial asseeessment district for paving the short hillside road would be approximately $10,000, City Engineer Stanley M. Bala reported. The remainder of the costs would be paid by property owners in the area.

Mayor Dean N. Meyer said he was "surprised the money isn't there" since the council had voted to allocate the funds at budget sessions held last spring.

The lost money is the latest in a series of budget confusions arising with the changeover from Balmer's administration to Cunningham's. Previously, Cunningham had asked the council to delay making any new allocations until he and the finance director, Carl W. Reynolds, have a clear picture of where the city stands financially.

The financial picture was further complicated when Finance Director James L. Phillips, hired to replace Fred Kerr who retired in June, quit after only a few weeks on the job. Since then, Cunningham hired Reynolds.

In his reports to the council, Cunningham has stressed there is no question of mismanagement but merely a difference in accounting systems which has caused the confusion.

Last night the council voted 3-2 with Councilmen Robert H. Andresen and George Wickham dissenting, to set a public hearing on the assessment district.

However, Councilman Edward J. Boessenecker, who noted he supported the contribution now because of the city's apparent past commitment, said he would oppose any contribution if the funds could not be found.

Andresen and Wickham have consistently opposed the city's participation in the assessment district as being contradictory to the purpose of the policy which authorized contributions for street improvements.

They argued the policy refers specifically to upgrading existing city streets used by a large segment of the community, not construction of neighborhood streets used only by those living on it.

However, other councilmen argued that the policy did not make any such distinction and therefore the city was committeed to making a contribution.

Proposed Residential Art School Rejected

A proposed children's art school was rejected last night by the Mill Valley City Council after neighbors objected the school would cause noise and traffic congestion in their neighborhood.

The council voted 3-2 with Councilmen Edward J. Boessenecker and Mayor Dean N. Meyer dissenting, to overrule a planning commission approval of a use permit for the school at 127 Sycamore Avenue.

Applicant Patricia Zoline said the school would operate only three hours a day, in the afternoon, and classes woild be limited to 15 children, all under 12. She said she wanted the school in her home because it was more convenient and a home provided a more conpatible atmosphere for children's art classes.

She also cited a report by the police department saying such a use would not create a traffic problem.

Councilman Jerome C. Hauke said it was a matter of balancing the peace of mind of 30 residents who can't move against one art school which can move" to another area.

Boessenecker said he thought neighbors would be "pleasantly surprised" at the school's operation, if they would only give it a six-month trial.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

FARES — Asked staff to prepare a resoultion requesting the Golden Gate Bridge District not to increase commuter fares.

SHELTER RIDGE — Instructed the city attorney to prepare an ordinance rezoning a portion of Shelter Ridge from limited multiple residential to planned residential and commercial zones, and approved a master plan for the remaining portion of Shelter Ridge, previously zoned planned residential.

CLUBHOUSE — Heard all repairs have been made to the city's golf clubhouse except for staining which the parks and recreation department staff will undertake shortly.

GREEN ZONES — Approved temporary installation of two additional limited parking zones on Sunnyside Avenue across the street from the post office.

SAUCELITO CANAL — Agreed that assessments for the Sausalito Canal should be based on land ownership in Project 17 as it existed prior to the land exchange between the city and the Mill Valley School District.

NUISANCE — Set a hearing for Jan. 5 to abate a drainage nuisance in Scott Highlands Unit 2A.

ASSESSMENT DISTRICT — Approved boundary maps and agreements with the city engineer and special bond counsel for the Cascade Drive and Lovell Avenue Sanitary Sewer Assessment District.

YACHT HARBOR — Introduced an ordinance regulating use of the city's small craft harbor.

APPOINTMENTS — Took no action on an appointment to the Marin County Mosquito Abatement board and heard Meyer say he plans to reappoint Commissioners Paul C. Rosenthal and Robert E. Burton to the planning commission.

LIGHTS — Allocated $1,109 in state gas tax funds to finance half the cost of flashing yellow lights on school signs on East Blithedale Avenue near Park School with the remainder of the cost to be paid by the school district.

Sgt. Sunshine Switches Pot Counts Plea

I-J Special Report

MARTINEZ — Richard Bergess, former San Francisco police officer who was arrested for possession of marijuana last Jan. 25 on a tip from television personality Pat Michaels of Tiburon, yesterday changed his plea to guilty.

Appearing in Contra Costa County Superior Court, Bergess (Sergeant Sunshine), and his wife, Paulette, reversed pleas of innocent entered last June.

The two were arrested following an interview by Michaels during which Bergess smoked what he described as a marijuana cigarette. Michaels showed the film of the incident to law officers.

The possession charge against Bergess, who is appealing a nine-month jail term for smoking pot on the San Francisco Hall of Justice steps, was not reduced to a misdemeanor, but the charge against his wife was.

Both will appear for sentencing before Judge Martin E. Rothenberg on Jan. 26.

Mink, Suede Coats Stolen

Two expensive coats were reported stolen Sunday from the coatroom of the Lodge, a Novato motel and restaurant.

Alberta M. Damas of 401 Prince Royal Drive, Corte Madera, told sheriff's deputies her dark-skinned mink coat, valued at $1,200 was taken while she was having a drink with friends in the Lodge's bar.

Christmas Pageant Is Slated Wednesday

A Christmas pageant of plays and carols will be presented by students of St. Patrick's School, 120 King Street, Larkspur, at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the school gymnasium. Admission is free.

The school choir will sing carols and each grade will present its own musical play. The plays will include "Charlie Brown's Christmas," "Gifts Hidden in a Show," "Sleigh Dance," "Jingle Bells," Decorating the Christmas Tree," "Hanukkah or Feast of Lights," Christmas from Prophets to the Present," and "A Visit to the First Christmas Night."

Budget Revision On Board Agenda

The San Rafael Board of Education will discuss restoring budget items cut last summer at an adjourned meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Administration Building, Third and E streets, San Rafael.

When additional state funds later became available, $90,000 for the high school district and $100,000 for the elementary district, Supt. John F. Plank recommended restoring items that were cut.

Board members, preparing for a tax rate hike election in both districts, also are slated to review the requirements for an election.

Installment Costs Vary For Lateness

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Real estate lenders in California are not limited by law on what they may charge for late payments, and therefore the charges vary widely, according to testimony before an Assembly committee.

A staff report presented yesterday at the opening session of a two-day hearing by the Assembly Committee on Finance and Insurance showed one startling example.

The report said a borrower took out a $1,400 loan payable in monthly installments of $20 each. After paying almost five years, during which there were 28 late payments, the borrower still owed $1,321.82—although he had paid a total of $1,170.

The committee, headed by Assemblyman Robert G. Beverly, R-Manhattan Beach, heard testimony that there is no state law which applies to such late charges.

As a result, lending institutions sometimes base them on a percentage of monthly payment, sometimes on a percentage of the unpaid balance and sometimes on other miscellaneous figures, including flat fees.

Reagan Seeks Texan In Tate Slaying Case

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan of California today officially asked the state of Texas to return Charles D. Watson, 24, to Los Angeles to stand trial for murder in the knife and pistol slayings of actress Sharon Tate and seven others.

Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr., extradition officer for Gov. Preston Smith, set a hearing for Jan. 10, in Austin.

Watson, who grew up in the small towns of Copeville and Farmersville, Tex., about 20 miles northeast of Dallas, has been accused by a girl in a hippie band of being the man who killed Miss Tate with a knife.

Watson is jailed at McKinney, Tex. He and his attorney ,William Boyd, have indicated they will fight extradition to California.

Texas operates under the uniform extradition code, which requires California to prove that Watson was in that state at the time of the Tate murders.

Dies said California authorities will have to provide some proof connecting Watson with the murders at the Jan. 10 hearing.

Playmate Jailed As Dope Runner

ATHENS (UPI) — Playboy magazine's December playmate, a 21-year-old Chicago beauty, has been sentenced to 18 nonths in prison for drug smuggling, police said today.

A spokesman said red-haired Gloria Root, described by the magazine as "one of the new breed of urban nomads who . . . live and love across both borders, trip east and west from coast to coast," probably would appeal the sentence.

She and a companion, Corbin Parker, 20, described as a University of Wisconsin student, were arrested earlier this year in Alexandropolis when police said they found 40 pounds of hashish in their car.

He received a five-year sentence.

Final Performances Of 'Amahl' Saturday

Final performances of the Sonoma State College opera workshop production of "Amahl and the Night Visitors" will be given Saturday at 3 and 7:30 p.m. at San Rafael High School.

Dr. Peggy Donovan-Jeffry directs the Gian-Carlo Menotti Opera.

Permit For New Taxi Operation Is Denied

The specter of a single additional taxi on the streets of San Rafael drew a list of haunting possibilities last night from the sole company now operating.

The San Rafael City Council listened and denied a permit for the independent cab.

The application, by Harry E. Schultze, was approved last month, but it was later declared invlaid because a certificate of convenience was not issued first.

The president of the San Rafael taxi operation which includes Yellow, Checker and Black and White cabs argued last night there was no need for any more taxis.

Robert C. Jennings predicted an additional taxi would lead to fights among drivers for fares, thus necessitating police help, and that there would be duplication in such areas as radios which would be costly to the public.

He also claimed another taxi would mean more congestion.

But the telling argument was his report that he has 14 cabs and only operates about 10 during the day and six at night.

He also reported drivers salaries, not including tips, now average only about $100 a week, and many of them work 10 to 11 hours a day six days a week. Competition could mean price cutting, he warned, noting San Rafael does not regulate rates.

Schultze, who had worked for a San Francisco cab company, reported he quit that job after the council approved his application last month. However, he said he is also a parole agent with the state.

He argued competition would promote better service. "If his company cannot stand competition, then there is something wrong with the way he operates," Schultze said.

He reported he had watched the Greyhound Bus Depot in San Rafael regularly recently and saw many persons waiting for cabs with none available. "They just had to wait," he said.

He also said he had had problems getting a cab.

The council vote was 3 to 1 to deny the permit with Councilman Fred C. Robbins Jr. on the losing end. John A. Miskimen was absent.

The rare request for a taxi permit drew council attention to other areas of the ordinance regulating cab operations and the council last night passed to print an amendment.

It raises liability limits from $5,000 for injuries to one person; $10,000 for injuries to more than one in the same accident, and $5,000 property damage to $100,000, $300,000, $25,000.

The council also asked the city attorney to prepare an amendment to regulate rates and agreed to amend a section which reqires cab drivers to be U.S. citizens.

San Rafael Puts Temporary Ban On Keeping Of Horses

Hinting at banning large domestic and wild animals altogether, the San Rafael City Council last night imposed a 90-day moratorium on permits to keep horses.

The council requested the temporary ban after City Atty. David A. Menary reported there are three requests for permits and the current ordinance requires an inspection by the city health officer who has the power to issue the permits, Menary said.

However, the person holding that position, Dr. Harry O. Hund, resigned last month and the council indicated it plans to abandon the post and turn the duties over to the county Department of Public Health.

City Mgr. James H. McCown reported the "county is perfectly willing to do it" but added he believes the city should review its ordinance first.

He suggested it might require having the city council act on requests for permits after the sanitary inspection is complete.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini suggested it might also include the number of acres needed to stable horses and the distance the horses should be from inhabited dwellings.

Councilman Fred C. Robbins wondered about also studying the possibility of outlawing large domestic animals and other members suggested studying a ban on wild animals.

Councilman Fred C. Jensen proposed an emergency ordinance while all facets are studied and the council gave unanimous approval. The ordinance will also follow the regular path in case the emergency measure turns out to be illegal, members agreed.

Four Sausalito Employees Feted

Four long-time employees of the city of Sausalito were honored with service awards at the 10th annual employees' banquet held Friday night at the Sausalito Woman's Club.

Awards for 25 years service were presented to Capt. Ralph K. Pedersen of the fire department and Wilma S. Young of the city clerk's office.

Ten-year service awards were given to Margaret Georgetti of the library and Sgt. Thomas Zink of the police department.

Adams Art Show

An exhibit of watercolors, sculpture paintings and acrylics by Fredi Adams of Kentfield will be on display at the Peacock Gap Country Club through Dec. 31.

Astrology Play

Students of Milo Kovar, San Francisco astrology instructor, will present a play "Planets on Trial," at 7:30 p.m. today at the Cooperative Shopping Center, 71 Tamalpais Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera.

Shuttle Cab Plan For Civic Center Is Set

A shuttle cab service from the Greyhound Bus Depot in San Rafael to the Civic Center will begin on an experimental basis after the move by county offices is complete.

Time and rate schedules for the service were filed with the city council last night.

Robert C. Jennings, president of the firm which operates all of San Rafael's cabs, told the council in a letter he would charge 50-cents per person for a one-way trip.

Cabs will leave the depot hourly from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Return trips will be made on call and taxis provided as available, the letter said. Also, trips from the Civic Center will be made at noon and 5 p.m. daily.

TheuSan Rafael City Council also:

MORALS — Unanimously commended Carl J. Brown, the member of the San Rafael Board of Education who attacked moral decay in the nation, the schools and homes last Tuesday. Councilman Fred E. Jensen commented, "I think he's shaken up the school board and the citizens."

DRUNKENNESS — Passed to print an ordinance removing city laws against drunkenness in public places and cars because the field has been preempted by the state.

HEARINGS — Passed to print an ordinance removing a mandatory public hearing by the council when the planning commission recommends denial of amendments to the zoning map. Frequently, applicants withdraw after the planning commission action, Herbert G. Hotchner, city planner, said.

COMMENDATION — Approved a commendation for Barry Bovee of 48 Lagoon Road for his heroic action in rescuing Robert A. Metzger Nov. 13. A certificate will be presented to him at the next meeting.

STREET REPAIR — Agreed to contract with the state to receive $78,381 to repair streets damaged by last winter's storms and floods.

APPOINTMENT — Learned Councilman Harry A. Barbier has been appointed to the League of California Cities committee on Urban Environmental Control.

Councilmen Slate Pay Discussion

Sausalito City Councilman will discuss whether to vote themselves a salary at their 8 p.m. meeting today in city hall.

The council, currently unpaid, can vote up to $150 per month for council salaries.

Also on the agenda tonight is a report from City Mgr. George M. Patterson on proposed legislative changes in the state's formula for granting liquor licenses.

Guilty Plea To Joyride Counts

Two men accused of car theft who were captured Oct. 19 with the aid of a California Highway Patrol helicopter pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a reduced charge of joyriding.

Donald Lee Humes, 30, of San Francisco, who has been in jail since arrest, was ordered by Judge Joseph G. Wilson to spend another 10 days in jail.

Sentencing for Don Borges, 30, of Belmont, was set for Jan. 26.

The two men were arrested after a helicopter followed them in the stolen car from Mount Tamalpais to west Marin where they crashed four miles east of Bolinas. Borges was then evacuated in the copter to Marin General Hospital, where he was treated for injuries suffered in the crush.

Ex-Sausalitan Gets Fine On Marijuana

Brace Gustave Bonnivier, 24-year-old former Sausalito resident who now lives in Massachusetts, admitted yesterday in Marin Superior Court that he possessed 94 grams of marijuana in Sausalito on Dec. 14, 1968.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson, noting that the youth is now employed in his home state, imposed a fine of $375.

Presents

TEXAS BROIL ROSEMARY

- 2 lbs. Texas Broil
- 3 tbls. butter
- ⅛ tsp. garlic powder
- ¼ tsp. hot mustard
- ½ tsp. parsley
- 1 tbls. chopped green onions
- ½ cup dry red wine
- 1 tsp. beef stock base
- ⅛ tsp. rosemary

Let meat stand at room temperature about 2 hours. BBQ, Broil or Grill to desired doneness. (Should cook fast, 20 to 25 minutes, high heat.) Melt butter in a sauce-pan. Stir in garlic powder, mustard, green onions, parsley and wine; add beef stock base. Bring to a boil, crush rosemary and stir into sauce. Simmer sauce 5 to 8 minutes. Slice Texas Broil in diagonal slices about ¼ inch thick; pour steak drippings into sauce, mix and pour over sliced Texas Broil. 4 to 5 servings.

Closing Of Path Draws Protesters

The Corte Madera Town Council, after receiving several protests, decided last night to take a long, second look at its plan to close off a path along High Canal used by Redwood High School students.

On Dec. 1, the council voted unanimously to close the path on the west side of the canal for six months after hearing complaints from residents on Birch Avenue who said students litter their yards and steal from their fruit trees.

The council received a letter last night from Robert D. Torrey, superintendent of the Tamalpais Union High School District, saying closing of the walkway would mean an additional half-mile of walking for Redwood High students, and would force them to use hazardous city streets.

A petition signed by 75 residents protesting the closure was also presented to the council.

The council looked eagerly for an alternative which would keep everyone happy, but had to settle for taking no action pending further study by the city attorney.

The question of whether the public has any right to use the west path came up last night when property owner Helen Mason told the council her property title indicates she owns all of the land, right up to the canal. Mrs. Mason indicated a 10-foot easement has been granted for public utility use, but claimed any other use would be illegal.

As the council sought ways to keep the path open, Mrs. Mason angrily protested the council's change of mind. "You already made your decision; what right have you to change it?" she asked heatedly.

Vice Mayor Holmes S. Norville loudly rapped for order and told the woman the council can review any of its past actions at any time.

Councilman Harold B. Wagsstaff suggested the town investigate putting up an eight-foot cyclone fence along the path to protect property in the area, although he admitted the plan would cost "a lot more" than the $1,500 the council had appropriated to close the path.

Councilman Robert P. Simmonds said he felt the town should consider opening the east path, now closed because it contains the canal's floodgates and pumps, and closing of the west path.

He suggested the canal machinery be blocked off by a fence. "I think the east path has more potential than the west route; it is more scenic," he commented. Simmons added there are many property owners along the west route "who will be unhappy if it is left open," but only a few on the eastern side of the canal.

A suggestion to have gates which are closed during certain hours, such as at night, came from Councilman Byron D. White. "I'd like to give the people who are afraid for their neighborhood some measure of protection, as well as keep the path open for school children."

City Mgr. Ronald L. Usher, after listening to the debate, told the council, "I think you have an insoluble problem; I can't see how you can solve this problem to the satisfaction of all."

The council decided to try to do just that and asked the city attorney to study the legality of the situation and report back at the next meeting. "There are too many unanswered questions for us to make a decision now," Norville said.

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

ORDINANCE — Following a public hearing, approved first reading of an amendment to the town's zoning ordinance to include regulations governing coverage, grading and clearing in single family residential zones.

PUBLIC HEARING — Set Jan. 19 at 7:30 p.m. as date and time for a public hearing on pre-zoning of the Lucky Drive area. The town planning commission has recommended the property be designated a single family residential zone if it is annexed to Corte Madera.

SUBDIVISION — Approved a tentative map for a two-lot subdivision of 2.6 acres on Meadowsweet Drive. One lot is to be used for the planned town library.

MAP CHANGE — Agreed to delete the San Quentin Peninsula from the town's ultimate boundary map and add the Deffenbach ranch area between Corte Madera and Tiburon.

REPORTS — Accepted November reports from the town treasurer, police and fire departments, public works and building inspection.

BIDS — Voted to restudy bids for a high pressure fire truck, since the low bid received was $5,100 higher than the $12,000 the town had budgeted for the vehicle.

MODIFICATIONS — Authorized work to proceed on minor interior modification to town hall, after reviewing preliminary plans for the changes, needed to relocate certain town offices.

PATH — Passed a resolution to close a small branch of Hill Path, located between two houses, which is not a part of the regular path.

ZONE CHANGE — Adopted an ordinance re-zoning two parcels of land at 3703 Paradise Drive from shopping center commerical to neighborhood commercial designations.

HOME BUSINESS — Approved a request for a home occupation permit to allow Jo Ann Seal of 2 Endeavor Drive to conduct an invisible reweaving business in her home.

VOTING — Passed a resolution requesting the board of supervisors to authorize the county clerk to assist in the town's municipal election April 14, 1970.

COMMENDATION — Commended Corte Madera Postmaster Edward J. Victor who retired early this month.

APPOINTMENT — Approved appointment of the town manager to the League of California Cities committee on municipal government and administration.

CLASS — Authorized a $70 expenditure to allow a town engineering aide to attend a class on structural design at the Universty of California at Berkeley.

AMENDMENT — Adopted an amendment to the town's business license ordinance to include a section pertaining to public dances. The section was accidently omitted when the regulations was passed.

TOWN COLORS — Decided Corte Madera should have light blue administrative vehicles, yellow public works vehicles. The color change will be made as vehicles are replaced or repaired.

MEETING — Approved a request from the town manager to attend the city manager's spring meeting of the League of California Cities in Newport Beach in February.

Bike Injuries

Keith Shaffstall, 14, of 39 Belmont Avenue, Fairfax, was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for a cut scalp, broken wrist and multiple scrapes suffered when he fell from his bicycle on Scenic Road in San Anselmo at 12:45 p.m., police reported.

Annexation Is Key To Sanitation

Property owners in the Lucky Drive area of Corte Madera who want to join the town's sanitary district, but balk at being annexed to the town got little satisfaction at last night's meeting of the town council.

The council, meeting as a sanitary district board, passed a resolution that the area could have sewer service only if it will annex to Corte Madera.

"We want to be in the sanitary district, but why does this have to be coupled with annexation to the town?" Raymond C. Rice, a property owner in the area protested.

Councilman Harold B. Wagstaff told Rice the town has a right "under law" to make annexation a condition of admission to the sanitary district.

"It's taken me a long time to understand this," Wagstaff admitted, "but now I believe annexation is necessary so this area can be better administered and have decent police and fire protection.

The council told the property owners they had no choice; they could have sewers and annexation or no sewers. Several disgruntled property owners left as the resolution was being passed.

Sailor Drowns In Napa River

NAPA (AP) — An automobile plunged into the muddy Napa River today and a sailor, due for a Christmas furlough was missing and presumed drowned.

Police identified the missing man as James Oscar Ouztz, 22, stationed at Mare Island Naval Shipyard. He was scheduled to leave today for his home in Atlanta, Ga.

He was a passenger in a car driven by Michael W. Herron, 20, also a Mare Island sailor from Vallejo.

Both Herron and Tracy Allen Hancock, 21, a passenger, swam ashore and escaped with minor injuries.

Marinites Sing In San Francisco Event

Two Mill Valley youngsters participated in the Voices for Friendship Chorus' Christmas carol festival held today in the rotunda of San Francisco City Hall.

Hospital Supported Minus Land Donation

The Rohnert Park City Council said last night it would support bringing a private hospital to the city, but would be reluctant to give up six acres of city property for the site.

Developer Paul Golis, secretary of the Rohnert Park Hospital Foundation, presented the council with a petition signed by 618 residents urging the council to assist a hospital and to give up half the futre civic center property.

Golis said that not all residents had the opportunity to sign the petition, but said that less than 10 per cent of those approached had refused to sign.

He said city donation of six acres would lend influence to the plan and might change the attitude of the Sonoma County Health Facilities Planning Council which has refused to grant approval for a small hospital.

Golis said that local doctors also had a negative reaction to a Rohnert Park hospital and seemed to be content using facilities in Petaluma and Santa Rosa.

The developer said the foundation, a nonprofit group, had been negotiating with two private firms about locating in Rohnert Park and that neither would drain the public treasury as a public hospital would.

Although the council said it would support a private hospital, it said better use could be made of the civic center site than donating it.

The council also noted that any group with funds to build a $4 million medical facility would not be stopped because it has to purchase six acres of land.

The Rohnert City Council Also:

GRANTS — Authorized the applications for grants from the department of housing and urban development for a new water well and storage tank and acquisition of a neighborhood park in the El Colegio area.

MOTEL — Gave approval to the architecture plan for a Royal Inn motel, restaurant, shops and a bar on Commerce Boulevard near the Rohnert Park expressway.

VANDALISM — Asked City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan to study ways of combating vandalism at the recreation and community center. Reports were made of damage to the interior and foul works written in mud on the windows.

RESTROOMS — Authorized an expenditure of $3,000 to build two restrooms on the fairways at the municipal golf course.

PARTY — Said the annual Christmas Party for city employees, the council and commissions will be held at 7 p.m. Friday in the council chamber.

Electricity Bill Increase Sought

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Pacific Gas and Electric Company asked the California Public Utilities Commission yesterday for a 9.5 per cent increase in electricity rates to produce $67.4 million additional revenue a year.

The company cited the high cost of borrowing money for expansion plus inflation as the reasons for the request. A spokesman said the last electric rate increase was in 1967.

The proposed increase would effect more than 2.5 million PG&E customers in Central and Northern California. It would equal a hike of about 4 cents a day for the average residential customer.

Teacher Union Claims 70 Fired From Colleges

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The American Federation of Teachers asserts that at least 70 faculty activists have been fired from the state college system because of what it called "Political repression."

At a meeting yesterday at San Francisco State College, union members claimed Gov. Ronald Reagan and other statewide education officials have moved "to eliminate people who are innovative, active and outspoken."

Spokesmen at the office of state colleges chancellor Glenn Dumke said that hiring and firing is left in the hands of local college presidents and that there is no mechanism for such a statewide firing campaign.

The union contends many of the 70 were among its members, including Erwin Kelly, president of the San Francisco local.

At the meeting, the union decided to appeal to the AFL-CIO San Francisco Labor Council for help and possibly later to the courts.

Universal Vote Signups Urged By Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special task force of the Democratic National Committee recommended today a universal voter enrollment system to shift to the government the initial burden of registering citizens to vote.

Former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, head of the task force, said the United States is virtually the only democracy in the world without such a system. He noted that such a system achieved enrollment of more than 90 per cent of the voting age population in other lands.

Pointing out that 47 million Americans failed to cast ballots in the 1968 presidential election, Clark said that meant, "we had a nation within a nation that did not vote."

Clark said the task force proposal will be submitted to Congress sometime next year. It would create a national election commission to administer and supervise voter enrollment on a nationwide scale.

The task force said the plan offers "an effective and vital reform that assures a substantial increase in voter participation."

Clark estimated the plan would "increase the electorate by 25 to 30 million votes the first time we try it."

Permit For New Taxi Operation Is Denied

The specter of a single additional taxi on the streets of San Rafael drew a list of haunting possibilities last night from the sole company now operating.

The San Rafael City Council listened and denied a permit for the independent cab.

The application, by Harry E. Schultze, was approved last month, but it was later declared invlaid because a certificate of convenience was not issued first.

The president of the San Rafael taxi operation which includes Yellow, Checker and Black and White cabs argued last night there was no need for any more taxis.

Robert C. Jennings predicted an additional taxi would lead to fights among drivers for fares, thus necessitating police help, and that there would be duplication in such areas as radios which would be costly to the public.

He also claimed another taxi would mean more congestion.

But the telling argument was his report that he has 14 cabs and only operates about 10 during the day and six at night.

He also reported drivers salaries, not including tips, now average only about $100 a week, and many of them work 10 to 11 hours a day six days a week. Competition could mean price cutting, he warned, noting San Rafael does not regulate rates.

Schultze, who had worked for a San Francisco cab company, reported he quit that job after the council approved his application last month. However, he said he is also a parole agent with the state.

He argued competition would promote better service. "If his company cannot stand competition, then there is something wrong with the way he operates," Schultze said.

He reported he had watched the Greyhound Bus Depot in San Rafael regularly recently and saw many persons waiting for cabs with none available. "They just had to wait," he said.

He also said he had had problems getting a cab.

The council vote was 3 to 1 to deny the permit with Councilman Fred C. Robbins Jr. on the losing end. John A. Miskimen was absent.

The rare request for a taxi permit drew council attention to other areas of the ordinance regulating cab operations and the council last night passed to print an amendment.

It raises liability limits from $5,000 for injuries to one person; $10,000 for injuries to more than one in the same accident, and $5,000 property damage to $100,000, $300,000, $25,000.

The council also asked the city attorney to prepare an amendment to regulate rates and agreed to amend a section which reqires cab drivers to be U.S. citizens.

Shuttle Cab Plan For Civic Center Is Set

A shuttle cab service from the Greyhound Bus Depot in San Rafael to the Civic Center will begin on an experimental basis after the move by county offices is complete.

Time and rate schedules for the service were filed with the city council last night.

Robert C. Jennings, president of the firm which operates all of San Rafael's cabs, told the council in a letter he would charge 50-cents per person for a one-way trip.

Cabs will leave the depot hourly from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Return trips will be made on call and taxis provided as available, the letter said. Also, trips from the Civic Center will be made at noon and 5 p.m. daily.

TheuSan Rafael City Council also:

MORALS — Unanimously commended Carl J. Brown, the member of the San Rafael Board of Education who attacked moral decay in the nation, the schools and homes last Tuesday. Councilman Fred E. Jensen commented, "I think he's shaken up the school board and the citizens."

DRUNKENNESS — Passed to print an ordinance removing city laws against drunkenness in public places and cars because the field has been preempted by the state.

HEARINGS — Passed to print an ordinance removing a mandatory public hearing by the council when the planning commission recommends denial of amendments to the zoning map. Frequently, applicants withdraw after the planning commission action, Herbert G. Hotchner, city planner, said.

COMMENDATION — Approved a commendation for Barry Bovee of 48 Lagoon Road for his heroic action in rescuing Robert A. Metzger Nov. 13. A certificate will be presented to him at the next meeting.

STREET REPAIR — Agreed to contract with the state to receive $78,381 to repair streets damaged by last winter's storms and floods.

APPOINTMENT — Learned Councilman Harry A. Barbier has been appointed to the League of California Cities committee on Urban Environmental Control.

Guilty Plea To Joyride Counts

Two men accused of car theft who were captured Oct. 19 with the aid of a California Highway Patrol helicopter pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a reduced charge of joyriding.

Donald Lee Humes, 30, of San Francisco, who has been in jail since arrest, was ordered by Judge Joseph G. Wilson to spend another 10 days in jail.

Sentencing for Don Borges, 30, of Belmont, was set for Jan. 26.

The two men were arrested after a helicopter followed them in the stolen car from Mount Tamalpais to west Marin where they crashed four miles east of Bolinas. Borges was then evacuated in the copter to Marin General Hospital, where he was treated for injuries suffered in the crush.

Ex-Sausalitan Gets Fine On Marijuana

Brace Gustave Bonnivier, 24-year-old former Sausalito resident who now lives in Massachusetts, admitted yesterday in Marin Superior Court that he possessed 94 grams of marijuana in Sausalito on Dec. 14, 1968.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson, noting that the youth is now employed in his home state, imposed a fine of $375.

Installment Costs Vary For Lateness

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Real estate lenders in California are not limited by law on what they may charge for late payments, and therefore the charges vary widely, according to testimony before an Assembly committee.

A staff report presented yesterday at the opening session of a two-day hearing by the Assembly Committee on Finance and Insurance showed one startling example.

The report said a borrower took out a $1,400 loan payable in monthly installments of $20 each. After paying almost five years, during which there were 28 late payments, the borrower still owed $1,321.82—although he had paid a total of $1,170.

The committee, headed by Assemblyman Robert G. Beverly, R-Manhattan Beach, heard testimony that there is no state law which applies to such late charges.

As a result, lending institutions sometimes base them on a percentage of monthly payment, sometimes on a percentage of the unpaid balance and sometimes on other miscellaneous figures, including flat fees.

Reagan Seeks Texan In Tate Slaying Case

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan of California today officially asked the state of Texas to return Charles D. Watson, 24, to Los Angeles to stand trial for murder in the knife and pistol slayings of actress Sharon Tate and seven others.

Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr., extradition officer for Gov. Preston Smith, set a hearing for Jan. 10, in Austin.

Watson, who grew up in the small towns of Copeville and Farmersville, Tex., about 20 miles northeast of Dallas, has been accused by a girl in a hippie band of being the man who killed Miss Tate with a knife.

Watson is jailed at McKinney, Tex. He and his attorney ,William Boyd, have indicated they will fight extradition to California.

Texas operates under the uniform extradition code, which requires California to prove that Watson was in that state at the time of the Tate murders.

Dies said California authorities will have to provide some proof connecting Watson with the murders at the Jan. 10 hearing.

Playmate Jailed As Dope Runner

ATHENS (UPI) — Playboy magazine's December playmate, a 21-year-old Chicago beauty, has been sentenced to 18 nonths in prison for drug smuggling, police said today.

A spokesman said red-haired Gloria Root, described by the magazine as "one of the new breed of urban nomads who . . . live and love across both borders, trip east and west from coast to coast," probably would appeal the sentence.

She and a companion, Corbin Parker, 20, described as a University of Wisconsin student, were arrested earlier this year in Alexandropolis when police said they found 40 pounds of hashish in their car.

He received a five-year sentence.

San Rafael Puts Temporary Ban On Keeping Of Horses

Hinting at banning large domestic and wild animals altogether, the San Rafael City Council last night imposed a 90-day moratorium on permits to keep horses.

The council requested the temporary ban after City Atty. David A. Menary reported there are three requests for permits and the current ordinance requires an inspection by the city health officer who has the power to issue the permits, Menary said.

However, the person holding that position, Dr. Harry O. Hund, resigned last month and the council indicated it plans to abandon the post and turn the duties over to the county Department of Public Health.

City Mgr. James H. McCown reported the "county is perfectly willing to do it" but added he believes the city should review its ordinance first.

He suggested it might require having the city council act on requests for permits after the sanitary inspection is complete.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini suggested it might also include the number of acres needed to stable horses and the distance the horses should be from inhabited dwellings.

Councilman Fred C. Robbins wondered about also studying the possibility of outlawing large domestic animals and other members suggested studying a ban on wild animals.

Councilman Fred C. Jensen proposed an emergency ordinance while all facets are studied and the council gave unanimous approval. The ordinance will also follow the regular path in case the emergency measure turns out to be illegal, members agreed.

Four Sausalito Employees Feted

Four long-time employees of the city of Sausalito were honored with service awards at the 10th annual employees' banquet held Friday night at the Sausalito Woman's Club.

Awards for 25 years service were presented to Capt. Ralph K. Pedersen of the fire department and Wilma S. Young of the city clerk's office.

HOW TO PLAY BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Simple Holdup Play At Start Can Bring Home Winning Score

"I've never seen such nice bridge players," said Warmhearted Willie. "I'll give you this trick just because I like your looks." You always feel a glow when Willie makes his little speech, but no opponent has ever shown any real profit from a trick that the warmhearted expert has given away.

Opening lead — ♠ 5

LOW SPADE

West led the five of spades, East put up the king, and Willie made his little speech, playing the four of spades from his hand. It was really quite generous of Willie because he could have made sure of two spade tricks if he had taken the first trick with the ace of spades.

East returned the eight of spades, and declarer's jack lost to the queen. Now West's hand was dead since he could never regain the lead. Instead of continuing with the useless spades, therefore, West shifted to the seven of diamonds.

FREE FINESSE

The lead gave South a free finesse, but this made no difference. Declarer had to knock out the ace of hearts and the ace of clubs, and he didn't need three diamond tricks except as a way of stopping East's long suit. South had enough high cards to win 10 tricks except that he had to lose two aces and two spades.

Perhaps you're wondering what made Willie so warmhearted. See what happens if he wins the first trick with the ace of spades. South knocks out the ace of clubs, and back comes a spade. West plays low, and dummy wins with the ten.

EIGHT TRICKS

Now declarer has only eight tricks: two spades, three diamonds and three clubs. He must knock out the ace of hearts in the attempt to develop a ninth trick. East takes the ace of hearts and leads his remaining spade, whereupon West defeats the contract with the rest of the spades.

Declarer's refusal to win the first spade trick is the simple holdup play that you employ at most notrump contracts. South must disregard his jack of spades and must play as though he had the ace and two very low spades.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold:

♠—Q 9 7 5 3
♥—7 6 4 3
♦—7
♣—5 4 2

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two spades.

You have the right distribution for a jump to four spades, but your hand isn't quite strong enough. You need another king or so to get up to so high a level.

Rental Hearing

The Marin County Housing Authority will hold a public hearing at 8 p.m. today at Manzanita Center in Marin City on proposed changes in the rental and occupancy policy of the authority.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, Dec. 16, the 350th day of 1969 with 15 days to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full stage. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1773, American patriots dressed themselves as Indians and boarded a British vessel in Boston harbor in what became known as the Boston Tea Party. They threw 342 chests of tea overboard in a protest against taxation.

In 1835, property loss was placed at $20 million after fire broke out in New York City. Firemen from Philadelphia were called to assist.

In 1944, the Germans launched their last great attack of World War II with the Battle of the Bulge in Belgium.

In 1965, 15,000 persons were feared dead when a cyclone struck Pakistan.

A thought for the day: H. L. Mencken once said, "Injustice is relatively easy to bear; what stings is justice."

Fund Applications For Widening Drake

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — Applications for federal and state grants to widen Sir Francis Drake Boulevard around San Quentin Prison and Novato Boulevard from San Miguel Way to Sutro Avenue will be reviewed by the Association of Bay Area Governments executive committee at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Hotel Claremont.

The Sir Francis Drake project cost is $275,000, and the Novato project $162,000, according to the county's applications. Each project is four tenths of a mile in length.

Closing Of Path Draws Protesters

The Corte Madera Town Council, after receiving several protests, decided last night to take a long, second look at its plan to close off a path along High Canal used by Redwood High School students.

On Dec. 1, the council voted unanimously to close the path on the west side of the canal for six months after hearing complaints from residents on Birch Avenue who said students litter their yards and steal from their fruit trees.

The council received a letter last night from Robert D. Torrey, superintendent of the Tamalpais Union High School District, saying closing of the walkway would mean an additional half-mile of walking for Redwood High students, and would force them to use hazardous city streets.

A petition signed by 75 residents protesting the closure was also presented to the council.

The council looked eagerly for an alternative which would keep everyone happy, but had to settle for taking no action pending further study by the city attorney.

The question of whether the public has any right to use the west path came up last night when property owner Helen Mason told the council her property title indicates she owns all of the land, right up to the canal. Mrs. Mason indicated a 10-foot easement has been granted for public utility use, but claimed any other use would be illegal.

As the council sought ways to keep the path open, Mrs. Mason angrily protested the council's change of mind. "You already made your decision; what right have you to change it?" she asked heatedly.

Vice Mayor Holmes S. Norville loudly rapped for order and told the woman the council can review any of its past actions at any time.

Councilman Harold B. Wagstaff suggested the town investigate putting up an eight-foot cyclone fence along the path to protect property in the area, although he admitted the plan would cost "a lot more" than the $1,500 the council had appropriated to close the path.

Councilman Robert P. Simmonds said he felt the town should consider opening the east path, now closed because it contains the canal's floodgates and pumps, and closing of the west path.

He suggested the canal machinery be blocked off by a fence. "I think the east path has more potential than the west route; it is more scenic," he commented. Simmons added there are many property owners along the west route "who will be unhappy if it is left open," but only a few on the eastern side of the canal.

A suggestion to have gates which are closed during certain hours, such as at night, came from Councilman Byron D. White. "I'd like to give the people who are afraid for their neighborhood some measure of protection, as well as keep the path open for school children."

City Mgr. Ronald L. Usher, after listening to the debate, told the council, "I think you have an insoluble problem; I can't see how you can solve this problem to the satisfaction of all."

The council decided to try to do just that and asked the city attorney to study the legality of the situation and report back at the next meeting. "There are too many unanswered questions for us to make a decision now," Norville said.

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

ORDINANCE — Following a public hearing, approved first reading of an amendment to the town's zoning ordinance to include regulations governing coverage, grading and clearing in single family residential zones.

PUBLIC HEARING — Set Jan. 19 at 7:30 p.m. as date and time for a public hearing on pre-zoning of the Lucky Drive area. The town planning commission has recommended the property be designated a single family residential zone if it is annexed to Corte Madera.

SUBDIVISION — Approved a tentative map for a two-lot subdivision of 2.6 acres on Meadowsweet Drive. One lot is to be used for the planned town library.

MAP CHANGE — Agreed to delete the San Quentin Peninsula from the town's ultimate boundary map and add the Deffenbach ranch area between Corte Madera and Tiburon.

REPORTS — Accepted November reports from the town treasurer, police and fire departments, public works and building inspection.

BIDS — Voted to restudy bids for a high pressure fire truck, since the low bid received was $5,100 higher than the $12,000 the town had budgeted for the vehicle.

MODIFICATIONS — Authorized work to proceed on minor interior modification to town hall, after reviewing preliminary plans for the changes, needed to relocate certain town offices.

PATH — Passed a resolution to close a small branch of Hill Path, located between two houses, which is not a part of the regular path.

ZONE CHANGE — Adopted an ordinance re-zoning two parcels of land at 3703 Paradise Drive from shopping center commerical to neighborhood commercial designations.

HOME BUSINESS — Approved a request for a home occupation permit to allow Jo Ann Seal of 2 Endeavor Drive to conduct an invisible reweaving business in her home.

VOTING — Passed a resolution requesting the board of supervisors to authorize the county clerk to assist in the town's municipal election April 14, 1970.

COMMENDATION — Commended Corte Madera Postmaster Edward J. Victor who retired early this month.

APPOINTMENT — Approved appointment of the town manager to the League of California Cities committee on municipal government and administration.

CLASS — Authorized a $70 expenditure to allow a town engineering aide to attend a class on structural design at the University of California at Berkeley.

AMENDMENT — Adopted an amendment to the town's business license ordinance to include a section pertaining to public dances. The section was accidently omitted when the regulations was passed.

TOWN COLORS — Decided Corte Madera should have light blue administrative vehicles, yellow public works vehicles. The color change will be made as vehicles are replaced or repaired.

MEETING — Approved a request from the town manager to attend the city manager's spring meeting of the League of California Cities in Newport Beach in February.

Bike Injuries

Keith Shaffstall, 14, of 39 Belmont Avenue, Fairfax, was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for a cut scalp, broken wrist and multiple scrapes suffered when he fell from his bicycle on Scenic Road in San Anselmo at 12:45 p.m., police reported.

Annexation Is Key To Sanitation

Property owners in the Lucky Drive area of Corte Madera who want to join the town's sanitary district, but balk at being annexed to the town got little satisfaction at last night's meeting of the town council.

The council, meeting as a sanitary district board, passed a resolution that the area could have sewer service only if it will annex to Corte Madera.

"We want to be in the sanitary district, but why does this have to be coupled with annexation to the town?" Raymond C. Rice, a property owner in the area protested.

Councilman Harold B. Wagstaff told Rice the town has a right "under law" to make annexation a condition of admission to the sanitary district.

"It's taken me a long time to understand this," Wagstaff admitted, "but now I believe annexation is necessary so this area can be better administered and have decent police and fire protection.

The council told the property owners they had no choice; they could have sewers and annexation or no sewers. Several disgruntled property owners left as the resolution was being passed.

Sailor Drowns In Napa River

NAPA (AP) — An automobile plunged into the muddy Napa River today and a sailor, due for a Christmas furlough was missing and presumed drowned.

Police identified the missing man as James Oscar Ouztz, 22, stationed at Mare Island Naval Shipyard. He was scheduled to leave today for his home in Atlanta, Ga.

He was a passenger in a car driven by Michael W. Herron, 20, also a Mare Island sailor from Vallejo.

Both Herron and Tracy Allen Hancock, 21, a passenger, swam ashore and escaped with minor injuries.

Marinites Sing In San Francisco Event

Two Mill Valley youngsters participated in the Voices for Friendship Chorus' Christmas carol festival held today in the rotunda of San Francisco City Hall.

They are Mark Harrold of 363 Marin Avenue and Christopher Colombini, 258 Miller Avenue, both students at Hillwood Academic Day School in San Francisco.

Hospital Supported Minus Land Donation

The Rohnert Park City Council said last night it would support bringing a private hospital to the city, but would be reluctant to give up six acres of city property for the site.

Developer Paul Golis, secretary of the Rohnert Park Hospital Foundation, presented the council with a petition signed by 618 residents urging the council to assist a hospital and to give up half the futre civic center property.

Golis said that not all residents had the opportunity to sign the petition, but said that less than 10 per cent of those approached had refused to sign.

He said city donation of six acres would lend influence to the plan and might change the attitude of the Sonoma County Health Facilities Planning Council which has refused to grant approval for a small hospital.

Golis said that local doctors also had a negative reaction to a Rohnert Park hospital and seemed to be content using facilities in Petaluma and Santa Rosa.

The developer said the foundation, a nonprofit group, had been negotiating with two private firms about locating in Rohnert Park and that neither would drain the public treasury as a public hospital would.

Although the council said it would support a private hospital, it said better use could be made of the civic center site than donating it.

The council also noted that any group with funds to build a $4 million medical facility would not be stopped because it has to purchase six acres of land.

The Rohnert City Council Also:

GRANTS — Authorized the applications for grants from the department of housing and urban development for a new water well and storage tank and acquisition of a neighborhood park in the El Colegio area.

MOTEL — Gave approval to the architecture plan for a Royal Inn motel, restaurant, shops and a bar on Commerce Boulevard near the Rohnert Park expressway.

VANDALISM — Asked City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan to study ways of combating vandalism at the recreation and community center. Reports were made of damage to the interior and foul works written in mud on the windows.

PARTY — Said the annual Christmas Party for city employees, the council and commissions will be held at 7 p.m. Friday in the council chamber.

Electricity Bill Increase Sought

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Pacific Gas and Electric Company asked the California Public Utilities Commission yesterday for a 9.5 per cent increase in electricity rates to produce $67.4 million additional revenue a year.

The company cited the high cost of borrowing money for expansion plus inflation as the reasons for the request. A spokesman said the last electric rate increase was in 1967.

The proposed increase would effect more than 2.5 million PG&E customers in Central and Northern California. It would equal a hike of about 4 cents a day for the average residential customer.

Teacher Union Claims 70 Fired From Colleges

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The American Federation of Teachers asserts that at least 70 faculty activists have been fired from the state college system because of what it called "Political repression."

At a meeting yesterday at San Francisco State College, union members claimed Gov. Ronald Reagan and other statewide education officials have moved "to eliminate people who are innovative, active and outspoken."

Spokesmen at the office of state colleges chancellor Glenn Dumke said that hiring and firing is left in the hands of local college presidents and that there is no mechanism for such a statewide firing campaign.

The union contends many of the 70 were among its members, including Erwin Kelly, president of the San Francisco local.

At the meeting, the union decided to appeal to the AFL-CIO San Francisco Labor Council for help and possibly later to the courts.

Universal Vote Signups Urged By Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special task force of the Democratic National Committee recommended today a universal voter enrollment system to shift to the government the initial burden of registering citizens to vote.

Former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, head of the task force, said the United States is virtually the only democracy in the world without such a system. He noted that such a system achieved enrollment of more than 90 per cent of the voting age population in other lands.

Pointing out that 47 million Americans failed to cast ballots in the 1968 presidential election, Clark said that meant, "we had a nation within a nation that did not vote."

Clark said the task force proposal will be submitted to Congress sometime next year. It would create a national election commission to administer and supervise voter enrollment on a nationwide scale.

The task force said the plan offers "an effective and vital reform that assures a substantial increase in voter participation."

Clark estimated the plan would "increase the electorate by 25 to 30 million votes the first time we try it."

'Differentiated Staff' Outlined To Trustees

An idea for giving teachers broader and more varied roles in high schools was presented last night to the Tamalpais High School District board.

Instructor Richard S. Newman reported on the system called "differentiated staffing," which he contended would permit the maximum use of a teachers' talents, enabling them to participate in making decisions that affect the district.

Under the traditional staffing pattern, the teacher doesn't have the opportunity to undertake varied roles and varied responsibilities, Newman explained.

Differentiated staffing would provide more professional choices for a teacher, he explained. Under this system, a teacher wouldn't necessarily have to spend his entire career in the classroom.

He said that in some districts where teachers have differing roles, there is "differentiated pay," but this is not to be confused with merit pay.

Some teachers are concerned that the system would "replace an administrative hierarchy with a teacher hierarchy, he conceded.

"Establishing a salary differential could create conflict," he said.

Newman recommended an orientation program to inform the staff on differentiated staffing, and if sufficient interest is shown, a committee be formed to explore the subject.

Acting Supt. Robert D. Torrey said there has been interest in the concept and he would have a recommendation before the board at its Jan. 5 meeting.

Tamalpais High School District Board Also:

SUPERINTENDENT — As a required legal formality, sent notice to former superintendent Chester G. Carlisle that his contract as superintendent will be terminated June 30, 1970. Carlisle was relieved as superintendent in August and reassigned as consultant to trustees. The Next Step Analysis Committee, including principals, teachers and board members, will meet at 3:15 p.m. tomorrow at the District Administration building, Redwood High campus, to discuss procedure for sleecting a screening committee for a permanent superintendent.

TAM HIGH PRINCIPAL — Heard a report from Trustee Gloria Melbostad that the initial committee on selection of a permanent proncipal for Tamalpais High School will meet tomorrow to discuss the procedure for selection. Two representatives of the Tamalpais Federation of Teachers contended their organization was "slighted" because it hasn't any representation on the initial committee.

LEAVES — Approved full year leaves for 1970-71 without pay to Fred R. Broemmer, Constantino Lavezzo, Carol Hier-Johnson, Robert Higgins and Else-Britt Jonsson, all Redwood High School teachers.

SABBATICALS — Learned that 14 sabbatical leaves, estimated to cost $75,000, are slated to be recommended Jan. 19, prompting Trustee David D. Ring to question whether the value received would equal the expenditure.

MANAGEMENT CONSULTANT — Authorized the hiring of Main Lafrentz, certified public accountants, of Oakland, as consultants in development of a management planning program, at a cost not to exceed $9,400. The objective, explained Chairman Bette Wallace is to have planning by program, which she felt, was "much sounder than line budgeting."

ADULT SCHOOL — Approved the hiring of adult evening school instructors, Dec. 8 to March 13, Barbara Duncan, George Irvin, Stanley Pease and Prudence Wise at Tamalpais High School, Richard Creighton at Sir Francis Drake High School and Freeman Blake at Redwood High School, all at $6.50 an hour.

PORTABLES — Granted Speedspace Corp. of Santa Rosa permission to change a subcontractor, a change expected to speed up the completion of portable classroom site at Redwood High School.

STUDENT TEACHERS — Approved an agreement with California College of Arts and Crafts, Oakland, to permit student teachers from the college in district schools.

ALCOHOL REPORT — Designated Torrey as the person to sign reports to the U.S. Internal Revenue Service in connection with the district's use of tax-free alcohol.

BICYCLE TRAIL — Received a letter from Lawrence Livingston Jr., 2 Spencer Court, Sausalito, urging the board to reaffirm its support of a bicycle path from Sausalito to Mill Valley, and a letter of thanks from the Sausalito Woman's Club for its support of a trail.

BUDGET REQUEST — Received a letter from the executive council of the Tamalpais District Teachers Association urging restoration of the 9 per cent budget cut at all three high school for the 1969-70 school year.

The board met at a newly completed portable classroom at Tamalpais High School, and the Tamalpais Parent-Teacher Association had a coffee for the board prior to the meeting.

Boy's Arms Reattached

OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP) — A 12-year-old boy whose arms were torn off in a farm accident was reported conscious and improving today after a team of surgeons reattached both limbs to his body.

"He seems to be getting along pretty well," said J[illegible] W. Gray of Henrietta, Tex., father of Brent Gray. "He's conscious and able to talk just fine."

Brent's arms were torn off by a feed-grinding machine at the family farm Sunday. The boy, his father and a doctor, along with the severed arms — packed in ice — were flown to a hospital where the surgeons performed a night-long operation.

"They will have to wait until healing progresses before the nerves can be resewn," a hospital source said, adding that the most dangerous period was the first 72 hours after the operation.

Youth Booked On Drinking, Drug

Thomas Keith O'Donnell, 19, of 30 Novato Street, San Rafael, was booked into Marin County Jail Friday for being drunk and possessing marijuana, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

He was arrested as he entered Pinky's Pizza Parlor in the Montecito Shopping Center at 10 p.m. on suspicion of being drunk. As he was being booked a plastic bag of marijuana, according to police, fell from his trousers.

He was released on $2,500 bail and is scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow.

Valley Homeowners To Discuss Bylaws

Proposed changes in the bylaws of the San Geronimo Valley Association will be discussed at 8 p.m. Jan. 19 at Lagunitas School, according to Claryce Stevens, association publicity chairman.

Bylaws changes were scheduled to be discussed Friday, but with the absence of the secretary and a Christmas party on the agenda, they were postponed until next month, Mrs. Stevens reported.

Three-Way Tam Talkfest Points In New Directions

Changes are in the making at Tamalpais High School in the aftermath of a daylong session of parents, teachers and faculty in October, Acting Principal Raymond J. Bell reported last night.

The full day's session on school problems, including racial friction, brought forth a number of recommendations and suggestions, he told the Tamalpais High School District board.

As a result one committee had proposed discussion sessions be held on the first Monday each month at the school with students, faculty and members of the community participating, he reported.

Another staff group has proposed a survey of the academic and vocational expectations of parents, students and recent graduates in order to develop goals and objectives which would be revelant to the demands, Bell said.

Another committee is studying student behavior and attendance policies with the aim of compiling "one concise document relating to student attendance and conduct," Bell reported.

Trustee Gloria Melbostad said one of the dominant themes at the October session was that there had been enough talk, and they "wanted something done."

Bell's report stressed long-range goals, and she felt there should be some short-range steps taken.

Acting Supt. Robert D. Torrey said some "short-range adjustments" have been made, such as additional supervisory help at the campus."

Guilty Plea To Having Marijuana

John Frederick Tanzi, 21, of San Anselmo, pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court yesterday to a reduced charge of possessing marijuana. He had originally been charged with raising marijuana at his home on Sept. 20.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson set sentencing for Jan. 26.

HOW TO PLAY

BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Simple Holdup Play At Start Can Bring Home Winning Score

"I've never seen such nice bridge players," said Warmhearted Willie. "I'll give you this trick just because I like your looks." You always feel a glow when Willie makes his little speech, but no opponent has ever shown any real profit from a trick that the warmhearted expert has given away.

Opening lead — ♠ 5

LOW SPADE

West led the five of spades, East put up the king, and Willie made his little speech, playing the four of spades from his hand. It was really quite generous of Willie because he could have made sure of two spade tricks if he had taken the first trick with the ace of spades.

East returned the eight of spades, and declarer's jack lost to the queen. Now West's hand was dead since he could never regain the lead. Instead of continuing with the useless spades, therefore, West shifted to the seven of diamonds.

FREE FINESSE

The lead gave South a free finesse, but this made no difference. Declarer had to knock out the ace of hearts and the ace of clubs, and he didn't need three diamond tricks except as a way of stopping East's long suit. South had enough high cards to win 10 tricks except that he had to lose two aces and two spades.

Perhaps you're wondering what made Willie so warmhearted. See what happens if he wins the first trick with the ace of spades. South knocks out the ace of clubs, and back comes a spade. West plays low, and dummy wins with the ten.

EIGHT TRICKS

Now declarer has only eight tricks: two spades, three diamonds and three clubs. He must knock out the ace of hearts in the attempt to develop a ninth trick. East takes the ace of hearts and leads his remaining spade, whereupon West defeats the contract with the rest of the spades.

Declarer's refusal to win the first spade trick is the simple holdup play that you employ at most notrump contracts. South must disregard his jack of spades and must play as though he had the ace and two very low spades.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

♦—7
♣—5 4 2

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two spades.

You have the right distribution for a jump to four spades, but your hand isn't quite strong enough. You need another king or so to get up to so high a level.

Rental Hearing

The Marin County Housing Authority will hold a public hearing at 8 p.m. today at Manzanita Center in Marin City on proposed changes in the rental and occupancy policy of the authority.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, Dec. 16, the 350th day of 1969 with 15 days to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full stage. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1773, American patriots dressed themselves as Indians and boarded a British vessel in Boston harbor in what became known as the Boston Tea Party. They threw 342 chests of tea overboard in a protest against taxation.

In 1835, property loss was placed at $20 million after fire broke out in New York City. Firemen from Philadelphia were called to assist.

In 1944, the Germans launched their last great attack of World War II with the Battle of the Bulge in Belgium.

In 1965, 15,000 persons were feared dead when a cyclone struck Pakistan.

A thought for the day: H. L. Mencken once said, "Injustice is relatively easy to bear; what stings is justice."

Marin Teens Begin Nailing Down Issues Most Important To Them

Marin youth is concerned about everything from rewriting American history to length of athletes' hair, a group of about 50 declared last night at a meeting of the Marin Youth Commission at the Civic Center.

After spending the first hour and one-half on what had transpired at the Governor's Youth Conference held in Sacramento Nov. 10 and 11, the group began nailing down some of the issues that confront Marin youth today.

They include lowering of the voting age so that older teen-agers will have a voice in government; rewriting textbooks so that they will tell American history, not white American history; exerting some influence on decisions such as on length of athletes' hair; presenting specific ideas on youth activities so that they can be supported by county funds, and having a "rap on drugs."

Chairman Mark W. Tracy, a senior at Novato High School, announced that another meeting would be held at 7 p.m. Jan. 6 in the Civic Center to see if some of these ideas can be jelled into an action program.

Trail Wood, a junior at Terra Linda High School, complained that teen-agers have little they can do. "We can't go to the parks because we get busted by the pigs. And sports are restricted to the short hairs."

"When you call a police officer a pig, what kind of response do you think you're going to get?" asked Williams. "If you call me an Injun or a black person a Nigger, you're going to get the same kind of response from him that you give him."

"I don't think this is the time to give us a lecture," replied young Wood.

Gary T. Giacomini, a representative from the Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission, asked students if they had done anything to exert any influence on the long-hair decision at Redwood High School. He suggested action rather than mere grumbling.

"Our biggest hangup is recreation," said Horace White, a member of the Human Rights Department staff. "Kids go to Northgate and get kicked out. Schools are not open on Saturday and Sunday. There's no place to hang out."

Anne Danenberg, a student at Redwood High School, said that "Berkeley had a drug rap thing" and Marin could do likewise. She said the important thing is not to keep stressing the harmful effects of drugs but to let youth talk. "Just to hear people who want to rap about drugs, maybe want help in getting off it or those who don't want to get off and say they dig it."

Gwen M. Monroe, youth coordinator; Albert J. Boro, represnting the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission; and Timothy M. Jackson, member of the County Administrator's staff, suggested that youth get down to problems they want resolved and present specific plans.

In summary, Boro said rewriting history books and lowering the voting age are long range goals. But the immediate goals is for youth groups to come up with concrete proposals such as coffee houses which the county and youth can finance on a 50-50 basis.

Members of the Marin Youth Commission who attended last night include teen-agers Tracy, Ann O'Rielly of Mill Valley, Ann Elliott of Ross, and Cathi Prebil of San Rafael, and adults Williams, Giacomini, and Boro.

Marti Bolton of San Rafael, a student teacher attending the University of Oregon, gave a slide presentation of the Governor's Youth Conference. Ann O'Rielly gave a summary of the conference and announced that many youths were disappointed that Governor Ronald Reagan did not attend.

Senior Citizens' Yule Party Set

A Christmas tree-trimming party for Mill Valley's senior citizens will be held from noon to 3 p.m. tomorrow at Brown's Hall by the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Department.

The trimmed tree will be given to the Valley Park Convalescent home after the program. Admission is a gift costing under one dollar to be given to patients at Sonoma State Hospital.

Suspects Deny Burglary Count

Three San Francisco men accused of burglarizing a Panoramic Highway residence Thursday have entered innocent pleas in Marin Municipal Court.

A preliminary hearing was set for Thursday for Peter Anthony Arai, 22, and Michael Lee Krane and Arthur George Metzger III, both 26.

They were nabbed by sheriff's deputies shortly after a reportedly witness saw their car leaving the house.

Tire, Rim Stolen

A $30 tire and rim were stolen yesterday from a truck owned by Lewis F. Bortfeld at 249 Jewell Street which was parked in front of 114 Bungalow Avenue, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

OLD TAYLOR
KENTUCKY STRAIGHT BOURBON WHISKEY
THIS YELLOW LABEL IS IN EXCLUSIVE AND CONCLUSIVE USE
OF TOPMOST CLASS

Give Old Taylor for all it's worth.

When you give Bourbon why not give Old Taylor, the top-selling, premium-priced Bourbon in America. We can prove it's worth the extra money. There are about six reasons why:

1. Old Taylor was created by Col. Edmund H. Taylor, Jr., foremost Bourbon distiller of the late 1800's.

2. People galore tried to copy Old Taylor. So, in 1909, Col. Taylor changed the color of his label to a loud and clear yellow and printed the warning below. That took care of that!

3. We make Old Taylor in this castle because it's near the delicious limestone spring the Colonel discovered in 1887.

4. Old Taylor is a signed original. Another step the Colonel took to foil would-be imitators.

5. Nothing's changed since Col. Taylor put these three words on the label. We still use the same costly small grains, tend our mash as lovingly—still do everything just as the Colonel did it.

6. Taste it and you'll know why Old Taylor is the Bourbon worth giving. And this year the sculptured holiday decanter and regular bottle come gift wrapped at no extra cost. We've even engraved the word "Bourbon" under the decanter label.

'Differentiated Staff' Outlined To Trustees

An idea for giving teachers broader and more varied roles in high schools was presented last night to the Tamalpais High School District board.

Instructor Richard S. Newman reported on the system called "differentiated staffing," which he contended would permit the maximum use of a teachers' talents, enabling them to participate in making decisions that affect the district.

Under the traditional staffing pattern, the teacher doesn't have the opportunity to undertake varied roles and varied responsibilities, Newman explained.

Differentiated staffing would provide more professional choices for a teacher, he explained. Under this system, a teacher wouldn't necessarily have to spend his entire career in the classroom.

He said that in some districts where teachers have differing roles, there is "differentiated pay," but this is not to be confused with merit pay.

Some teachers are concerned that the system would "replace an administrative hierarchy with a teacher hierarchy, he conceded.

"Establishing a salary differential could create conflict," he said.

Newman recommended an orientation program to inform the staff on differentiated staffing, and if sufficient interest is shown, a committee be formed to explore the subject.

Acting Supt. Robert D. Torrey said there has been interest in the concept and he would have a recommendation before the board at its Jan. 5 meeting.

Tamalpais High School District Board Also:

SUPERINTENDENT — As a required legal formality, sent notice to former superintendent Chester G. Carlisle that his contract as superintendent will be terminated June 30, 1970. Carlisle was relieved as superintendent in August and reassigned as consultant to trustees. The Next Step Analysis Committee, including principals, teachers and board members, will meet at 3:15 p.m. tomorrow at the District Administration building, Redwood High campus, to discuss procedure for sleecting a screening committee for a permanent superintendent.

TAM HIGH PRINCIPAL — Heard a report from Trustee Gloria Melbostad that the initial committee on selection of a permanent proncipal for Tamalpais High School will meet tomorrow to discuss the procedure for selection. Two representatives of the Tamalpais Federation of Teachers contended their organization was "slighted" because it hasn't any representation on the initial committee.

LEAVES — Approved full year leaves for 1970-71 without pay to Fred R. Broemmer, Constantino Lavezzo, Carol Hier-Johnson, Robert Higgins and Else-Britt Jonsson, all Redwood High School teachers.

SABBATICALS — Learned that 14 sabbatical leaves, estimated to cost $75,000, are slated to be recommended Jan. 19, prompting Trustee David D. Ring to question whether the value received would equal the expenditure.

MANAGEMENT CONSULTANT — Authorized the hiring of Main Lafrentz, certified public accountants, of Oakland, as consultants in development of a management planning program, at a cost not to exceed $9,400. The objective, explained Chairman Bette Wallace is to have planning by program, which she felt, was "much sounder than line budgeting."

ADULT SCHOOL — Approved the hiring of adult evening school instructors, Dec. 8 to March 13, Barbara Duncan, George Irvin, Stanley Pease and Prudence Wise at Tamalpais High School, Richard Creighton at Sir Francis Drake High School and Freeman Blake at Redwood High School, all at $6.50 an hour.

PORTABLES — Granted Speedspace Corp. of Santa Rosa permission to change a subcontractor, a change expected to speed up the completion of portable classroom site at Redwood High School.

STUDENT TEACHERS — Approved an agreement with California College of Arts and Crafts, Oakland, to permit student teachers from the college in district schools.

ALCOHOL REPORT — Designated Torrey as the person to sign reports to the U.S. Internal Revenue Service in connection with the district's use of tax-free alcohol.

BICYCLE TRAIL — Received a letter from Lawrence Livingston Jr., 2 Spencer Court, Sausalito, urging the board to reaffirm its support of a bicycle path from Sausalito to Mill Valley, and a letter of thanks from the Sausalito Woman's Club for its support of a trail.

BUDGET REQUEST — Received a letter from the executive council of the Tamalpais District Teachers Association urging restoration of the 9 per cent budget cut at all three high school for the 1969-70 school year.

The board met at a newly completed portable classroom at Tamalpais High School, and the Tamalpais Parent-Teacher Association had a coffee for the board prior to the meeting.

Boy's Arms Reattached

OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP) — A 12-year-old boy whose arms were torn off in a farm accident was reported conscious and improving today after a team of surgeons reattached both limbs to his body.

"He seems to be getting along pretty well," said J[illegible] W. Gray of Henrietta, Tex., [illegible]ather of Brent Gray. "He's conscious and able to talk just fine."

Brent's arms were torn off by a feed-grinding machine at the family farm Sunday. The boy, his father and a doctor, along with the severed arms — packed in ice — were flown to a hospital where the surgeons performed a night-long operation.

"They will have to wait until healing progresses before the nerves can be resewn," a hospital source said, adding that the most dangerous period was the first 72 hours after the operation.

Youth Booked On Drinking, Drug

Thomas Keith O'Donnell, 19, of 30 Novato Street, San Rafael, was booked into Marin County Jail Friday for being drunk and possessing marijuana, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

He was arrested as he entered Pinky's Pizza Parlor in the Montecito Shopping Center at 10 p.m. on suspicion of being drunk. As he was being booked a plastic bag of marijuana, according to police, fell from his trousers.

He was released on $2,500 bail and is scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow.

Valley Homeowners To Discuss Bylaws

Proposed changes in the bylaws of the San Geronimo Valley Association will be discussed at 8 p.m. Jan. 19 at Lagunitas School, according to Claryce Stevens, association publicity chairman.

Bylaws changes were scheduled to be discussed Friday, but with the absence of the secretary and a Christmas party on the agenda, they were postponed until next month, Mrs. Stevens reported.

Three-Way Tam Talkfest Points In New Directions

Changes are in the making at Tamalpais High School in the aftermath of a daylong session of parents, teachers and faculty in October, Acting Principal Raymond J. Bell reported last night.

The full day's session on school problems, including racial friction, brought forth a number of recommendations and suggestions, he told the Tamalpais High School District board.

As a result one committee had proposed discussion sessions be held on the first Monday each month at the school with students, faculty and members of the community participating, he reported.

Another staff group has proposed a survey of the academic and vocational expectations of parents, students and recent graduates in order to develop goals and objectives which would be revelant to the demands, Bell said.

Another committee is studying student behavior and attendance policies with the aim of compiling "one concise document relating to student attendance and conduct," Bell reported.

Trustee Gloria Melbostad said one of the dominant themes at the October session was that there had been enough talk, and they "wanted something done."

Bell's report stressed long-range goals, and she felt there should be some short-range steps taken.

Acting Supt. Robert D. Torrey said some "short-range adjustments" have been made, such as additional supervisory help at the campus."

Guilty Plea To Having Marijuana

John Frederick Tanzi, 21, of San Anselmo, pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court yesterday to a reduced charge of possessing marijuana. He had originally been charged with raising marijuana at his home on Sept. 20.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson set sentencing for Jan. 26.

Local Butcher Vanishing Breed

By HENRIETTA LEITH

NEW YORK (AP) — He wears a straw hat while he works; he flirts with the customer whether she's 18 or 80, and he goes down to the market and puts his stamp on a side of prime beef before it gets off the truck.

On his sales slips, cold cuts are called "provisions." He still speaks with a heavy German accent, his long white apron is unabashedly blood-spattered and his knives are wiped, never washed.

He is Arthur Braun, butcher, and he's one of a vanishing breed, an anachronism in these days of packaged supermarket meat.

THERE ARE STILL about 1,500 independent small-store butchers in all New York City, but a trade official can remember when there were 6,000.

And the shops, he says, are closing down every day for a variety of reasons in addition to supermarket competition—high rents, thefts and vandalism in changing neighborhoods, high labor costs.

In the narrow little shop on Eighth Avenue, Arthur, a short, round, man whose straw hat hides a bald pate, explains as he puts a paper frill on a double lamb chop how he manages to keep his customers.

"Charm . . . beauty . . . modesty," he says. "They come from all over the city, in cabs, in cars, the chauffeur brings them or the chauffeur picks up the meat. We deliver all over— we even deliver to a few old customers on Long Island and a couple in New Jersey.

"WE GET RICH people — show people, society people, stock brokers, importers and poor people. Negroes and Puerto Ricans, who are just sick and tired of supermarket meat.

"We give them 16 ounces to the pound. If you care to pay our price, you get service."

Since "our price" in the little butcher shops is frequently less for prime meat than the suburban housewife is paying for supermarket meat, thousands of New Yorkers are still trading with butchers like Arthur.

"Those who stick with the independent stores do not pay a penny more," says David Deerson, of the New York-Bronx Retail Meat and Food Dealers Association. "The supermarkets will advertise maybe one or two items cheaper, but over-all you pay just as much."

An old customer telephones Arthur Braun and simply says "My freezer's empty." "Okay, darling," says Arthur, "I'll fix you up," and he starts to cut and wrap all sorts of meat and provisions."

ONE PIECE OF beef is inspected, then carried back to the refrigerator — "not aged enough."

His partner, Bob Abeles, who like Arthur learned his trade "on the other side"—Arthur in Germany and Bob in Vienna—is filling a box with pounds and pounds of meat. The customer lives near him in Riverdale, in the Bronx, and he'll deliver the order "after hours."

A chic silver-haired lady in purple tweed wants "two breasts and a leg—I want to make creamed chicken." She wants loin lamb chops, too, but Arthur sadly tells her he just cut them all up for a big order and "the ones I have inside are all too fresh."

Another lady, not so chic, asks for veal—"a nice piece—is that good for grinding?" and is assured it will be perfect for grinding. She and the chic one discuss how to cook some odd cut.

"It's very nice for a change," says the silver-haired lady. "I've never made it but the girl does."

A STOOPED, tired workman asks for lamb neck and shank-cut in two pieces. "Take the fat off?" "No, leave it on."

A young swinger in knit bell-bottoms pushes a baby carriage into the store and Arthur says "Boy, the baby is getting big" and she studies the displays while a middle-aged woman asks for "the piece in the window."

With costs up, Bob and Arthur say their profit margin is "much less" and they have to make it up in volume. This means cutting out some of the "fancy butchering" that takes time—like cutting flowers in the fat on a roast or as one Manhattan butcher still does, inserting truffles under the skin of a turkey.

Industry sources say butchering will become even more automated soon. And the big chains won't even cut the meat and put it in the uniform, plastic-wrapped packages, but will get it that way right from the packing plant—all "portion-controlled."

But for a while, a lot of people will still be going to the Arthur's and Bob's and asking for a nice, dark, well-aged piece of beef or a dozen double lamb chops or soup bone and some scraps for the dog.

Ordinarily you don't get that at the supermarket. Nor do you get a free slice of bologna for the kid or a card at Christmastime, as you can at Arthur's.

BUTCHERS BOB Abeles, left, and Arthur Braun work on a costumer's order in their New York City meat market. They are considered a vanishing breed, since there are only about 1,500 independent small store butchers left in the city. A trade official remembers when there were 6,000 before supermarkets, high rents, thefts, vandalism and high labor costs forced many butcher to close their shops. (AP Wirephoto)

JO ANN VARGO

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony B. Vargo of Corte Madera announced the engagement of their daughter Jo Ann to Ronald Alan DeSilva, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DeSilva of San Rafael.

Jo Ann was graduated from Redwood High School. A member of the Native Daughters of the Golden West, she is employed by the California State Automobiie Association in Greenbrae. Christine Vargo is her sister, and she is the granddaughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Della Maggiora of San Rafael High School and attended College of Marin. The future bridegroom served in the Navy and is employed by Walnut Optical Company in San Rafael.

Marin Women

Alcoholism On Increase Among American Women

NEW YORK (WMNS) — Experts fear that alcoholism is engulfing women at an unprecedented rate.

Until 10 years ago, male alcoholics outnumbered women by about five to one. But authorities on the subject believe there are now three male alcoholics to every female alcoholic. Or even only two.

Precise figures are difficult to come by because so many woman alcoholics are "invisible" — housewives drinking secretly in their homes and found out only by husbands and children. Job-holding women alcoholics run the same risks of discovery by colleagues and bosses as men alcoholics.

Alcoholic mothers tend to blame their disease — and doctors believe it really is a disease — on such causes as boredom, loneliness, depression, marital troubles and fears of aging. Like men alcoholics, they tend to come from heavy-drinking families. Sixty-two per cent of alcoholics have at least one alcoholic parent.

The emotional havoc created by an alcoholic mother is so pronounced that it is surprising that any children escape. Many alcoholic mothers try to retain the illusion that their children do not know about their drinking, but it is invariably an illusion, the experts say. One alcoholic mother learned this when her three-year-old daughter tried to grab a can of beer from her hand. At that point the woman went permanently or the wagon.

Marin Teens Begin Nailing Down Issues Most Important To Them

Marin youth is concerned about everything from rewriting American history to length of athletes' hair, a group of about 50 declared last night at a meeting of the Marin Youth Commission at the Civic Center.

After spending the first hour and one-half on what had transpired at the Governor's Youth Conference held in Sacramento Nov. 10 and 11, the group began nailing down some of the issues that confront Marin youth today.

They include lowering of the voting age so that older teen-agers will have a voice in government; rewriting textbooks so that they will tell American history, not white American history; exerting some influence on decisions such as on length of athletes' hair; presenting specific ideas on youth activities so that they can be supported by county funds, and having a "rap on drugs."

Chairman Mark W. Tracy, a senior at Novato High School, announced that another meeting would be held at 7 p.m. Jan. 6 in the Civic Center to see if some of these ideas can be jelled into an action program.

Trail Wood, a junior at Terra Linda High School, complained that teen-agers have little they can do. "We can't go to the parks because we get busted by the pigs. And sports are restricted to the short hairs."

Harry D. Williams, a representative from the Marin Human Rights Commission, objected to the use of the word "Pig."

"When you call a police officer a pig, what kind of response do you think you're going to get?" asked Williams. "If you call me an Injun or a black person a Nigger, you're going to get the same kind of response from him that you give him."

"I don't think this is the time to give us a lecture," replied young Wood.

Gary T. Giacomini, a representative from the Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission, asked students if they had done anything to exert any influence on the long-hair decision at Redwood High School. He suggested action rather than mere grumbling.

"Our biggest hangup is recreation," said Horace White, a member of the Human Rights Department staff. "Kids go to Northgate and get kicked out. Schools are not open on Saturday and Sunday. There's no place to hang out."

Anne Danenberg, a student at Redwood High School, said that "Berkeley had a drug rap thing" and Marin could do likewise. She said the important thing is not to keep stressing the harmful effects of drugs but to let youth talk. "Just to hear people who want to rap about drugs, maybe want help in getting off it or those who don't want to get off and say they dig it."

Gwen M. Monroe, youth coordinator; Albert J. Boro, represnting the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission; and Timothy M. Jackson, member of the County Administrator's staff, suggested that youth get down to problems they want resolved and present specific plans.

In summary, Boro said rewriting history books and lowering the voting age are long range goals. But the immediate goals is for youth groups to come up with concrete proposals such as coffee houses which the county and youth can finance on a 50-50 basis.

Members of the Marin Youth Commission who attended last night include teen-agers Tracy, Ann O'Rielly of Mill Valley, Ann Elliott of Ross, and Cathi Prebil of San Rafael, and adults Williams, Giacomini, and Boro.

Marti Bolton of San Rafael, a student teacher attending the University of Oregon, gave a slide presentation of the Governor's Youth Conference. Ann O'Rielly gave a summary of the conference and announced that many youths were disappointed that Governor Ronald Reagan did not attend.

Senior Citizens' Yule Party Set

A Christmas tree-trimming party for Mill Valley's senior citizens will be held from noon to 3 p.m. tomorrow at Brown's Hall by the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Department.

The trimmed tree will be given to the Valley Park Convalescent home after the program. Admission is a gift costing under one dollar to be given to patients at Sonoma State Hospital.

Suspects Deny Burglary Count

Three San Francisco men accused of burglarizing a Panoramic Highway residence Thursday have entered innocent pleas in Marin Municipal Court.

A preliminary hearing was set for Thursday for Peter Anthony Arai, 22, and Michael Lee Krane and Arthur George Metzger III, both 26.

They were nabbed by sheriff's deputies shortly after a reportedly witness saw their car leaving the house.

Tire, Rim Stolen

A $30 tire and rim were stolen yesterday from a truck owned by Lewis F. Bortfeld at 249 Jewell Street which was parked in front of 114 Bungalow Avenue, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Give Old Taylor for all it's worth.

When you give Bourbon why not give Old Taylor, the top-selling, premium-priced Bourbon in America. We can prove it's worth the extra money. There are about six reasons why:

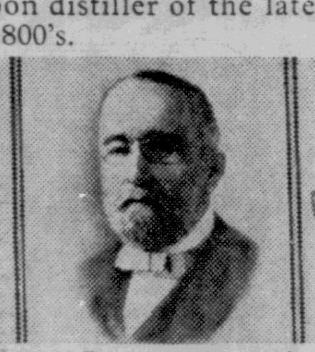
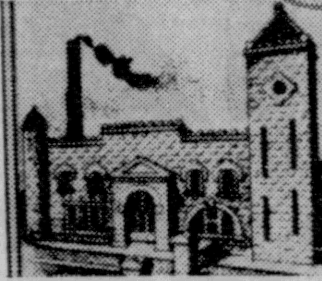
86 PROOF
OLD

1. Old Taylor was created by Col. Edmund H. Taylor, Jr., foremost Bourbon distiller of the late 1800's.



2. People galore tried to copy Old Taylor. So, in 1909, Col. Taylor changed the color of his label to a loud and clear yellow and printed the warning below. That took care of that!

THIS YELLOW LABEL IS IN EXCLUSIVE AND CONCLUSIVE USE



3. We make Old Taylor in this castle because it's near the delicious limestone spring the Colonel discovered in 1887.

4. Old Taylor is a signed original. Another step the Colonel took to foil would-be imitators.

OF TOPMOST CLASS

5. Nothing's changed since Col. Taylor put these three words on the label. We still use the same costly small grains, tend our mash as lovingly—still do everything just as the Colonel did it.

6. Taste it and you'll know why Old Taylor is the Bourbon worth giving. And this year the sculptured holiday decanter and regular bottle come gift wrapped at no extra cost. We've even engraved the word "Bourbon" under the decanter label.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

We're Conditioned To Look For The Beauty That's On The Surface

DEAR HELEN:

"Fussy" who worries because she automatically turns off fellows who aren't terrifically handsome, is doing what comes naturally — but because she worries about it, there may be hope for her.

We're conditioned to look for beauty and handsomeness first, and push the real values aside. Even a politician can't make it any more unless he photographs well on television. If a gorgeous woman chooses an ugly man, people assume there's something wrong with her, or she married him for his money. It's even worse if a handsome guy marries an unattractive gal. She would have to be completely sure of herself or she'd lose him to the predators. And good looks have been so ground into us, that it's difficult for unattractive persons to ever be sure of themselves.

I hope "Fussy's" letter will start a lot of people thinking — and looking for the beauty underneath. — NO LONGER FUSSY

DEAR HELEN:

I once, like "Fussy," thought a date had to be just so in the looks department, or I was embarrassed to be seen with him. I soon found out Greek gods expected worship — among other things — and really, they often were dull fellows. Then I realized I was getting to be a dull girl too, because I figured my looks would carry me through.

So I found a man I could talk to. He's loaded with intelligence, charm, sex appeal, empathy, and he has terrific standards. Six months ago I might not have given him a second glance.

Now we're engaged, and I'm the luckiest girl in the world to be in love with an ugly-handsome man. Who ever said Romeo was an Apollo? — NO LONGER DULL

DEAR HELEN:

Enclosed is my picture. Please send it to "Fussy." Maybe it will start a beautiful friendship — DON

DEAR DON:

Sorry, I don't mix and match.

Besides, a handsome guy like you doesn't need a go-between — unless he has nothing going for him but good looks. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I used to think the Adonis type was automatically a wolf, so I left the tall-and-handsomes to my girl friend and chose the little intellectual-looking fellow with glasses. I planned to play it safe.

Who do you suppose wound up the night in a knock-down drag-out wrestling match: My girl friend with the wolf? Never. T'was me with my quiet guy. After one such encounter ended with a bloody nose but my virginity intact, I finally woke up to the fact that you can't tell a book by its cover. — DE-DE

DEAR HELEN:

My parents won't let me buy underground papers. Mainly, they don't like the ads in them and the four letter words. I'm 16, and well aware of what they mean, but that doesn't prove I'm going to become the kind of "swinger" mentioned in those ads or some of the stories, any more than my Dad will turn into the satyr that he laughs at in Playboy cartoons.

A lot of the writing in the undergrounds is alive and aware, and it tells you the other side that you often don't get in regular papers. I'm capable of sorting the good and bad. Why must my reading be censored? — 16

DEAR 16:

Adults censor because the underground newspapers tell them more than they really want to know about things they'd rather pretend don't exist.

I don't think the undergrounds will contaminate a wise 16, but then I'm not your parent. — H.

Modern Cards

The modern era of Christmas cards dates from 1900 to 1910, when a number of new publishing firms were first established. But the big boom came immediately after World War 1. At that time, public fancy was won over by the symbolic designs —Christmas trees, holly wreaths, gleaming candles, and church bells.

Longevity Outlook Is Optimistic For The Young People Of Today

If our younger generation keeps its cool, chances of its members living to the age 60 are considerably better than they were for their grandparents.

The outlook for young women is particularly heartening. According to the Health Insurance Institute, their chances of reaching the three score mark compared with those of young men, are even better today than they were 50 years ago.

IN 1910, for example, a 20-year-old man's chances of reaching 60 was about three in five, while a 20-year-old woman's was two in three.

The latest census figures indicate that today's 20-year-old man has about an eight out of 10 chance of reaching 60, while the 20-year-old woman has about a nine out of 10 average.

Young married couples, too, can in most cases look forward to something their forebears could never take for granted — the possibility of reaching the usual retirement age of 65 together.

And the odds are better than every that both husband and wife will live together 10 or more years beyond that point.

THE DRAMATIC progress made in recent years in medicine and public health is credited with creating the improved longevity outlook.

The average American's life span has improved so greatly that the 25-year-old husband with a 22-year-old wife can expect to be alive when she reaches 60 — in two out of three cases, that is.

Also, two out of five of these couples will survive the wife's 70th birthday, while one out of two will celebrate her 65th together.

Fifty years ago only three out of 10 couples could expect to be together to toast the little woman's 70th birthday.

THESE ESTIMATES, points out the Institute, are conservative in that they make no allowance for future medical advances that might further increase our survival rate.

Longevity today depends to a large degree on the quality and availability of health care. To date, more than 19 million people over 65 years of age have Medicare to help pay their hospital bills, but more than 10 million also own their own private hospital expense insurance to help pay the bills not paid by the government program.

But what are the chances of a newly married couple — the sound of wedding bells still fresh in their ears — living to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary?

On the basis of figures provided by insurance statisticians, their chances of reaching their 50th wedding anniversary are better than one out of four at the present time.

Barbara Beard Exchanges Vows With Patrick Love

Mission Church of University of Santa Clara was the setting for the wedding of Barbara Gayle Beard and R. Patrick Love at noon Sunday.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Edward Doyle of Ignacio. They are former residents of Belvedere. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Love of West Covina are the bridegroom's parents.

Bridesmaids were Catherine Ann Beard of Ignacio, the bride's sister; Deborah Ward of Corte Madera; Mrs. Wes Morrill of Concord; Doreen Wilson of San Francisco and Sarah Jane Doyle of Ignacio, the bride's sister.

Ushers were Sean and Kevin Love, the bridegroom's brothers, William Sullivan of Cupertino and Robert Laase of San Jose.

The reception was held at Benjamin Swig Hall in Santa Clara University.

After the wedding trip to Carmel and LaJolla the couple will live in Santa Clara where the bridegroom is a graduate student in education at the University of Santa Clara.

Barbara was graduated from Redwood High School. She attended Colorado Women's College and Orange Coast College at Newport Beach. Barbara is in the executive training program with Macy's in Palo Alto.

Her grandmother is Mrs. Crawford Parkman of Twenty-nine Palms.

Patrick was graduated from Bishop Amat High School, West Covina, and Santa Clara University.

Ann, Oongh and Norah Love of West Covina are the bridegroom's sisters.

Local Butcher Vanishing Breed

By HENRIETTA LEITH

NEW YORK (AP) — He wears a straw hat while he works; he flirts with the customer whether she's 18 or 80, and he goes down to the market and puts his stamp on a side of prime beef before it gets off the truck.

On his sales slips, cold cuts are called "provisions." He still speaks with a heavy German accent, his long white apron is unabashedly blood-spattered and his knives are wiped, never washed.

He is Arthur Braun, butcher, and he's one of a vanishing breed, an anachronism in these days of packaged supermarket meat.

THERE ARE STILL about 1,500 independent small-store butchers in all New York City, but a trade official can remember when there were 6,000.

And the shops, he says, are closing down every day for a variety of reasons in addition to supermarket competition—high rents, thefts and vandalism in changing neighborhoods, high labor costs.

In the narrow little shop on Eighth Avenue, Arthur, a short, round, man whose straw hat hides a bald pate, explains as he puts a paper frill on a double lamb chop how he manages to keep his customers.

"Charm . . . beauty . . . modesty," he says. "They come from all over the city, in cabs, in cars, the chauffeur brings them or the chauffeur picks up the meat. We deliver all over— we even deliver to a few old customers on Long Island and a couple in New Jersey.

"WE GET RICH people — show people, society people, stock brokers, importers and poor people. Negroes and Puerto Ricans, who are just sick and tired of supermarket meat.

"We give them 16 ounces to the pound. If you care to pay our price, you get service."

Since "our price" in the little butcher shops is frequently less for prime meat than the suburban housewife is paying for supermarket meat, thousands of New Yorkers are still trading with butchers like Arthur.

"Those who stick with the independent stores do not pay a penny more," says David Deerson, of the New York-Bronx Retail Meat and Food Dealers Association. "The supermarkets will advertise maybe one or two items cheaper, but over-all you pay just as much."

An old customer telephones Arthur Braun and simply says "My freezer's empty." "Okay, darling," says Arthur, "I'll fix you up," and he starts to cut and wrap all sorts of meat and provisions."

ONE PIECE OF beef is inspected, then carried back to the refrigerator — "not aged enough."

His partner, Bob Abeles, who like Arthur learned his trade "on the other side"—Arthur in Germany and Bob in Vienna—is filling a box with pounds and pounds of meat. The customer lives near him in Riverdale, in the Bronx, and he'll deliver the order "after hours."

A chic silver-haired lady in purple tweed wants "two breasts and a leg—I want to make creamed chicken." She wants loin lamb chops, too, but Arthur sadly tells her he just cut them all up for a big order and "the ones I have inside are all too fresh."

Another lady, not so chic, asks for veal—"a nice piece—is that good for grinding?" and is assured it will be perfect for grinding. She and the chic one discuss how to cook some odd cut.

"It's very nice for a change," says the silver-haired lady. "I've never made it but the girl does."

A STOOPED, tired workman asks for lamb neck and shank-cut in two pieces. "Take the fat off?" "No, leave it on."

A young swinger in knit bell-bottoms pushes a baby carriage into the store and Arthur says "Boy, the baby is getting big" and she studies the displays while a middle-aged woman asks for "the piece in the window."

With costs up, Bob and Arthur say their profit margin is "much less" and they have to make it up in volume. This means cutting out some of the "fancy butchering" that takes time—like cutting flowers in the fat on a roast or as one Manhattan butcher still does, inserting truffles under the skin of a turkey.

Industry sources say butchering will become even more automated soon. And the big chains won't even cut the meat and put it in the uniform, plastic-wrapped packages, but will get it that way right from the packing plant—all "portion-controlled."

But for a while, a lot of people will still be going to the Arthur's and Bob's and asking for a nice, dark, well-aged piece of beef or a dozen double lamb chops or soup bone and some scraps for the dog.

Ordinarily you don't get that at the supermarket. Nor do you get a free slice of bologna for the kid or a card at Christmastime, as you can at Arthur's.

FRESH
CHICKEN PARTS

BUTCHERS BOB Abeles, left, and Arthur Braun work on a costumer's order in their New York City meat market. They are considered a vanishing breed, since there are only about 1,500 independent small store butchers left in the city. A trade official remembers when there were 6,000 before supermarkets, high rents, thefts, vandalism and high labor costs forced many butcher to close their shops. (AP Wirephoto)

Alcoholism On Increase Among American Women

Until 10 years ago, male alcoholics outnumbered women by about five to one. But authorities on the subject believe there are now three male alcoholics to every female alcoholic. Or even only two.

Precise figures are difficult to come by because so many woman alcoholics are "invisible" — housewives drinking secretly in their homes and found out only by husbands and children. Job-holding women alcoholics run the same risks of discovery by colleagues and bosses as men alcoholics.

Alcoholic mothers tend to blame their disease — and doctors believe it really is a disease — on such causes as boredom, loneliness, depression, marital troubles and fears of aging. Like men alcoholics, they tend to come from heavy-drinking families. Sixty-two per cent of alcoholics have at least one alcoholic parent.

The emotional havoc created by an alcoholic mother is so pronounced that it is surprising that any children escape. Many alcoholic mothers try to retain the illusion that their children do not know about their drinking, but it is invariably an illusion, the experts say. One alcoholic mother learned this when her three-year-old daughter tried to grab a can of beer from her hand. At that point the woman went permanently on the wagon.

The couple plan to be married July 11.

If You Like It, You Can Wear It To A Party This Holiday Season

By JANE ROGERS
London Express Service

(London) — Down with the little black dress and three cheers for the fancy dress look in party clothes!

For years we've been expected to turn up at cocktail parties in something short, dark and respectable looking, to dinner parties in something long and hostessy, to grand parties in something that approximates a ball gown. This Christmas, thanks in a large measure to the influenece of the Hippies, we can wear exactly what we want to and get away with it.

At a party I went to in London last week, populated largely by show business personalities and models, but with a good solid core of spectator types too, it was fascinating to see the wide range of clothes worn, from near fancy-dress to very dress-down garments, and they all looked absolutely right because each party-goer had dressed to suit his or her personality — and that's the secret of the whole thing.

Don't be tempted to dress out of character. Nothing looks more apologetic than the girl who's wearing a Pocohontas outfit and isn't quite sure whether its right for her. Even worse, in a way, is the girl who's decided to take the plunge and buys a dress with a low-diving neckline only to try to cover it up, in an embarrassed way, all evening.

If you feel at your best in a plain dark dress then wear it — the chances are that this year you will stand out in the crowd as the girl who looks different. Play up to the color, especially if it is dark aubergine or black, by adding matching stockings and shoes, a bow in your hair too. Look dramatic.

The girl who loves dressing up, however, will have a simply wonderful time this year; nothing she chooses can be wrong, and separates rather than one-piece outfits are in favor so it is possible to mix and match your evening clothes, swap items with friends, adding pieces here and there to make an ever-changing look. Start off with a basic maxi-length skirt or culottes and build up your party wardrobe from there. If the skirt is plain and dark you can top it with overskirts in chiffon or net from time to time to give it a different look. Even the trousers can be jazzed up by the addition of braid round their bell-bottoms or a strip of osprey feathers. Lampshade fringing in the same color will give them a 1930s look, and the same trimming can be used for your top.

There's a huge variety of ideas from abroad around in the shops at the moment at prices that are very easy on the purse — mini-dresses from India, for instance, which make superb tunic tops. In brightly colored cotton they are heavily embroidered with pieces of mirror appliqued all over them so that they glitter when you move.

From Morocco came mini-length caftans in plain fine cotton lawn edged with matching braid. Slightly see-through, they look good worn over a glittery bra or, if you had a silver crochet bikini last summer, it looks very exotic underneath.

The biggest and newest idea on the party scene at the moment is the poncho in dozens of different forms. At one end of the scale it is knitted up in colorful wool and giant needles as a granny-type shawl, at the other it is made from black net, edged with flouncing and scattered with sequins to give it a flamenco look. The wide loose look that goes with the poncho idea can be seen in some of the evening dress designs too, in cowl necklines and generously cut belled sleeves, often embroidered with beads and sequins.

Want to turn a summer evening dress into a winter party one? Then sequins are the quickest and most glamorous way out we know. You simply dot round the pattern on the fabric with a special glue and stick sequins on to highlight the design.

Miss Duignan To Be Bride In Santa Rosa

The First Presbyterian Church in Santa Rosa will be the setting for the wedding of Nancy Kay Duignan of Santa Rosa and Andrew Isaac Koski Jr. of Petaluma on Jan. 10.

Nancy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Duignan of Santa Rosa, was graduated from Santa Rosa High School and Santa Rosa Junior College, where she was a member of the Women's Luncheon Club. Affiliated with the International Order of Job's Daughters, she is employed by a Santa Rosa insurance company.

Andrew, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Isaac Koski of Petaluma and a graduate of Petaluma High School, attended Santa Rosa Junior College, where he was a member of the Circle K Club. He is employed by a Petaluma lumber company.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

We're Conditioned To Look For The Beauty That's On The Surface

DEAR HELEN:

"Fussy" who worries because she automatically turns off fellows who aren't terrifically handsome, is doing what comes naturally — but because she worries about it, there may be hope for her.

We're conditioned to look for beauty and handsomeness first, and push the real values aside. Even a politician can't make it any more unless he photographs well on television. If a gorgeous woman chooses an ugly man, people assume there's something wrong with her, or she married him for his money. It's even worse if a handsome guy marries an unattractive gal. She would have to be completely sure of herself or she'd lose him to the predators. And good looks have been so ground into us, that it's difficult for unattractive persons to ever be sure of themselves.

I hope "Fussy's" letter will start a lot of people thinking — and looking for the beauty underneath. — NO LONGER FUSSY

DEAR HELEN:

I once, like "Fussy," thought a date had to be just so in the looks department, or I was embarrassed to be seen with him. I soon found out Greek gods expected worship — among other things — and really, they often were dull fellows. Then I realized I was getting to be a dull girl too, because I figured my looks would carry me through.

So I found a man I could talk to. He's loaded with intelligence, charm, sex appeal, empathy, and he has terrific standards. Six months ago I might not have given him a second glance.

Now we're engaged, and I'm the luckiest girl in the world to be in love with an ugly-handsome man. Who ever said Romeo was an Apollo? — NO LONGER DULL

DEAR HELEN:

Enclosed is my picture. Please send it to "Fussy." Maybe it will start a beautiful friendship — DON

DEAR DON:

Sorry, I don't mix and match.

Besides, a handsome guy like you doesn't need a go-between — unless he has nothing going for him but good looks. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I used to think the Adonis type was automatically a wolf, so I left the tall-and-handsomes to my girl friend and chose the little intellectual-looking fellow with glasses. I planned to play it safe.

Who do you suppose wound up the night in a knock-down drag-out wrestling match: My girl friend with the wolf? Never. T'was me with my quiet guy. After one such encounter ended with a bloody nose but my virginity intact, I finally woke up to the fact that you can't tell a book by its cover. — DE-DE

DEAR HELEN:

My parents won't let me buy underground papers. Mainly, they don't like the ads in them and the four letter words. I'm 16, and well aware of what they mean, but that doesn't prove I'm going to become the kind of "swinger" mentioned in those ads or some of the stories, any more than my Dad will turn into the satyr that he laughs at in Playboy cartoons.

A lot of the writing in the undergrounds is alive and aware, and it tells you the other side that you often don't get in regular papers. I'm capable of sorting the good and bad. Why must my reading be censored? — 16

DEAR 16:

Adults censor because the underground newspapers tell them more than they really want to know about things they'd rather pretend don't exist.

I don't think the undergrounds will contaminate a wise 16, but then I'm not your parent. — H.

Modern Cards

The modern era of Christmas cards dates from 1900 to 1910, when a number of new publishing firms were first established. But the big boom came immediately after World War 1. At that time, public fancy was won over by the symbolic designs —Christmas trees, holly wreaths, gleaming candles, and church bells.

Longevity Outlook Is Optimistic For The Young People Of Today

If our younger generation keeps its cool, chances of its members living to the age 60 are considerably better than they were for their grandparents.

The outlook for young women is particularly heartening. According to the Health Insurance Institute, their chances of reaching the three score mark compared with those of young men, are even better today than they were 50 years ago.

IN 1910, for example, a 20-year-old man's chances of reaching 60 was about three in five, while a 20-year-old woman's was two in three.

The latest census figures indicate that today's 20-year-old man has about an eight out of 10 chance of reaching 60, while the 20-year-old woman has about a nine out of 10 average.

Young married couples, too, can in most cases look forward to something their forebears could never take for granted — the possibility of reaching the usual retirement age of 65 together.

And the odds are better than every that both husband and wife will live together 10 or more years beyond that point.

THE DRAMATIC progress made in recent years in medicine and public health is credited with creating the improved longevity outlook.

The average American's life span has improved so greatly that the 25-year-old husband with a 22-year-old wife can expect to be alive when she reaches 60 — in two out of three cases, that is.

Also, two out of five of these couples will survive the wife's 70th birthday, while one out of two will celebrate her 65th together.

Fifty years ago only three out of 10 couples could expect to be together to toast the little woman's 70th birthday.

THESE ESTIMATES, points out the Institute, are conservative in that they make no allowance for future medical advances that might further increase our survival rate.

Longevity today depends to a large degree on the quality and availability of health care. To date, more than 19 million people over 65 years of age have Medicare to help pay their hospital bills, but more than 10 million also own their own private hospital expense insurance to help pay the bills not paid by the government program.

But what are the chances of a newly married couple — the sound of wedding bells still fresh in their ears — living to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary?

On the basis of figures provided by insurance statisticians, their chances of reaching their 50th wedding anniversary are better than one out of four at the present time.

Meditation Center Wins Marin Approval

A Hindu guru and his 40 disciples will be allowed to set up a center for meditation on a 250-acre ranch near Tomales, County Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill announced yesterday.

He approved a use permit for the Blue Mountain Center of Meditation, which was established in Berkeley in 1960 by Eknath Easwaran, an Indian guru who teaches the theory and practice of meditation at the University of California. The meditiaticn center will be located on the north side of Tomales-Petaluma Road about a mile and quarter east of Tomales.

Clean-cut disciples of Easwaran, most of them students or college graduates of the Berkeley-Oakland area, appeared before the zoning administrator on Dec. 1 and assured him that theirs is no hippie culture.

Spokesman Bronwen Godfrey, a registered nurse, said her group shuns drugs and doesn't even smoke cigarettes. The aim of the center to use the art of meditation for solving personal problems and improve family and community relationships, she said.

In approving a use permit for the meditation center, Cordill imposed several conditions. The group must meet all sanitary and fire protection requirements and may be ordered to undertake any reasonable program of weed abatement or soil protection to prevent erosion or spread of noxious weeds.

Police Agency Plans Approved

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — Planning of programs to guide improvement of local law enforcement agencies has been approved by the Association of Bay Area Governments regional criminal justice advisory board.

Completion of planning, as proposed by the board's staff, will take up to two years, reported Robert A. Mullen, staff coordinator. Local agencies will be able to use the programs in applying to the federal government for grants under the Safe Streets Act, he said.

The planning program, approved Friday, includes models for the juvenile justice system, police-community relations, mutual aid among police agencies, attacks on organized crime, training of police, corrections and rehabilitation, and drug abuse.

Closed Meeting By Hub Board

The San Anselmo School District board will hold a closed meeting today to discuss firing a teacher and possible hiring a nonteaching personnel.

The closed meeting will follow the open meeting starting at 7:30 p.m. at the Red Hill School library.

At the open meeting the board will hear a report on San Anselmo's proposed urban planning assistance program from City Engineer Charles R. Leitzell and planning consultant Sydney H. Williams.

Suspended Students To Gain Reentry

All students suspended from Tomales High School in an investigation of marijuana use will be allowed to return to school by next Monday, Supt. Charles E. McCully of Shoreline Unified School District announced yesterday.

Eleven of the students, who were suspended last Thursday, were allowed to return today, McCully said. Four others will be allowed to return tomorrow, two on Wednesday, and the remaining three next Monday.

McCully said no student was expelled. They were warned, however, that repeated infractions may bring more severe discipline, he reported.

McCully and Asst. Supt. Anthony Matulich met with the suspended students and their parents in individual conferences during the weekend. "The parent conferences were very successful, I felt," said McCully.

To follow up on the crackdown, the district will initiate a drug use education program for all classes in the high school, the superintendent said.

A meeting with the student body to discuss the problem and outline what remains to be done was scheduled today.

The crackdown followed a party at a Tomales home at which marijuana, beer and wine were in evidence, and continued reports of marijuana use by high school students. There were reports that as many as 50 teenagers attended the "pot party."

Checks Stolen

Two blank checks were stolen Saturday from the office of Mufflers Unlimited at 626 Lindaro Street, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Western Union Safe Is Hit, $220 Is Taken

Burglars pried open the safe at the Western Union office at 1004 Tamalpais Avenue, San Rafael, stealing more than $220 Saturday or Sunday, police reported yesterday.

They broke through a window at the adjacent Bargains Unlimited at 1006 Tamalpais Avenue, police said, and then bored a hole through a plasterboard bathroom wall into the Western Union office.

Two Christmas bundles containing shirt and ties valued at seven dollars each were taken from Bargains Unlimited, police said. Damage to the wall was estimated at $100.

28,390 Pounds Of Milk Is Produced

'Space Odyssey' Film Benefit Set By Cerebral Palsy Group

"2001: A Space Odyssey" will be shown Thursday evening at the new Cinema I Theater in Corte Madera as a benefit for United Cerebral Palsy of Marin, sponsored by its Women's Auxiliary.

Champagne and hors d'oeuvres will be served at the pre-opening party at 7 p.m. at the Corte Madera Chrysler Plymouth agency, and the movie will be shown at 8 p.m.

MEMBERS OF Preceptor Alpha Lambda Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi are having a Christmas party tonight at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Herschel Johnson in San Rafael.

Social chairman, Mrs. Leo Benelli, and her committee have arranged the party, where secret sisters will be revealed.

THE HUMANE Society of Marin Auxiliary will hold its annual Christmas party on Thursday at the Elks Club in San Rafael.

Social hour will start at 11:30 a.m., and luncheon will be served at 12:30 p.m. Members and their guests will exchange gifts. Mrs. Alfred Kardos, president of the auxiliary, will greet guests. Mrs. Pierre Triou is chairman, assisted by Mrs. Arthur Poganski and Mrs. Daisy S. White, who is reservations chairman.

THE MILL Valley Women's Golf Club will have its annual Christmas party and installation of officers Friday at the Mill Valley golf clubhouse.

Mrs. Don Roberts is the new president elected to succeed Mrs. Charles Apple.

Festivities will start with a cocktail hour from noon to luncheon at 1 p.m. There will be surprise entertainment and exchange of gifts.

Co-chairmen are Mmes. William Witt and Thomas Baldwin, and doing special Christmas decorations are Mmes. B. R. Wilkie and O. J. Bruderer. Other chairmen are Miss Jo Ann Wheeler and Mrs. Frank Kerr. Reservations chairman is Miss Mary Weaver.

Invited as special guests are Mmes. Edward Mills and Wayne Speckmann and Messrs. Malcolm Brow, Don Dimitratos, Billie Osborne and Alex Bardea.

THE MARIN County Chapter National Association Women in Construction will hold its annual Chrismas party dinner at the home of Mrs. Ted McGuire in Santa Venetia Thursday for members and prospective members at 7 p.m.

Members will bring gift items for distribution to the Fifth Avenue Convalescent Home the week before Christmas.

A CHRISTMAS caroling party will be given by Isabel Cook School Thursday, beginning at 7:30 p.m. at San Anselmo City Hall. Then the group will continue caroling at United Market and Red Hill Shopping Center, meeting at the school for more singing, hot chocolate and cookies.

ALPHA LAMBDA Chapter of Kappa Phi Sigma will have a Christmas party on Friday at Hamilton Air Force Base Officers Club. Cocktails will be served at 7 p.m. followed by dinner and dancing at 8 in the Monterey Room.

Mrs. John Wright will be assisted by Mrs. Arthur Bayles as chairmen for the party.

THE WOMEN'S Auxiliary of the Marin Medical Society has named Mrs. Thomas Reilly of Tiburon chairman of their dinner dance on Friday at the Meadow Club in Fairfax.

Mrs. Calvin Plumhoff, Kentfield, is reservations chairman.

The dance will benefit a nurse's scholarship fund.

MRS. CHARLES Eberle of Belvedere, a member of the Marin Regional Council of the San Francisco Symphony Foundation, was among the top 10 winners in the foundation's membership drive. She received season tickets for two for this year's symphony concerts.

She reports that over 300 volunteers raised $75,000 toward the foundation's goal of $125,000.

ST. JOHN'S Episcopal Church Women of Petaluma are preparing the Christmas supply of holiday puddings, an annual project for many years in the Petaluma area.

The puddings are available from Mmes. Horace O. Camm, James Burke and Eugene J. Peil, all of Petaluma.

MARIN COUNTRY Day School's annual alumni reunion and Christmas program will be held tomorrow at 5 p.m. at the school in Corte Madera.

"Twelve Days of Christmas" is an instrumental and vocal program by R. Barret Mineah, music department head, who composed theme music.

Banners made by students of nine grades represent first days. Alumni, parents and teachers will entertain under banners depicting last days made by Christy Mineah, Mrs. Dewitt Burnham and Mrs. Susan Hossfeld.

Alumni will be piped on stage by bagpipers.

CAMP FIRE Girls have made and stuffed pinatas with candy and will decorate the special education classroom at Meadow Park School in Novato tomorrow at 3:30 p.m.

Mrs. Donald Auslen of Tiburon directed making the pinatas for the pre-school deaf children. Camp fire girls are fourth graders from Bel Aire School, Tiburon: Cathy Auslen, Lynne Boyd, Li Li Clever, Sabra Drohan, Alice Fishman, Ann Lemley, Stefi Miller, Neena Sarkaria and Heidi Stewart.

Scarfs' Year

The year 1969 will go down as the year of the scarf — 10 feet long, at least. Wear yours nonchalantly trailing, or knot two together for good measure. Shape the scarf into a turban, a stocking cap, a muff or purse.

Jeanne Fixes Is Wed In St. John's Rite

St. John's Episcopal Church in Ross was the setting for the wedding Dec. 6 of Jeanne Louise Fixes of San Rafael and William Frederick Prange Jr. of San Anselmo.

Vicki Simpson of San Rafael served as maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Angela Ferrante of Monterey, Mrs. Tim Quinn of Redwood City and Mrs. John Lavine of Los Angeles.

Jim Carr of South San Francisco was best man. Seating the guests were Rod Miller of San Anselmo, Jerry Roxberg of Fairfax and Robert Carr of Berkeley.

A reception was held at the Livermore Room, Marin Art and Garden Center.

After a Monterey and Carmel wedding trip the couple will live in San Rafael.

If You Like It, You Can Wear It To A Party This Holiday Season

By JANE ROGERS
London Express Service

(London) — Down with the little black dress and three cheers for the fancy dress look in party clothes!

For years we've been expected to turn up at cocktail parties in something short, dark and respectable looking, to dinner parties in something long and hostessy, to grand parties in something that approximates a ball gown. This Christmas, thanks in a large measure to the influenece of the Hippies, we can wear exactly what we want to and get away with it.

At a party I went to in London last week, populated largely by show business personalities and models, but with a good solid core of spectator types too, it was fascinating to see the wide range of clothes worn, from near fancy-dress to very dress-down garments, and they all looked absolutely right because each party-goer had dressed to suit his or her personality — and that's the secret of the whole thing.

Don't be tempted to dress out of character. Nothing looks more apologetic than the girl who's wearing a Pocohontas outfit and isn't quite sure whether its right for her. Even worse, in a way, is the girl who's decided to take the plunge and buys a dress with a low-diving neckline only to try to cover it up, in an embarrassed way, all evening.

If you feel at your best in a plain dark dress then wear it — the chances are that this year you will stand out in the crowd as the girl who looks different. Play up to the color, especially if it is dark aubergine or black, by adding matching stockings and shoes, a bow in your hair too. Look dramatic.

The girl who loves dressing up, however, will have a simply wonderful time this year; nothing she chooses can be wrong, and separates rather than one-piece outfits are in favor so it is possible to mix and match your evening clothes, swap items with friends, adding pieces here and there to make an ever-changing look. Start off with a basic maxi-length skirt or culottes and build up your party wardrobe from there. If the skirt is plain and dark you can top it with overskirts in chiffon or net from time to time to give it a different look. Even the trousers can be jazzed up by the addition of braid round their bell-bottoms or a strip of osprey feathers. Lampshade fringing in the same color will give them a 1930s look, and the same trimming can be used for your top.

There's a huge variety of ideas from abroad around in the shops at the moment at prices that are very easy on the purse — mini-dresses from India, for instance, which make superb tunic tops. In brightly colored cotton they are heavily embroidered with pieces of mirror appliqued all over them so that they glitter when you move.

From Morocco came mini-length caftans in plain fine cotton lawn edged with matching braid. Slightly see-through, they look good worn over a glittery bra or, if you had a silver crochet bikini last summer, it looks very exotic underneath.

The biggest and newest idea on the party scene at the moment is the poncho in dozens of different forms. At one end of the scale it is knitted up in colorful wool and giant needles as a granny-type shawl, at the other it is made from black net, edged with flouncing and scattered with sequins to give it a flamenco look. The wide loose look that goes with the poncho idea can be seen in some of the evening dress designs too, in cowl necklines and generously cut belled sleeves, often embroidered with beads and sequins.

Want to turn a summer evening dress into a winter party one? Then sequins are the quickest and most glamorous way out we know. You simply dot round the pattern on the fabric with a special glue and stick sequins on to highlight the design.

Miss Duignan To Be Bride In Santa Rosa

The First Presbyterian Church in Santa Rosa will be the setting for the wedding of Nancy Kay Duignan of Santa Rosa and Andrew Isaac Koski Jr. of Petaluma on Jan. 10.

Nancy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Duignan of Santa Rosa, was graduated from Santa Rosa High School and Santa Rosa Junior College, where she was a member of the Women's Luncheon Club. Affiliated with the International Order of Job's Daughters, she is employed by a Santa Rosa insurance company.

Andrew, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Isaac Koski of Petaluma and a graduate of Petaluma High School, attended Santa Rosa Junior College, where he was a member of the Circle K Club. He is employed by a Petaluma lumber company.

TRAFFIC FLOWS AND SO DOES THE MUD

Automobiles sail past a mudslide on Puerto Suello Hill on Highway 101, just north of San Rafael. The mud slide, caused by heavy rains on Friday deposited only a small amount of dirt on the freeway shoulder and did not affect the traffic flow. According to Robert W. Halligan, of the State Department of Public Works, the slide was the result of a failure in the slope last winter and not unexpected. "We can expect minor mud slides until the hill stabilizes," Halligan said, adding he does not feel the slides will be large enough to create a hazard for motorists. (Independent-Journal photo)

Marin City Firm's Shuttle Service Subsidy Doomed?

A Marin City company's appeal for a three-month subsidy to start bus service between Mill Valley and Tiburon apparently was doomed today by Marin County Transit District directors, despite a 4-3 vote approving the appeal. (See another transit story, page 1.)

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney advised the split board that six votes would be needed to authorize the $10,000 subsidy because it was not budgeted for this fiscal year.

However, the narrowly passed motion, made by Supervisor Michael Wornum, only authorized staff preparation of a contract for the subsidy, and did not itself authorize payment of the subsidy.

But board chairman John F. McInnis warned that unless the Marin City company could switch two votes, their appeal was "just a dead cause." None of the three who voted "no" offered to change his vote.

Voting for the subsidy were Mill Valley Mayor Deon N. Meyer, Supervisors Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., Wornum and McInnis. Voting against it were supervisors William A. Gnoss and Louis H. Baar and Corte Madera Mayor Edward W. Colthurst.

But even if two votes switched to the "aye" column, doubt remained whether the subsidy would be enough — since the Marin City company has upped its appeal from $10,000 to $15,000.

Last month, the company, Marin County Transit Systems Inc., won transit board approval of a $10,000 subsidy "in principle."

Today, however, company consultant Paul Kahn asked for $15,000 for the three-month trial.

The service is to feed commuters to the Tiburon ferry and to shuttle shoppers midday, but Kahn said the $10,000 subsidy had been based on the expectation that the company's three buses also could handle school children.

Asked if the company could start service with a $10,000 subsidy, Kahn told the Independent-Journal "we'll talk about it."

Last month the transit board had conditioned its approval of the subsidy on condition that Greyhound Lines West agree not to use the service as a reason to curtail its own operations. Greyhound declined to make such a promise, but district manager Seymour Kashin said Greyhound's "only concern was not to set a precedent for other interests they have."

McInnis said this explanation satisfied him. "We can't ask for more," he said.

Baar sharply criticized Kahn's estimate that showed operating expenses at 5.5 cents a mile, which Baar said was 20 years out of date. "If there's to be a subsidy, it should go to someone who has had experience," Baar said.

He also declared that the company "should get a new expert."

Kahn defended his figures, saying they were comparable to those in operating systems elsewhere in the nation. New equipment will reduce the company's costs, he said.

His figures set net income at $7,468 for three months, operating expenses at $22,776, and the net operating loss at $15,308. The company has reported it will get foundation grants to buy the buses.

Gnoss said the figures showed "there must be something wrong in the management." He said the job could be done better by the Golden Gate Bridge District.

School Held Ethnically Imbalanced

Pacheco School in the Novato School District is ethnically imbalanced under state Department of Education criteria, the district board learned last night.

The school's population is chiefly from Hamilton Air Force Base and 25 per cent of the enrollment consists of minority students.

The state consider sanything over 15 per cent of a district's average racial grouping an imbalance, Asst. Supt. for Instruction Paul C. Mobley told the board.

The district's average is 8.4 per cent, according to Edward F. Dolan, district information officer.

Mobley told the board a plan for correcting the imbalance is under study and will be available by June.

The Novato School District board also:

CLOSED SESSION — Spent 75 minutes behind closed doors to discuss renew contracts.

NEGOTIATIONS — Appointed Deputy Supt. Ralph Giovanniello as its chief representative to the teachers negotiating council, changing past policy naming the superintendent. Four principals were named as a team to assist him.

SAN MARIN — Learned bids for construction of a shop at San Marin High School will be opened Jan. 19 and be presented to the board Jan. 24. Federal financing is available for the building, Dolan said.

ADULT SCHOOL — Approved two new courses for the adult evening school winter sesssion — understanding your teenagers and cake decoration and design.

EASEMENT — Authorized a roadway easement along the Hill Road side of Hill Junior High School to the city for future widening.

Fire Budget Of $106,125 Is Presented

A preliminary 1970-71 budget of $106,125, up $30,502 from the present fiscal year, was presented by Fire Chief Gaylord E. Bonfield to the Marinwood Fire Commission last night.

Bonfield said the budget, which must be approved by the community services district board, would help to bring the department up to American Insurance Association standards and thus soften insurance rates for homeowners.

Bonfield said the AIA requires certain hose footage, smoke ejectors, flood lights, emergency generating equipment and other items not included at present in the Marinwood department's supplies.

Bonfield said the tentative budget would provide the department's five paid firemen with a 10 per cent salary increase, including 5 per cent for a cost-of-living rise.

The commission asked for budget revisions by its Jan. 12 meeting. The budget may go to the CSD board later next month.

Marin Tax Bite Less Than 33 Counties Get

Marin County's Basic tax rate of $2.395 per $100 assessed valuation is well below the statewide mean, according to a report from State Controller Houston I. Flournoy to the county auditor-controller.

Basic tax rate for the 58 counties range from a low of $1.67 in Orange County to a high of $3.42 in Sacramento County. Thirty-three counties have a higher rate than Marin.

Of the total budget requirement, Marin finances 39 per cent through property taxes. This is the highest percentage in the state.

"This merely means that our total welfare budget is low and we receive less federal and state subventions," said County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell. He said counties that have huge welfare costs get more in state and federal aid, which means a larger percentage of state and federal aid.

The county that receives the most outside aid is Trinity County, which pays only 15 per cent of its total budget from local property taxes.

Contra Costa and San Mateo pay about 33 per cent of their total budget from local property taxes. The percentage in Alameda, Sonoma and Napa counties is 30 per cent.

By population, Marin ranks 18th in the state. Yet, in total welfare budget, Marin ranks 31st.

Hub Restaurant Barred On Takeout Service Grounds

After a two-hour discussion, the San Anselmo Planning Commission last night voted 6-1 that a proposed operation by Cable Car Burgers and Fisherman's Wharf Fish and Chips was a carryout restaurant, and would not be permitted in the proposed location on San Anselmo Avenue.

The commission found four grounds for its decision, assistant planner John T. O'Rourke reported.

Promotional material, including the menu, referred to takeout food; a proposed sign for the building read "takeout food"; the physical plan for the building and self-service layout indicated a takeout operation, and the method of serving — throwaway plates and the like — indicate a takeout operation.

Sole vote against the motion was cast by Commissioner Allen J. Creighton, who did not give a reason for his dissent, O'Rourke said.

The proposed restaurant site is in a commercial district which permits restaurants but not takeout restaurants.

The Cable Car-Fisherman's Wharf franchisers may appeal to the city council, O'Rourke said.

The commission also recommended council approval of apartment zoning sought by Ronald Harder for two lots at 55 Magnolia Avenue, now in single-family zoning. The lots must be combined and the front yard setback must be 27½ feet instead of 20 feet, the commission ruled.

Ross Trustees Adopt Teacher Rating Policy

The Ross School District board last night adopted as policy a requirement that a teacher's performance be officially evaluated before the instructor is permitted to progress on the salary schedule.

Dist. Supt. Thomas A. Anderson said it was discovered this spring that Ross, unlike many other districts, did not have such a policy.

The Ross School District Teachers Association, after reviewing the evaluation proposal, expressed it approval last night, Anderson said.

In other business, the board named Marian Gumz, an English teacher, to take on the added duties of district librarian for the remainder of the school year at an unspecified salary. The librarian, Shirley Peltzman, resigned for personal reasons.

The board also postponed until the Jan. 19 meeting a report by Paul Rosenthal and Associates on an engineering survey at Ross School. Anderson told the board last night, however, that a boiler at the school, feared worn out, would not need replacement.

Body Identified; El Cerrito Woman

The body of a woman found floating east of Angel Island Sunday was identified today by the Marin County Coroner's office as that of Betty Ann Ourke, 36, of El Cerrito.

The cororner reported that Mrs. Ourke, a divorced and unemployed computer operator, had been missing since last Thursday and that her car was found yesterday parked at the eastern end of the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge.

Judge Leaves Melkonian Out Of Jail

Melkon Melkonian, Mill Valley "marijuana martyr" convicted two years ago of having pot for sale, yesterday won his long fight to stay out of jail — at least in Marin County.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson decided to accept the recommendation of the probation department contained in a new report ordered last month that Melkonian receive straight probation for one year.

Two years ago the same judge had sentenced Melkonian to one year in jail. Melkonian was allowed a stay of that sentence, however, while the case was appealed. When his conviction was upheld almost a year ago, Melkonian did not show up for the jail term.

His attorney, Richard Cohen of Sausalito, said yesterday that Melkonian mistakenly believed that the Marin case was "trailing" one in San Francisco that is still being appealed. When he found out this was not true, he came to court, according to Cohen.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Gary W. Thomas yesterday argued that Melkonian should have to serve the year. When Judge Wilson pointed out that Melkonian had served about half that time in his San Francisco case, Thomas asked that he now serve the other half.

Noting that Melkonian still has a "prison sentence hanging over his head" if the San Francisco conviction is upheld, Judge Wilson turned down Thomas's request.

Melkonian had been convicted in Marin of having more than 26 kilos of marijuana for sale. In San Francisco he was convicted of conspiring to sell pot.

During his trial there, nearly 2,000 affidavits supporting pot smoking were presented.

Arrest Leads To Drug Check

Johnathan Christopher Roberts, 31, of Gate 5 Road, Waldo Point, was arrested today by Sausalito police on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs after a white powder was found in his pocket while being searched following his arrest on San Francisco and Marin County traffic warrants.

Roberts was booked into Marin County Jail to appear in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon.

Police said Roberts was arrested on the warrants after he had been ejected from Fred's restaurant at Bridgeway and Spring Street at 8:30 a.m. as an unwanted guest.

Terra Linda Slate

Robert Bennett was elected chairman of the Terra Linda Community Service District board at last night's meeting of the group. He replaces Neal D. Harding who served in the post for two years. Richard L. Lessing was named vice chairman.

Editor Still Facing Pot Violations

When no complaint was ready to be filed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court against Stephen McNamara, publisher and editor of the Pacific Sun, he was allowed to proceed with plans to leave for a two-week visit to Denmark.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Peter Mitchell said today, however, that charges will probably be pressed against McNamara, who was arrested about noon Saturday on suspicion of possessing marijuana and narcotics paraphernalia and being in a place where pot was used.

The case of a woman arrested with him at his home, Mair Hefina MacKenzie, 36, of Sausalito, was also still under investigation today by the district attorney's office. She was booked on suspicion of being in a place where marijuana was used.

Police went to the McNamara home Saturday morning after an anonymous phone caller said she feared McNamara had been hurt and was ill after a party Friday night which resulted in broken windows throughout the house.

Police called out, but receiving no answer, entered the house to look for McNamara. In the kitchen, officers said they found three plastic bags of what appeared to be marijuana.

The smell of burning marijuana filled the house, police said, and McNamara and Mrs. MacKenzie were the only persons there.

$12,000 Damage From Blaze In Lagunitas Cabin

Fire gutted a four-room cabin in Lagunitas last night causing $10,000 damage to the structure and $2,000 to the contents, Marin County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom reported today.

Flames engulfed the kitchen in the cabin at Arroyo Road and El Cerrito at 8:36 p.m., according to Bloom, when tenant Larry Storkey tried to throw a flaming can of charcoal lighter fluid out of a window and missed. Storkey had been trying to light a wood stove when the lighter fluid ignited the can, part of the kitchen and the stove, he said.

Seven firemen using three trucks fought the blaze for thirty minutes before it was contained. The cabin was owned by Judith Fullick of 121 Redwood Avenue, Woodacre, Bloom said. Storkey and the other tenant William E. McGuire were not injured in the fire.

Innocent Plea To Burglary Charge

Judge Alexander J. McMahon refused a defense request to lower the $25,000 bail because an injury had been involved in the incident. A preliminary hearing was set for 10 a.m. Thursday.

Renda is accused of burglaring the Ruegge Motors, 527 East Washington Street, Petaluma, Thursday night and striking owner Lee Ruegee with a tire iron when he happened on the scene. Ruegge was treated at Hillcrest Hospital for cuts of the head and throat.

Meditation Center Wins Marin Approval

A Hindu guru and his 40 disciples will be allowed to set up a center for meditation on a 250-acre ranch near Tomales, County Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill announced yesterday.

He approved a use permit for the Blue Mountain Center of Meditation, which was established in Berkeley in 1960 by Eknath Easwaran, an Indian guru who teaches the theory and practice of meditation at the University of California. The meditiaticn center will be located on the north side of Tomales-Petaluma Road about a mile and quarter east of Tomales.

Clean-cut disciples of Easwaran, most of them students or college graduates of the Berkeley-Oakland area, appeared before the zoning administrator on Dec. 1 and assured him that theirs is no hippie culture.

Spokesman Bronwen Godfrey, a registered nurse, said her group shuns drugs and doesn't even smoke cigarettes. The aim of the center to use the art of meditation for solving personal problems and improve family and community relationships, she said.

In approving a use permit for the meditation center, Cordill imposed several conditions. The group must meet all sanitary and fire protection requirements and may be ordered to undertake any reasonable program of weed abatement or soil protection to prevent erosion or spread of noxious weeds.

Police Agency Plans Approved

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — Planning of programs to guide improvement of local law enforcement agencies has been approved by the Association of Bay Area Governments regional criminal justice advisory board.

Completion of planning, as proposed by the board's staff, will take up to two years, reported Robert A. Mullen, staff coordinator. Local agencies will be able to use the programs in applying to the federal government for grants under the Safe Streets Act, he said.

The planning program, approved Friday, includes models for the juvenile justice system, police-community relations, mutual aid among police agencies, attacks on organized crime, training of police, corrections and rehabilitation, and drug abuse.

Closed Meeting By Hub Board

The San Anselmo School District board will hold a closed meeting today to discuss firing a teacher and possible hiring a nonteaching personnel.

The closed meeting will follow the open meeting starting at 7:30 p.m. at the Red Hill School library.

At the open meeting the board will hear a report on San Anselmo's proposed urban planning assistance program from City Engineer Charles R. Leitzell and planning consultant Sydney H. Williams.

Suspended Students To Gain Reentry

All students suspended from Tomales High School in an investigation of marijuana use will be allowed to return to school by next Monday, Supt. Charles E. McCully of Shoreline Unified School District announced yesterday.

Eleven of the students, who were suspended last Thursday, were allowed to return today, McCully said. Four others will be allowed to return tomorrow, two on Wednesday, and the remaining three next Monday.

McCully said no student was expelled. They were warned, however, that repeated infractions may bring more severe discipline, he reported.

McCully and Asst. Supt. Anthony Matulich met with the suspended students and their parents in individual conferences during the weekend. "The parent conferences were very successful, I felt," said McCully.

To follow up on the crackdown, the district will initiate a drug use education program for all classes in the high school, the superintendent said.

A meeting with the student body to discuss the problem and outline what remains to be done was scheduled today.

The crackdown followed a party at a Tomales home at which marijuana, beer and wine were in evidence, and continued reports of marijuana use by high school students. There were reports that as many as 50 teenagers attended the "pot party."

Checks Stolen

Two blank checks were stolen Saturday from the office of Mufflers Unlimited at 626 Lindaro Street, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Western Union Safe Is Hit, $220 Is Taken

Burglars pried open the safe at the Western Union office at 1004 Tamalpais Avenue, San Rafael, stealing more than $220 Saturday or Sunday, police reported yesterday.

They broke through a window at the adjacent Bargains Unlimited at 1006 Tamalpais Avenue, police said, and then bored a hole through a plasterboard bathroom wall into the Western Union office.

Two Christmas bundles containing shirt and ties valued at seven dollars each were taken from Bargains Unlimited, police said. Damage to the wall was estimated at $100.

Against What Education Do The Students Rebel?

In Carl J. Brown's outspoken statement at last week's San Rafael Board of Education meeting, he touched on what may be at least in part the explanation for student uprisings.

"I am positive that the permissiveness of education — exemplified by the 'satisfactory for this child' syndrome — is responsible at least for the lawlessness and rebellion of youth."

IN THE WAKE of student uprisings at colleges, universities and high schools throughout the land, we have heard over and over again from educational leaders that the students are rebelling in large part against what they feel is the irrelevance of their education.

What kind of education is it against which they are rebelling? What is it that they find so irrelevant?

The implication in the educators' writings seems to be that the students want to throw off the yoke of required lectures and rote learning.

OVER A CENTURY ago, students in some American universities did rebel violently against such an education — a hidebound curriculum inherited from the Renaissance institutions of Europe and based mainly on Greek and Latin grammar and philosophy; lectures with no opportunity for student discussion; endless rote learning and memorization.

But that kind of education is long gone.

Rote learning and memorization have virtually vanished. No public school has required Greek and Latin in a long time. Class discussion has largely replaced the lecture.

BUT WITHIN the present decade, current writings of doubtful value have in many classes replaced the literary classics that replaced Cicero and Vergil. The English grammar that replaced that in Greek and Latin has been downgraded. Sociology has assumed the all-encompassig role in the curriculum that was accorded philosophy when those 19th Century students rebelled.

Course titles have become unreliable. A course labeled "English" may turn out to be sociology of a sort; one labeled "history" may also turn out to be sociology of a sort.

Along with this has come what Brown called "the 'satisfactory for this child' syndrome," with abandonment of strict examination, grading and promotion requirements. The point to which standards have crumbled was well illustrated in August when the California State Board of Education, mandated by the Legislature to establish requirements for graduation from high school, placed them at the eighth grade level in English and mathematics — because it dared not put them any higher.

IT IS THIS KIND of education at which the students rebel.

And what has been the response, in most cases, of school administrators and faculties? It has been to give the students more freedom of choice among the courses they find meaningless. It has been to put students on faculty committees, as if they knew how to run the school.

Every school still has many sound courses. The majority of every faculty is still devoted to genuine education. But this does not stop the erosion any more than does the fact that the majority of students are too intelligent to turn outlaws in protest.

If students find the courses meaningless, the solution is to offer them courses that have meaning.

If they find grades meaningless, the solution is to give the grades meaning.

If they show disrespect for their school, the solution is to enforce rules that will produce a school they will respect.

Democrats' Intra-Party War Gets Assist From Humphrey

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

California Democrats have perfected the art of fighting among themselves even when there are no spoils.

Facing a hopeless match against Gov. Ronald Reagan's certain bid for reelection, at least Democrats will be treated to another debilitating intraparty bloodletting.

First to wave the red flag signaling it's time to tear themselves apart was former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. He didn't stop last week at declining to endorse either Unruh or Alioto, but added, "I'll do for Jesse what he did for me."

OF ALIOTO, who nominated him for president at Chicago, Humphrey said, "I can't help but feel a sense of obligation to his wonderful helpfulness to me in the presidential election."

Thus, with a few ill-chosen words, Humphrey, whose nomination split his party wide open, threw salt into the wounds his own campaign left in the impoverished flanks of California's Democratic Party. With friends like this, the Democrats don't need to worry about the Republicans doing them in.

MARIN DEMOCRATS suffer from the same divisions, which we recently said had reduced them to a oribund state. Th descipt'on was welcomed by several leading Democrats as somewhat charitable. One county official, who happens to be a Democrat, suggested that the only way to revive a second political party in Marc would be for the Marin County Democratic Central Committee to resign en masse with a public admission that its members had failed utterly to provide leadership, and an invitation for new party loyalists to take over the job they muffed.

REMEMBER the Tripartite Transportation Committee?

It used to meet regularly and even make news sometimes before the Golden Gate Bridge District board was expanded to include Marin and San Francisco supervisors. In those days, which ended a year ago, the committee was the only forum where representatives of the two counties and the bridge district could meet.

It hasn't met since March, but it's still in existence — like some sick cow no one has had the courage to dispatch. Meetings are called at odd intervals, but cancelled when someone remembers there is no reason for it to meet.

As Clemenceau once remarked, "There is no passion as intense as that of the functionary for his function." And so officialdom clings to a committee with no function.

MARIN is the center of the universe, we all know, so it seems only appropriate — to us, at least — that Marinites hold five of the 25 voting seats on the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission. Not bad for a county with only about 5 per cent of the Bay Area's population.

One was appointed by the governor, one by the Senate Rules Committee, one by the state Resources Agency, one by the Marin County Board of Supervisors, and one by the Association of Bay Area Governments.

More Readers Comment On Carl Brown Statement

From Novato

You are to be commended for giving Mr. Carl Brown's statement front-page treatment. He has spoken the views of most parents we know.

Edmund Burke wrote: "The only thing necessary for the triump of evil (or mediocrity) is for good men (or those who know better) to do nothing."

Congratulations to Carl Brown, who did something. We support his attack on the amorality of this country and the freedom - without-responsibility that pervades America.

It was refreshing to read Mr. Carl J. Brown's remarks concerning teacher permissiveness and the rebellion of youth. The City of San Rafael is extremely fortunate to have a man with his philosophy on their school board. We sincerely hope that school board members, teachers and administrators in other districts will carefully study his remarks since we believe they express the feelings of the vast majority of parents and citizens in this area.

From San Anselmo

Congratulations to Carl Brown of the San Rafael Board of Education and member of the Tamalpais School District for expressing so well the feelings of many other teachers like myself with regard to current social and educational trends! And congratulations to the I-J too for giving his views such prominent "billing"! This isn't the kind of thing one expects to hear from modern educators, so it was indeed heartening to see the views of the over-ruled and out-voted minority in print for a change. It's about time the public learned that they aren't alone in having serious apprehension and forebodings with regard to some of the policies which have recently been introduced into our schools. There are still, thank God, a lot of wonderful kids and excellent students — but the number of "bad apples" is increasing alarmingly. "The proof of the pudding," they say, "is in the eating." Shouldn't that also apply to educational changes?

Congratulations to the editor who placed in such a conspicuous "spot" at the top of page one Carl J. Brown's masterpiece of logic in his timely attack on the Nation's morals.

Self-respect and self-discipline are the fore-runners of respect for other human beings, their rights and properties.

Mr. Carl J. Brown is so agonized over the battered and muddied heap of our attitudes and morals that he felt compelled to publicly express his agony.

His statement provoked feelings of admiration from us for him and a wish to make a commitment to decency and the standards of behavior that support feelings of self-respect and discipline and standards that will not deprive us of the beauty and meaning or our personal and public lives and our environment.

Mr. Carl J. Brown, in your Dec. 10 issue, certainly was "telling it like it is," in your article, "Scathing Attack on Nation's Morals."

It takes "guts" to go counter to the general drift of things, even when you know you are right. Mr. Brown is to be commended for standing up for our youth, in the face of our liberal "let the kids run it" influence so unfortuantely prevalent.

If there are people who still wonder at the lack of support and enthusiasm on the part of the general public for our educational policies, they would do well to digest this article.

It would certainly behoove those citizens who feel that Mr. Brown's statements are the result of a very sound and sensible analysis of the situation, to give him a verbal "pat on the back" and support him wherever possible. We should not permit Mr. Brown's sentiments to be drowned in the mass of persiflaginous verbal attacks surely to follow.

Bully for Brown!

Your article in the Dec. 10 issue, "Scathing Attack on Nation's Morals," highlights of a paper read by Carl J. Brown during a meeting of the San Rafael Board of Education, earns you a "bouquet."

Anticipating the certain counterattack coming against Mr. Brown, I wish to make several points in support of his stand:

1. His statements as to conditions extant are certainly those accepted by the public generally.

2. His arraignment of the underlying causes appears to be accurate and sensible. Certainly, few people would disagree with him on this.

3. His concern, rather than being strictly "dollar oriented," which in itself is defensible, is more with the youth themselves, and the effect of the "do it yourself" philosophy so prevalent amongst our educators, and supported by many school board members.

4. I have had several occasions to discuss various matters of policy with members of the San Rafael Board of Education, and have found Mr. Brown to be the only member who is always straight forward in conversation, open in discussion, and real and sound in his concern for our youth as well as our money.

Mr. Brown is a very believable person, and I support his efforts to promote sanity within the San Rafael Board of Education. I recommend what he has to say to the public and to all the educators of the county.

"Amen" to Carl Brown's statement (I-J, Dec. 10) to the San Rafael school board about the nation's morals.

Teachers, school boards, etc., take note: The concerned thinkers are fed up with permissiveness and destructive negative teaching (in the guise of self-criticism) in the educational systems. Yes, there are wrongs in our country, but where else can you openly discuss them? That's a positive feature in itself! Instead of constant criticism we need grateful hearts with a desire to do better with what blessings we have!

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Dec. 16, 1959

A proposal to run a rapid transit line through Mill Valley's Project 17 recreation area met nothing but objections at a public meeting in Mill Valley.

Fairfax School District trustees decided to try again in March an election to increase the district's general purpose operating tax rate from $1.25 to $2. The raise was turned down at the polls in October, 1958.

20 YEARS AGO

Dec. 16, 1949

The Inland Boatmen's Union approved a contract settlement with the Richmond-San Rafael ferry, ending a five and one-half month strike.

Rep. Richard M. Nixon, Republican candidate for the Senate seat held by Democrat Sheridan Downey, made a bid for Marin votes at a meeting of civic leaders in Mill Valley.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Call For Israel Settlement May Have Come Too Late

WASHINGTON — With his genial, unassuming presence Secretary of State William P. Rogers has stepped into the lion's den of the Arab-Israeli conflict. Whether as another Daniel he will survive unscathed is still uncertain.

The first reaction to Rogers' speech stating publicly for the first time that Israel must withdraw from the territory overrun in the six-day war in return for Arab guarantees of a binding peace has been favorable. This has been the American position, privately expressed, for a long time.

As a public posture intended to galvanize the four powers — Britain, France, the Soviet Union and the United States, which have been working for agreement of the middle east, it may come too late. As the four have backed and filled, with long, quiescent, do-nothing periods, the undeclared war has steadily escalated. In continuing exchanges in the air and on the ground it has stopped just short of full-scale conflict.

NEW TO FOREIGN policy when he accepted the post to secretary a year ago, Rogers did his homework at the United Nations General Assembly in the fall. He had long talks with the Arab foreign ministers in a sincere effort to go behind the propaganda speeches to try to learn the realities of their position. One thing he found was their genuine concern over increasingly total depandence on the Soviet Union for both military and economic aid.

Rogers saw at least a hope of willingness to work toward a peaceful settlement that could see the end of terrorism and reprisal for that terrorism.

But the secretary is under no illusion about the degree of success the Russians have had in the Middle East. Their propaganda barrage linking the United States and Israel in a conspiracy against the Arabs has been highly effective. Coupled with their aid it has meant a penetration deep into the Mediterranean littoral and, beyond that, in Arab Africa.

THIS GIVES added importance to Rogers' African journey in February. He will go first to Morocco and Tunisia. The latter, flanked by Libya, where the recent coup put Nasser-like colonels in power, and Algeria, which is tied to Moscow, is understandably worried about a position that has been pro-western and resistant to the demands of Cairo.

At least four countries to the south, including Kenya and Congo-Kinshasa, will be on the itinerary. It will be the first time a secretary of state in office has gone to Africa. That fact alone gives the journey a special significance.

NOT ONLY did the secretary bite the bullet of a peace settlement, but he gave at least a glancing thought to the unthinkable. In a passage long debated in the department and finally left in the draft of the speech, he talked about the Palestinian refugees. For over 20 years, he pointed out, the United States has provided virtually the entire support for the ever-increasing refugee population, at a cost of a half-billion dollars.

"The problem posed by the refugees will become increasingly serious if their future is not resolved," he warned.

The tragic dilemma of Israel as "victor" in the six-day war grows out of a greatly enlarged dominated population resorting to terror and violence that can be controlled only by the sternest repression.

ISRAEL, WITH close ties with the West and a rapidly expanding economy incorporating all of contemporary technology, has had a unique place in the Middle East. Opinion in the West has with few exceptions favored the new nation surrounded by a sea of turbulent Arabism. This imbalance has been a source of deep resentment in the Arab world.

Today opinion appears to be shifting. Two leading London newspapers, the Times and the Sunday Times, recently ran articles critical of Israeli treatment of Arabs in the occupied territories. Charges have come from various quarters of the concentration-camp-like treatment of subject peoples, the leveling of houses and even whole towns. These may be grim necessities, as the Israelis see it, in the midst of an alien and hostile population. But the consequences in world opinion can be damaging. Rogers' declaration may at this point look like a poshible way out.

Russ Writer Puts Finger On U.S. Policy Conflict

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

A publication just out in Moscow declares that in the field of foreign relations the United States follows "a very zigzag policy."

To this, some of the United States' allies in NATO echo a fervent "amen."

The new Moscow publication bears the title "The Modern Diplomacy of Imperialism" and comments on the policies of the United States, Britain, France, West Germany and Japan.

THE AUTHOR of the American section bears the well-known name of Gromyko. He is Anatoli Gromyko, son of Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko. The younger Gromyko served in the Soviet embassy in Washington and is on U.S. Affairs.

Presumably by coincidence, the book came out just before the start of the U.1 - Soviet Strategic Arms Limitation (SALT) talks in Helsinki.

It is Gromyko's contention that the United States still is far from committed to a policy of disarmament, although sentiment is moving in that direction.

HE SEES a confrontation in Washington between forces "who are not interested, at least at the present moment, in a radical easing of international tension," and "those who want to see American diplomacy break away from the heritage of (John Foster) Dulles."

"This confrontation," he said, "is reflected in the activities of the Nixon government, which practices a very zigzag policy in the international arena."

THE ECHO of agreement comes from NATO nations who find themselves unsure of U.S. intent but nonetheless find by necessity their own foreign policy bound to it.

For publication, they favor the U.S. - Soviet Helsinki talks but privately fear that any agreement between the two would mean a corresponding decline in American interest in the security of Western Europe.

They fear also the extent of U.S. determination to use its nuclear arsenal in the event of Communist attack, that in its new isolationism it might opt for its own safety over that of Western Europe.

For the same reasons they do not wholly trust U.S. assurances that U.S. troop strength of around 200,000 in Europe will be maintained at that level at least until the middle of 1971.

THAT, AT the moment, is their greatest fear. The United States already has withdrawn 32,000 men and Britain 5,000. Canada is to cut her 9,800-man force in half.

Drastic U.S. troop cuts, they say, would place upon Western Europe an insuperable burden in its own defense.

TRAFFIC FLOWS AND SO DOES THE MUD

Automobiles sail past a mudslide on Puerto Suello Hill on Highway 101, just north of San Rafael. The mud slide, caused by heavy rains on Friday deposited only a small amount of dirt on the freeway shoulder and did not affect the traffic flow. According to Robert W. Halligan, of the State Department of Public Works, the slide was the result of a failure in the slope last winter and not unexpected. "We can expect minor mud slides until the hill stabilizes," Halligan said, adding he does not feel the slides will be large enough to create a hazard for motorists. (Independent-Journal photo)

Marin City Firm's Shuttle Service Subsidy Doomed?

A Marin City company's appeal for a three-month subsidy to start bus service between Mill Valley and Tiburon apparently was doomed today by Marin County Transit District directors, despite a 4-3 vote approving the appeal. (See another transit story, page 1.)

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney advised the split board that six votes would be needed to authorize the $10,000 subsidy because it was not budgeted for this fiscal year.

However, the narrowly passed motion, made by Supervisor Michael Wornum, only authorized staff preparation of a contract for the subsidy, and did not itself authorize payment of the subsidy.

But board chairman John F. McInnis warned that unless the Marin City company could switch two votes, their appeal was "just a dead cause." None of the three who voted "no" offered to change his vote.

Voting for the subsidy were Mill Valley Mayor Deon N. Meyer, Supervisors Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., Wornum and McInnis. Voting against it were supervisors William A. Gnoss and Louis H. Baar and Corte Madera Mayor Edward W. Colthurst.

But even if two votes switched to the "aye" column, doubt remained whether the subsidy would be enough — since the Marin City company has upped its appeal from $10,000 to $15,000.

Last month, the company, Marin County Transit Systems Inc., won transit board approval of a $10,000 subsidy "in principle."

Today, however, company consultant Paul Kahn asked for $15,000 for the three-month trial.

The service is to feed commuters to the Tiburon ferry and to shuttle shoppers midday, but Kahn said the $10,000 subsidy had been based on the expectation that the company's three buses also could handle school children.

Asked if the company could start service with a $10,000 subsidy, Kahn told the Independent-Journal "we'll talk about it."

Last month the transit board had conditioned its approval of the subsidy on condition that Greyhound Lines West agree not to use the service as a reason to curtail its own operations. Greyhound declined to make such a promise, but district manager Seymour Kashin said Greyhound's "only concern was not to set a precedent for other interests they have."

McInnis said this explanation satisfied him. "We can't ask for more," he said.

Baar sharply criticized Kahn's estimate that showed operating expenses at 5.5 cents a mile, which Baar said was 20 years out of date. "If there's to be a subsidy, it should go to someone who has had experience," Baar said.

He also declared that the company "should get a new expert."

Kahn defended his figures, saying they were comparable to those in operating systems elsewhere in the nation. New equipment will reduce the company's costs, he said.

His figures set net income at $7,468 for three months, operating expenses at $22,776, and the net operating loss at $15,308. The company has reported it will get foundation grants to buy the buses.

Gnoss said the figures showed "there must be something wrong in the management." He said the job could be done better by the Golden Gate Bridge District.

School Held Ethnically Imbalanced

Pacheco School in the Novato School District is ethnically imbalanced under state Department of Education criteria, the district board learned last night.

The school's population is chiefly from Hamilton Air Force Base and 25 per cent of the enrollment consists of minority students.

The state consider sanything over 15 per cent of a district's average racial grouping an imbalance, Asst. Supt. for Instruction Paul C. Mobley told the board.

The district's average is 8.4 per cent, according to Edward F. Dolan, district information officer.

Mobley told the board a plan for correcting the imbalance is under study and will be available by June.

The Novato School District board also:

CLOSED SESSION — Spent 75 minutes behind closed doors to discuss renew contracts.

NEGOTIATIONS — Appointed Deputy Supt. Ralph Giovanniello as its chief representative to the teachers negotiating council, changing past policy naming the superintendent. Four principals were named as a team to assist him.

SAN MARIN — Learned bids for construction of a shop at San Marin High School will be opened Jan. 19 and be presented to the board Jan. 24. Federal financing is available for the building, Dolan said.

ADULT SCHOOL — Approved two new courses for the adult evening school winter sesssion — understanding your teenagers and cake decoration and design.

EASEMENT — Authorized a roadway easement along the Hill Road side of Hill Junior High School to the city for future widening.

Editor Still Facing Pot Violations

When no complaint was ready to be filed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court against Stephen McNamara, publisher and editor of the Pacific Sun, he was allowed to proceed with plans to leave for a two-week visit to Denmark.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Peter Mitchell said today, however, that charges will probably be pressed against McNamara, who was arrested about noon Saturday on suspicion of possessing marijuana and narcotics paraphernalia and being in a place where pot was used.

The case of a woman arrested with him at his home, Mair Hefina MacKenzie, 36, of Sausalito, was also still under investigation today by the district attorney's office. She was booked on suspicion of being in a place where marijuana was used.

Police went to the McNamara home Saturday morning after an anonymous phone caller said she feared McNamara had been hurt and was ill after a party Friday night which resulted in broken windows throughout the house.

Police called out, but receiving no answer, entered the house to look for McNamara. In the kitchen, officers said they found three plastic bags of what appeared to be marijuana.

The smell of burning marijuana filled the house, police said, and McNamara and Mrs. MacKenzie were the only persons there.

$12,000 Damage From Blaze In Lagunitas Cabin

Fire gutted a four-room cabin in Lagunitas last night causing $10,000 damage to the structure and $2,000 to the contents, Marin County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom reported today.

Flames engulfed the kitchen in the cabin at Arroyo Road and El Cerrito at 8:36 p.m., according to Bloom, when tenant Larry Storkey tried to throw a flaming can of charcoal lighter fluid out of a window and missed. Storkey had been trying to light a wood stove when the lighter fluid ignited the can, part of the kitchen and the stove, he said.

Seven firemen using three trucks fought the blaze for thirty minutes before it was contained. The cabin was owned by Judith Fullick of 121 Redwood Avenue, Woodacre, Bloom said. Storkey and the other tenant William E. McGuire were not injured in the fire.

Innocent Plea To Burglary Charge

Judge Alexander J. McMahon refused a defense request to lower the $25,000 bail because an injury had been involved in the incident. A preliminary hearing was set for 10 a.m. Thursday.

Renda is accused of burglaring the Ruegge Motors, 527 East Washington Street, Petaluma, Thursday night and striking owner Lee Ruegee with a tire iron when he happened on the scene. Ruegge was treated at Hillcrest Hospital for cuts of the head and throat.

Fire Budget Of $106,125 Is Presented

A preliminary 1970-71 budget of $106,125, up $30,502 from the present fiscal year, was presented by Fire Chief Gaylord E. Bonfield to the Marinwood Fire Commission last night.

Bonfield said the budget, which must be approved by the community services district board, would help to bring the department up to American Insurance Association standards and thus soften insurance rates for homeowners.

Bonfield said the AIA requires certain hose footage, smoke ejectors, flood lights, emergency generating equipment and other items not included at present in the Marinwood department's supplies.

Bonfield said the tentative budget would provide the department's five paid firemen with a 10 per cent salary increase, including 5 per cent for a cost-of-living rise.

The commission asked for budget revisions by its Jan. 12 meeting. The budget may go to the CSD board later next month.

Marin Tax Bite Less Than 33 Counties Get

Marin County's Basic tax rate of $2.395 per $100 assessed valuation is well below the statewide mean, according to a report from State Controller Houston I. Flournoy to the county auditor-controller.

Basic tax rate for the 58 counties range from a low of $1.67 in Orange County to a high of $3.42 in Sacramento County. Thirty-three counties have a higher rate than Marin.

Of the total budget requirement, Marin finances 39 per cent through property taxes. This is the highest percentage in the state.

"This merely means that our total welfare budget is low and we receive less federal and state subventions," said County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell. He said counties that have huge welfare costs get more in state and federal aid, which means a larger percentage of state and federal aid.

The county that receives the most outside aid is Trinity County, which pays only 15 per cent of its total budget from local property taxes.

Contra Costa and San Mateo pay about 33 per cent of their total budget from local property taxes. The percentage in Alameda, Sonoma and Napa counties is 30 per cent.

By population, Marin ranks 18th in the state. Yet, in total welfare budget, Marin ranks 31st.

Hub Restaurant Barred On Takeout Service Grounds

After a two-hour discussion, the San Anselmo Planning Commission last night voted 6-1 that a proposed operation by Cable Car Burgers and Fisherman's Wharf Fish and Chips was a carryout restaurant, and would not be permitted in the proposed location on San Anselmo Avenue.

The commission found four grounds for its decision, assistant planner John T. O'Rourke reported.

Promotional material, including the menu, referred to takeout food; a proposed sign for the building read "takeout food"; the physical plan for the building and self-service layout indicated a takeout operation, and the method of serving — throwaway plates and the like — indicate a takeout operation.

Sole vote against the motion was cast by Commissioner Allen J. Creighton, who did not give a reason for his dissent, O'Rourke said.

The Cable Car-Fisherman's Wharf franchisers may appeal to the city council, O'Rourke said.

The commission also recommended council approval of apartment zoning sought by Ronald Harder for two lots at 55 Magnolia Avenue, now in single-family zoning. The lots must be combined and the front yard setback must be 27½ feet instead of 20 feet, the commission ruled.

Ross Trustees Adopt Teacher Rating Policy

The Ross School District board last night adopted as policy a requirement that a teacher's performance be officially evaluated before the instructor is permitted to progress on the salary schedule.

Dist. Supt. Thomas A. Anderson said it was discovered this spring that Ross, unlike many other districts, did not have such a policy.

The Ross School District Teachers Association, after reviewing the evaluation proposal, expressed it approval last night, Anderson said.

In other business, the board named Marian Gumz, an English teacher, to take on the added duties of district librarian for the remainder of the school year at an unspecified salary. The librarian, Shirley Peltzman, resigned for personal reasons.

The board also postponed until the Jan. 19 meeting a report by Paul Rosenthal and Associates on an engineering survey at Ross School. Anderson told the board last night, however, that a boiler at the school, feared worn out, would not need replacement.

The cororner .reported that Mrs. Ourke, a divorced and unemployed computer operator, had been missing since last Thursday and that her car was found yesterday parked at the eastern end of the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge.

Judge Leaves Melkonian Out Of Jail

Melkon Melkonian, Mill Valley "marijuana martyr" convicted two years ago of having pot for sale, yesterday won his long fight to stay out of jail — at least in Marin County.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson decided to accept the recommendation of the probation department contained in a new report ordered last month that Melkonian receive straight probation for one year.

Two years ago the same judge had sentenced Melkonian to one year in jail. Melkonian was allowed a stay of that sentence, however, while the case was ap pealed. When his conviction was upheld almost a year ago, Melkonian did not show up for the jail term.

His attorney, Richard Cohen of Sausalito, said yesterday that Melkonian mistakenly believed that the Marin case was "trailing" one in San Francisco that is still being appealed. When he found out this was not true, he came to court, according to Cohen.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Gary W. Thomas yesterday argued that Melkonian should have to serve the year. When Judge Wilson pointed out that Melkonian had served about half that time in his San Francisco case, Thomas asked that he now serve the other half.

Noting that Melkonian still has a "prison sentence hanging over his head" if the San Francisco conviction is upheld, Judge Wilson turned down Thomas's request.

Melkonian had been convicted in Marin of having more than 26 kilos of marijuana for sale. In San Francisco he was convicted of conspiring to sell pot.

During his trial there, nearly 2,000 affidavits supporting pot smoking were presented.

Arrest Leads To Drug Check

Johnathan Christopher Roberts, 31, of Gate 5 Road, Waldo Point, was arrested today by Sausalito police on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs after a white powder was found in his pocket while being searched following his arrest on San Francisco and Marin County traffic warrants.

Roberts was booked into Marin County Jail to appear in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon.

Police said Roberts was arrested on the warrants after he had been ejected from Fred's restaurant at Bridgeway and Spring Street at 8:30 a.m. as an unwanted guest.

Eastern Kansas Towns May Give Preview Of Marin Next Year

The shape of things to come: On the Thanksgiving weekend, I took a trip to eastern Kansas. There the two towns I visited had enacted anti-backyard burning laws. Why, I could not figure out, because the wind is almost always blowing in Kansas and the chance of air pollution is very remote.

In case one is not familiar with eastern Kansas towns, they have wide parking areas between the sidewalks and streets. These are lined with elms, maples, sycamores, hackberry and other deciduous trees. In the autumn, the leaves fall.

So these fallen leaves were piled all along the parkings, waiting the city trucks to haul them off. There were miles and miles of four to six foot high piles of leaves and other debris. It was illegal to rake them into the street.

To keep the leaves from blowing around, some people covered the long mounds with old blankets, rugs, rug padding, plastic sheets, and anything that would hold them down. A few had put them in big plastic bags.

Of course someone had pull with the city and the city's street sweeper was going past his house. The man (probably the mayor) would rake the leaves into the street (illegal) and the sweeper would pick them up. Up and down the sweeper went, getting the leaves of just the one man. Everyone else had to pay to have his leaves hauled away.

That may be a sampling of what we are in for after the backyard burning ban goes into effect here on Jan. 1.

BABE SILVA, who has been the watchdog on the finances of the Novato city government for all but two of its 10 years, may not be on the city council next year.

It is not that he is quitting public service, but he may go up a step. He might run for the board of supervisors. With his following in Novato and his friends among the rual people of the district, he would be a powerful candidate.

Although it is a little early to predict, there is talk around North Marin of Babe's running for the board.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss has not yet announced whether he will run. When he campaigned last time, he said he would not run again, but all politicians can change their minds. When asked, Bill answered with the question, "Do you think I should retire?"

From here now it looks as though if Gnoss does not run, Silva will try to take his place.

Of course there will be other candidates.

THE NORTH MARIN Federation (of homeowners associations) has waged a long, hard battle against John Kenney's proposal for 1,800 mobile home pads south of Highway 37 west of Black Point. Apparently it has won, at least temporarily. After the planning commission deadlocked over it Monday night, Kenney withdrew the application for a use permit.

The federation's main argument was that mobile homes do not pay their share of taxes, even though this one was proposed for an adult community and would not add to school costs.

We wonder if in winning its point, the federation didn't possibly open a can of worms? The area is still zoned "planned community" and Kenney could present a plan for single-family units.

Then with the new state law allowing prefabricated low-cost housing anywhere in the state, the area could be turned, almost overnight, into a mass of cheap houses. These would probably be occupied by young families and the school district could suddenly find several thousand more children in the district. Then the tax problem would really be great for the school district.

OUR VOTE for the meanest individual this time of year goes to those who steal outside Christmas decorations and lights.

Guilty Plea To Burglary Count

Kenneth James Hough, 22, of Novato, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to the second degree burglary of a San Rafael landscape firm Oct. 23.

Sentencing was set for Jan. 5. Hough was arrested after police found him and 16-year-old companion near the Turf and Tree firm at 625 Grand Avenue. He was accused of taking seven chain saws valued at $2,200.

Pleads Guilty

Paul Ross Mushen, 19, of Sausalito, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to possessing a dangerous drug Aug. 28 in Sausalito. Judge Joseph G. Wilson set sentencing for Jan. 26.

ART BUCHWALD

Spend, Spend For Christmas— Remember Adolph Zimmermeister

WASHINGTON — The death of Adolph Zimmermeister was listed on the police books as an accidental fall from a traffic helicopter over the Long Island Sound.

But Mrs. Zimmermeister said she suspects foul play and has asked for a reopening of the case.

She told me in her modest apartment in the Bronx that she is certain that someone took Adolph for a ride.

"WHO COULD IT have possibly been?" I asked her.

"I don't know. Adolph didn't have an enemy in the world, at least not until a month ago. That's when the trouble started. Adolph announced at the family Thanksgiving dinner that he wasn't going to buy any Christmas presents this year. At first everyone thought he was joking, but Adolph said he was absolutely serious and if they didn't believe him they should try holding their breath waiting for a gift or a card from him.

"Someone at the dinner must have told someone what Adolph said, because two days later three men, all wearing carnations, showed up at the apartment.

"ONE OF THE MEN said, 'Adolph, is it true that you are not going to buy any Christmas presents this year?'

"Adolph replied, 'Absolutely true. My wife and I agreed we love each other and I don't have to buy her a fur coat or a diamond ring to prove it.'

" 'As for the children, they're at the age when they resent anything we do for them, so there doesn't seem to be any sense spending money on them when we're only going to get kicked in the teeth.'

" 'But what about the spirit of Christmas giving?' one of the men said.

" 'I've got the spirit,' Adolph told them. 'It's just that I can't afford it.'

" 'NO ONE CAN afford Christmas,' one of the men yelled, 'That's not a valid excuse. The very lifeblood of this nation depends on people who can't afford Christmas to go out and buy, buy, buy, even if they go into debt to do it.'

" 'That's just the point," Adolph said. 'I decided not to go into debt this year.'

"One of the men who seemed to be the leader said, 'Adolph, we're from the Gross National Product Society, the GNP, and our job is to see that no one, and we mean no one, does anything to hurt the country's economy.

" 'This nation cannot live without Christmas. Your attitude is more danagerous than the worst bomb-throwing anarchist. And if other people heard what you were up to and followed suit, this country could go down the drain.'

" 'I'M SORRY about that. Would it make you feel any better if I went to church on Christmas Day?' Adolph said.

"The leader of the group got up and said, 'Adolph, we're giving you a last chance. Are you or are you not going to buy presents this Christmas?'

"The three men started for the door. 'Don't say we didn't warn you!"

"BUT," I ASKED Mrs. Zimmermeister, "why did you suspect foul play?"

"For one thing, Adolph's never been in a helicopter in his life, and for another, at his funeral a large wreath arrived with a ribbon which said, 'To our dear friend Adolph, from his fraternal brothers at the GNP'."

Against What Education Do The Students Rebel?

In Carl J. Brown's outspoken statement at last week's San Rafael Board of Education meeting, he touched on what may be at least in part the explanation for student uprisings.

"I am positive that the permissiveness of education — exemplified by the 'satisfactory for this child' syndrome — is responsible at least for the lawlessness and rebellion of youth."

IN THE WAKE of student uprisings at colleges, universities and high schools throughout the land, we have heard over and over again from educational leaders that the students are rebelling in large part against what they feel is the irrelevance of their education.

What kind of education is it against which they are rebelling? What is it that they find so irrelevant?

The implication in the educators' writings seems to be that the students want to throw off the yoke of required lectures and rote learning.

OVER A CENTURY ago, students in some American universities did rebel violently against such an education — a hidebound curriculum inherited from the Renaissance institutions of Europe and based mainly on Greek and Latin grammar and philosophy; lectures with no opportunity for student discussion; endless rote learning and memorization.

But that kind of education is long gone.

Rote learning and memorization have virtually vanished. No public school has required Greek and Latin in a long time. Class discussion has largely replaced the lecture.

BUT WITHIN the present decade, current writings of doubtful value have in many classes replaced the literary classics that replaced Cicero and Vergil. The English grammar that replaced that in Greek and Latin has been downgraded. Sociology has assumed the all-encompassig role in the curriculum that was accorded philosophy when those 19th Century students rebelled.

Course titles have become unreliable. A course labeled "English" may turn out to be sociology of a sort; one labeled "history" may also turn out to be sociology of a sort.

Along with this has come what Brown called "the 'satisfactory for this child' syndrome," with abandonment of strict examination, grading and promotion requirements. The point to which standards have crumbled was well illustrated in August when the California State Board of Education, mandated by the Legislature to establish requirements for graduation from high school, placed them at the eighth grade level in English and mathematics — because it dared not put them any higher.

IT IS THIS KIND of education at which the students rebel.

And what has been the response, in most cases, of school administrators and faculties? It has been to give the students more freedom of choice among the courses they find meaningless. It has been to put students on faculty committees, as if they knew how to run the school.

Every school still has many sound courses. The majority of every faculty is still devoted to genuine education. But this does not stop the erosion any more than does the fact that the majority of students are too intelligent to turn outlaws in protest.

If students find the courses meaningless, the solution is to offer them courses that have meaning.

If they find grades meaningless, the solution is to give the grades meaning.

If they show disrespect for their school, the solution is to enforce rules that will produce a school they will respect.

GOLDEN GATE VIEW

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

California Democrats have perfected the art of fighting among themselves even when there are no spoils.

Facing a hopeless match against Gov. Ronald Reagan's certain bid for reelection, at least Democrats will be treated to another debilitating intraparty bloodletting.

First to wave the red flag signaling it's time to tear themselves apart was former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. He didn't stop last week at declining to endorse either Unruh or Alioto, but added, "I'll do for Jesse what he did for me."

OF ALIOTO, who nominated him for president at Chicago, Humphrey said, "I can't help but feel a sense of obligation to his wonderful helpfulness to me in the presidential election."

Thus, with a few ill-chosen words, Humphrey, whose nomination split his party wide open, threw salt into the wounds his own campaign left in the impoverished flanks of California's Democratic Party. With friends like this, the Democrats don't need to worry about the Republicans doing them in.

MARIN DEMOCRATS suffer from the same divisions, which we recently said had reduced them to a oribund state. Th descipt'on was welcomed by several leading Democrats as somewhat charitable. One county official, who happens to be a Democrat, suggested that the only way to revive a second political party in Marc would be for the Marin County Democratic Central Committee to resign en masse with a public admission that its members had failed utterly to provide leadership, and an invitation for new party loyalists to take over the job they muffed.

REMEMBER the Tripartite Transportation Committee?

It used to meet regularly and even make news sometimes before the Golden Gate Bridge District board was expanded to include Marin and San Francisco supervisors. In those days, which ended a year ago, the committee was the only forum where representatives of the two counties and the bridge district could meet.

It hasn't met since March, but it's still in existence — like some sick cow no one has had the courage to dispatch. Meetings are called at odd intervals, but cancelled when someone remembers there is no reason for it to meet.

As Clemenceau once remarked, "There is no passion as intense as that of the functionary for his function." And so officialdom clings to a committee with no function.

MARIN is the center of the universe, we all know, so it seems only appropriate — to us, at least — that Marinites hold five of the 25 voting seats on the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission. Not bad for a county with only about 5 per cent of the Bay Area's population.

One was appointed by the governor, one by the Senate Rules Committee, one by the state Resources Agency, one by the Marin County Board of Supervisors, and one by the Association of Bay Area Governments.

More Readers Comment On Carl Brown Statement

From Novato

You are to be commended for giving Mr. Carl Brown's statement front-page treatment. He has spoken the views of most parents we know.

Edmund Burke wrote: "The only thing necessary for the triump of evil (or mediocrity) is for good men (or those who know better) to do nothing."

Congratulations to Carl Brown, who did something. We support his attack on the amo-freedom-without-responsibility rality of this country and the that pervades America.

JOEL and RENEE KIFF

From Kentfield

It was refreshing to read Mr. Carl J. Brown's remarks concerning teacher permissiveness and the rebellion of youth. The City of San Rafael is extremely fortunate to have a man with his philosophy on their school board. We sincerely hope that school board members, teachers and administrators in other districts will carefully study his remarks since we believe they express the feelings of the vast majority of parents and citizens in this area.

Please issue your largest and best "bouquet" to Carl "Red" Brown for his article recently published in your paper.

He is one of thousands who had the nerve to put into print what a great many of us feel.

ALBERT S. RE
San Rafael.

From San Anselmo

Congratulations to Carl Brown of the San Rafael Board of Education and member of the Tamalpais School District for expressing so well the feelings of many other teachers like myself with regard to current social and educational trends! And congratulations to the I-J too for giving his views such prominent "billing"! This isn't the kind of thing one expects to hear from modern educators, so it was indeed heartening to see the views of the over-ruled and out-voted minority in print for a change. It's about time the public learned that they aren't alone in having serious apprehension and forebodings with regard to some of the policies which have recently been introduced into our schools. There are still, thank God, a lot of wonderful kids and excellent students — but the number of "bad apples" is increasing alarmingly. "The proof of the pudding," they say, "is in the eating." Shouldn't that also apply to educational changes?

J. W. JOHNSON

From Larkspur

Congratulations to the editor who placed in such a conspicuous "spot" at the top of page one Carl J. Brown's masterpiece of logic in his timely attack on the Nation's morals.

It has been many a moon since such clear cut reasoning has been spread before the reading public.

From Santa Venetia

Self-respect and self-discipline are the fore-runners of respect for other human beings, their rights and properties.

Mr. Carl J. Brown is so agonized over the battered and muddied heap of our attitudes and morals that he felt compelled to publicly express his agony.

His statement provoked feelings of admiration from us for him and a wish to make a commitment to decency and the standards of behavior that support feelings of self-respect and discipline and standards that will not deprive us of the beauty and meaning or our personal and public lives and our environment.

ROBERT and DOLORES LAUFER
Santa Venetia

From Greenbrae

Mr. Carl J. Brown, in your Dec. 10 issue, certainly was "telling it like it is," in your article, "Scathing Attack on Nation's Morals."

It takes "guts" to go counter to the general drift of things, even when you know you are right. Mr. Brown is to be commended for standing up for our youth, in the face of our liberal "let the kids run it" influence so unfortuantely prevalent.

If there are people who still wonder at the lack of support and enthusiasm on the part of the general public for our educational policies, they would do well to digest this article.

It would certainly behoove those citizens who feel that Mr. Brown's statements are the result of a very sound and sensible analysis of the situation, to give him a verbal "pat on the back" and support him wherever possible. We should not permit Mr. Brown's sentiments to be drowned in the mass of persiflaginous verbal attacks surely to follow.

Bully for Brown!

ROBERT P. SMITH

From Marinwood

Your article in the Dec. 10 issue, "Scathing Attack on Nation's Morals," highlights of a paper read by Carl J. Brown during a meeting of the San Rafael Board of Education, earns you a "bouquet."

Anticipating the certain counterattack coming against Mr. Brown, I wish to make several points in support of his stand:

1. His statements as to conditions extant are certainly those accepted by the public generally.

2. His arraignment of the underlying causes appears to be accurate and sensible. Certainly, few people would disagree with him on this.

3. His concern, rather than being strictly "dollar oriented," which in itself is defensible, is more with the youth themselves, and the effect of the "do it yourself" philosophy so prevalent amongst our educators, and supported by many school board members.

4. I have had several occasions to discuss various matters of policy with members of the San Rafael Board of Education, and have found Mr. Brown to be the only member who is always straight forward in conversation, open in discussion, and real and sound in his concern for our youth as well as our money.

Mr. Brown is a very believable person, and I support his efforts to promote sanity within the San Rafael Board of Education. I recommend what he has to say to the public and to all the educators of the county.

FRED G. TURKHEIMER

From Tiburon

"Amen" to Carl Brown's statement (I-J, Dec. 10) to the San Rafael school board about the nation's morals.

Teachers, school boards, etc., take note: The concerned thinkers are fed up with permissiveness and destructive negative teaching (in the guise of self-criticism) in the educational systems. Yes, there are wrongs in our country, but where else can you openly discuss them? That's a positive feature in itself! Instead of constant criticism we need grateful hearts with a desire to do better with what blessings we have!

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Dec. 16, 1959

A proposal to run a rapid transit line through Mill Valley's Project 17 recreation area met nothing but objections at a public meeting in Mill Valley.

Fairfax School District trustees decided to try again in March an election to increase the district's general purpose operating tax rate from $1.25 to $2. The raise was turned down at the polls in October, 1958.

20 YEARS AGO

Dec. 16, 1949

The Inland Boatmen's Union approved a contract settlement with the Richmond-San Rafael ferry, ending a five and one-half month strike.

Rep. Richard M. Nixon, Republican candidate for the Senate seat held by Democrat Sheridan Downey, made a bid for Marin votes at a meeting of civic leaders in Mill Valley.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Call For Israel Settlement May Have Come Too Late

WASHINGTON — With his genial, unassuming presence Secretary of State William P. Rogers has stepped into the lion's den of the Arab-Israeli conflict. Whether as another Daniel he will survive unscathed is still uncertain.

The first reaction to Rogers' speech stating publicly for the first time that Israel must withdraw from the territory overrun in the six-day war in return for Arab guarantees of a binding peace has been favorable. This has been the American position, privately expressed, for a long time.

As a public posture intended to galvanize the four powers — Britain, France, the Soviet Union and the United States, which have been working for agreement of the middle east, it may come too late. As the four have backed and filled, with long, quiescent, do-nothing periods, the undeclared war has steadily escalated. In continuing exchanges in the air and on the ground it has stopped just short of full-scale conflict.

NEW TO FOREIGN policy when he accepted the post to secretary a year ago, Rogers did his homework at the United Nations General Assembly in the fall. He had long talks with the Arab foreign ministers in a sincere effort to go behind the propaganda speeches to try to learn the realities of their position. One thing he found was their genuine concern over increasingly total depandence on the Soviet Union for both military and economic aid.

Rogers saw at least a hope of willingness to work toward a peaceful settlement that could see the end of terrorism and reprisal for that terrorism.

But the secretary is under no illusion about the degree of success the Russians have had in the Middle East. Their propaganda barrage linking the United States and Israel in a conspiracy against the Arabs has been highly effective. Coupled with their aid it has meant a penetration deep into the Mediterranean littoral and, beyond that, in Arab Africa.

THIS GIVES added importance to Rogers' African journey in February. He will go first to Morocco and Tunisia. The latter, flanked by Libya, where the recent coup put Nasser-like colonels in power, and Algeria, which is tied to Moscow, is understandably worried about a position that has been pro-western and resistant to the demands of Cairo.

At least four countries to the south, including Kenya and Congo-Kinshasa, will be on the itinerary. It will be the first time a secretary of state in office has gone to Africa. That fact alone gives the journey a special significance.

NOT ONLY did the secretary bite the bullet of a peace settlement, but he gave at least a glancing thought to the unthinkable. In a passage long debated in the department and finally left in the draft of the speech, he talked about the Palestinian refugees. For over 20 years, he pointed out, the United States has provided virtually the entire support for the ever-increasing refugee population, at a cost of a half-billion dollars.

"The problem posed by the refugees will become increasingly serious if their future is not resolved," he warned.

The tragic dilemma of Israel as "victor" in the six-day war grows out of a greatly enlarged dominated population resorting to terror and violence that can be controlled only by the sternest repression.

ISRAEL, WITH close ties with the West and a rapidly expanding economy incorporating all of contemporary technology, has had a unique place in the Middle East. Opinion in the West has with few exceptions favored the new nation surrounded by a sea of turbulent Arabism. This imbalance has been a source of deep resentment in the Arab world.

Today opinion appears to be shifting. Two leading London newspapers, the Times and the Sunday Times, recently ran articles critical of Israeli treatment of Arabs in the occupied territories. Charges have come from various quarters of the concentration-camp-like treatment of subject peoples, the leveling of houses and even whole towns. These may be grim necessities, as the Israelis see it, in the midst of an alien and hostile population. But the consequences in world opinion can be damaging. Rogers' declaration may at this point look like a poshible way out.

IN LANDS ABROAD

Russ Writer Puts Finger On U.S. Policy Conflict

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

A publication just out in Moscow declares that in the field of foreign relations the United States follows "a very zigzag policy."

To this, some of the United States' allies in NATO echo a fervent "amen."

The new Moscow publication bears the title "The Modern Diplomacy of Imperialism" and comments on the policies of the United States, Britain, France, West Germany and Japan.

THE AUTHOR of the American section bears the well-known name of Gromyko. He is Anatoli Gromyko, son of Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko. The younger Gromyko served in the Soviet embassy in Washington and is on U.S. Affairs.

Presumably by coincidence, the book came out just before the start of the U.1-Soviet Strategic Arms Limitation (SALT) talks in Helsinki.

It is Gromyko's contention that the United States still is far from committed to a policy of disarmament, although sentiment is moving in that direction.

HE SEES a confrontation in Washington between forces "who are not interested, at least at the present moment, in a radical easing of international tension," and "those who want to see American diplomacy break away from the heritage of (John Foster) Dulles."

"This confrontation," he said, "is reflected in the activities of the Nixon government, which practices a very zigzag policy in the international arena."

THE ECHO of agreement comes from NATO nations who find themselves unsure of U.S. intent but nonetheless find by necessity their own foreign policy bound to it.

For publication, they favor the U.S.-Soviet Helsinki talks but privately fear that any agreement between the two would mean a corresponding decline in American interest in the security of Western Europe.

They fear also the extent of U.S. determination to use its nuclear arsenal in the event of Communist attack, that in its new isolationism it might opt for its own safety over that of Western Europe.

For the same reasons they do not wholly trust U.S. assurances that U.S. troop strength of around 200,000 in Europe will be maintained at that level at least until the middle of 1971.

THAT, AT the moment, is their greatest fear. The United States already has withdrawn 32,000 men and Britain 5,000. Canada is to cut her 9,800-man force in half.

Drastic U.S. troop cuts, they say, would place upon Western Europe an insuperable burden in its own defense.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By THERON NEWELL

Eastern Kansas Towns May Give Preview Of Marin Next Year

The shape of things to come: On the Thanksgiving weekend, I took a trip to eastern Kansas. There the two towns I visited had enacted anti-backyard burning laws. Why, I could not figure out, because the wind is almost always blowing in Kansas and the chance of air pollution is very remote.

In case one is not familiar with eastern Kansas towns, they have wide parking areas between the sidewalks and streets. These are lined with elms, maples, sycamores, hackberry and other deciduous trees. In the autumn, the leaves fall.

So these fallen leaves were piled all along the parkings, waiting the city trucks to haul them off. There were miles and miles of four to six foot high piles of leaves and other debris. It was illegal to rake them into the street.

To keep the leaves from blowing around, some people covered the long mounds with old blankets, rugs, rug padding, plastic sheets, and anything that would hold them down. A few had put them in big plastic bags.

Of course someone had pull with the city and the city's street sweeper was going past his house. The man (probably the mayor) would rake the leaves into the street (illegal) and the sweeper would pick them up. Up and down the sweeper went, getting the leaves of just the one man. Everyone else had to pay to have his leaves hauled away.

That may be a sampling of what we are in for after the backyard burning ban goes into effect here on Jan. 1.

BABE SILVA, who has been the watchdog on the finances of the Novato city government for all but two of its 10 years, may not be on the city council next year.

It is not that he is quitting public service, but he may go up a step. He might run for the board of supervisors. With his following in Novato and his friends among the rual people of the district, he would be a powerful candidate.

Although it is a little early to predict, there is talk around North Marin of Babe's running for the board.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss has not yet announced whether he will run. When he campaigned last time, he said he would not run again, but all politicians can change their minds. When asked, Bill answered with the question, "Do you think I should retire?"

From here now it looks as though if Gnoss does not run, Silva will try to take his place.

Of course there will be other candidates.

THE NORTH MARIN Federation (of homeowners associations) has waged a long, hard battle against John Kenney's proposal for 1,800 mobile home pads south of Highway 37 west of Black Point. Apparently it has won, at least temporarily. After the planning commission deadlocked over it Monday night, Kenney withdrew the application for a use permit.

The federation's main argument was that mobile homes do not pay their share of taxes, even though this one was proposed for an adult community and would not add to school costs.

We wonder if in winning its point, the federation didn't possibly open a can of worms? The area is still zoned "planned community" and Kenney could present a plan for single-family units.

Then with the new state law allowing prefabricated low-cost housing anywhere in the state, the area could be turned, almost overnight, into a mass of cheap houses. These would probably be occupied by young families and the school district could suddenly find several thousand more children in the district. Then the tax problem would really be great for the school district.

OUR VOTE for the meanest individual this time of year goes to those who steal outside Christmas decorations and lights.

Guilty Plea To Burglary Count

Kenneth James Hough, 22, of Novato, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to the second degree burglary of a San Rafael landscape firm Oct. 23.

Sentencing was set for Jan. 5.

Hough was arrested after police found him and 16-year-old companion near the Turf and Tree firm at 625 Grand Avenue. He was accused of taking seven chain saws valued at $2,200.

Pleads Guilty

Paul Ross Mushen, 19, of Sausalito, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to possessing a dangerous drug Aug. 28 in Sausalito. Judge Joseph G. Wilson set sentencing for Jan. 26.

ART BUCHWALD

Spend, Spend For Christmas— Remember Adolph Zimmermeister

WASHINGTON — The death of Adolph Zimmermeister was listed on the police books as an accidental fall from a traffic helicopter over the Long Island Sound.

But Mrs. Zimmermeister said she suspects foul play and has asked for a reopening of the case.

She told me in her modest apartment in the Bronx that she is certain that someone took Adolph for a ride.

"WHO COULD IT have possibly been?" I asked her.

"I don't know. Adolph didn't have an enemy in the world, at least not until a month ago. That's when the trouble started. Adolph announced at the family Thanksgiving dinner that he wasn't going to buy any Christmas presents this year. At first everyone thought he was joking, but Adolph said he was absolutely serious and if they didn't believe him they should try holding their breath waiting for a gift or a card from him.

"Someone at the dinner must have told someone what Adolph said, because two days later three men, all wearing carnations, showed up at the apartment.

"ONE OF THE MEN said, 'Adolph, is it true that you are not going to buy any Christmas presents this year?'

"Adolph replied, 'Absolutely true. My wife and I agreed we love each other and I don't have to buy her a fur coat or a diamond ring to prove it.'

" 'As for the children, they're at the age when they resent anything we do for them, so there doesn't seem to be any sense spending money on them when we're only going to get kicked in the teeth.'

" 'But what about the spirit of Christmas giving?' one of the men said.

" 'I've got the spirit,' Adolph told them. 'It's just that I can't afford it.'

" 'NO ONE CAN afford Christmas,' one of the men yelled, 'That's not a valid excuse. The very lifeblood of this nation depends on people who can't afford Christmas to go out and buy, buy, buy, even if they go into debt to do it.'

" 'That's just the point," Adolph said. 'I decided not to go into debt this year.'

"One of the men who seemed to be the leader said, 'Adolph, we're from the Gross National Product Society, the GNP, and our job is to see that no one, and we mean no one, does anything to hurt the country's economy.

" 'This nation cannot live without Christmas. Your attitude is more danagerous than the worst bomb-throwing anarchist. And if other people heard what you were up to and followed suit, this country could go down the drain.'

" 'I'M SORRY about that. Would it make you feel any better if I went to church on Christmas Day?' Adolph said.

"The leader of the group got up and said, 'Adolph, we're giving you a last chance. Are you or are you not going to buy presents this Christmas?'

"The three men started for the door. 'Don't say we didn't warn you!"

"BUT," I ASKED Mrs. Zimmermeister, "why did you suspect foul play?"

"For one thing, Adolph's never been in a helicopter in his life, and for another, at his funeral a large wreath arrived with a ribbon which said, 'To our dear friend Adolph, from his fraternal brothers at the GNP'."

Busterud New Leader Of Club

John A. Busterud of San Rafael has been elected president of the Commonwealth Club of California in San Francisco.

Busterud is an attorney with the firm of Broad, Busterud and Khourie, San Francisco. He is a former state assemblyman.

Span Legislative Program On Agenda

The Golden Gate Bridge District's 1970 legislative program will be considered by the district's legislation-public relations committee at 10 a.m. Thursday in the district office at the toll plaza.

The full board will meet at 10 a.m. on Friday, one week earlier than usual because of Christmas weekend. The Friday meeting will be preceded at 9:30 a.m. by a meeting of the finance-auditing committee.

The Scott 2503 Compact Stereo System... it's not as expensive as it sounds.

Scott has an enviable reputation for making the best professional stereo components. And when you hear the 2503 compact AM/FM/FM stereo/phono system, you'll know that reputation is well-deserved. Rated by Buyers Guide Magazine as a BEST BUY, the exciting 2503 puts a lot of entertainment in a small space. Integrated Circuits and Field Effect Transistors make the difference, letting you hear more stations more clearly, with virtually no outside interference, no drift, no distortion.

The automatic turntable is made to Scott specifications by Garrard, and includes sensitive Pickering magnetic cartridge and diamond stylus. There's also a cueing device that lets you raise or lower the tone-arm at any point on the record. The speakers are Scott air-suspension systems . . . bookshelf size, ballroom sound.

The 2503 is versatile, too. You can plug in extra speakers, a tape deck, tape cartridge player, headphones, and a microphone and guitar. And the biggest surprise of all is the price . . . from $259.95 to $379.95 depending on choice of speakers.

CUSTOM CONVERTIBLE
Why do we call this fabulous custom home convertible? Because it was specially designed to be used as a 6 bdrm., or a 3 bdrm. The unique design of the bdrms. allows for a big family, with all kinds of built-in cabinets, vanities, etc. The master bdrm. suite is completely separate and has its own bath and walk-in wardrobe. The living room, with vaulted ceiling, overlooks the beautiful valley. A family room and all-elec. kitchen with all kinds of storage cabinets, all custom designed, complete this fine home. The exterior design is all finished in natural redwood and shingle and is completely different from the ordinary home. Situated on a cul-de-sac overlooking the beautiful valley and recreation center. See this one immediately and you will buy it at $49,950.

120—New Cars For Sale

THANK YOU MR. and MRS. MARIN

A recent survey of the comparison of motor vehicle registrations (Source: Department of Motor Vehicles) showed that Marinites are buying a higher percentage of their new cars in Marin . . . Between 1960 and 1969 Marin and San Mateo counties gained 37.2% in new private passenger car registrations whereas San Francisco DECLINED 6.6%. We, the new car dealers of Marin appreciate your confidence in us and in our product and local service. We shall strive to continue to warrant your confidence through lower prices and better service.

Before You Buy "Across the Bridge" Compare Prices, Trade-in Allowances and Service with these Marin County New Car Dealers!

ACCOUNTANTS' REPORT

TO THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS
Marin Hospital District
San Rafael, California

We have examined the accompanying balance sheet of MARIN GENERAL HOSPITAL as of June 30, 1969 and the related statement of revenue and expense for the year then ended, and including the accumulated excess of revenue over expense. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

We were unable to obtain confirmation of receivables aggregating approximately $437,000 from the fiscal intermediary for the Medicare program and from the other government agencies; however, by using other auditing procedures, we were able to satisfy ourselves with respect to such receivables.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements present fairly the financial position of Marin General Hospital at June 30, 1969, and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

MARIN GENERAL HOSPITAL
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
JUNE 30, 1969

NOTE 1 — ALLOWANCE FOR MEDICARE REPORTING:

An amount of $35,000, comprised of $25,000 relating to prior years and a $10,000 provision for the year ended June 30, 1969, has been established for possible adjustment of amounts previously recovered under the Medicare program. The actual amount which may be payable is subject to review and possible adjustment to an extent indeterminable as of June 30, 1969.

NOTE 2 — PROPERTY, PLANT AND EQUIPMENT:

The Community Mental Health Center was completed during the current fiscal year. The Marin General Hospital District had owned the real property upon which the Community Mental Health Center was constructed and accepted title to the improvements and various portable equipment which had been constructed with federal and state aid.

Total project cost amounted to $1,581,392 including portable equipment of $88,281. Construction cost of $1,493,111 includes certain fixed equipment costs which are not determinable at this time. Since it is the Hospital's policy not to take depreciation expense in the year of acquisition the entire $1,493,111 has been treated as an addition to buildings for current statement purposes with proper classification to be made during the coming year.

Depreciation for the year ended June 30, 1969, aggregating $197,751, was provided for each individual asset using the straight-line method and the use of estimated useful lives determined by specialists which range from 40 years for buildings to 5 to 20 years for equipment.

NOTE 3 — PENSION PLAN:

The Hospital has in effect a contributing pension plan for its eligible employees. The total pension expense for the year ended June 30, 1969 was $89,138, which includes amortization of prior service cost (aggregating $220,000) over a period of 25 years. The Hospital's policy is to fund pension costs accrued. At January 1, 1969, assets of the pension plan exceeded all vested benefits.

NOTE 4 — COUNTY REIMBURSEMENT FOR COMMUNITY MENTAL HEALTH CENTER:

From the opening of the health center to June 30, 1969, the Hospital received $355,771 from Marin County as reimbursement for expenses incurred in operating the Community Mental Health Center Outpatient Clinic.

It was the Hospital's understanding that the County would reimburse the Hospital for the net excess of cost over actual billings for inpatients and for the regular daily room rate and ancillary services for all County patients. To date, however, the County's reimbursement to the Hospital has been for the estimated cost of services rendered. Based upon a review by hospital management of all Community Mental Health Center patients treated through June 30, 1969, the County has overpaid the Hospital by approximately $43,000 for inpatient care. This amount is subject to review by the County since there may be some difference of opinion between the Hospital and the County as to who may qualify as a County patient, and also as to the nature of certain of the charges.

NOTE 5 — CONTINGENT LIABILITY AND COMMITMENTS:

The Hospital is contingently liable as guarantor of patients' loans aggregating an approximate amount of less than $5,000.

The Hospital has accepted a bid in the aggregate amount of $96,213 for the filling and placement of temporary drainage structure and temporary paving for the parking area across Bon Air Road.

Teeth Broken In Auto Crash

Tommie Lois Pockrus, 21, of 20 Locksly Lane, San Rafael, was treated for broken teeth and cut left knee at Marin General Hospital Sunday after a three-car collision at Grand Avenue and Second Street at 10 p.m., police reported yesterday.

Candyce Jane Lundgren, 18 of 55 Canal Street, San Rafael was cited for failing to stop for a red light, according to police.

After colliding with the Packrus car, Miss Lunudgren's car spun into the front of a car driven by Harold Kenneth Harroun, 49, of 154 Terrace Avenue, San Rafael, police said.

Counterfeit $20 Bill Is Passed

A counterfeit $20 bill was passed Saturday at the Gilmore Shell Service Station at 834 Irwin Street, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

The male suspect was about 22 or 24, weighing 160 pounds, standing five feet, ten inches tall and wearing a purple shirt, black slacks and an Afro-haircut, police said. He was accompanied by a woman, 25 or 26, wearing a blue print dress, according to police.

First Quarter Probation Subsidy

Expected commitments of youths and adults to state institutions will be reduced in Marin and Sonoma counties during 1969-70, projections of first quarter figures indicate.

The program, called probation subsidy, provides state money to counties which reduce their commitment rate.

Marin can expect $32,000 and Sonoma $240,000, according to figures from Allen F. Breed, director of the California Youth Authority. In 1968-69, Marin received $88,000.

Breed reported Marin's expected level of 44 will be reduced to 36 commitments based on first-quarter results. The decrease is 18.8 per cent.

Local probation officials, however, have a more optimistic view. Commitments for the first quarter were higher than usual and are not believed characteristic of the rest of the year.

Sonoma's expected level of commitment, 96, will drop to 36, a decrease of 62.6 per cent, according to Breed.

Garbage Ordinance On Hub Agenda

The San Anselmo City Council will consider final adoption of a revised garbage ordinance when it meets at 8 p.m. today at city hall.

The new ordinance will provide for unlimited pickup to take care of garden clippings after the backyard burning ban begins Jan. 1.

Shut Session Complaint Is Aired

What was described as a complaint against two teachers in Sausalito School District last Tuesday was actually a complaint against the superintendent and a principal, the man who made it said yesterday.

The district board went into closed session last Tuesday night during its regular meeting. When a reporter asked the reason for closing the session, he was told it was to hear charges against two teachers.

Not so, said Dr. Thomas J. Mannell of 596 Sausalito Boulevard, who made the charges. He said they were against Supt. Phillip W. Schneider and Principal Sidney F. Walton Jr. of Martin Luther King School.

Mannell said he complained also about the level of instruction in Martin Luther King School. This, however, would not be legal reason for a closed board session.

The charges were made in connection with Mannell's request that he be permitted to transfer his two daughters, who attend King School, to another district. The board postponed decision on the request to its Dec. 22 meeting.

Fund Panel To Be Decided

A proposal naming the Marin City Council as "project area committee" to secure federal funds for planning will be considered by the Marin County Redevelopment Agency at its 8:30 p.m. meeting tomorrow at Manzanita Center in Marin City.

The agreement would provide the apparatus for securing funds to supplement "701" planning money up to $50,000 for two years. Federal agencies require citizen participation before granting money and provide two-thirds of the money required for developing a master plan.

The Marin County Housing Authority will meet at Manzanita Center at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow to receive from the Marin Ecumenical Housing Association plans for the Hilarita housing development.

Soldier Is Held Burglary Suspect

An AWOL soldier was picked up by Pacifica police Saturday on a Petaluma warrant for burglary.

Frank J. Vargas, 19, of 95-B Cornona Road, Petaluma, formerly of Novato, was turned over to military police who said he had been absent without leave from Fort Lewis, Wash.

Petaluma police had accused him of taking $440 worth of televisions and radios from the neighboring apartment of Joseph M. Cabral, 95-A Corona Road.

Possession Of Drug Admitted

James Robert Chrisler, 20, of Mill Valley, admitted yesterday in Marin Superior Court that he possessed marijuana when arrested Sept. 11 in Mill Valley.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson set sentencing for Feb. 2.

Door Smashed

ACCOUNTANTS' REPORT

TO THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS
Marin Hospital District
San Rafael, California

We have examined the accompanying balance sheet of MARIN GENERAL HOSPITAL as of June 30, 1969 and the related statement of revenue and expense for the year then ended, and including the accumulated excess of revenue over expense. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

We were unable to obtain confirmation of receivables aggregating approximately $437,000 from the fiscal intermediary for the Medicare program and from the other government agencies; however, by using other auditing procedures, we were able to satisfy ourselves with respect to such receivables.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements present fairly the financial position of Marin General Hospital at June 30, 1969, and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

MARIN GENERAL HOSPITAL
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
JUNE 30, 1969

NOTE 1 — ALLOWANCE FOR MEDICARE REPORTING:

An amount of $35,000, comprised of $25,000 relating to prior years and a $10,000 provision for the year ended June 30, 1969, has been established for possible adjustment of amounts previously recovered under the Medicare program. The actual amount which may be payable is subject to review and possible adjustment to an extent indeterminable as of June 30, 1969.

NOTE 2 — PROPERTY, PLANT AND EQUIPMENT:

The Community Mental Health Center was completed during the current fiscal year. The Marin General Hospital District had owned the real property upon which the Community Mental Health Center was constructed and accepted title to the improvements and various portable equipment which had been constructed with federal and state aid.

Total project cost amounted to $1,581,392 including portable equipment of $88,281. Construction cost of $1,493,111 includes certain fixed equipment costs which are not determinable at this time. Since it is the Hospital's policy not to take depreciation expense in the year of acquisition the entire $1,493,111 has been treated as an addition to buildings for current statement purposes with proper classification to be made during the coming year.

Depreciation for the year ended June 30, 1969, aggregating $197,751, was provided for each individual asset using the straight-line method and the use of estimated useful lives determined by specialists which range from 40 years for buildings to 3 to 20 years for equipment.

NOTE 3 — PENSION PLAN:

The Hospital has in effect a contributing pension plan for its eligible employees. The total pension expense for the year ended June 30, 1969 was $89,138, which includes amortization of prior service cost (aggregating $220,000) over a period of 25 years. The Hospital's policy is to fund pension costs accrued. At January 1, 1969, assets of the pension plan exceeded all vested benefits.

NOTE 4 — COUNTY REIMBURSEMENT FOR COMMUNITY MENTAL HEALTH CENTER:

From the opening of the health center to June 30, 1969, the Hospital received $355,771 from Marin County as reimbursement for expenses incurred in operating the Community Mental Health Center Outpatient Clinic.

It was the Hospital's understanding that the County would reimburse the Hospital for the net excess of cost over actual billings for inpatients and for the regular daily room rate and ancillary services for all County patients. To date, however, the County's reimbursement to the Hospital has been for the estimated cost of services rendered. Based upon a review by hospital management of all Community Mental Health Center patients treated through June 30, 1969, the County has overpaid the Hospital by approximately $43,000 for inpatient care. This amount is subject to review by the County since there may be some difference of opinion between the Hospital and the County as to who may qualify as a County patient, and also as to the nature of certain of the charges.

NOTE 5 — CONTINGENT LIABILITY AND COMMITMENTS:

The Hospital is contingently liable as guarantor of patients' loans aggregating an approximate amount of less than $5,000.

The Hospital has accepted a bid in the aggregate amount of $96,213 for the filling and placement of temporary drainage structure and temporary paving for the parking area across Bon Air Road.

Teeth Broken In Auto Crash

Tommie Lois Pockrus, 21, of 20 Locksly Lane, San Rafael, was treated for broken teeth and cut left knee at Marin General Hospital Sunday after a three-car collision at Grand Avenue and Second Street at 10 p.m., police reported yesterday.

Candyce Jane Lundgren, 18 of 55 Canal Street, San Rafael was cited for failing to stop for a red light, according to police.

After colliding with the Packrus car, Miss Lunudgren's car spun into the front of a car driven by Harold Kenneth Harroun, 49, of 154 Terrace Avenue, San Rafael, police said.

Counterfeit $20 Bill Is Passed

A counterfeit $20 bill was passed Saturday at the Gilmore Shell Service Station at 834 Irwin Street, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

The male suspect was about 22 or 24, weighing 160 pounds, standing five feet, ten inches tall and wearing a purple shirt, black slacks and an Afro-haircut, police said. He was accompanied by a woman, 25 or 26, wearing a blue print dress, according to police.

First Quarter Probation Subsidy

Expected commitments of youths and adults to state institutions will be reduced in Marin and Sonoma counties during 1969-70, projections of first quarter figures indicate.

The program, called probation subsidy, provides state money to counties which reduce their commitment rate.

Marin can expect $32,000 and Sonoma $240,000, according to figures from Allen F. Breed, director of the California Youth Authority. In 1968-69, Marin received $88,000.

Breed reported Marin's expected level of 44 will be reduced to 36 commitments based on first-quarter results. The decrease is 18.8 per cent.

Local probation officials, however, have a more optimistic view. Commitments for the first quarter were higher than usual and are not believed characteristic of the rest of the year.

Sonoma's expected level of commitment, 96, will drop to 36, a decrease of 62.6 per cent, according to Breed.

Garbage Ordinance On Hub Agenda

The San Anselmo City Council will consider final adoption of a revised garbage ordinance when it meets at 8 p.m. today at city hall.

Shut Session Complaint Is Aired

What was described as a complaint against two teachers in Sausalito School District last Tuesday was actually a complaint against the superintendent and a principal, the man who made it said yesterday.

The district board went into closed session last Tuesday night during its regular meeting. When a reporter asked the reason for closing the session, he was told it was to hear charges against two teachers.

Not so, said Dr. Thomas J. Mannell of 596 Sausalito Boulevard, who made the charges. He said they were against Supt. Phillip W. Schneider and Principal Sidney F. Walton Jr. of Martin Luther King School.

Mannell said he complained also about the level of instruction in Martin Luther King School. This, however, would not be legal reason for a closed board session.

The charges were made in connection with Mannell's request that he be permitted to transfer his two daughters, who attend King School, to another district. The board postponed decision on the request to its Dec. 22 meeting.

Fund Panel To Be Decided

A proposal naming the Marin City Council as "project area committee" to secure federal funds for planning will be considered by the Marin County Redevelopment Agency at its 8:30 p.m. meeting tomorrow at Manzanita Center in Marin City.

The agreement would provide the apparatus for securing funds to supplement "701" planning money up to $50,000 for two years. Federal agencies require citizen participation before granting money and provide two-thirds of the money required for developing a master plan.

The Marin County Housing Authority will meet at Manzanita Center at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow to receive from the Marin Ecumenical Housing Association plans for the Hilarita housing development.

Soldier Is Held Burglary Suspect

An AWOL soldier was picked up by Pacifica police Saturday on a Petaluma warrant for burglary.

Frank J. Vargas, 19, of 95-B Cornona Road, Petaluma, formerly of Novato, was turned over to military police who said he had been absent without leave from Fort Lewis, Wash.

Petaluma police had accused him of taking $440 worth of televisions and radios from the neighboring apartment of Joseph M. Cabral, 95-A Corona Road.

Possession Of Drug Admitted

James Robert Chrisler, 20, of Mill Valley, admitted yesterday in Marin Superior Court that he possessed marijuana when arrested Sept. 11 in Mill Valley.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson set sentencing for Feb. 2.

It Hurts When Rohde Looks Back On Season

Next Sunday's 49ers-Philadelphia Eagles contest in San Francisco is a nothing game. A zero. Both teams are among the National Football League's also-rans and they'll be left wanting when Santa Rozelle fills stockings at season's end.

But, the loser of this Nothing Bowl stands to profit in one respect. That's the annual player draft in which teams with the worst records select higher in the grab bag.

Thus, wouldn't it be better for the 49ers to lose next Sunday since nothing else is at stake?

"I couldn't care less about the draft. I don't care if they ever draft a player. We just want to win. Right now I'd like to go kick hell out of the Eagles just for spite."

Len Rohde, offensive tackle for the 49ers, thus summed up his team's attitude for the Marin Boosters Club yesterday as he and guard Elmer Collett and tight end Bob Windsor discussed a variety of pro grid topics over lunch following Sunday's 10-7 loss to Minnesota.

Rohde, with 10 years of hash marks on his professional armor, fairly bristles when he looks back over the 1969 season in which the 49ers started with a promise and wound up with not so much as a peck on the cheek.

It Started Very Early

"I'm sick," he said. "I look at our personnel and statistics and it makes me sick to see where we are. It all started in our first exhibition game against Cleveland when we dominated the game and mistakes beat us. That typifies our season. Yesterday I felt we could have beaten Minnesota easily and still weren't playing our best. I don't know. I feel hollow."

He added that key injuries on defense had a lot to do with San Francisco's collapse. "That hurts with a defense as complex as ours," he said. "The top teams like Minnesota, Dallas and Oakland didn't hurt as much on defense. Maybe the breaks will go our way next year."

Incredible playing conditions in snow-bound Minnesota Sunday came up for discussion. Rohde said Minnesota's famous Fearsome Foursome defensive line is "probably the best in the league but the conditions didn't afford them the opportunity to maximize their ability."

Collett, who grew up around Mill Valley and Stinson Beach, said playing in a blizzard for the first time was an "interesting experience," adding, "Oh, I'd been to Squaw Valley one weekend and last year got to throw some snow balls on Mount Tamalpais, but nothing like this. You just can't run. And trying to block is ridiculous."

Caught Holding Twice

The barrel-chested, physical culturist who attended Tam High was whistled down twice for holding Sunday. He said he was a marked man because a defensive player "notified the ref that I was possibly holding. I hadn't been called for holding on a running block all year, so to be called twice in one game is ridiculous. It was just an honest slip and an honest grab."

Charles Elmer also said 1969 has been "a hard, frustrating season and it gets a little harder each game to get up the old vim and vigor."

Officiating in Sunday's game came under discussion, particularly on a crucial fumble by 49er Doug Cunningham that killed a 49er goalward drive. "The ref blew the play dead before the fumble," noted Windsor, "but another ref came up and said Doug fumbled before the whistle and talked him out of it. Obnoxious might be a strong word, but I think it fits them. I think they were Central Division refs."

"We have specials for every game," chuckled Windsor, "and hadn't played Atlanta for nine games. Nobody knew what he was talking about and here was poor Kwalick trying to explain the patterns with about seven seconds to go. Finally, Spurrier just winged it as far as he could downfield hoping somebody would get it." It was intercepted. It's now called the "Minnesota Special."

Windsor 'Running Scared'

Windsor said the presence of Kwalick, the heralded No. 1 draft choice, behind him had a lot to do with his great season. "I was fortunate to start off real well and Ted was late getting to camp. You might say I've been running scared," he said.

Asked to compare Los Angeles and Minnesota for their NFL divisional title game Dec. 27, Collett said: "Well, I judge teams by their defensive lines and their team unity and I'd say it's pretty much of a tossup."

Rohde added: "Winning is contagious. If L.A. loses next week then the Rams will be in trouble. They'll have trouble getting up."

The 49er Boosters will have their final regular meeting of the season next Monday noon at Dominic's Restaurant in San Rafael. Guests will be team physician, Dr. Lloyd Milburn; player personnel director, Lynn O. "Pappy" Waldorf, and an assistant coach, according to program director Dave Scofield.

Soccer Win For Redwood

Carter Ingram scored three goals yesterday to lead Redwood High School to an 8-3 victory over Novato in the makeup of a Marin County Athletic League soccer match that was postponed from last week due to wet grounds.

The victory pushed Redwood back into a first place tie with San Marin, each team with four victories, one loss and three ties.

Two goals each by Jon Broderick and Francis Kelonzo and one by Anders Carlsson completed Redwood's scoring. Novato's scoring came on two goals by Jim Nissen and one by his brother, Bob.

Big Week For Drake's Carl Brown

By GARY TISCHLER

Last week was the week that was for Carl "Red" Brown, educator, board of education member, coach and tournament director.

Even on a normal basis, it would have been a hectic week, what with his coaching duties as Drake High School basketball mentor. His team was one of the entries in the annual Drake Invitational Tournament, which Brown also directed and nurtured.

But that was also the week in which Brown delivered a long and impressive blast at today's permissive society in an address read to the San Rafael Board of Education. It was Brown pouring his philosophical heart out at long last about something which had been building up for a long time.

AS A RESULT of the speech and its publicity in the Independent-Journal the following day (Wednesday), things have not been quite the same for Brown.

The speech was brought on by Brown's growing concern over the lack of discipline among students, permissiveness among teachers and it turned out to be, as Brown admits, a member of the so-called silent majority speaking out forcefully. And he apparently was heard loud and clear.

"The response has been amazing," Brown said. "And it's all been favorable. I've gotten about 70 letters plus phone calls every night."

BROWN'S WIFE, Kelma, has had to take the brunt of the well-wishers and callers.

"She's really beginning to become unglued," Brown said. "But she'll survive. She always has. She didn't even have time to cook."

With Brown busy at the tournament Wednesday through Saturday, Mrs. Brown was the only one around to handle the phone until Brown got home from the tournament.

"We've gotten about 30 to 40 calls," he said. "Things like 'Don't let it stop here,' 'God bless you' and one from an Italian who said that it's about time an American spoke out."

IN THE MEANTIME, Brown has coached (his team lost three games in the tournament), and has taken care of the loose ends (supplying towels, first aid, lockers, equipment and coffee for the press) at the tournament.

"It hasn't affected any of these things, my coaching or the tournament," he said. "There has been comment from the students, but none of my players said anything. Not a word."

Brown feels his interest on the subject of the speech acutely. As a member of the board, as a coach, as a teacher and an individual, he overlaps himself in all areas. But he doesn't, as yet, plan to do anything further, such as speaking engagements.

"We'll just have to play it by ear," he said.

THE MARIN COUNTY Athletic League water polo race is still tight and furious. Terra Linda remained unbeaten last week, blasting San Marin 18-6, as Steve Bator scored six goals and Pat Ellington five. And Redwood, now 4-1, downed San Rafael, 15-4.

Ellington, incidentally, has really been going to town. He's scored 39 goals in six league games, an average of almost seven a game.

THE MCAL girls' gymnastic season is set to start Jan. 10 with the Marin County Compulsory meet at Drake High School.

There will be seven schools participating this season with 30 girls on each squad.

THREE AT HOME

Busy Slate For Marin

College of Marin's basketball team, the new champion of its own invitational tournament, gets its reward this week.

Four ballgames in five days. And a Merry Christmas to you, too!

Actually, nobody is trying to torture the tired Tars. The whole thing is a slight scheduling mixup that couldn't be avoided.

"Three games I wouldn't mind," Tar coach John Panagakis said. "But four, that's a little too much."

'TOO MUCH'

The Tars, now 4-3, after winning three straight games and the title in their own tournament last week, go to Fremont to play Ohlone College tonight at 8 o'clock. Tomorrow, they host Napa at 8 p.m. Thursday, they can stay home and rest. Friday, Yuba College is in Kentfield for an 8 p.m. game, and Cabrillo College visits Kentfield Saturday night at 8 o'clock. And Sunday will eventually come around.

The worst may be yet to come, but the Tars and Panagakis are still basking in the afterglow of winning, for the first time, their own tournament, a feat that will surely give them a shot in the arm.

"This is definitely a boost for us," Panagakis said. "That was really great. They just really performed well. They were tired, but what a fine group of kids."

The big turnabout, which saw the Tars lose three of their first four games only to win three in a row in the tournament, may help them in the long week ahead.

Ohlone is reportedly improved over past seasons. Napa and Yuba both played in the COM tournament, with little success while Cabrillo is reportedly big and tall with a front line running 6-8, 6-6 and 6-5.

"I know it will be hard to get up for some of these games, like Napa and Yuba," Panagakis said. "But on any night, they can knock you off."

FIRST DAY ON THE JOB

Wells Surgery Postponed

OAKLAND (AP)—Way back last September, in their first American Football League game of the season, the Oakland Raiders had to struggle from behind to beat the Houston Oilers 21-17.

The Raiders have come a long way since then, rolling to a 12-1-1 mark and their third straight AFL Western Division title.

FAVORITE

The Oilers, meanwhile, posted a season record of 6-6-2, which should make Oakland a big favorite when the two teams meet here Sunday in a playoff game.

The Raiders had a schedule break early in the season, playing the relatively weaker teams first, and their coaching staff was able to bring them along slowly.

By the time they met Kansas City and New York, they had ironed all the bugs out of their system.

It would appear that the Raiders' luck has held as they get the less-impressive Oilers while the Chiefs and Jets struggle to knock each other off in another playoff game.

THE BOMB

Ironically, it was a 64-yard touchdown pass from Daryle Lamonica to Warren Wells late in the game that enabled the Raiders to overcome the Oilers in that first game.

Wells is definitely out of this one. The league leader in touchdown receptions with 14 suffered a shoulder separation last week against the Chiefs and for a while it appeared he would have to undergo surgery.

That apparently won't be necessary, according to Raider Coach John Madden, who is obviously hoping that Wells might be ready if the Raiders get into the title game here Jan. 4.

WILL HURT

The Raiders' chief offensive weapon is the touchdown pass, often the long bomb, and any prolonged loss of Wells is bound to hurt that eventually.

Not only is Wells unsurpassed in getting downfield, he also has the kind of moves that often leave him all alone in the end zone to wait for Lamonica's bombs to drop while would-be defenders are, picking themselves up off the turf.

If the opposition double-teams Wells, that leaves Fred Biletnikoff open. Though not as fast as Wells, Biletnikoff has the same moves and is, if anything, better at catching the ball in a crowd. He has 12 touchdown receptions this year, second to Wells in the AFL.

Madden, who watched the Oilers beat Boston on television Sunday, said: "They ran the ball well. When they have Hoyle Granger in there, he's a good runner, and Woody Campbell has stepped in well after returning from the service."

Seals Get Howie Menard

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Seals, hoping to add some aggressiveness to their forward line, have acquired Chicago Black Hawks' center Howie Menard in exchange for forward Gene Ubriaco.

"Menard is an aggressive hard-working center whose forechecking has been a strongpoint during his career," said Seals' General Manager Frank Selke. "The trade does not solve our problems but we believe his scrappy play will help turn our club around."

The Seals, 7-16-4, are in fifth place in the National Hockey League's West Division.

Menard, 27, has scored two goals and has three assists this season. Ubriaco, who will be 32 next week, scored 19 goals last season, but has seen limited action this year and has one goal and an assist.

Grand Jury Indicts Three In New York Boxing Probe

NEW YORK (AP) — Chief Asst. Dist. Atty. Alfred J. Scotti announced today a grand jury had returned three indictments in an investigation of corruption in professional boxing.

Named in indictments were light heavyweight boxer Frankie DePaula, 29, of Jersey City, N.J.; Joseph "Joe Carlo" Calabro, 44, Brooklyn, N.Y. and James "Jimmy Nap" Napoli, Scotti said.

Scotti said the grand jury, meeting in June, was probing alleged sports bribe-receiving, grand larceny by extortion, criminal usury (loan sharking) and promoting gambling.

The indictments, however, specified only perjury in the case of DePaula and perjury and criminal contempt in the case of Calabro and Napoli.

DePaula and his manager, Gary Garafola, were suspended by Edwin Dooley, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission after they were called into an investigation of boxing corruption last May, but DePaula won court permission to fight again.

The probe, has been conducted in near-secrecy by the District Attorney's office since its inception last May after the Dick Tiger—Nino Benventi bout. Both Tiger and Benvenuti were called to testify.

Speculation about a possible crackdown intensified last Friday night after Teddy Brenner, matchmaker for Madison Square Garden, was supoenaed to testify before next month's grand jury.

Tomales High Withdraws From Tourney

Once one of the most promising basketball teams in the area, the Tomales High School Braves, riddled by injuries and suspensions, have withdrawn from the Rose City Invitational Tournament at Cardinal Newman High, near Santa Rosa, scheduled this week.

Coach Davis Danielson's team is without six top ball players, including 6-foot-7 center Bob Dixon, who averaged 27.3 points per game last year. Dixon was among the three players suspended and prospective starters Ron Petroni, Dennis Rodoni and Mike Velloza are out nursing football injuries.

Tomales will be replaced in the tournament by Eureka High School.

South Africa Tennis Group Welcomes Ashe

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa, (AP) — Arthur Ashe, the American Negro tennis star, wants to play tennis not politics in South Africa, believes Alf Chalmers, president of the South African Lawn Tennis Union.

He said, "I think Arthur Ashe wants to come to South Africa to play tennis. From what I have seen of him he is quite a decent chap.

"The things he is reported to have said may have been exaggerated and misquoted," he added. "This could easily have happened."

Chalmers said the union was unanimous in its decision to allow Ashe to play in the South African Championships. "He is a great tennis player. As such we have no objections."

Chalmers said his organization had received a lengthy letter from the U.S. association which stated that Ashe was such an outstanding player he should be accepted to compete in the championships. He added that the Union was quite happy to allow him to play in the national championships in Johannesburg next year. It was now up to Ashe to get his visa in New York.

Strange Case Of The Fish That Grew And Grew And...

Boy! Here we go again! The other day, as I left home, a young fellow named Bob Campagna of San Geronimo Valley stopped me. He wanted to know if all the stories I write are true? Now that's some question.

Here are some of the problems I have to cope with:

Last week I really caught a 90-pound sturgeon. I brought it home, actually weighed the thing, filleted it out, and then decided to bait some fisherman. So, I took it up to Millerton Point on Tomales Bay where I placed it along the shore line, figuring the birds, crabs and other fish would soon dispose of it, but that it would shake up the fisherman there, too.

Later that day, a number of fishermen on Tomales Bay noticed the fish and the stories and the action started!

Marty Medin of Woodacre, who fishes Tomales often and keeps up on things, came by the house and told me about Dave Plant of Inverness helping some angler land a monster sturgeon at Millerton Point, then filleting the fish out right on the spot. He also described the stomach contents of this fish as containing three ghost shrimp and two rock crabs. The stimated weight was 150 pounds! All this is very interesting to me.

The following morning LeRoy Martinelli of Pt. Reyes told me the same tale, adding that some of the fellows from the Silver Dollar Bar at Pt. Reyes Station went down and picked up this carcass, and brought it up to the bar. Measurements and educated guesses were flowing all over the place as well as the other choice drinks served there. This fish by now had almost reached the 200-POUND class.

Later that day, I was telling Sonny Cheda of Pt. Reyes about the unusual growth of this fish, when along came Lefty Arndt, another local, who is a former commercial fisherman, a good sports fisherman, and a very honest and sincere guy.

Good Nite, he started to tell Sonny and me about this same sturgeon. He said he personally measured it and that it was slightly over eight feet long. (I know by tape measure that it measured six feet, three inches in length.)

Now I'm reporting these stories as they come in, so you can see if I didn't know about this particular fish, I would be reporting to you that an eight-foot sturgeon weighing over 200 pounds was taken off Millerton Point this past week.

Other Tall Tales Of Marin Outdoors

There's only one answer to all this: Fish when removed from the water must begin to grow and take on weight, so from here on out it might be a good idea to subtract one-half of the reported weight, then you should have the true size of the fish before it was taken out of the water, and before this phenomenal growth takes place.

Other interesting events reported were:

Waldo Giacomini of Pt. Reyes shot a four and one-half pound mallard, Pete Valconesi of Pt. Reyes say a 30-pound silver salmon jump off Inverness (the record California Silver weighed 22 pounds); Bill Thompson of Inverness caught a 236-pound black marlin in Mexico this past week and his wife is now reporting that it now weighs 240 pounds and growing; four anglers checked at White House Pool said they had four steelhead, but when I looked at the fish they had all turned into silver salmon (silver salmon have a black mouth and tongue; steelhead have a pure white mouth and tongue); also Bruce Daniels, the Pt. Reyes Veterinarian said he had the biggest strike ever at White House Pool; and I personally saw Mike McLean, the constable, jerk his line when Bruce wasn't looking, though I will admit the man's reaction caused the tears to come to my eyes from laughing (It's impossible to describe this event.) Now you wouldn't call all these fisherman and hunters liars would you? So, to answer Mr. Campagna, certainly, all my stories are true.

At White House Pool at Pt. Reyes Station, the rain caused the salmon to move in from the bay, so the action was fair. Lots of fish jumping with probably 20 to 30 taken the last three days. A few steelhead were also taken.

The new hot lure has been a Meps Gold Comet No. 3. Most of the fish weighed 16-pounds. (Subtract one-half for true weights.)

John Ball Jr., aged 13, and Bobby Bunce, 9, pooled their talents to land a nice fish. Both these kids knew their fish was a salmon and they let me estimate the weight. In the water it weighed three pounds.

Over the weekend at Tomales Bay, checked one Brant (about 300 are in up there) with mixed limits of sprig, wigeon and bluebills. Generally the skullers did the best.

Striper fishing should pick up in Tomales off Inverness with the rains. George Smith of Inverness is now leading the Inverness derby with a 26-pound fish. George trolls by rowing and seems to have far better luck than the anglers using motors.

And San Pablo should now improve striper, sturgeon and flounder wise with the rough fish gone. Let's go get em!

Harry Hidekawa of San Francisco took a 115-pound sturgeon. And good numbers of flounder to five pounds were also caught.

TAPES AND BANDAGES

Warriors Host Seattle Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—It's anybody's guess at the starting lineup when the San Francisco Warriors host the Seattle Supersonics tonight at Civic Auditorium.

The Warriors, riddled by injuries, have had to improvise on offense the last couple of weeks. Yet they have not fallen far behind in the National Basketball Association Western Division race. Their 14-15 record leaves them 4 1-2 games from first place Atlanta.

INJURIES

The Warriors have been without guard Al Attles and forward Jerry Lucas for several weeks. Forward Dave Gambee has been hobbled by a variety of hurts, and forward Joe Ellis has been playing despite the pain of a damaged tendon in the little finger of his shooting hand.

"I don't complain about injuries" says coach George Lee. "Every team has them. But things are getting brutal."

Lee used 6-4 Jeff Mullins at forward last weekend in the Warrior win over Detroit. But Lee says this strategy will work only against teams with small frontline men.

Seattle has big, muscular forwards including Tom Meschery, Bob Boozer and John Tresvant. The Sonics sent Los Angeles to the foul line 47 times Sunday night and lost to the Lakers despite a 45-point effort from center Bob Rule.

"KRule is tough," said Lee. "He tries to take our Nate Thurmond outside, and score with little jumpers and a good hook."

Lee also expects the Sonics to run on the Warriors. Seattle player-coach Len Wilkens leads the NBA in assists.

MESCHERY RETURNS

Tonight's 8 o'clock game marks the first time San Francisco fans get a chance to see former Warrior Meschery this season.

Meschery, while with the Warriors, was known as "the mad Russian." Now he has a thick mustache to go with the nickname.

BASKETBALL

Three Share Marin Prep Point Lead

San Marin's returning one-man show, Redwood's widely-acclaimed forward and the big man at Tamalpais are the top scorers among Marin County Athletic League cagers in non-league fames.

Howard, after a 28-point splurge in an 84-82 loss to Pinole Valley, Saturday took over the scoring lead, average wise, with a 21.3 average on 106 points in five games.

Secor scored 78 points in three games at the Healdsburg Tournament, upping his season total to 124 points in six games for a 20.6 average.

Piro has more points than anybody with 141 markers, good for a 20.1 average over seven games.

The trio make up the 20-point club, since no other cager is near that mark. Best after them is San Rafael guard Bruce Nave with a 16.6 average and San Marin's 6-foot-8 junior Dana Laferriere with a 16.6 average.

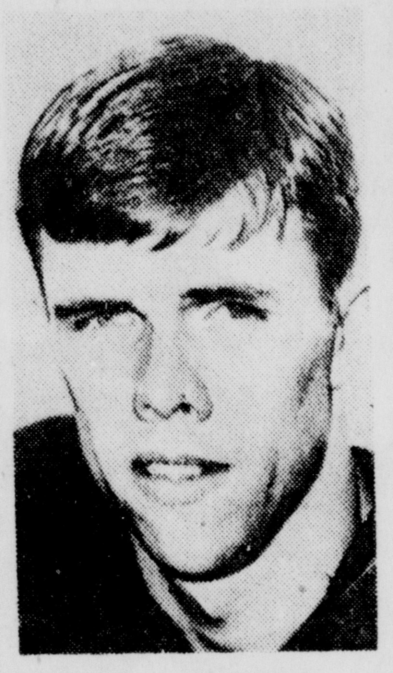
Daly City Man Heads Loch Lomond Y.C.

Bob Montgomery of Daly City, long-time leading figure in west coast yachting activities, has been elected commodore of San Rafael's Loch Lomond Yacht Club for 1970. He succeeds Dr. Bill Malin of San Rafael.

Other officers elected for the new year are Dr. Jack Peetz, Corte Madera, vice commodore; Dr. Al Harris, San Rafael, rear commodore; Jim Howard, San Rafael, secretary; Loren Litman, San Rafael, treasurer; Bill Radford, San Rafael, port captain; Andre Bjornskov, Greenbrae, fleet captain sail; and Bob Ryan, San Rafael fleet captain power.



VIRGIL CARTER
$1,000 Loss

Halas Slaps Huge Fine On Carter

CHICAGO (AP) — Discontentment, dissension, disenchantment—call it what you will—but it all seems to be surfacing for the Chicago Bears in the wake of charges against the club by quarterback Virgil Carter, who has been slapped with a $1,000 fine.

Carter, the usually soft-spoken Mormon from Brigham Young, sounded off after being lifted at halftime of Sunday's game with the Green Bay Packers and replaced by rookie quarterback Bobby Douglass.

The Bears lost their 12th National Football League game in 13 starts as the Packers scored all their points in the third quarter for a 21-3 victory.

SOUNDS OFF

Carter fumed that Coach Jim Dooley "didn't have the guts" to tell him why he was taken out, called Dooley a liar and demanded to be traded.

"They've been threatening to trade away a bunch of players and I'm making it easy for them — I'm volunteering," snapped Carter, who is in his sophomore year with the Bears.

"I told Virgil," said Halas, "that when he mentions he wants to be traded or play out his option, or his troubles with Dooley, that's one thing. But when he says he wants to play out his option and hopes that the chicken management won't stand in his way, that's something else. I told him, 'Now you are in my bailiwick and you are being fined $1,000' for conduct detrimental to the ball club."

BIGGEST FINE

"Carter said, 'You can't do that.' I said, it's being done.

"It's the biggest fine I've ever made against a player for this type of thing. The money will be turned over to the Crusade of Mercy fund."

Carter was not available for comment after the fine.

Halas said Carter seems to be under "the dire influence of someone who has caused a wholesale change in his character."

Dooley said that "anything particular I have to say to Virgil or the team will be done as a group and at an appropriate time."

Dooley added that it was a "coaches decision" to bench Carter.

6½ GAMES

"He has played 6½ games in two years and all of a sudden he is quesioning the coaching staff," said Dooley.

Two hours after the announcement of Carter's fine,a "Dollars for Virgil" drive sprung up in Chicago.

Marin Semi-Pro Quintet In S.F. League Playoffs

Paradise Pharmacy of Corte Madera will be the lone Marin County entry in the annual Potrero Class A Invitational Basketball League playoffs, and the Marin semi-pro team will be trying to get a crack at all the marbles tomorrow in San Francisco.

The Marin entry finished second in regular season play in a league stocked by five teams from San Francisco, and two from Oakland.

Tomorrow's game, which will be played at Potrero Hill Recreation in San Francisco at 7:30 p.m., could give Paradise Pharmacy the playoff title and one point. Two points are needed to win the overall title.

Chiefs, Raiders Playoff Picks

LAS VEGAS (UPI)—Kansas City was made a three-point favorite by oddsmakers yesterday over the New York Jets in Saturday's American Football League playoff game at New York.

The Oakland Raiders were favored by 13 to beat the Houston Oilers in Sunday's other AFL inter-division contest at Oakland.

Santa Clara, Pacific Quints Get Stiff Tests This Week

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Santa Clara and the University of the Pacific, two of the highest-riding Nothern California basketball teams at the moment, may find out just how good their squads are in the near future.

Santa Clara, which won its third straight Cable Car Classic title Saturday in running its unbeaten string to four, visits Houston tomorrow and Oklahoma City Thursday.

UOP, 4-1 after a successful road trip, hosts always - tough Portland Thursday.

LAUDS DEFENSE

"We were extremely happy to win the tournament again," said Santa Clara's Dick Garibaldi before his club, ranked No. 11 in the country, left on its road trip. "Our defense carried us to both wins. Our offense needs to show improvement."

Pacific's Dick Edwards, whose club beat Seattle on the road and lost by two points to highly regarded Drake, said, "I think we've improved in every game we have played. We've played some excellent basketball in spurts and kept the pressure on when we needed to."

The Northern California Basketball Writers named Santa Clara's Dennis Awtrey and Pacific's Bill Stricker as players of the week. Awtrey is averaging 18.5 points and 16.2 rebounds a game. Stricker is averaging 24.2 points.

IMPROVING

California's Jim Padget, whose team is 3-2 after beating Army and losing to Santa Clara in the Cable Car tournament, said,"Our defense is improving, which is a must if we're going to compete in the Pacific-8."

The Bears are on their final-exam break and next play New Mexico at home. Stanford, 1-3, is also taking time out for exams and next plays St. John's of New York next Monday and UC Santa Barbara on Tuesday.

USF's Phil Vukecevick, whose team is 3-2 after losing to Army and Santa Clara, blamed the losses on dry shooting spells.

"We went 11 minutes without a field goal against Army," the USF coach said. "I think we are a better shooting team. We just have to be more selective in our shots."

The Dons next play Utah in the Utah Classic Friday night. Bradley and Michigan State are the other teams in the tournament.

Mike Cimino, St. Mary's coach, said he was puzzled by his team's 1-3 record. "We're a better team than the way we've been playing. We're turning the ball over too many times and we're shooting poorly."

St. Mary's starts a tough road trip this week, playing DePaul tomorrow, Miami Friday and St. Francis of Pennesylvania next Monday.

RAPS OFFICIALS

San Jose's Danny Glines criticized the officiating in his team's dedeats at Brigham Young and Utah over the weekend, but said it probably made no difference in the outcome of the games.

The Spartans, now 1-5, are at Wyoming Friday and at Colorado State next Monday.

Harry Jupiter, co-director of the Cable Car Classic, said the tournament broke even this year and has lined up such teams as Weber State, South Carolina, LaSalle and Duke for the next four years along with USF, Santa Clara and Cal.

Krueger To Return For Another Season

REDWOOD CITY (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers don't know if John Brodie will start at quarterback against Philadelphia on Sunday, but they know veteran defensive tackle Charlie Krueger will be back next year.

Coach Dick Nolan said yesterday that Kreuger, 32, had said a year ago he might retire. But the 49ers convinced him to stay and he's done so well he plans to return next year, Nolan noted.

Krueger has been on the field for every single defensive play this year.

Nolan also reported he was pleased with Steve Spurrier's performance in last Sunday's 10-7 defeat at Minnesota, but that it's too early to tell whether Brodie or Spurrier will start next Sunday.

Spurrier has completed 74 of 129 passes for 849 yards and a 57.3 percentage while filling in for Brodie, who has been nursing a sore elbow.

FOOTBALL

NEW ORLEANS — Billy Kilmer, quarterback for the New Orleans Saints, rested in a hospital today. A Saints' spokesman said the exact nature of Kilmer's ailment won't be known until after a series of tests today.

BALTIMORE — Lenny Lyles, 12-year veteran of the Baltimore Colts announced he will retire at the end of the 1969 National Football League season.

INDIANAPOLIS — The Continental Football League revoked the franchises of the Omaha Mustangs, the Ohio Valley Ironmen and the Chicago Owls.

BASEBALL

LOS ANGELES — Jim Barbiere and John Miller of Spokane, of the Pacific Coast League have signed contracts to play for the Chunichi Dragons in Nagoya, Japan.

CINCINNATI — The Cincinnati Reds traded pitcher Gerry Arrige to the Chicago White Sox for outfielder Angel Bravo.

It Hurts When Rohde Looks Back On Season

Next Sunday's 49ers-Philadelphia Eagles contest in San Francisco is a nothing game. A zero. Both teams are among the National Football League's also-rans and they'll be left wanting when Santa Rozelle fills stockings at season's end.

But, the loser of this Nothing Bowl stands to profit in one respect. That's the annual player draft in which teams with the worst records select higher in the grab bag.

Thus, wouldn't it be better for the 49ers to lose next Sunday since nothing else is at stake?

"I couldn't care less about the draft. I don't care if they ever draft a player. We just want to win. Right now I'd like to go kick hell out of the Eagles just for spite."

Len Rohde, offensive tackle for the 49ers, thus summed up his team's attitude for the Marin Boosters Club yesterday as he and guard Elmer Collett and tight end Bob Windsor discussed a variety of pro grid topics over lunch following Sunday's 10-7 loss to Minnesota.

Rohde, with 10 years of hash marks on his professional armor, fairly bristles when he looks back over the 1969 season in which the 49ers started with a promise and wound up with not so much as a peck on the cheek.

It Started Very Early

"I'm sick," he said. "I look at our personnel and statistics and it makes me sick to see where we are. It all started in our first exhibition game against Cleveland when we dominated the game and mistakes beat us. That typifies our season. Yesterday I felt we could have beaten Minnesota easily and still weren't playing our best. I don't know. I feel hollow."

He added that key injuries on defense had a lot to do with San Francisco's collapse. "That hurts with a defense as complex as ours," he said. "The top teams like Minnesota, Dallas and Oakland didn't hurt as much on defense. Maybe the breaks will go our way next year."

Incredible playing conditions in snow-bound Minnesota Sunday came up for discussion. Rohde said Minnesota's famous Fearsome Foursome defensive line is "probably the best in the league but the conditions didn't afford them the opportunity to maximize their ability."

Collett, who grew up around Mill Valley and Stinson Beach, said playing in a blizzard for the first time was an "interesting experience," adding, "Oh, I'd been to Squaw Valley one weekend and last year got to throw some snow balls on Mount Tamalpais, but nothing like this. You just can't run. And trying to block is ridiculous."

Caught Holding Twice

The barrel-chested, physical culturist who attended Tam High was whistled down twice for holding Sunday. He said he was a marked man because a defensive player "notified the ref that I was possibly holding. I hadn't been called for holding on a running block all year, so to be called twice in one game is ridiculous. It was just an honest slip and an honest grab."

Charles Elmer also said 1969 has been "a hard, frustrating season and it gets a little harder each game to get up the old vim and vigor."

Officiating in Sunday's game came under discussion, particularly on a crucial fumble by 49er Doug Cunningham that killed a 49er goalward drive. "The ref blew the play dead before the fumble," noted Windsor, "but another ref came up and said Doug fumbled before the whistle and talked him out of it. Obnoxious might be a strong word, but I think it fits them. I think they were Central Division refs."

"We have specials for every game," chuckled Windsor, "and hadn't played Atlanta for nine games. Nobody knew what he was talking about and here was poor Kwalick trying to explain the patterns with about seven seconds to go. Finally, Spurrier just winged it as far as he could downfield hoping somebody would get it." It was intercepted. It's now called the "Minnesota Special."

Windsor 'Running Scared'

Windsor said the presence of Kwalick, the heralded No. 1 draft choice, behind him had a lot to do with his great season. "I was fortunate to start off real well and Ted was late getting to camp. You might say I've been running scared," he said.

Asked to compare Los Angeles and Minnesota for their NFL divisional title game Dec. 27, Collett said: "Well, I judge teams by their defensive lines and their team unity and I'd say it's pretty much of a tossup."

Rohde added: "Winning is contagious. If L.A. loses next week then the Rams will be in trouble. They'll have trouble getting up."

The 49er Boosters will have their final regular meeting of the season next Monday noon at Dominic's Restaurant in San Rafael. Guests will be team physician, Dr. Lloyd Milburn; player personnel director, Lynn O. "Pappy" Waldorf, and an assistant coach, according to program director Dave Scofield.

Soccer Win For Redwood

Carter Ingram scored three goals yesterday to lead Redwood High School to an 8-3 victory over Novato in the makeup of a Marin County Athletic League soccer match that was postponed from last week due to wet grounds.

The victory pushed Redwood back into a first place tie with San Marin, each team with four victories, one loss and three ties.

Two goals each by Jon Broderick and Francis Kelonzo and one by Anders Carlsson completed Redwood's scoring. Novato's scoring came on two goals by Jim Nissen and one by his brother, Bob.

Big Week For Drake's Carl Brown

By GARY TISCHLER

Last week was the week that was for Carl "Red" Brown, educator, board of education member, coach and tournament director.

Even on a normal basis, it would have been a hectic week, what with his coaching duties as Drake High School basketball mentor. His team was one of the entries in the annual Drake Invitational Tournament, which Brown also directed and nurtured.

But that was also the week in which Brown delivered a long and impressive blast at today's permissive society in an address read to the San Rafael Board of Education. It was Brown pouring his philosophical heart out at long last about something which had been building up for a long time.

AS A RESULT of the speech and its publicity in the Independent-Journal the following day (Wednesday), things have not been quite the same for Brown.

The speech was brought on by Brown's growing concern over the lack of discipline among students, permissiveness among teachers and it turned out to be, as Brown admits, a member of the so-called silent majority speaking out forcefully. And he apparently was heard loud and clear.

"The response has been amazing," Brown said. "And it's all been favorable. I've gotten about 70 letters plus phone calls every night."

BROWN'S WIFE, Kelma, has had to take the brunt of the well-wishers and callers.

"She's really beginning to become unglued," Brown said. "But she'll survive. She always has. She didn't even have time to cook."

With Brown busy at the tournament Wednesday through Saturday, Mrs. Brown was the only one around to handle the phone until Brown got home from the tournament.

"We've gotten about 30 to 40 calls," he said. "Things like 'Don't let it stop here,' 'God bless you' and one from an Italian who said that it's about time an American spoke out."

IN THE MEANTIME, Brown has coached (his team lost three games in the tournament), and has taken care of the loose ends (supplying towels, first aid, lockers, equipment and coffee for the press) at the tournament.

"It hasn't affected any of these things, my coaching or the tournament," he said. "There has been comment from the students, but none of my players said anything. Not a word."

Brown feels his interest on the subject of the speech acutely. As a member of the board, as a coach, as a teacher and an individual, he overlaps himself in all areas. But he doesn't, as yet, plan to do anything further, such as speaking engagements.

"We'll just have to play it by ear," he said.

THE MARIN COUNTY Athletic League water polo race is still tight and furious. Terra Linda remained unbeaten last week, blasting San Marin 18-6, as Steve Bator scored six goals and Pat Ellington five. And Redwood, now 4-1, downed San Rafael, 15-4.

Ellington, incidentally, has really been going to town. He's scored 39 goals in six league games, an average of almost seven a game.

THE MCAL girls' gymnastic season is set to start Jan. 10 with the Marin County Compulsory meet at Drake High School.

There will be seven schools participating this season with 30 girls on each squad.

Wells Surgery Postponed

OAKLAND (AP)—Way back last September, in their first American Football League game of the season, the Oakland Raiders had to struggle from behind to beat the Houston Oilers 21-17.

The Raiders have come a long way since then, rolling to a 12-1-1 mark and their third straight AFL Western Division title.

FAVORITE

The Oilers, meanwhile, posted a season record of 6-6-2, which should make Oakland a big favorite when the two teams meet here Sunday in a playoff game.

The Raiders had a schedule break early in the season, playing the relatively weaker teams first, and their coaching staff was able to bring them along slowly.

By the time they met Kansas City and New York, they had ironed all the bugs out of their system.

It would appear that the Raiders' luck has held as they get the less-impressive Oilers while the Chiefs and Jets struggle to knock each other off in another playoff game.

THE BOMB

Ironically, it was a 64-yard touchdown pass from Daryle Lamonica to Warren Wells late in the game that enabled the Raiders to overcome the Oilers in that first game.

Wells is definitely out of this one. The league leader in touchdown receptions with 14 suffered a shoulder separation last week against the Chiefs and for a while it appeared he would have to undergo surgery.

That apparently won't be necessary, according to Raider Coach John Madden, who is obviously hoping that Wells might be ready if the Raiders get into the title game here Jan. 4.

WILL HURT

The Raiders' chief offensive weapon is the touchdown pass, often the long bomb, and any prolonged loss of Wells is bound to hurt that eventually.

Not only is Wells unsurpassed in getting downfield, he also has the kind of moves that often leave him all alone in the end zone to wait for Lamonica's bombs to drop while would-be defenders are, picking themselves up off the turf.

If the opposition double-teams Wells, that leaves Fred Biletnikoff open. Though not as fast as Wells, Biletnikoff has the same moves and is, if anything, better at catching the ball in a crowd. He has 12 touchdown receptions this year, second to Wells in the AFL.

Madden, who watched the Oilers beat Boston on television Sunday, said: "They ran the ball well. When they have Hoyle Granger in there, he's a good runner, and Woody Campbell has stepped in well after returning from the service."

Seals Get Howie Menard

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Seals, hoping to add some aggressiveness to their forward line, have acquired Chicago Black Hawks' center Howie Menard in exchange for forward Gene Ubriaco.

"Menard is an aggressive hard-working center whose forechecking has been a strongpoint during his career," said Seals' General Manager Frank Selke. "The trade does not solve our problems but we believe his scrappy play will help turn our club around."

The Seals, 7-16-4, are in fifth place in the National Hockey League's West Division.

Menard, 27, has scored two goals and has three assists this season. Ubriaco, who will be 32 next week, scored 19 goals last season, but has seen limited action this year and has one goal and an assist.

Cain's Tires defeated Rejects 53-44 and Kettle downed Sausalito Pharmacy 54-43 last night in the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department's adult basketball league.

Grand Jury Indicts Three In New York Boxing Probe

NEW YORK (AP) — Chief Asst. Dist. Atty. Alfred J. Scotti announced today a grand jury had returned three indictments in an investigation of corruption in professional boxing.

Named in indictments were light heavyweight boxer Frankie DePaula, 29, of Jersey City, N.J.; Joseph "Joe Carlo" Calabro, 44, Brooklyn, N.Y. and James "Jimmy Nap" Napoli, Scotti said.

Scotti said the grand jury, meeting in June, was probing alleged sports bribe-receiving, grand larceny by extortion, criminal usury (loan sharking) and promoting gambling.

The indictments, however, specified only perjury in the case of DePaula and perjury and criminal contempt in the case of Calabro and Napoli.

DePaula and his manager, Gary Garafola, were suspended by Edwin Dooley, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission after they were called into an investigation of boxing corruption last May, but DePaula won court permission to fight again.

The probe, has been conducted in near-secrecy by the District Attorney's office since its inception last May after the Dick Tiger—Nino Benventi bout. Both Tiger and Benvenuti were called to testify.

Speculation about a possible crackdown intensified last Friday night after Teddy Brenner, matchmaker for Madison Square Garden, was supoenaed to testify before next month's grand jury.

Tomales High Withdraws From Tourney

Once one of the most promising basketball teams in the area, the Tomales High School Braves, riddled by injuries and suspensions, have withdrawn from the Rose City Invitational Tournament at Cardinal Newman High, near Santa Rosa, scheduled this week.

Coach Davis Danielson's team is without six top ball players, including 6-foot-7 center Bob Dixon, who averaged 27.3 points per game last year. Dixon was among the three players suspended and prospective starters Ron Petroni, Dennis Rodoni and Mike Velloza are out nursing football injuries.

Tomales will be replaced in the tournament by Eureka High School.

THREE AT HOME

Busy Slate For Marin

College of Marin's basketball team, the new champion of its own invitational tournament, gets its reward this week.

Four ballgames in five days. And a Merry Christmas to you, too!

Actually, nobody is trying to torture the tired Tars. The whole thing is a slight scheduling mixup that couldn't be avoided.

"Three games I wouldn't mind," Tar coach John Panagakis said. "But four, that's a little too much."

'TOO MUCH'

The Tars, now 4-3, after winning three straight games and the title in their own tournament last week, go to Fremont to play Ohlone College tonight at 8 o'clock. Tomorrow, they host Napa at 8 p.m. Thursday, they can stay home and rest. Friday, Yuba College is in Kentfield for an 8 p.m. game, and Cabrillo College visits Kentfield Saturday night at 8 o'clock. And Sunday will eventually come around.

The worst may be yet to come, but the Tars and Panagakis are still basking in the afterglow of winning, for the first time, their own tournament, a feat that will surely give them a shot in the arm.

"This is definitely a boost for us," Panagakis said. "That was really great. They just really performed well. They were tired, but what a fine group of kids."

The big turnabout, which saw the Tars lose three of their first four games only to win three in a row in the tournament, may help them in the long week ahead.

Ohlone is reportedly improved over past seasons. Napa and Yuba both played in the COM tournament, with little success while Cabrillo is reportedly big and tall with a front line running 6-8, 6-6 and 6-5.

"I know it will be hard to get up for some of these games, like Napa and Yuba," Panagakis said. "But on any night, they can knock you off."

South Africa Tennis Group Welcomes Ashe

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa, (AP) — Arthur Ashe, the American Negro tennis star, wants to play tennis not politics in South Africa, believes Alf Chalmers, president of the South African Lawn Tennis Union.

He said, "I think Arthur Ashe wants to come to South Africa to play tennis. From what I have seen of him he is quite a decent chap.

"The things he is reported to have said may have been exaggerated and misquoted," he added. "This could easily have happened."

Chalmers said the union was unanimous in its decision to allow Ashe to play in the South African Championships. "He is a great tennis player. As such we have no objections."

Chalmers said his organization had received a lengthy letter from the U.S. association which stated that Ashe was such an outstanding player he should be accepted to compete in the championships. He added that the Union was quite happy to allow him to play in the national championships in Johannesburg next year. It was now up to Ashe to get his visa in New York.

Market Drop Hits Mutual Fund Holder

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Last March we invested most of our life's saving in three funds, Founders, Gryphon and Puritan. Should we take our loss — which is large — and put our money in the bank? — L.A.

A. It is easy for a counselor to dispense words of encouragement. But for the individual faced with a sizable shrinkage of his hard-earned capital, patience and optimism are hard to muster. Yet reviewing past performance in your three holdings, there is every reason to believe that with an improved market atmosphere you will see recovery in these three mutual funds.

The largest, Puritan, has 69 per cent of its $825 million assets invested in about 200 different common stocks. Bonds, preferreds, cash and short-term notes constitute the balance. A $10,000 investment made in January, 1959, with all distributions reinvested would have tripled by the end of last year.

A similar investment in Gryphon, founded in April 1963, tripled by the end of 1968 — less than six years. Also the most speculative of the three, Gryphon has shown the sharpest decline this year.

Founders, a more conservative growth-income fund, appreciated 135 per cent in the same 10-year period.

Q. How would you compare Philadelphia Electric 8s of 1975 and Tennessee Valley Authority 8s of 1974 as to safety and retention of market value? — W.J.

A. The safety factor of these two short-term noncallable bonds is the same, both are rated Aaa by Moody's. Interest on the TVA power bonds is exempt from local and state taxes. Price has moved as high as 105-⅝ since this bond was offered to the public at 101 to yield 7.75 per cent to maturity. Philadelphia Electric's first and refunding mortgage bonds came out in mid-August and subsequently reached 104. These now trade at about the same premium as the TVA bond.

In choosing, you must balance the relative advantages of the extra year to maturity for Philadelphia Electric 8s against the tax-exempt feature of the TVA 8s.

AKRON (UPI) — Firestone Coated Fabrics Co., a division of Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., has formed a new division to manufacture hydraulic linings for water, sewage, and pollution control. The linings have a variety of applications ranging from small reservoirs to golf course water hazards.

Stock Market In Second Day Decline

Volume amounted to around 11,500,000 shares slightly above yesterday's pace.

Among the most active issues were Chrysler, International Telephone and American Telephane. ITT was down ⅝ in late trading. Chrysler closed at 32⅛, off 2⅛, and AT&T closed off ⅝ at 49⅝.

A highlight of the day's activity was a block of 397,200 shares of Chrysler changing hands at 32, down 2¼ from Monday's close. The transaction was handled on both sides—for institutions—by Salomon Bros. & Hutzler.

ITT said it would make a public tender offer to Hartford Fire Insurance Co. after the Connecticut insurance commissioner blocked the proposed merger last weekend.

Other heavily traded stocks included Occidental, Gulf - Oil, Texaco, Litton, Skyline, Polaroid and General Electric. Texaco closed up 1-8 at 29 1-8. Before the close, Occidental was up 1-2, Gulf Oil up 7-8, Litton down 2 1-2 and Polaroid off 3-4.

Electronics were mostly lower, as were most motors, oils, airlines and rails. Steels and chemicals traded narrowly.

Computer Plan

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Girard Co., holding company for Girard Trust Bank, has agreed in principle to buy an interest in National Computer Analysts, Inc., of Princeton, N.J. Terms were not disclosed.

Construction Picture Brighter Last Month

Marin County construction picked up in November, with a total value of $5,808,673 in building permits, according to figures from the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau.

This was a mighty jump from the year-ago November total of $3,036,669 and about 10 per cent higher than this year's October figures. About 44 per cent of this November's permits were for residential construction and 39 per cent commercial.

San Rafael incorporated and incorporated areas led with $2,659,837 in total permits, of which $1,877,425 was commercial — mostly in the Northgate area. Larkspur was in second place with a total of $1,057,500, almost all residential. Novato totaled out at $322,580 for its incorporated and unincorporated areas, $270,000 of this residential.

Sausalito's $372,300 was 53-per cent residential and almost all of Mill Valley's incorporated and unincorporated total of $485,888 was residential. Corte Madera's $216,570 was heavier on the commercial side and Tiburon, incorporated and unincorporated, had most of its $161,770 in residential construction.

Greenbrae and Kentfield totaled $128,000 with $75,000 of this residential. Fairfax with $103,400 had nearly all residential construction. Incorporated Belvedere's total of $40,562 was all miscellaneous permits as was the Ross total of $6,000. San Anselmo's $36,566 was two-thirds residential.

In west Marin, the $145,900 total was over 64 per cent residential and in all other unincorporated areas a total of $71,800 was mostly for miscellaneous permits.

November Bank Clearings Up

Marin County bank clearings for November were up from 1968 figures, continuing a trend which has existed throughout the year.

The Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco reported unadjusted debits of $223,491,000, compared with $195,556,000 during November of last year. Unadjusted deposits rose from $101,376,000 a year ago to $102,572,000.

Seasonally adjusted debits, deposits and turnover ratios are not yet reported for Marin County.

Giant Subs For Alaskan Oil Proposed

NEW YORK UPI) — General Dynamics Corp. made its formal bid today for support for its project to build nuclear powered submarine tankers to haul oil from Alaska's artic slope.

Roger Lewis, General Dynamics president, said the company whose electric boat division at Groton, Conn., is the free world's major builder of submarines, has made extensive feasibility and cost studies and is convinced the submarine ultimately will be needed for all-year transport of Alaska's arctic oil.

General Dynamics envisions a submarine 900 feet long, weighing a total fo 250,000 tons and capable of hauling 170,000 tons of oil. She could be loaded either on the surface of the sea or while lying submerged off Alaska Prudhoe Bay. She could traverse the Northwest Passage in midwinter by sailing under the ice where the water has a steady 28-degree temperature. She would be immune to surface storms as well as to the ice.

General Dynamics submitted its proposal to Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), Atlantic Richfield, Mobil Oil, Standard Oil (Ohio) and Phillips Petroleum, all of which have large stakes in Alaskan artic oil. Lewis said delivery schedules and cost proposals were made for a fleet of six of the submarine tankers.

Even though the underwater tanker would cost considerably more to build than an ice-breaking surface tanker of comparable size, Lewis said it would achieve substantially lower costs in moving oil year round from Alaska to the east coast of the United States.

Lewis also said the studies showed General Dynamics could build a nuclear-powered tanker of up to 300,000 tons capacity. The tanker sub could not be built in electric boat's Broton yard but would have to be built at General Dynamics large shipyards at Quincy, Mass.

When the experimental ice-breaking tanker Manhattan returned from her epochal voyage through the Northwest Passage this fall, chairman M. A. Wright of Esso's Humble division told a news conference the oil companies definitely are interested in the possibility of using submarine tankers. He said their main concern is how soon General Dynamics would be able to build the craft.

Coast Guard officers at the conference raised the question of whether the water under the ice is deep enough along the whole route for safe navigation of such a huge submarine since the craft would measure 85 feet from keel to top of her conning tower. But a General Dynamics' spokesman said: "There is plenty of water under the ice.

"General Dynamics' position is that both surface tankers and submarines, and probably pipelines as well, will be needed to haul arctic oil, he said. "We also believe the big flow will not start for five years which leaves plenty of time to build submarine tankers."

Strange Case Of The Fish That Grew And Grew And...

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

Other Tall Tales Of Marin Outdoors

Boy! Here we go again! The other day, as I left home, a young fellow named Bob Campagna of San Geronimo Valley stopped me. He wanted to know if all the stories I write are true? Now that's some question.

Here are some of the problems I have to cope with:

Last week I really caught a 90-pound sturgeon. I brought it home, actually weighed the thing, filleted it out, and then decided to bait some fisherman. So, I took it up to Millerton Point on Tomales Bay where I placed it along the shore line, figuring the birds, crabs and other fish would soon dispose of it, but that it would shake up the fisherman there, too.

Later that day, a number of fishermen on Tomales Bay noticed the fish and the stories and the action started!

Marty Medin of Woodacre, who fishes Tomales often and keeps up on things, came by the house and told me about Dave Plant of Inverness helping some angler land a monster sturgeon at Millerton Point, then filleting the fish out right on the spot. He also described the stomach contents of this fish as containing three ghost shrimp and two rock crabs. The stimated weight was 150 pounds! All this is very interesting to me.

The following morning LeRoy Martinelli of Pt. Reyes told me the same tale, adding that some of the fellows from the Silver Dollar Bar at Pt. Reyes Station went down and picked up this carcass, and brought it up to the bar. Measurements and educated guesses were flowing all over the place as well as the other choice drinks served there. This fish by now had almost reached the 200-POUND class.

Later that day, I was telling Sonny Cheda of Pt. Reyes about the unusual growth of this fish, when along came Lefty Arndt, another local, who is a former commercial fisherman, a good sports fisherman, and a very honest and sincere guy.

Good Nite, he started to tell Sonny and me about this same sturgeon. He said he personally measured it and that it was slightly over eight feet long. (I know by tape measure that it measured six feet, three inches in length.)

Now I'm reporting these stories as they come in, so you can see if I didn't know about this particular fish, I would be reporting to you that an eight-foot sturgeon weighing over 200 pounds was taken off Millerton Point this past week.

There's only one answer to all this: Fish when removed from the water must begin to grow and take on weight, so from here on out it might be a good idea to subtract one-half of the reported weight, then you should have the true size of the fish before it was taken out of the water, and before this phenomenal growth takes place.

Other interesting events reported were:

Waldo Giacomini of Pt. Reyes shot a four and one-half pound mallard, Pete Valconesi of Pt. Reyes say a 30-pound silver salmon jump off Inverness (the record California Silver weighed 22 pounds); Bill Thompson of Inverness caught a 236-pound black marlin in Mexico this past week and his wife is now reporting that it now weighs 240 pounds and growing; four anglers checked at White House Pool said they had four steelhead, but when I looked at the fish they had all turned into silver salmon (silver salmon have a black mouth and tongue; steelhead have a pure white mouth and tongue); also Bruce Daniels, the Pt. Reyes Veterinarian said he had the biggest strike ever at White House Pool; and I personally saw Mike McLean, the constable, jerk his line when Bruce wasn't looking, though I will admit the man's reaction caused the tears to come to my eyes from laughing (It's impossible to describe this event.) Now you wouldn't call all these fisherman and hunters liars would you? So, to answer Mr. Campagna, certainly, all my stories are true.

At White House Pool at Pt. Reyes Station, the rain caused the salmon to move in from the bay, so the action was fair. Lots of fish jumping with probably 20 to 30 taken the last three days. A few steelhead were also taken.

The new hot lure has been a Meps Gold Comet No. 3. Most of the fish weighed 16-pounds. (Subtract one-half for true weights.)

John Ball Jr., aged 13, and Bobby Bunce, 9, pooled their talents to land a nice fish. Both these kids knew their fish was a salmon and they let me estimate the weight. In the water it weighed three pounds.

Over the weekend at Tomales Bay, checked one Brant (about 300 are in up there) with mixed limits of sprig, wigeon and bluebills. Generally the skullers did the best.

Striper fishing should pick up in Tomales off Inverness with the rains. George Smith of Inverness is now leading the Inverness derby with a 26-pound fish. George trolls by rowing and seems to have far better luck than the anglers using motors.

And San Pablo should now improve striper, sturgeon and flounder wise with the rough fish gone. Let's go get em!

Harry Hidekawa of San Francisco took a 115-pound sturgeon. And good numbers of flounder to five pounds were also caught.

TAPES AND BANDAGES

Warriors Host Seattle Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—It's anybody's guess at the starting lineup when the San Francisco Warriors host the Seattle Supersonics tonight at Civic Auditorium.

The Warriors, riddled by injuries, have had to improvise on offense the last couple of weeks. Yet they have not fallen far behind in the National Basketball Association Western Division race. Their 14-15 record leaves them 4 1-2 games from first place Atlanta.

INJURIES

The Warriors have been without guard Al Attles and forward Jerry Lucas for several weeks. Forward Dave Gambee has been hobbled by a variety of hurts, and forward Joe Ellis has been playing despite the pain of a damaged tendon in the little finger of his shooting hand.

"I don't complain about injuries" says coach George Lee. "Every team has them. But things are getting brutal."

Lee used 6-4 Jeff Mullins at forward last weekend in the Warrior win over Detroit. But Lee says this strategy will work only against teams with small frontline men.

Seattle has big, muscular forwards including Tom Meschery, Bob Boozer and John Tresvant. The Sonics sent Los Angeles to the foul line 47 times Sunday night and lost to the Lakers despite a 45-point effort from center Bob Rule.

"KRule is tough," said Lee. "He tries to take our Nate Thurmond outside, and score with little jumpers and a good hook."

Lee also expects the Sonics to run on the Warriors. Seattle player-coach Len Wilkens leads the NBA in assists.

MESCHERY RETURNS

Tonight's 8 o'clock game marks the first time San Francisco fans get a chance to see former Warrior Meschery this season.

Meschery, while with the Warriors, was known as "the mad Russian." Now he has a thick mustache to go with the nickname.

BASKETBALL

Three Share Marin Prep Point Lead

San Marin's returning one-man show, Redwood's widely-acclaimed forward and the big man at Tamalpais are the top scorers among Marin County Athletic League cagers in non-league fames.

Howard, after a 28-point splurge in an 84-82 loss to Pinole Valley, Saturday took over the scoring lead, average wise, with a 21.3 average on 106 points in five games.

Secor scored 78 points in three games at the Healdsburg Tournament, upping his season total to 124 points in six games for a 20.6 average.

Piro has more points than anybody with 141 markers, good for a 20.1 average over seven games.

The trio make up the 20-point club, since no other cager is near that mark. Best after them is San Rafael guard Bruce Nave with a 16.6 average and San Marin's 6-foot-8 junior Dana Laferriere with a 16.6 average.

Ninteen MCAL cagers are averaging in double figures.

Marin Semi-Pro Quintet In S.F. League Playoffs

Paradise Pharmacy of Corte Madera will be the lone Marin County entry in the annual Potrero Class A Invitational Basketball League playoffs, and the Marin semi-pro team will be trying to get a crack at all the marbles tomorrow in San Francisco.

The Marin entry finished second in regular season play in a league stocked by five teams from San Francisco, and two from Oakland.

Tomorrow's game, which will be played at Potrero Hill Recreation in San Francisco at 7:30 p.m., could give Paradise Pharmacy the playoff title and one point. Two points are needed to win the overall title.

Chiefs, Raiders Playoff Picks

LAS VEGAS (UPI)—Kansas City was made a three-point favorite by oddsmakers yesterday over the New York Jets in Saturday's American Football League playoff game at New York.

The Oakland Raiders were favored by 13 to beat the Houston Oilers in Sunday's other AFL inter-division contest at Oakland.

Halas Slaps Huge Fine On Carter

CHICAGO (AP) — Discontentment, dissension, disenchantment—call it what you will—but it all seems to be surfacing for the Chicago Bears in the wake of charges against the club by quarterback Virgil Carter, who has been slapped with a $1,000 fine.

Carter, the usually soft-spoken Mormon from Brigham Young, sounded off after being lifted at halftime of Sunday's game with the Green Bay Packers and replaced by rookie quarterback Bobby Douglass.

The Bears lost their 12th National Football League game in 13 starts as the Packers scored all their points in the third quarter for a 21-3 victory.

SOUNDS OFF

Carter fumed that Coach Jim Dooley "didn't have the guts" to tell him why he was taken out, called Dooley a liar and demanded to be traded.

"They've been threatening to trade away a bunch of players and I'm making it easy for them — I'm volunteering," snapped Carter, who is in his sophomore year with the Bears.

"I told Virgil," said Halas, "that when he mentions he wants to be traded or play out his option, or his troubles with Dooley, that's one thing. But when he says he wants to play out his option and hopes that the chicken management won't stand in his way, that's something else. I told him, 'Now you are in my bailiwick and you are being fined $1,000' for conduct detrimental to the ball club."

BIGGEST FINE

"Carter said, 'You can't do that.' I said, it's being done.

"It's the biggest fine I've ever made against a player for this type of thing. The money will be turned over to the Crusade of Mercy fund."

Carter was not available for comment after the fine.

Halas said Carter seems to be under "the dire influence of someone who has caused a wholesale change in his character."

Dooley said that "anything particular I have to say to Virgil or the team will be done as a group and at an appropriate time."

Dooley added that it was a "coaches decision" to bench Carter.

6½ GAMES

"He has played 6½ games in two years and all of a sudden he is quesioning the coaching staff," said Dooley.

Two hours after the announcement of Carter's fine, a "Dollars for Virgil" drive sprung up in Chicago.

Santa Clara, Pacific Quints Get Stiff Tests This Week

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Santa Clara and the University of the Pacific, two of the highest-riding Nothern California basketball teams at the moment, may find out just how good their squads are in the near future.

Santa Clara, which won its third straight Cable Car Classic title Saturday in running its unbeaten string to four, visits Houston tomorrow and Oklahoma City Thursday.

UOP, 4-1 after a successful road trip, hosts always - tough Portland Thursday.

LAUDS DEFENSE

"We were extremely happy to win the tournament again," said Santa Clara's Dick Garibaldi before his club, ranked No. 11 in the country, left on its road trip. "Our defense carried us to both wins. Our offense needs to show improvement."

Pacific's Dick Edwards, whose club beat Seattle on the road and lost by two points to highly regarded Drake, said, "I think we've improved in every game we have played. We've played some excellent basketball in spurts and kept the pressure on when we needed to."

The Northern California Basketball Writers named Santa Clara's Dennis Awtrey and Pacific's Bill Stricker as players of the week. Awtrey is averaging 18.5 points and 16.2 rebounds a game. Stricker is averaging 24.2 points.

IMPROVING

California's Jim Padget, whose team is 3-2 after beating Army and losing to Santa Clara in the Cable Car tournament, said, "Our defense is improving, which is a must if we're going to compete in the Pacific-8."

The Bears are on their final-exam break and next play New Mexico at home. Stanford, 1-3, is also taking time out for exams and next plays St. John's of New York next Monday and UC Santa Barbara on Tuesday.

USF's Phil Vukecevick, whose team is 3-2 after losing to Army and Santa Clara, blamed the losses on dry shooting spells.

"We went 11 minutes without a field goal against Army," the USF coach said. "I think we are a better shooting team. We just have to be more selective in our shots."

The Dons next play Utah in the Utah Classic Friday night. Bradley and Michigan State are the other teams in the tournament.

Mike Cimino, St. Mary's coach, said he was puzzled by his team's 1-3 record. "We're a better team than the way we've been playing. We're turning the ball over too many times and we're shooting poorly."

St. Mary's starts a tough road trip this week, playing DePaul tomorrow, Miami Friday and St. Francis of Pennesylvania next Monday.

RAPS OFFICIALS

San Jose's Danny Glines criticized the officiating in his team's dedeats at Brigham Young and Utah over the weekend, but said it probably made no difference in the outcome of the games.

The Spartans, now 1-5, are at Wyoming Friday and at Colorado State next Monday.

Harry Jupiter, co-director of the Cable Car Classic, said the tournament broke even this year and has lined up such teams as Weber State, South Carolina, LaSalle and Duke for the next four years along with USF, Santa Clara and Cal.

Krueger To Return For Another Season

REDWOOD CITY (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers don't know if John Brodie will start at quarterback against Philadelphia on Sunday, but they know veteran defensive tackle Charlie Krueger will be back next year.

Coach Dick Nolan said yesterday that Kreuger, 32, had said a year ago he might retire. But the 49ers convinced him to stay and he's done so well he plans to return next year, Nolan noted.

Krueger has been on the field for every single defensive play this year.

Nolan also reported he was pleased with Steve Spurrier's performance in last Sunday's 10-7 defeat at Minnesota, but that it's too early to tell whether Brodie or Spurrier will start next Sunday.

Spurrier has completed 74 of 129 passes for 849 yards and a 57.3 percentage while filling in for Brodie, who has been nursing a sore elbow.

FOOTBALL

NEW ORLEANS — Billy Kilmer, quarterback for the New Orleans Saints, rested in a hospital today. A Saints' spokesman said the exact nature of Kilmer's ailment won't be known until after a series of tests today.

BALTIMORE — Lenny Lyles, 12-year veteran of the Baltimore Colts announced he will retire at the end of the 1969 National Football League season.

INDIANAPOLIS — The Continental Football League revoked the franchises of the Omaha Mustangs, the Ohio Valley Ironmen and the Chicago Owls.

BASEBALL

LOS ANGELES — Jim Barbiere and John Miller of Spokane, of the Pacific Coast League have signed contracts to play for the Chunichi Dragons in Nagoya, Japan.

CINCINNATI — The Cincinnati Reds traded pitcher Gerry Arrige to the Chicago White Sox for outfielder Angel Bravo.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Market Drop Hits Mutual Fund Holder

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Last March we invested most of our life's saving in three funds, Founders, Gryphon and Puritan. Should we take our loss — which is large — and put our money in the bank? — L.A.

A. It is easy for a counselor to dispense words of encouragement. But for the individual faced with a sizable shrinkage of his hard-earned capital, patience and optimism are hard to muster. Yet reviewing past performance in your three holdings, there is every reason to believe that with an improved market atmosphere you will see recovery in these three mutual funds.

The largest, Puritan, has 69 per cent of its $825 million assets invested in about 200 different common stocks. Bonds, preferreds, cash and short-term notes constitute the balance. A $10,000 investment made in January, 1959, with all distributions reinvested would have tripled by the end of last year.

A similar investment in Gryphon, founded in April 1963, tripled by the end of 1968 — less than six years. Also the most speculative of the three, Gryphon has shown the sharpest decline this year.

Founders, a more conservative growth-income fund, appreciated 135 per cent in the same 10-year period.

Q. How would you compare Philadelphia Electric 8s of 1975 and Tennessee Valley Authority 8s of 1974 as to safety and retention of market value? — W.J.

A. The safety factor of these two short-term noncallable bonds is the same, both are rated Aaa by Moody's. Interest on the TVA power bonds is exempt from local and state taxes. Price has moved as high as 105-⅝ since this bond was offered to the public at 101 to yield 7.75 per cent to maturity. Philadelphia Electric's first and refunding mortgage bonds came out in mid-August and subsequently reached 104. These now trade at about the same premium as the TVA bond.

In choosing, you must balance the relative advantages of the extra year to maturity for Philadelphia Electric 8s against the tax-exempt feature of the TVA 8s.

New Division

AKRON (UPI) — Firestone Coated Fabrics Co., a division of Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., has formed a new division to manufacture hydraulic linings for water, sewage, and pollution control. The linings have a variety of applications ranging from small reservoirs to golf course water hazards.

Stock Market In Second Day Decline

Volume amounted to around 11,500,000 shares slightly above yesterday's pace.

Among the most active issues were Chrysler, International Telephone and American Telephane. ITT was down ⅝ in late trading. Chrysler closed at 32⅛, off 2⅛, and AT&T closed off ⅝ at 49⅝.

A highlight of the day's activity was a block of 397,200 shares of Chrysler changing hands at 32, down 2¼ from Monday's close. The transaction was handled on both sides—for institutions—by Salomon Bros. & Hutzler.

ITT said it would make a public tender offer to Hartford Fire Insurance Co. after the Connecticut insurance commissioner blocked the proposed merger last weekend.

Other heavily traded stocks included Occidental, Gulf-Oil, Texaco, Litton, Skyline, Polaroid and General Electric. Texaco closed up 1-8 at 29 1-8. Before the close, Occidental was up 1-2, Gulf Oil up 7-8, Litton down 2 1-2 and Polaroid off 3-4.

Electronics were mostly lower, as were most motors, oils, airlines and rails. Steels and chemicals traded narrowly.

Computer Plan

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Girard Co., holding company for Girard Trust Bank, has agreed in principle to buy an interest in National Computer Analysts, Inc., of Princeton, N.J. Terms were not disclosed.

Construction Picture Brighter Last Month

Marin County construction picked up in November, with a total value of $5,808,673 in building permits, according to figures from the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau.

This was a mighty jump from the year-ago November total of $3,036,669 and about 10 per cent higher than this year's October figures. About 44 per cent of this November's permits were for residential construction and 39 per cent commercial.

San Rafael incorporated and incorporated areas led with $2,659,837 in total permits, of which $1,877,425 was commercial — mostly in the Northgate area. Larkspur was in second place with a total of $1,057,500, almost all residential. Novato totaled out at $322,580 for its incorporated and unincorporated areas, $270,000 of this residential.

Sausalito's $372,300 was 53-per cent residential and almost all of Mill Valley's incorporated and unincorporated total of $485,888 was residential. Corte Madera's $216,570 was heavier on the commercial side and Tiburon, incorporated and unincorporated, had most of its $161,770 in residential construction.

Greenbrae and Kentfield totaled $128,000 with $75,000 of this residential. Fairfax with $103,400 had nearly all residential construction. Incorporated Belvedere's total of $40,562 was all miscellaneous permits as was the Ross total of $6,000. San Anselmo's $36,566 was two-thirds residential.

In west Marin, the $145,900 total was over 64 per cent residential and in all other unincorporated areas a total of $71,800 was mostly for miscellaneous permits.

November Bank Clearings Up

Marin County bank clearings for November were up from 1968 figures, continuing a trend which has existed throughout the year.

The Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco reported unadjusted debits of $223,491,000, compared with $195,556,000 during November of last year. Unadjusted deposits rose from $101,376,000 a year ago to $102,572,000.

Seasonally adjusted debits, deposits and turnover ratios are not yet reported for Marin County.

Giant Subs For Alaskan Oil Proposed

NEW YORK UPI) — General Dynamics Corp. made its formal bid today for support for its project to build nuclear powered submarine tankers to haul oil from Alaska's artic slope.

Roger Lewis, General Dynamics president, said the company whose electric boat division at Groton, Conn., is the free world's major builder of submarines, has made extensive feasibility and cost studies and is convinced the submarine ultimately will be needed for all-year transport of Alaska's arctic oil.

General Dynamics envisions a submarine 900 feet long, weighing a total fo 250,000 tons and capable of hauling 170,000 tons of oil. She could be loaded either on the surface of the sea or while lying submerged off Alaska Prudhoe Bay. She could traverse the Northwest Passage in midwinter by sailing under the ice where the water has a steady 28-degree temperature. She would be immune to surface storms as well as to the ice.

General Dynamics submitted its proposal to Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), Atlantic Richfield, Mobil Oil, Standard Oil (Ohio) and Phillips Petroleum, all of which have large stakes in Alaskan artic oil. Lewis said delivery schedules and cost proposals were made for a fleet of six of the submarine tankers.

Even though the underwater tanker would cost considerably more to build than an ice-breaking surface tanker of comparable size, Lewis said it would achieve substantially lower costs in moving oil year round from Alaska to the east coast of the United States.

Lewis also said the studies showed General Dynamics could build a nuclear-powered tanker of up to 300,000 tons capacity. The tanker sub could not be built in electric boat's Broton yard but would have to be built at General Dynamics large shipyards at Quincy, Mass.

When the experimental ice-breaking tanker Manhattan returned from her epochal voyage through the Northwest Passage this fall, chairman M. A. Wright of Esso's Humble division told a news conference the oil companies definitely are interested in the possibility of using submarine tankers. He said their main concern is how soon General Dynamics would be able to build the craft.

Coast Guard officers at the conference raised the question of whether the water under the ice is deep enough along the whole route for safe navigation of such a huge submarine since the craft would measure 85 feet from keel to top of her conning tower. But a General Dynamics' spokesman said: "There is plenty of water under the ice.

"General Dynamics' position is that both surface tankers and submarines, and probably pipelines as well, will be needed to haul arctic oil, he said. "We also believe the big flow will not start for five years which leaves plenty of time to build submarine tankers."

For Cash, Stock

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Savage Shoes Division of Interco, Inc., has bought Budmark Converter Co., and Dial Fabrics, both of Montreal, for cash and stock.

We'd rather send you no one.

No one is better than anybody. Anybodies seldom meet your job requirements. They're a waste of your time.

Never sending anybodies has been the Snelling and Snelling policy since we started.

And it's worked.

Who personally interview 50,000 job applicants every month.

Who have one million applicants on active file.

Who successfully place twice as many people as the next largest service.

So it's not often that we have to send you no one.

Snelling & Snelling, the people people.

Column FROM Colleen

HELLO THERE!

Hi......

Well Christmas time is almost here . . . Just a few days left to purchase your last minute Christmas Gifts . . . Disco is your one-stop shopping store for all your needs, family and friends.

For the one person so near and dear to you, the camera section has a complete line. The warm rememberances of the holiday season can be fondly shared with all by purchasing a movie camera and projector from our Disco Camera Department at our special low discount price.

How about a present for the whole family? The comfort of sitting at home on Christmas Day watching the parades and football games on your new color TV. . of course you are lounging in the latest styles of at-home-wear from our clothing departments for men women and children. Oh! We can't forget those warm slippers for the whole family.

How about that toy for that boy or girl who has been extra good this year, our toy department has a large variety ranging from the latest educational games to such things as electric train sets.

Of course Disco has all the tree trimming necessities that you can possible imagine . . There are foil "icicles" to garnish the trees limbs that are tarnish proof as well as flame proof. To light up the tree one could use our indoor replacement bulbs of many assorted colors and shapes.

Happy holiday to everyone and hope to be seeing you in the new year.

NEW COURTROOM HAS FIRST SESSION

The first trial at the new Hall of Justice in Marin's Civic Center commenced this morning before Superior Court Judge Samuel W. Gardiner, who ordered the overhead lights turned off, saying that they were "too much like Hollywood." Panama's Leader Foils Ouster Try

PANAMA (AP) — Brig. Gen. Omar Torrijos, deposed as the strong man of Panama, regained power today with the support of loyal officers and troops of the National Guard.

Torrijos, who took over from a civilian regime 14 months ago, was removed from the top command of the National Guard, and thus the nation's leadership, yesterday while he was on a weekend social visit to Mexico City.

But he returned to the city of David in western Panama early today by plane and immediately won the support of the National Guard garrison there.

Then the National Guard in this capital threw its support to him and reliable sources here said this garrison arrested the two colonels who led the coup against Torrijos. Other garrisons around the country fell into line.

Torrijos' arrival in this capital was reported as imminent.

The two leaders of the coup—Col. Ramiro Silvera and Col. Amada Sanjur—were reported in jail.

There were no immediate reports of casualties, although some shots were heard.

Troops of the elite Tocumen airport garrison on the outskirts of the city took over the headquarters. Witnesses reported that about five truckloads of troops arrived at headquarters in downtown Panama City just before the shooting started.

The return of Torrijos to power came after businessmen in Panama City took the occasion of his ouster to call for a return to civilian rule.

Laird Sees 10 Pct. Cut In Draft Call

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today that draft calls will be reduced next year about 10 per cent because of President Richard M. Nixon's decision to withdraw another 50,000 men from Vietnam by mid-April.

Laird told a news conference a reduction from the planned draft of about 250,000 men next year will be possible because the total strength of U.S. armed forces will be reduced by virtually all of 50,000 being withdrawn from Vietnam over the next four months.

Draft calls already have been slashed heavily as the Nixon administration's "Vietnamization" program moved forward.

GOP Chairman Rogers Heeds Nixon Role Plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon announced personally today that, at his request, Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton of Maryland will remain as Republican national chairman, forsaking a possible Senate bid in 1970.

After Nixon spoke to newsmen, Morton plugged Rep. J. Glenn Beall Jr., and C. Stanley Blair of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's staff as possible alternative Senate candidates to challenge the Democrat incumbent, Joseph D. Tydings.

Nixon said his decision to ask Morton to remain at the helm of the national committee was "a very close one." But he pictured Morton as one of the most outstanding GOP chairmen ever and said he is needed in the post because "he is presenting a positive picture of the Republican Party across the nation."

Morton, who had just met with Nixon, said he felt he and the President had independently reached the same conclusion—that he remain as national chairman.

Concerning Republican chances to defeat Tydings, Morton said:

"It's a winnable seat . . . I think that Glenn Beall in many respects might run stronger than I would."

He said Beall is a younger man, closer in age to Tydings, and bears a name that "is a household word in Maryland."

He said he didn't feel Tydings "has any great franchise."

A six-year veteran of the House, Morton took over as national chairman in 1968.

Continuing Mortgage Rate Spiral Forecast Next Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Preston Martin, chairman of the federal agency that regulates saving and loans associations, predicted today that mortgage rates will rise still further in 1970, but called on consumers to refuse to pay higher costs.

"It's time the consumer got up on his hind feet and said, 'we're not going to pay that rate'," Martin, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, told a news conference.

He said he thought the interest rate on money the FHLBB system advances to savings and loan associations for home lending would go to 8 per cent by August or September 1970. The rate is now 7.25 or 7.5 per cent in different regions.

Although savings and loan association charge 1.5 per cent above that rate, Martin said he did not think market forces would allow them to charge 9.5 per cent for mortgages. But at the same time, he said, there is no indication yet that prospective homeowners are rebelling against rising rates, which have passed 8.5 per cent in some loans.

The associations, he said, will tend to use their savings money—for which they must pay less than 6 per cent—for private homebuilding, reserving the costlier money for higher risk projects such as apartments.

U.S. Pulling Out Of Libyan Base

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has begun the evacuation of the giant Wheelus Air Force Base in Libya, removing equipment and material, the State Department announced Tuesday.

No personnel has been withdrawn as yet though there was "some reduction in personnel" earlier, after Sept. 1 when a military coup ousted the monarchy, State Department press officer Carl Bartch told a news conference.

Libya asked the United States to liquidate the Wheelus base.

Board Votes To Retain School Aide

The Bolinas-Stinson Beach School District board, after meeting for three hours and 47 minutes in closed session, last night decided to retain a popular teacher's aide at Bolinas School after Supt. C. B. Larison reversed an earlier decision to dismiss her.

The board upheld Larison's decision to dismiss a second aide.

The aide, given board backing, Pamela Smith, had been given notice effective tomorrow that she would no longer be employed as a teacher's aid in the district's seventh and eighth grades due to a reorganization of the aide program.

Several parents appeared at a board meeting last week to oppose Miss Smith's dismissal.

With backing from Trustee Jessie Reasoner, the parents insisted that Miss Smith, a student at San Francisco State College, should be allowed to continue as an aide, particularly because of new math programs she has started at the school.

Larison, after restudying the question of Miss Smith's employment, last night recommended to the board that she continue to be employed by the district at the aide salary of $2.50 an hour.

The board went into closed session at 9:28 p.m. yesterday and did not reconvene in open session until 1:15 a.m. today. It then immediately passed a unanimous motion saying a special override tax approved ear-

Pullout Plan Carries Stiff Hanoi Warning

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon is pulling out another 50,000 troops from South Vietnam but over a longer period than he allowed for previous withdrawals, evidently because of the growing possibility of a major new enemy offensive.

Nixon announced his third cutback in a television speech yesterday afternoon. He set April 15, four months from now, as the deadline for removing the 50,000. For his two previous withdrawals he had allowed about three months each.

The President coupled his announcement with a renewed warning to North Vietnam that he will take "strong and effective measures" if he finds that "increased enemy action jeopardizes our remaining forces in Vietnam."

At the same time he said he had received "cautiously optimistic" reports from observers and from U. S. civilian and military leaders in Vietnam. He quoted from a report made to him by one observer, Sir Robert Thompson, a British veteran of anti-Communist warfare in Southeast Asia, who was, Nixon said, earlier pessimistic about the conduct of the war.

"A winning position in the sense of obtaining a just peace (whether negotiated or not) and of maintaining an independent, non-Communist South Vietnam has been achieved but we are not yet through," Nixon quoted Thompson as saying.

Thompson recommended carrying on a "do it yourself" policy for South Vietnam with "continuing U. S. support in the background." The recommendation is in line with Nixon's stated policy.

Nixon did not say he agrees that a "winning position" has been achieved. But White House officials did not quarrel with the assessment.

Nixon said, however, "there is one disturbing new element in the situation:"

"Enemy infiltration has increased substantially. It has not yet reached the point where our military leaders believe the enemy has developed the capability to mount a major offensive, but we are watching the situation closely to see whether it could develop to that extent."

His choice of an April 15 target date to complete the new troop withdrawal, officials said, gives him more flexibility to assess—and if necessary adjust to—a Communist offensive and still meet his withdrawal deadline. His advisers believe that if North Vietnam launches an offensive it will come in the January-March period.

Last June Nixon started the troop withdrawal program with announcement of the removal of 25,000 men by the end of August. In September he said another 35,000 would come out by Dec. 15. Both rounds have been completed. By April 15 the third round should bring the total of removals to 110,000

Demands Service First

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Hikes in Golden Gate Bridge tolls for commuters and buses, approved Friday by bridge district directors were criticized today by Marin County Transit District directors in a unanimous vote urging repeal of all toll hikes until the bridge district has its own transit system in operation.

(Another transit story, page 17.)

Bridge district directors voted to hike the cost of the 25-round trip commute book from $6.50 to $10, effective Dec. 26, and to eliminate the commute book after next June. The net result will be to raise the cost of 25 round trips, ultimately to $12.50 at the current rate of 50 cents per round trip.

NOT DISCUSSED

An erroneous report in San Francisco's Sunday newspaper, claiming the bridge district was going to raise the round-trip toll to $1 for private automobiles, was blasted by Supervisor Michael Wornum as "completely fallacious and irresponsible."

Wornum, a member of the bridge board, said a $1 toll "was neither discussed or intended."

He explained that on Friday he had suggested hiking the commute book cost to $10 "as the best positive action to ensure the fastest possible implementation of public transit to give commuter relief."

AGAINST MOTION

His suggestion for the hike to $10 was amended by San Francisco representatives on the bridge board to include elimination of the books six months later, so Wornum voted against the motion on Friday.

Today, however, he joined in urging repeal by bridge directors of all increases in tolls, including his own suggested $10 ticket book cost.

"Unfortunately, the San Francisco representatives, whose extremists sometimes tend to regard the Marin commuter as an alien form of life, seized the occasion to demand the total elimination of the commuter book," Wornum said.

CURRENT REVENUE

But he added that he "did the right thing, although politically hazardous . . . An immediate increase in current revenue is one of the vital requirements if such transit is to be operational," Wornum said.

"In spite of popular belief in the unlimited wealth of the bridge district," he said, "only $6 million is free of prior legal commitments for implementing a bus, ferry and long-term transit system."

An amendment by Mill Valley Mayor Dean N. Meyer, a member of both the transit and bridge districts, to endorse the

ULTIMATUM ON FAIR

Supervisors Flay Fair-Marin Acts

By WAT TAKESHITA

An angry Marin County Board of Supervisors today gave the Fair-Marin board of directors an ultimatum: Produce now or get out of the auditorium and county fair business.

Supervisor Chairman John F. McInnis laid it on the line, charging the Fair-Marin board with:

1. Failing to make adequate preparations for holding the 1971 Marin County Fair at the Civic Center fairgrounds.
2. Doing nothing so far to raise $500,000 needed to complete the second phase of the news veterans memorial auditorium to make it usable. McInnis said Fair-Marin had promised to complete the second phase without the use of any more county funds but has done nothing to raise the funds.

Harold Stockstad, president of Fair-Marin, replied that Fair-Marin can put on the county fair in 1971 at the Civic Center. On the fund-raising, both Stockstad and Leon Kalimos, executive director of Fair-Marin, declared that long-range goals for further development of the fairgrounds, with additional buildings, must be laid out before major donors will come up with large donations.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss charged that Fair-Marin is concentrating on cultural and other exhibits such as ballet at the expense of the traditional agricultural fair which includes rur-

Reputed Mafia Boss In Gaming Indictment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fifty-five persons, including a reputed leader of the Mafia, have been indicted by a federal grand jury on various criminal charges stemming from interstate gambling activities in New Jersey, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell announced today.

Mitchell said the two sealed indictments, returned yesterday in Newark federal court, included charges of conspiracy to violate racketeering and extortion credit laws.

Simultaneous with Mitchell's announcement, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said FBI agents had already begun rounding up some of the 55 in what he called "the largest series of federal gambling arrests ever conducted" in the area.

Hoover said Samuel Rizzo De Cavalcante, who he said, has been identified as a boss of La Cosa Nostra, was one of those charged in the indictments.

The indictments came after a long investigation by an organized crime strike force of the Justice Department, with FBI agents joining in the probe.

The investigation was coordinated by Asst. Atty. Gen. Will R. Wilson, chief of the department's criminal division and Frederick B. Lacey, the U.S. attorney in Newark.

The indictments charged the individuals with using interstate telephone communications to promote illegal bookmaking activities.

Other charges involved travel in interstate commerce to carry on illegal gambling activities and soliciting information about pending raids from law enforcement officials.

De Cavalcante, 58, of Princeton, N.J., was identified as the owner of Kenworth Corp. of Kenilworth, N.J. He was charged on two counts.

Officials withheld the identities of others charged pending arrest.

Laird Denies Federal Split Over Toxins' Warfare Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today the Army will be allowed to use germs to produce poisonous substances for its chemical weapons arsenal.

Laird said these poisonous materials, called toxins, are considered to be chemical agents and thus are not prohibited under President Richard M. Nixon's recent ban on production of offensive biological weapons.

The defense chief made the point while commenting on a published report that the Pentagon and the State Department differ over whether toxins could be produced under Nixon's limitation on germ weapons.

"There is no disagreement with the Department of State in this area," Laird told a news conference. "There is no disagreement between the President's science adviser and the Department of Defense."

Laird said the administration was agreed on the position that toxins, while a byproduct of germs, fall in the field of chemical agents.

This same position also has been taken, he said, by a 14-nation commission formed to advise the secretary-general of the United Nations on chemical and biological warfare matters.

The New York Times reported that Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, the President's adviser on national security affairs, had instructed

Thieu Backs Cuts; Reds Blast Policy

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu expressed approval today of President Richard M. Nixon's new troop withdrawal plans said South Vietnam's forces are gradually assuming their "increasing share" of the war effort.

North Vietnam rejected the announcement as meaningless. Radio Hanoi said the withdrawal of 50,000 more American troops by April 15 "makes absolutely no progress toward ending the war." It called once again for "complete and unconditional withdrawal of all American aggressor troops."

Thieu said in a communique issued simultaneously with Nixon's televised speech: "This troop replacement, like the two previous replacements, lay within the policy of the government of the Republic of Vietnam to gradually assume its increasing share of the responsibility to defend its country. This troop replacement also lies within the framework of troop replacements for 1970."

"Nixon's Dec. 15 speech," Radio Hanoi said, "clearly shows that he aims to continue the American war of aggression by his despicable policy of Vietnamizing the war—in which he seeks to use Vietnamese to kill other Vietnamese in furtherance of American imperialistic neo-colonialism of our nation."

The 50,000-man withdrawal will raise to 110,000 the number of American troops pulled out of Vietnam since last June and will cut the authorized troop ceiling to 434,000.

The U.S. Command said the decisions on which American units will be pulled out in the new redeployment will be made in the near future by a conference of top officers with Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S. commander in Vietnam.

An hour before Nixon began speaking, the Viet Cong made its first major terrorist attack in Saigon in three months.

Moving in under a volley of covering rifle fire, three terrorists used plastic explosives to blow up the printing plant of an independent, anti-Communist daily newspaper published by Sen. Dang Van Sung. Military spokesmen said six persons were wounded and the terrorists escaped.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Kick The Habit

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — About 2.5 million cigarette smokers kicked the habit between 1966 and 1968, according to a new government survey.

Cigarette smokers of every age and both sexes are quitting, it said. And the number of young people aged 17 to 24 who have never smoked at all is increasing.

The survey was released by the National Center for Health Statistics, which used Census Bureau reports to reach its conclusions.

Moderate Look

PRAGUE — (AP) — The appointment of former communist party chief Alexander Dubcek as Czechoslovak ambassador to Turkey is considered an indication of the growing strength of moderate forces in the party leadership. But it also smacks of a move to keep him from being the focus of public demonstrations.

Dubcek's appointment was announced yesterday.

Coward Honored

LONDON (AP)—Noel Coward turned 70 today and almost 100 stars came out at midnight yesterday to celebrate the event.

The maestro of the London stage was honored by a spectacular birthday reception at the Phoenix Theater as the day began — the high point of a week jam — packed with nothing but Noel.

Some of the biggest names in Britain's theater and movie world stood — many on their seats — to applaud as Coward stepped smiling into the royal box a few minutes after midnight.

The pre-dawn variety show, called "A Talent to Amuse," was devised from Coward's works and a recent biography.

Soviet Industry

MOSCOW — (AP) — The Soviet Union's top economic planner reported today industrial output increased by 7 per cent in 1969, slightly under the 7.3 per cent goal set a year ago.

But Nikolai Baibakov, chiarman of the State Planning Commission, added that the over-all state industrial plan would be fulfilled.

For 1970 he set a more modest goal for industrial production — a 6.3 per cent rise.

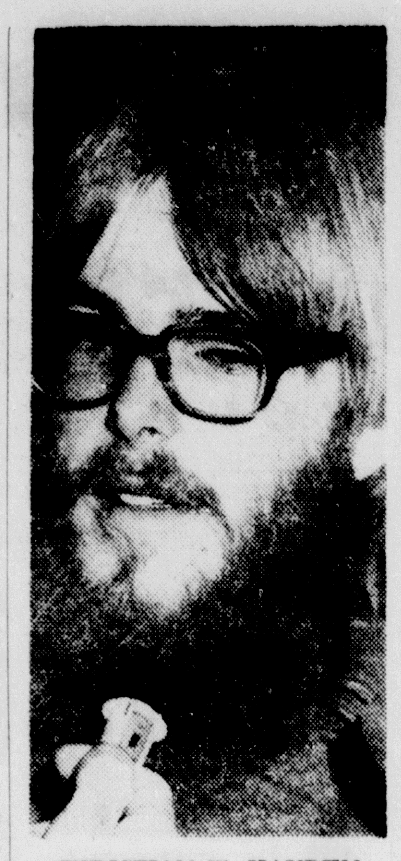
Tests Scheduled On Clothing Near Tate House

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Authorities were to conduct tests today on seven articles of clothing believed stained with blood that were discovered near the Benedict Canyon estate where actress Sharon Tate and four other persons were slain.

Three black T-shirts, one white T-shirt and three pairs of blue jeans were found by a television news crew yesterday and turned over to police.

A spokesman for KABC-TV said the clothing was stained with what appeared to be blood.



CHRISTIAN W. HAYDEN
To appeal conviction

Actor's Son Sentenced On Draft Stand

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Christian W. Hayden, 21, son of actor Sterling Hayden, said he would appeal his conviction on two draft law violations after he was sentenced to three and one-half years in prison yesterday.

Hayden told U.S. District Court Judge Manuel L. Real he intended to appeal the conviction and was granted a stay of execution until tomorrow to file a motion for bond.

Hayden, who acted as his own attorney at the trial, testified he refused to report for induction because he is against fighting and killing and because the Selective Service laws "violate the natural rights and laws of the people."

Just prior to the sentencing, Hayden said, "I would rather spend the rest of my days in jail than make a butchery of my conscience." He was quoting author John Bunyon.

It was the third trial on the charges for Hayden. He was acquitted last year for failure to report for induction because of a procedural error by his draft board. Judge Warren J. Ferguson stated at the time he thought Hayden was a conscientious objector but the board reclassified him 1A.

When Hayden again failed to report, he was tried Nov. 4 and a jury returned two guilty verdicts. But when the jurors were polled, one said the verdicts did not reflect her vote and a mistrial was declared.

Hayden's father, a Marine captain during World War II, has said he supports his son's stand.

Christmas Hopes For Tax Reform?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Handlers of the big tax reform bill, after seeing progress made composing House-Senate differences on one major issue and scores of minor ones, held out hope today for a law on the books by Christmas.

A 15 per cent increase in Social Security benefits was nailed down yesterday when the House passed 397-0, separate legislation providing such a boost.

The Senate has included a similar but broader provision in its general tax reform bill.

The big issue to be resolved is an additional Senate provision making a special increase in the minimum payment—from $55 to $100. This makes the Senate version cost about $6.4 billion a year, $2 billion more than the House measure.

The conference committee handling the differing Senate and House tax reform versions has yet to consider the other issue which brought veto threats from President Richard M. Nixin— a increase from $600 to $800 in the personal income tax exemption spread over two years, beginning in 1970.

There have been suggestions the conference might agree on a modified version, combined with tax rate reductions and taking effect later.

But Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, senior Republican member of the House delegation, told newsmen he has doubts about writing future tax reductions into present legislation.

Rep. Wilbur Mills, the Arkansas Democrat who chairs the committee, said he is hopeful the conference can keep up its pace of disposing of detailed provisions. If so, Mills said, it can produce a compromise bill by the end of this week, allowing time for final House and Senate action before Christmas.

Asst. Secretary of the Treasury Edwin S. Cohen, talking with newsmen after the session, said tax collections would be seriously hampered if Congress adjourned before Jan. 1 without completing action on the bill.

Since the income surtax would expire—although the House and Senate separately have voted to extend it six months at 5 per cent—there would be no authority for withholding at present rates, Cohen said. Certain excise taxes extended by both versions of the bill also would drop, he said.

Senators Tie Strings On Combat Troop Cash

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate approved nearly $70 billion for defense, turning aside a last thrust by Safeguard opponents, and banning funds for any U.S. combat troops in Thailand and Laos.

Approved 85-4, the Senate's version setting defense appropriations at $69.3 billion was some $5 billion less than asked by the Pentagon. The House has approved $70 billion. An additional $2 billion for military housing and construction will be covered in other legislation.

Senate galleries were cleared and chamber doors bolted yesterday for debate that led to a ban on using money for "introduction of American ground troops in Laos and Thailand." The vote on this amendment was 73-17 after two hours of secret discussion, only the fifth time since World War II the chamber has been closed.

In the Safeguard debate Republican, Margaret Chase Smith of Maine said, "I am all the more convinced that spending for ABM is a tragic waste of funds and resources." Her amendment to strike out nearly all the $779.4 million for the first phase of Safeguard was defeated 49 to 36.

Oregon Republican Mark Hatfield said the Pentagon has told him the cost for the first phase of ABM had increased $277 million just since last summer.

At this rate of overrun, Hatfield said, the first phase—deployment at two sites only—would reach $13.7 billion by 1976 instead of the $4.18 billion estimated by the Pentagon.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, sponsored the restriction on ground troops finally accepted by the Senate.

The appropriations bill provides $2.2 billion for support of local forces in Vietnam, our allies there, and support for local forces in Laos and Thailand.

Hayakawa In Noisy Session At Columbia

NEW YORK (UPI)—President S. I. Hayakawa of San Francisco State College held his fist in the air before nearly 1,200 Columbia University students last night and said he would finish his speech, even if it took until four o'clock in the morning.

In an apparent roar of approval students applauded, yelled and whistled in the school's McMillian Theater, where Hayakawa, of Mill Valley, spoke on the goals of higher education.

300 PROTESTORS

A crowd of nearly 300 radicals protesting Hayakawa's appearance gathered outside the gates of Columbia, scene of massive student demonstrations and building takeovers in 1967. Hayakawa took a hard line against similar demonstrations at San Francisco State in 1969.

A large contingent of police, including mounted police, the tactical patrol force, and the specially trained special events squad watched the protesters and kept all of them off the sidewalk in front of the theater.

Hayakawa began his speech to both jeers and applause. He was introduced by a student representative as a man specialized in semantics. Some in the crowd laughed and catcalled.

Hayakawa said it appeared by the interjections that students "had been effected by the news media as much as any one."

"You don't look like your TV image, at least not all of you," he said. He also said that "a minority of the student generation, not more than 2 per cent, had been pictured by the news media and middle-aged adolescents in the faculty as representatives of the students generation."

Two Expelled

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — Harvard University has expelled two students and suspended 14 for their part in forcibly confining the dean of the college in his office during a demonstration on Nov. 19, it was announced yesterday.

Of 25 students whose cases were considered, one was acquitted, one was admonished, five were warned and two were placed on probation.

Fifteen of the 25 students were male undergraduates, six were women and four were graduate students. The university did not identify them.

STAN'S

We sell Head skis and give away Head service.

Head does such a great job putting a ski together we don't have to spend much time keeping it together.

But accidents happen. So once in a while we fix one up.

If the damage is accidental and the ski is less than a year old, we either replace it from our own stock or repair it without cost. After the year's up, there's a replacement or repair 5 year warranty, pro-rated by age on all metal skis.

And we can help you out in a lot of small ways, too. Like fixing an edge that doesn't edge correctly. Or filling in a gouge from a sudden rock that came out of nowhere. Or refinishing your Head refinishable tops that got all scratched up in the liftline. Or maybe you just need a little pep talk for the slopes.

The care and feeding of you and your skis is important to us.

You'll probably never need it.

Post Office Warns Tardy Yule Mailers

Rain, snow or dark of night may not deter the postman from his appointed rounds, but the Christmas rush of letters and packages seems to be slowing him down considerably.

Persons who mailed parcel post packages to the East Coast after Dec. 10 will probably find their packages will not arrive by Christmas, San Rafael Postmaster Hugh Cassidy said today. And those with packages to the Midwest may find themselves in the same situation if they mail them this week.

Cassidy said that only those items mailed to areas West of the Rocky Mountains still have a good chance of getting there in time for the holiday. And the time is running out for even those packages, with tomorrow designated as the last possible mailing time.

As for letters, those mailed to the East Coast should go out by tomorrow to insure their delivery before Christmas, the postmaster said.

Although the holiday postal traffic appears no heavier than in previous years, it is still monumental, according the Cassidy who indicated the San Rafael post office is handling an average of 3,500 incoming parcels and between 12,000 and 16,000 outgoing packages every day.

Cassidy said his office is processing about a quarter of a million outgoing letters and 200,000 incoming letters each day.

A pound of bacon contains about 3,000 calories.

Taxpayers Criticize Teachers' Initiative

A tax relief proposal by the California Teachers Association actually has a greater potential for increasing the total tax load, the Marin County Taxpayers Association has charged.

The CTA claims the initiative measure would provide $850 million in tax relief to local taxpayers but the Marin association believes taxes would "increase significantly" if the proposal became law.

The proposal would: Add $500 million a year to state public school appropriations and provide for a 50-50 split between state and local governments of the cost of financing local schools;

Require the state to pay 90 per cent of the cost of welfare, up from the current 65 per cent;

Boost the property tax exemption to $1,000 and increase by 50 per cent state school appropriations to poor areas.

The taxpayers group contended in its Tax News bulletin, the measure imposes substantial new costs on the state without providing revenue sources to meet these obligations.

It also grants large income increases to counties and school districts without imposing any obligation on these agencies to reduce local taxes in proportionate amounts, the Marin taxpayers maintained.

In a letter to the Marin County Board of Supervisors, the group also argued against the measure because it deals with two unrelated governmental activities and there is no way voters can approve or reject separate parts.

The group also said state officials have arrived at different amounts than those provided by CTA.

Reagan Has The Votes Now Says Democrat Brown

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Former Gov. Edmund G. Brown said yesterday that if the governorship election were held today, Gov. Ronald Reagan would defeat any of his potential opponents.

"But it's a long way to November, and things change rapidly," Democrat Brown said at a luncheon meeting of the Comstock Club of Sacramento. He lost to Republican Reagan in 1966.

He cited the rapid declines from popularity peaks both he and President Lyndon B. Johnson suffered and said the same thing could happen to Reagan.

"The morale of state employees is down," Brown said. ". . . and the same issues he beat me on in 1966 are still unresolved."

Pullout Plan Carries Stiff Hanoi Warning

Nixon made his first announcement was 542,500 men, which will be reduced to 432,500 by April 15.

In his broadcast Nixon used a slightly different set of figures based on maximum authorized strength. That is normally somewhat higher than actual strength, White House officials said.

The ceiling figure when he took office was 549,500. He said with his new order that ceiling "has now been reduced by 115,500 men," indicating the cuts in authorized strength total about 5,500 more men than withdrawals based on real strength.

Nixon called the new reduction in force "another orderly step in our plan for peace in Vietnam."

He said he had consulted with U. S. allies in Vietnam before ordering it. In Saigon President Nguyen Van Thieu said it is in line with South Vietnam's policy of assuming the burden of combat gradually.

The White House said in spite of the threat of increased enemy activity, the planned withdrawal is expected to proceed as announced. Nixon can, however, slow it down if he finds evidence of a massive North Vietnamese troop buildup, and if signs of a coming offensive multiply.

One official estimated that, according to reports from the field infiltration is running five to 10 times the flow of troops from North to South Vietnam two or three months ago.

That indicates a level of perhaps 10,000 to 20,000 men a month.

Nixon based his third withdrawal order on the ability of South Vietnamese forces to take over the war from U. S. forces. One of his three criteria for such decisions has been a low-level of enemy action, which is now uncertain; the other has been progress in the Paris peace talks and on that point he reported "no progress whatever." He appealed to the North Vietnamese for negotiations.

The President also strongly indicated that until he has word that Hanoi is ready for serious negotiations he will not replace Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, who recently resigned as his top negotiator in Paris.

Nixon said he had designated Philip Habib, a career diplomat who has been active in the Paris talks for 18 months, "as the acting head of our delegation with the personal rank of ambassador."

Though yesterday's statement is probably his final one this year on Vietnam, Nixon did not assess his progress in Vietnamization of the war in terms which have been much discussed publicly—that is, whether he is moving as rapidly as he hoped last spring. At that time he said he hoped to beat goals which had been proposed by former Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford, who served in the Johnson administration.

Clifford called for removal of 100,000 men by the end of 1969 and withdrawal of all ground combat forces by the end of 1970.

lier in the year would continue to be used for aides.

The motion said the district should retain Miss Smith, Marcia Hensell, Marie Dern and Elizabeth Blodgett. It also said Elizabeth Okamura will continue to act as music aide for grades 1 through 6.

Susan Breitrose, who was given notice at the same time as was Miss Smith, was not reemployed. The board's failure to mention her in last night's motion had the effect of endorsing Larison's recommendation.

Last week, Larison said Miss Breitrose and Miss Smith were being dismissed without prejudice because of a reorganization in the aide program.

The board motion ordered that a detailed plan on how the teacher aides will be used in the two grades be presented to it at its Jan. 5 meeting.

The board adjourned after the motion but quickly reconvened to accept Larison's resignation which he handed to the board last week. The resignation, accepted unanimously, will be effective at the end of the school year.

The board last night also reviewed future plans for the district being prepared by Bolinas architect Richard Borgstrom and moved the kindergarten closing hour back from 12:30 p.m. to 11:45 a.m.

TOLL

$10 commuter book, failed, 3-4.

Also criticized by transit district directors was the bridge board's hike of bus tolls from 26 cents to $2 for a round trip. The hike will be passed on to Marin commuters and discourage ridership, thus adding to auto congestion, the transit district directors said.

Greyhound Lines West told the Independent-Journal yesterday that it would file an application this week with the California Public Utilities Commission to raise fares by about 5 per cent to cover the cost of the higher bridge tolls.

Meyer noted that he was the only bridge director to oppose the higher toll for buses. The Independent-Journal incorrectly reported yesterday that he joined Wornum and Marin's other bridge board representative, Joseph E. Sheeks of Belvedere, in voting for the higher bus toll.

The San Francisco Examinier, in a Monday edition, also claimed that property owners in the six-county bridge district were subject to taxation by the bridge board to pay for a new transit system between Marin and San Francisco.

But the bridge district's general manager, Dale W. Luehring, told the Independent-Journal today that such a proposal had received "absolutely no consideration whatsoever at any time" by the bridge board. Financing of a rapid transit system, to be built someday, will be so costly that property taxes "couldn't even do the job," he said.

Federal and state money will be needed to buy such a system, he said.

The bus and ferry system being planned now by the bridge district, however, probably can be financed from tolls and existing reserves, Luehring noted.

Sister Follows Brother; Takes Oratory Trophy

Lucette Katerndahl, a seventh grader at St. Rafael's Parochial School, last night was named winner in a citywide oratory contest sponsored by Davidson Junior High School in San Rafael.

Lucette, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Katerndahl of 31 Roberts Avenue, was the second member of her family to win the speech contest. Her brother, Richard Jr., took first place in last year's competition.

Runnerup in this year's contest was Kevin Barr, also of St. Raphael's, son of Dr. and Mrs. William H. Barr, 11 Maywood Drive, San Rafael.

Students representing St. Raphael's, Davidson and the San Rafael Military Academy spoke on President John F. Kennedy's maxim, "Ask not what your country can do for you; ask what you can do for your country."

All finalists and winners received certificates. Other finalist were: Scott Hickman, Marianne Nave, Kathleen Melia, Sharon Ives, Denise Silva, Andrew Pearce and Steven Dunlap.

Tomales FFA Club Is Winner

Jeanne Ballatore and Dale Jones of the Tomales Future Farmers of America won first place for Tomales High School at the annual Co-Op quiz contest at Santa Rosa High School last night.

Schools participating in the Sonoma Section included Petaluma, Santa Rosa, Napa, Healdsburg, Sebastapol, Sonoma and Tomales. This is the third consecutive year Tomales has won the contest.

Winning schools are determined by the highest average score on local contest, per cent of participation and highest scores of the two contestants on a section level. Tomales had 100 per cent participation and a local average score of 75.4 per cent.

Vandals Hit Homes

Vandals broke $134 worth of windows in three homes under construction in the Monarch Manor subdivisions Sunday night, Petaluma police reported. The damaged homes included ones at 1001 and 924 Catalpa Way and 908 St. Francis Drive.

Nixon Gets School Fund Bill Rebuff

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee kept in a money bill today a provision that the Nixon administration said could cripple the government's school desegregation efforts.

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., told newsmen after the committee's closed meeting that his motion to strike the language was rejected by a 14-6 vote.

The bill, appropriating $20 billion to finance the Health, Education and Welfare Department, the Labor Department and related agencies, was rushed to the Senate floor for immediate debate.

Case said he would renew his efforts in the Senate to delete the desegregation provision, a slightly revised version of an amendment written into the bill in the House.

The amendment would prohibit the government from requiring any school district to bus students, close down schools, or assign pupils against their parents' wishes.

In effect, it would give congressional sanction to freedom of choice plans which the Supreme Court has held are unconstitutional unless they bring about an end to dual school systems.

Yesterday, the committee amended the big appropriation bill to permit a cutoff of federal funds to colleges that fail to control campus violence.

Case said "the underlying purpose of today's amendment is to undercut the Supreme Court's recent direction" for immediate school desegregation.

al exhibits such as 4-H and Future Farmers. "If you're not going to have anything to do with agricultural fairs, then you won't be getting any more money," said Gnoss.

Lotte McWatters, member of the Marin-Fair board, replied that Fair-Marin certainly intends to continue the agricultural and rural type of exhibits. She said Gnoss must have misunderstood what Fair-Marin plans to do.

Chairman McInnis also criticized the Fair-Marin board for trying to get its manager, Kalimos to spearhead a fund raising drive. "If you hired him to raise money, I think you hired the wrong man," said McInnis.

Stockstad answered that one of the qualifications that led to Kalimos being hired was his past experience in fund raising.

Today's discussion was sparked by County Administrator Alan Bruce's blunt recommendation that Fair-Marin board of directors should be stripped of its authority over the auditorium and the county fair, and the county should take over.

Lagunitas School Bid Review Set

A special meeting of the Lagunitas School District board will be held at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the San Geronimo Valley Elementary School to consider bids for lease of the old Lagunitas School.

The board has indicated it favors a plan by Lagunitas artist Jean Brenensmeier but decided to call for bids on the recommendation of the county counsel.

A valley citizens group promoting law and order has also eyed the building as a sheriff's substation.

Cancels Again

The Southern Marin Target Area board canceled its scheduled meeting in Marin City last night due to a lack of a quorum, the third consecutive meeting canceled because not enough members attended. The antipoverty agency did not reschedule the meeting.

OBITUARIES

William A. Silva Dies At 35

William A. Silva, 35, manager of the Santa Venetia Little League, collapsed and died yesterday in the office of a Greenbrae physician, apparently of a heart attack.

Silva had complained of arm and chest pains Sunday, and went to the office of Dr. Wendell H. Butler at 1350 South Eliseo Drive yesterday morning for an examination. He collapsed on the floor of the examination room shortly before 9:30 a.m.

Silva, of 122 Birch Way, Santa Venetia, was employed as a mechanic for Don Collins Buick in San Rafael. He had been a mechanic 18 years and belonged to Machinists Union Local 238 of Marin.

Born in Monterey, Silva had lived in Marin County for 33 years.

Survivors are his wife, Laura; two sons, Tony and Billy Jr., and a daughter, Doreen, all at home; his parents, Anthony H. and Erma Silva of Corte Madera, and two sisters, Mrs. Robert Stine of Petaluma and Mrs. Gerald Stone of San Rafael.

Requiem Mass will be offered at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at Blessed Sacrament Church, Santa Venetia, with recitation of the Rosary at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Contributions to the Gallinas Valley Little League or the Babe Ruth League are preferred.

GRACE SEWELL

Graveside service for Grace E. Sewell of Mill Valley will be at 11:30 a.m. tomorrow at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael. Funeral cortege will leave the Russell and Gooch funeral chapel in Mill Valley at 11 a.m.

Mrs. Sewell died Sunday at a local hospital following a long illness. She was 84.

Born in San Francisco, Mrs. Sewell moved to Sausalito in 1913 and to Mill Valley in 1918 with her husband, the late Thomas J. Sewell, one of the early owners of the Mill Valley Lumber Co. Mrs. Sewell recently lived at 187 Elm Avenue.

She was a member of the Mill Valley Outdoor Art Club and Mill Valley Chapter 219, Order of Eastern Star. She also was a 50-year member of the order's Colfax chapter.

She is survived by a brother Arthur J. Paine of Oakland.

of the new 50,000 man withdrawal last night. Laird disclosed that Nixon had instructed him to go to Veitnam the first week in February to "assess the situation as it affects the security of our forces" and to size up the enemy's military capability and infiltration.

The defense chief acknowledged his visit will come just about in the critical Tet period which in the past has seen major enemy offensives, including the great countrywide assault of early 1968.

Laird said that, on the basis of present infiltration rates, and a 40,000 man drop in enemy strength, he does not regard the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong as able to mount a sustained offensive at this time.

Asked about other enemy forces grouped outside of South Vietnam, in Cambodia and Laos, Laird said "I rule out the possibility they could move" these elements into South Vietnam's III corps and IV corps in time to be ready for an offensive soon.

the Army to stop producing toxins until the National Security Council could clarify the President's recent announcement.

Both the White House and Army denied the report.

In his recent announcement on CBW limitations, Nixon said the United States could support a treaty proposed by Britain for the Geneva Disarmament Conference prohibiting the production, stockpiling and the use of biological agents.

According to some interpretations, the British treaty would prohibit toxins.

DOUGLAS FOX

Private funeral for Douglas A. Fox, San Rafael building contractor, was held today at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

Fox had been a partner in the Ross Valley Construction Co. for the past five years. He was a native of Troy, Idaho.

Survivors are his wife, Jan, and two children, Paul Douglas and Karen Lee Fox, all of the home at 705 Pine Lane, San Rafael; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fox of Azusa, Los Angeles County; a brother, Bruce Fox of Carmichael, Sacramento County, and a sister, Karn Hables of Monrovia, Los Angeles County.

Memorial contributions may be made to the donor's favorite charity.

DILWORTH HUGHES

A memorial service for Dilworth L. Hughes of Corte Madera will be tomorrow at 2 p.m. in Holy Innocents Episcopal Church, Corte Madera.

Hughes, 56, owner of a San Francisco publishing firm and manager of the Subcontractors Association of Marin County, died unexpectedly in his sleep Friday at his home.

A native of San Francisco, he had lived in Marin County for 17 years, making his home at 357 Corte Madera Avenue. He was owner of D. L. Hughes Associates Inc., a company which publishes college alumni directories.

Hughes was a member of a Chicago Lodge of the Free and Accepted Masons, the Islam Shrine, the Marin Shrine Club and the Mill Valley Golf Club.

He is survived by his wife, Margaret; three daughters, Dee Ellen Hughes of Chicago, Barbara and Kinberlee Hughes of Corte Madera; a son, Thomas Hughes of Corte Madera and a sister, Floy-Margaret Reynolds of San Francisco.

Inurnment will be in Cypress Lawn Cemetery, Colma. The family prefers contributions to the American Diabetic Foundation.

BRUCE LEWIS

Graveside service for Bruce Lewis, 22, of 1788 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Fairfax, will be held at 3 p.m. tomorrow at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

Lewis, a Vietnam War veteran, died Sunday in a three-car collision on the Golden Gate Bridge.

He was a native of Vallejo and belonged to the Retail Delivery Drivers Union Local 278 of San Francisco.

Survivors are his parents, David L. and Jacqueline Lewis, and a sister, Constance Lewis, all of San Rafael.

ERNA PARSONS

Erna C. Parsons of San Francisco, mother of Patricia A. Mairs of Woodacre, died yesterday in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness. She was 49.

A native of South Dakota, Mrs. Parsons had been a waitress for about 30 years, last working for B and G Foods, San Francisco. She was a member of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees and Bartenders International Union Local 48 of San Francisco.

She is also survived by two grandchildren.

Graveside service will be held at 1:30 p.m. Thursday at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

Mill Valley Unable To Find Fern Canyon Plans Fund

The City of Mill Valley may not be able to contribute its promised 25 per cent of the Fern Canyon Road Assessment District cost because city staff has been unable to find an allocation for the project in the city's budget, the Mill Valley City Council heard last night.

City Mgr. William H. Cunningham said he had been unable to locate any allocation for improvements to the road in the 1969-70 budget prepared by former City. Mgr. Bert A. Balmer.

The city's share of the controversial asseessment district for paving the short hillside road would be approximately $10,000, City Engineer Stanley M. Bala reported. The remainder of the costs would be paid by property owners in the area.

Mayor Dean N. Meyer said he was "surprised the money isn't there" since the council had voted to allocate the funds at budget sessions held last spring.

The lost money is the latest in a series of budget confusions arising with the changeover from Balmer's administration to Cunningham's. Previously, Cunningham had asked the council to delay making any new allocations until he and the finance director, Carl W. Reynolds, have a clear picture of where the city stands financially.

The financial picture was further complicated when Finance Director James L. Phillips, hired to replace Fred Kerr who retired in June, quit after only a few weeks on the job. Since then, Cunningham hired Reynolds.

In his reports to the council, Cunningham has stressed there is no question of mismanagement but merely a difference in accounting systems which has caused the confusion.

Last night the council voted 3-2 with Councilmen Robert H. Andresen and George Wickham dissenting, to set a public hearing on the assessment district.

However, Councilman Edward J. Boessenecker, who noted he supported the contribution now because of the city's apparent past commitment, said he would oppose any contribution if the funds could not be found.

Andresen and Wickham have consistently opposed the city's participation in the assessment district as being contradictory to the purpose of the policy which authorized contributions for street improvements.

They argued the policy refers specifically to upgrading existing city streets used by a large segment of the community, not construction of neighborhood streets used only by those living on it.

However, other councilmen argued that the policy did not make any such distinction and therefore the city was committeed to making a contribution.

Proposed Residential Art School Rejected

A proposed children's art school was rejected last night by the Mill Valley City Council after neighbors objected the school would cause noise and traffic congestion in their neighborhood.

The council voted 3-2 with Councilmen Edward J. Boessenecker and Mayor Dean N. Meyer dissenting, to overrule a planning commission approval of a use permit for the school at 127 Sycamore Avenue.

Applicant Patricia Zoline said the school would operate only three hours a day, in the afternoon, and classes woild be limited to 15 children, all under 12. She said she wanted the school in her home because it was more convenient and a home provided a more conpatible atmosphere for children's art classes.

She also cited a report by the police department saying such a use would not create a traffic problem.

Councilman Jerome C. Hauke said it was a matter of balancing the peace of mind of 30 residents who can't move against one art school which can move" to another area.

Boessenecker said he thought neighbors would be "pleasantly surprised" at the school's operation, if they would only give it a six-month trial.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

FARES — Asked staff to prepare a resoultion requesting the Golden Gate Bridge District not to increase commuter fares.

SHELTER RIDGE — Instructed the city attorney to prepare an ordinance rezoning a portion of Shelter Ridge from limited multiple residential to planned residential and commercial zones, and approved a master plan for the remaining portion of Shelter Ridge, previously zoned planned residential.

Sgt. Sunshine Switches Pot Counts Plea

I-J Special Report

MARTINEZ — Richard Bergess, former San Francisco police officer who was arrested for possession of marijuana last Jan. 25 on a tip from television personality Pat Michaels of Tiburon, yesterday changed his plea to guilty.

Appearing in Contra Costa County Superior Court, Bergess (Sergeant Sunshine), and his wife, Paulette, reversed pleas of innocent entered last June.

The two were arrested following an interview by Michaels during which Bergess smoked what he described as a marijuana cigarette. Michaels showed the film of the incident to law officers.

The possession charge against Bergess, who is appealing a nine-month jail term for smoking pot on the San Francisco Hall of Justice steps, was not reduced to a misdemeanor, but the charge against his wife was.

Both will appear for sentencing before Judge Martin E. Rothenberg on Jan. 26.

Mink, Suede Coats Stolen

Two expensive coats were reported stolen Sunday from the coatroom of the Lodge, a Novato motel and restaurant.

Alberta M. Damas of 401 Prince Royal Drive, Corte Madera, told sheriff's deputies her dark-skinned mink coat, valued at $1,200 was taken while she was having a drink with friends in the Lodge's bar.

32 From Marin Pass State Bar

Thirty-two applicants from Marin and one from Southern Sonoma have passed the 1969 fall bar examination, the committee of bar examiners has announced.

the successful candidate from Southern Sonoma is William L. Pettinelli of 4796 Redwood Highway South, Petaluma.

Budget Revision On Board Agenda

The San Rafael Board of Education will discuss restoring budget items cut last summer at an adjourned meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Administration Building, Third and E streets, San Rafael.

When additional state funds later became available, $90,000 for the high school district and $100,000 for the elementary district, Supt. John F. Plank recommended restoring items that were cut.

Board members, preparing for a tax rate hike election in both districts, also are slated to review the requirements for an election.

Two Booked On Predawn Brawl

Corte Madera police jailed two men after a fight today at an all-night restaurant, booking both on suspicion of interfering with an officer, distrubing the peace and being drunk in public.

Stanley T. Tresknell, 40, of 26 Park Avenue, Mill Valley, and Charles F. Bowen, 26, of 553 San Rafael Avenue, San Rafael, were held in lieu of $625 bail apiece to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Police said they went to the Hyatt House on Tamalpais Drive at 2:50 a.m. to break up a reported fight. While they questioned Bowen and another man, they said, Tresknell interferred and grabbed one officer. After Tresknell was arrested, police said, Bowen tried to free him from the patrol car and was himself arrested.

Others at the scene were released because no one would sign a complaint, police said.

Mill Valley Works Out Trash Hauls

After months of struggling with the problem of trash disposal when the Jan. 1 backyard burning ban goes into effect, the Mill Valley City Council last night approved a two-way attack on the rubbish problem.

The council authorized changes in its contract with the Mill Valley Refuse Co. to allow four trash pickups a year at an additional cost to each household in the city of 25 cents a month.

Further, it specified any additional pickups would cost $1.25 a cubic yard if hauled away from the curb or $2 if taken off the property.

Vote was 4-1 with Councilman Robert H. Andresen dissenting. Andresen said he objected to the four scheduled pickups which he said would be charged against everyone in the city although it would benefit only a small number of households.

Instead, he said he supported the second part of the proposal allowing anyone needing the service to contract for it on an individual basis.

However, Councilman Jerome C. Hauke argued that some residents would dump their trash in creeks and on empty lots rather than pay the $1.25 to have it hauled away.

TEXAS BROIL ROSEMARY

2 lbs. Texas Broil	1 tbls. chopped green onions
3 tbls. butter	½ cup dry red wine
⅛ tsp. garlic powder	1 tsp. beef stock base
¼ tsp. hot mustard	⅛ tsp. rosemary
½ tsp. parsley

Let meat stand at room temperature about 2 hours. BBQ, Broil or Grill to desired doneness. (Should cook fast, 20 to 25 minutes, high heat.) Melt butter in a sauce-pan. Stir in garlic powder, mustard, green onions, parsley and wine; add beef stock base. Bring to a boil, crush rosemary and stir into sauce. Simmer sauce 5 to 8 minutes. Slice Texas Broil in diagonal slices about ¼ inch thick; pour steak drippings into sauce, mix and pour over sliced Texas Broil. 4 to 5 servings.

Installment Costs Vary For Lateness

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Real estate lenders in California are not limited by law on what they may charge for late payments, and therefore the charges vary widely, according to testimony before an Assembly committee.

A staff report presented yesterday at the opening session of a two-day hearing by the Assembly Committee on Finance and Insurance showed one startling example.

The report said a borrower took out a $1,400 loan payable in monthly installments of $20 each. After paying almost five years, during which there were 28 late payments, the borrower still owed $1,321.82—although he had paid a total of $1,170.

The committee, headed by Assemblyman Robert G. Beverly, R-Manhattan Beach, heard testimony that there is no state law which applies to such late charges.

As a result, lending institutions sometimes base them on a percentage of monthly payment, sometimes on a percentage of the unpaid balance and sometimes on other miscellaneous figures, including flat fees.

Reagan Seeks Texan In Tate Slaying Case

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan of California today officially asked the state of Texas to return Charles D. Watson, 24, to Los Angeles to stand trial for murder in the knife and pistol slayings of actress Sharon Tate and seven others.

Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr., extradition officer for Gov. Preston Smith, set a hearing for Jan. 10, in Austin.

Watson, who grew up in the small towns of Copeville and Farmersville, Tex., about 20 miles northeast of Dallas, has been accused by a girl in a hippie band of being the man who killed Miss Tate with a knife.

Watson is jailed at McKinney, Tex. He and his attorney ,William Boyd, have indicated they will fight extradition to California.

Texas operates under the uniform extradition code, which requires California to prove that Watson was in that state at the time of the Tate murders.

Dies said California authorities will have to provide some proof connecting Watson with the murders at the Jan. 10 hearing.

Reagan sent the official extradition papers to Smith's office.

Playmate Jailed As Dope Runner

ATHENS (UPI) — Playboy magazine's December playmate, a 21-year-old Chicago beauty, has been sentenced to 18 nonths in prison for drug smuggling, police said today.

A spokesman said red-haired Gloria Root, described by the magazine as "one of the new breed of urban nomads who . . . live and love across both borders, trip east and west from coast to coast," probably would appeal the sentence.

She and a companion, Corbin Parker, 20, described as a University of Wisconsin student, were arrested earlier this year in Alexandropolis when police said they found 40 pounds of hashish in their car.

He received a five-year sentence.

Final Performances Of 'Amahl' Saturday

Final performances of the Sonoma State College opera workshop production of "Amahl and the Night Visitors" will be given Saturday at 3 and 7:30 p.m. at San Rafael High School.

Permit For New Taxi Operation Is Denied

The specter of a single additional taxi on the streets of San Rafael drew a list of haunting possibilities last night from the sole company now operating.

The San Rafael City Council listened and denied a permit for the independent cab.

The application, by Harry E. Schultze, was approved last month, but it was later declared invlaid because a certificate of convenience was not issued first.

The president of the San Rafael taxi operation which includes Yellow, Checker and Black and White cabs argued last night there was no need for any more taxis.

Robert C. Jennings predicted an additional taxi would lead to fights among drivers for fares, thus necessitating police help, and that there would be duplication in such areas as radios which would be costly to the public.

He also claimed another taxi would mean more congestion.

But the telling argument was his report that he has 14 cabs and only operates about 10 during the day and six at night.

He also reported drivers salaries, not including tips, now average only about $100 a week, and many of them work 10 to 11 hours a day six days a week. Competition could mean price cutting, he warned, noting San Rafael does not regulate rates.

Schultze, who had worked for a San Francisco cab company, reported he quit that job after the council approved his application last month. However, he said he is also a parole agent with the state.

He argued competition would promote better service. "If his company cannot stand competition, then there is something wrong with the way he operates," Schultze said.

He reported he had watched the Greyhound Bus Depot in San Rafael regularly recently and saw many persons waiting for cabs with none available. "They just had to wait," he said.

He also said he had had problems getting a cab.

The council vote was 3 to 1 to deny the permit with Councilman Fred C. Robbins Jr. on the losing end. John A. Miskimen was absent.

The rare request for a taxi permit drew council attention to other areas of the ordinance regulating cab operations and the council last night passed to print an amendment.

It raises liability limits from $5,000 for injuries to one person; $10,000 for injuries to more than one in the same accident, and $5,000 property damage to $100,000, $300,000, $25,000.

The council also asked the city attorney to prepare an amendment to regulate rates and agreed to amend a section which reqires cab drivers to be U.S. citizens.

San Rafael Puts Temporary Ban On Keeping Of Horses

Hinting at banning large domestic and wild animals altogether, the San Rafael City Council last night imposed a 90-day moratorium on permits to keep horses.

The council requested the temporary ban after City Atty. David A. Menary reported there are three requests for permits and the current ordinance requires an inspection by the city health officer who has the power to issue the permits, Menary said.

However, the person holding that position, Dr. Harry O. Hund, resigned last month and the council indicated it plans to abandon the post and turn the duties over to the county Department of Public Health.

City Mgr. James H. McCown reported the "county is perfectly willing to do it" but added he believes the city should review its ordinance first.

He suggested it might require having the city council act on requests for permits after the sanitary inspection is complete.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini suggested it might also include the number of acres needed to stable horses and the distance the horses should be from inhabited dwellings.

Councilman Fred C. Robbins wondered about also studying the possibility of outlawing large domestic animals and other members suggested studying a ban on wild animals.

Councilman Fred C. Jensen proposed an emergency ordinance while all facets are studied and the council gave unanimous approval. The ordinance will also follow the regular path in case the emergency measure turns out to be illegal, members agreed.

Shuttle Cab Plan For Civic Center Is Set

A shuttle cab service from the Greyhound Bus Depot in San Rafael to the Civic Center will begin on an experimental basis after the move by county offices is complete.

Time and rate schedules for the service were filed with the city council last night.

Robert C. Jennings, president of the firm which operates all of San Rafael's cabs, told the council in a letter he would charge 50-cents per person for a one-way trip.

Cabs will leave the depot hourly from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Return trips will be made on call and taxis provided as available, the letter said. Also, trips from the Civic Center will be made at noon and 5 p.m. daily.

TheuSan Rafael City Council also:

MORALS — Unanimously commended Carl J. Brown, the member of the San Rafael Board of Education who attacked moral decay in the nation, the schools and homes last Tuesday. Councilman Fred E. Jensen commented, "I think he's shaken up the school board and the citizens."

DRUNKENNESS — Passed to print an ordinance removing city laws against drunkenness in public places and cars because the field has been preempted by the state.

HEARINGS — Passed to print an ordinance removing a mandatory public hearing by the council when the planning commission recommends denial of amendments to the zoning map. Frequently, applicants withdraw after the planning commission action, Herbert G. Hotchner, city planner, said.

COMMENDATION — Approved a commendation for Barry Bovee of 48 Lagoon Road for his heroic action in rescuing Robert A. Metzger Nov. 13. A certificate will be presented to him at the next meeting.

STREET REPAIR — Agreed to contract with the state to receive $78,381 to repair streets damaged by last winter's storms and floods.

APPOINTMENT — Learned Councilman Harry A. Barbier has been appointed to the League of California Cities committee on Urban Environmental Control.

Councilmen Slate Pay Discussion

Sausalito City Councilman will discuss whether to vote themselves a salary at their 8 p.m. meeting today in city hall.

The council, currently unpaid, can vote up to $150 per month for council salaries.

Also on the agenda tonight is a report from City Mgr. George M. Patterson on proposed legislative changes in the state's formula for granting liquor licenses.

Guilty Plea To Joyride Counts

Two men accused of car theft who were captured Oct. 19 with the aid of a California Highway Patrol helicopter pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a reduced charge of joyriding.

Donald Lee Humes, 30, of San Francisco, who has been in jail since arrest, was ordered by Judge Joseph G. Wilson to spend another 10 days in jail.

Sentencing for Don Borges, 30, of Belmont, was set for Jan. 26.

The two men were arrested after a helicopter followed them in the stolen car from Mount Tamalpais to west Marin where they crashed four miles east of Bolinas. Borges was then evacuated in the copter to Marin General Hospital, where he was treated for injuries suffered in the crush.

Ex-Sausalitan Gets Fine On Marijuana

Brace Gustave Bonnivier, 24-year-old former Sausalito resident who now lives in Massachusetts, admitted yesterday in Marin Superior Court that he possessed 94 grams of marijuana in Sausalito on Dec. 14, 1968.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson, noting that the youth is now employed in his home state, imposed a fine of $375.

Closing Of Path Draws Protesters

The Corte Madera Town Council, after receiving several protests, decided last night to take a long, second look at its plan to close off a path along High Canal used by Redwood High School students.

On Dec. 1, the council voted unanimously to close the path on the west side of the canal for six months after hearing complaints from residents on Birch Avenue who said students litter their yards and steal from their fruit trees.

The council received a letter last night from Robert D. Torrey, superintendent of the Tamalpais Union High School District, saying closing of the walkway would mean an additional half-mile of walking for Redwood High students, and would force them to use hazardous city streets.

A petition signed by 75 residents protesting the closure was also presented to the council.

The council looked eagerly for an alternative which would keep everyone happy, but had to settle for taking no action pending further study by the city attorney.

The question of whether the public has any right to use the west path came up last night when property owner Helen Mason told the council her property title indicates she owns all of the land, right up to the canal. Mrs. Mason indicated a 10-foot easement has been granted for public utility use, but claimed any other use would be illegal.

As the council sought ways to keep the path open, Mrs. Mason angrily protested the council's change of mind. "You already made your decision; what right have you to change it?" she asked heatedly.

Vice Mayor Holmes S. Norville loudly rapped for order and told the woman the council can review any of its past actions at any time.

Councilman Harold B. Wagstaff suggested the town investigate putting up an eight-foot cyclone fence along the path to protect property in the area, although he admitted the plan would cost "a lot more" than the $1,500 the council had appropriated to close the path.

Councilman Robert P. Simmonds said he felt the town should consider opening the east path, now closed because it contains the canal's floodgates and pumps, and closing of the west path.

He suggested the canal machinery be blocked off by a fence. "I think the east path has more potential than the west route; it is more scenic," he commented. Simmons added there are many property owners along the west route "who will be unhappy if it is left open," but only a few on the eastern side of the canal.

A suggestion to have gates which are closed during certain hours, such as at night, came from Councilman Byron D. White. "I'd like to give the people who are afraid for their neighborhood some measure of protection, as well as keep the path open for school children."

City Mgr. Ronald L. Usher, after listening to the debate, told the council, "I think you have an insoluble problem; I can't see how you can solve this problem to the satisfaction of all."

The council decided to try to do just that and asked the city attorney to study the legality of the situation and report back at the next meeting. "There are too many unanswered questions for us to make a decision now," Norville said.

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

ORDINANCE — Following a public hearing, approved first reading of an amendment to the town's zoning ordinance to include regulations governing coverage, grading and clearing in single family residential zones.

PUBLIC HEARING — Set Jan. 19 at 7:30 p.m. as date and time for a public hearing on pre-zoning of the Lucky Drive area. The town planning commission has recommended the property be designated a single family residential zone if it is annexed to Corte Madera.

SUBDIVISION — Approved a tentative map for a two-lot subdivision of 2.6 acres on Meadowsweet Drive. One lot is to be used for the planned town library.

MAP CHANGE — Agreed to delete the San Quentin Peninsula from the town's ultimate boundary map and add the Deffenbach ranch area between Corte Madera and Tiburon.

REPORTS — Accepted November reports from the town treasurer, police and fire departments, public works and building inspection.

BIDS — Voted to restudy bids for a high pressure fire truck, since the low bid received was $5,100 higher than the $12,000 the town had budgeted for the vehicle.

MODIFICATIONS — Authorized work to proceed on minor interior modification to town hall, after reviewing preliminary plans for the changes, needed to relocate certain town offices.

PATH — Passed a resolution to close a small branch of Hill Path, located between two houses, which is not a part of the regular path.

ZONE CHANGE — Adopted an ordinance re-zoning two parcels of land at 3703 Paradise Drive from shopping center commerical to neighborhood commercial designations.

HOME BUSINESS — Approved a request for a home occupation permit to allow Jo Ann Seal of 2 Endeavor Drive to conduct an invisible reweaving business in her home.

DRIVEWAY — Gave permission for installation of a permanent driveway at J. Fred Walker residence, 365 Corte Madera Avenue.

VOTING — Passed a resolution requesting the board of supervisors to authorize the county clerk to assist in the town's municipal election April 14, 1970.

COMMENDATION — Commended Corte Madera Postmaster Edward J. Victor who retired early this month.

APPOINTMENT — Approved appointment of the town manager to the League of California Cities committee on municipal government and administration.

CLASS — Authorized a $70 expenditure to allow a town engineering aide to attend a class on structural design at the University of California at Berkeley.

AMENDMENT — Adopted an amendment to the town's business license ordinance to include a section pertaining to public dances. The section was accidently omitted when the regulations was passed.

TOWN COLORS — Decided Corte Madera should have light blue administrative vehicles, yellow public works vehicles. The color change will be made as vehicles are replaced or repaired.

MEETING — Approved a request from the town manager to attend the city manager's spring meeting of the League of California Cities in Newport Beach in February.

Bike Injuries

Keith Shaffstall, 14, of 39 Belmont Avenue, Fairfax, was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for a cut scalp, broken wrist and multiple scrapes suffered when he fell from his bicycle on Scenic Road in San Anselmo at 12:45 p.m., police reported.

Annexation Is Key To Sanitation

Property owners in the Lucky Drive area of Corte Madera who want to join the town's sanitary district, but balk at being annexed to the town got little satisfaction at last night's meeting of the town council.

The council, meeting as a sanitary district board, passed a resolution that the area could have sewer service only if it will annex to Corte Madera.

"We want to be in the sanitary district, but why does this have to be coupled with annexation to the town?" Raymond C. Rice, a property owner in the area protested.

Councilman Harold B. Wagstaff told Rice the town has a right "under law" to make annexation a condition of admission to the sanitary district.

"It's taken me a long time to understand this," Wagstaff admitted, "but now I believe annexation is necessary so this area can be better administered and have decent police and fire protection.

The council told the property owners they had no choice; they could have sewers and annexation or no sewers. Several disgruntled property owners left as the resolution was being passed.

Sailor Drowns In Napa River

NAPA (AP) — An automobile plunged into the muddy Napa River today and a sailor, due for a Christmas furlough was missing and presumed drowned.

Police identified the missing man as James Oscar Ouztz, 22, stationed at Mare Island Naval Shipyard. He was scheduled to leave today for his home in Atlanta, Ga.

He was a passenger in a car driven by Michael W. Herron, 20, also a Mare Island sailor from Vallejo.

Both Herron and Tracy Allen Hancock, 21, a passenger, swam ashore and escaped with minor injuries.

Hospital Supported Minus Land Donation

The Rohnert Park City Council said last night it would support bringing a private hospital to the city, but would be reluctant to give up six acres of city property for the site.

Developer Paul Golis, secretary of the Rohnert Park Hospital Foundation, presented the council with a petition signed by 618 residents urging the council to assist a hospital and to give up half the futre civic center property.

Golis said that not all residents had the opportunity to sign the petition, but said that less than 10 per cent of those approached had refused to sign.

He said city donation of six acres would lend influence to the plan and might change the attitude of the Sonoma County Health Facilities Planning Council which has refused to grant approval for a small hospital.

Golis said that local doctors also had a negative reaction to a Rohnert Park hospital and seemed to be content using facilities in Petaluma and Santa Rosa.

The developer said the foundation, a nonprofit group, had been negotiating with two private firms about locating in Rohnert Park and that neither would drain the public treasury as a public hospital would.

Although the council said it would support a private hospital, it said better use could be made of the civic center site than donating it.

The council also noted that any group with funds to build a $4 million medical facility would not be stopped because it has to purchase six acres of land.

The Rohnert City Council Also:

GRANTS — Authorized the applications for grants from the department of housing and urban development for a new water well and storage tank and acquisition of a neighborhood park in the El Colegio area.

MOTEL — Gave approval to the architecture plan for a Royal Inn motel, restaurant, shops and a bar on Commerce Boulevard near the Rohnert Park expressway.

VANDALISM — Asked City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan to study ways of combating vandalism at the recreation and community center. Reports were made of damage to the interior and foul works written in mud on the windows.

RESTROOMS — Authorized an expenditure of $3,000 to build two restrooms on the fairways at the municipal golf course.

PARTY — Said the annual Christmas Party for city employees, the council and commissions will be held at 7 p.m. Friday in the council chamber.

Electricity Bill Increase Sought

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Pacific Gas and Electric Company asked the California Public Utilities Commission yesterday for a 9.5 per cent increase in electricity rates to produce $67.4 million additional revenue a year.

The company cited the high cost of borrowing money for expansion plus inflation as the reasons for the request. A spokesman said the last electric rate increase was in 1967.

The proposed increase would effect more than 2.5 million PG&E customers in Central and Northern California. It would equal a hike of about 4 cents a day for the average residential customer.

Teacher Union Claims 70 Fired From Colleges

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The American Federation of Teachers asserts that at least 70 faculty activists have been fired from the state college system because of what it called "Political repression."

At a meeting yesterday at San Francisco State College, union members claimed Gov. Ronald Reagan and other statewide education officials have moved "to eliminate people who are innovative, active and outspoken."

Spokesmen at the office of state colleges chancellor Glenn Dumke said that hiring and firing is left in the hands of local college presidents and that there is no mechanism for such a statewide firing campaign.

The union contends many of the 70 were among its members, including Erwin Kelly, president of the San Francisco local.

At the meeting, the union decided to appeal to the AFL-CIO San Francisco Labor Council for help and possibly later to the courts.

Universal Vote Signups Urged By Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special task force of the Democratic National Committee recommended today a universal voter enrollment system to shift to the government the initial burden of registering citizens to vote.

Former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, head of the task force, said the United States is virtually the only democracy in the world without such a system. He noted that such a system achieved enrollment of more than 90 per cent of the voting age population in other lands.

Pointing out that 47 million Americans failed to cast ballots in the 1968 presidential election, Clark said that meant, "we had a nation within a nation that did not vote."

Clark said the task force proposal will be submitted to Congress sometime next year. It would create a national election commission to administer and supervise voter enrollment on a nationwide scale.

The task force said the plan offers "an effective and vital reform that assures a substantial increase in voter participation."

Clark estimated the plan would "increase the electorate by 25 to 30 million votes the first time we try it."

HOW TO PLAY BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Simple Holdup Play At Start Can Bring Home Winning Score

"I've never seen such nice bridge players," said Warmhearted Willie. "I'll give you this trick just because I like your looks." You always feel a glow when Willie makes his little speech, but no opponent has ever shown any real profit from a trick that the warmhearted expert has given away.

LOW SPADE

West led the five of spades, East put up the king, and Willie made his little speech, playing the four of spades from his hand. It was really quite generous of Willie because he could have made sure of two spade tricks if he had taken the first trick with the ace of spades.

East returned the eight of spades, and declarer's jack lost to the queen. Now West's hand was dead since he could never regain the lead. Instead of continuing with the useless spades, therefore, West shifted to the seven of diamonds.

FREE FINESSE

The lead gave South a free finesse, but this made no difference. Declarer had to knock out the ace of hearts and the ace of clubs, and he didn't need three diamond tricks except as a way of stopping East's long suit. South had enough high cards to win 10 tricks except that he had to lose two aces and two spades.

Perhaps you're wondering what made Willie so warmhearted. See what happens if he wins the first trick with the ace of spades. South knocks out the ace of clubs, and back comes a spade. West plays low, and dummy wins with the ten.

EIGHT TRICKS

Now declarer has only eight tricks: two spades, three diamonds and three clubs. He must knock out the ace of hearts in the attempt to develop a ninth trick. East takes the ace of hearts and leads his remaining spade, whereupon West defeats the contract with the rest of the spades.

Declarer's refusal to win the first spade trick is the simple holdup play that you employ at most notrump contracts. South must disregard his jack of spades and must play as though he had the ace and two very low spades.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠—Q 9 7 5 3
♥—7 6 4 3
♦—7
♣—5 4 2

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two spades.

You have the right distribution for a jump to four spades, but your hand isn't quite strong enough. You need another king or so to get up to so high a level.

Rental Hearing

The Marin County Housing Authority will hold a public hearing at 8 p.m. today at Manzanita Center in Marin City on proposed changes in the rental and occupancy policy of the authority.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, Dec. 16, the 350th day of 1969 with 15 days to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full stage. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1773, American patriots dressed themselves as Indians and boarded a British vessel in Boston harbor in what became known as the Boston Tea Party. They threw 342 chests of tea overboard in a protest against taxation.

In 1835, property loss was placed at $20 million after fire broke out in New York City. Firemen from Philadelphia were called to assist.

In 1944, the Germans launched their last great attack of World War II with the Battle of the Bulge in Belgium.

In 1965, 15,000 persons were feared dead when a cyclone struck Pakistan.

A thought for the day: H. L. Mencken once said, "Injustice is relatively easy to bear; what stings is justice."

Fund Applications For Widening Drake

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — Applications for federal and state grants to widen Sir Francis Drake Boulevard around San Quentin Prison and Novato Boulevard from San Miguel Way to Sutro Avenue will be reviewed by the Association of Bay Area Governments executive committee at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Hotel Claremont.

The Sir Francis Drake project cost is $275,000, and the Novato project $162,000, according to the county's applications. Each project is four tenths of a mile in length.

'Differentiated Staff' Outlined To Trustees

An idea for giving teachers broader and more varied roles in high schools was presented last night to the Tamalpais High School District board.

Instructor Richard S. Newman reported on the system called "differentiated staffing," which he contended would permit the maximum use of a teachers' talents, enabling them to participate in making decisions that affect the district.

Under the traditional staffing pattern, the teacher doesn't have the opportunity to undertake varied roles and varied responsibilities, Newman explained.

Differentiated staffing would provide more professional choices for a teacher, he explained. Under this system, a teacher wouldn't necessarily have to spend his entire career in the classroom.

He said that in some districts where teachers have differing roles, there is "differentiated pay," but this is not to be confused with merit pay.

Some teachers are concerned that the system would "replace an administrative hierarchy with a teacher hierarchy, he conceded.

"Establishing a salary differential could create conflict," he said.

Newman recommended an orientation program to inform the staff on differentiated staffing, and if sufficient interest is shown, a committee be formed to explore the subject.

Acting Supt. Robert D. Torrey said there has been interest in the concept and he would have a recommendation before the board at its Jan. 5 meeting.

Tamalpais High School District Board Also:

SUPERINTENDENT — As a required legal formality, sent notice to former superintendent Chester G. Carlisle that his contract as superintendent will be terminated June 30, 1970. Carlisle was relieved as superintendent in August and reassigned as consultant to trustees. The Next Step Analysis Committee, including principals, teachers and board members, will meet at 3:15 p.m. tomorrow at the District Administration building, Redwood High campus, to discuss procedure for sleecting a screening committee for a permanent superintendent.

TAM HIGH PRINCIPAL — Heard a report from Trustee Gloria Melbostad that the initial committee on selection of a permanent proncipal for Tamalpais High School will meet tomorrow to discuss the procedure for selection. Two representatives of the Tamalpais Federation of Teachers contended their organization was "slighted" because it hasn't any representation on the initial committee.

LEAVES — Approved full year leaves for 1970-71 without pay to Fred R. Broemmer, Constantino Lavezzo, Carol Hier-Johnson, Robert Higgins and Else-Britt Jonsson, all Redwood High School teachers.

SABBATICALS — Learned that 14 sabbatical leaves, estimated to cost $75,000, are slated to be recommended Jan. 19, prompting Trustee David D. Ring to question whether the value received would equal the expenditure.

MANAGEMENT CONSULTANT — Authorized the hiring of Main Lafrentz, certified public accountants, of Oakland, as consultants in development of a management planning program, at a cost not to exceed $9,400. The objective, explained Chairman Bette Wallace is to have planning by program, which she felt, was "much sounder than line budgeting."

ADULT SCHOOL — Approved the hiring of adult evening school instructors, Dec. 8 to March 13, Barbara Duncan, George Irvin, Stanley Pease and Prudence Wise at Tamalpais High School, Richard Creighton at Sir Francis Drake High School and Freeman Blake at Redwood High School, all at $6.50 an hour.

PORTABLES — Granted Speedspace Corp. of Santa Rosa permission to change a subcontractor, a change expected to speed up the completion of portable classroom site at Redwood High School.

STUDENT TEACHERS — Approved an agreement with California College of Arts and Crafts, Oakland, to permit student teachers from the college in district schools.

ALCOHOL REPORT — Designated Torrey as the person to sign reports to the U.S. Internal Revenue Service in connection with the district's use of tax-free alcohol.

BICYCLE TRAIL — Received a letter from Lawrence Livingston Jr., 2 Spencer Court, Sausalito, urging the board to reaffirm its support of a bicycle path from Sausalito to Mill Valley, and a letter of thanks from the Sausalito Woman's Club for its support of a trail.

BUDGET REQUEST — Received a letter from the executive council of the Tamalpais District Teachers Association urging restoration of the 9 per cent budget cut at all three high school for the 1969-70 school year.

The board met at a newly completed portable classroom at Tamalpais High School, and the Tamalpais Parent-Teacher Association had a coffee for the board prior to the meeting.

Boy's Arms Reattached

OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP) — A 12-year-old boy whose arms were torn off in a farm accident was reported conscious and improving today after a team of surgeons reattached both limbs to his body.

"He seems to be getting along pretty well," said Joe W. Gray of Henrietta, Tex., father of Brent Gray. "He's conscious and able to talk just fine."

Brent's arms were torn off by a feed-grinding machine at the family farm Sunday. The boy, his father and a doctor, along with the severed arms — packed in ice — were flown to a hospital where the surgeons performed a night-long operation.

"They will have to wait until healing progresses before the nerves can be resewn," a hospital source said, adding that the most dangerous period was the first 72 hours after the operation.

Youth Booked On Drinking, Drug

Thomas Keith O'Donnell, 19, of 30 Novato Street, San Rafael, was booked into Marin County Jail Friday for being drunk and possessing marijuana, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

He was arrested as he entered Pinky's Pizza Parlor in the Montecito Shopping Center at 10 p.m. on suspicion of being drunk. As he was being booked a plastic bag of marijuana, according to police, fell from his trousers.

He was released on $2,500 bail and is scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow.

Valley Homeowners To Discuss Bylaws

Proposed changes in the bylaws of the San Geronimo Valley Association will be discussed at 8 p.m. Jan. 19 at Lagunitas School, according to Claryce Stevens, association publicity chairman.

Bylaws changes were scheduled to be discussed Friday, but with the absence of the secretary and a Christmas party on the agenda, they were postponed until next month, Mrs. Stevens reported.

Three-Way Tam Talkfest Points In New Directions

Changes are in the making at Tamalpais High School in the aftermath of a daylong session of parents, teachers and faculty in October, Acting Principal Raymond J. Bell reported last night.

The full day's session on school problems, including racial friction, brought forth a number of recommendations and suggestions, he told the Tamalpais High School District board.

As a result one committee had proposed discussion sessions be held on the first Monday each month at the school with students, faculty and members of the community participating, he reported.

Another staff group has proposed a survey of the academic and vocational expectations of parents, students and recent graduates in order to develop goals and objectives which would be revelant to the demands, Bell said.

Another committee is studying student behavior and attendance policies with the aim of compiling "one concise document relating to student attendance and conduct," Bell reported.

Trustee Gloria Melbostad said one of the dominant themes at the October session was that there had been enough talk, and they "wanted something done."

Bell's report stressed long-range goals, and she felt there should be some short-range steps taken.

Acting Supt. Robert D. Torrey said some "short-range adjustments" have been made, such as additional supervisory help at the campus."

Guilty Plea To Having Marijuana

John Frederick Tanzi, 21, of San Anselmo, pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court yesterday to a reduced charge of possessing marijuana. He had originally been charged with raising marijuana at his home on Sept. 20.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson set sentencing for Jan. 26.

Marin Teens Begin Nailing Down Issues Most Important To Them

Marin youth is concerned about everything from rewriting American history to length of athletes' hair, a group of about 50 declared last night at a meeting of the Marin Youth Commission at the Civic Center.

After spending the first hour and one-half on what had transpired at the Governor's Youth Conference held in Sacramento Nov. 10 and 11, the group began nailing down some of the issues that confront Marin youth today.

They include lowering of the voting age so that older teen-agers will have a voice in government; rewriting textbooks so that they will tell American history, not white American history; exerting some influence on decisions such as on length of athletes' hair; presenting specific ideas on youth activities so that they can be supported by county funds, and having a "rap on drugs."

Chairman Mark W. Tracy, a senior at Novato High School, announced that another meeting would be held at 7 p.m. Jan. 6 in the Civic Center to see if some of these ideas can be jelled into an action program.

Trail Wood, a junior at Terra Linda High School, complained that teen-agers have little they can do. "We can't go to the parks because we get busted by the pigs. And sports are restricted to the short hairs."

Harry D. Williams, a representative from the Marin Human Rights Commission, objected to the use of the word "Pig."

"When you call a police officer a pig, what kind of response do you think you're going to get?" asked Williams. "If you call me an Injun or a black person a Nigger, you're going to get the same kind of response from him that you give him."

"I don't think this is the time to give us a lecture," replied young Wood.

Gary T. Giacomini, a representative from the Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission, asked students if they had done anything to exert any influence on the long-hair decision at Redwood High School. He suggested action rather than mere grumbling.

"Our biggest hangup is recreation," said Horace White, a member of the Human Rights Department staff. "Kids go to Northgate and get kicked out. Schools are not open on Saturday and Sunday. There's no place to hang out."

Anne Danenberg, a student at Redwood High School, said that "Berkeley had a drug rap thing" and Marin could do likewise. She said the important thing is not to keep stressing the harmful effects of drugs but to let youth talk. "Just to hear people who want to rap about drugs, maybe want help in getting off it or those who don't want to get off and say they dig it."

Gwen M. Monroe, youth coordinator; Albert J. Boro, represnting the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission; and Timothy M. Jackson, member of the County Administrator's staff, suggested that youth get down to problems they want resolved and present specific plans.

In summary, Boro said rewriting history books and lowering the voting age are long range goals. But the immediate goals is for youth groups to come up with concrete proposals such as coffee houses which the county and youth can finance on a 50-50 basis.

Members of the Marin Youth Commission who attended last night include teen-agers Tracy, Ann O'Rielly of Mill Valley, Ann Elliott of Ross, and Cathi Prebil of San Rafael, and adults Williams, Giacomini, and Boro.

Teen-ager Karry Fitch Jr. of San Rafael and adult John Donovan, representing the Juvenile Justice Commission, were absent.

Marti Bolton of San Rafael, a student teacher attending the University of Oregon, gave a slide presentation of the Governor's Youth Conference. Ann O'Rielly gave a summary of the conference and announced that many youths were disappointed that Governor Ronald Reagan did not attend.

Senior Citizens' Yule Party Set

A Christmas tree-trimming party for Mill Valley's senior citizens will be held from noon to 3 p.m. tomorrow at Brown's Hall by the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Department.

The program will feature a children's choir, Christmas caroling and a reading from "A Christmas Carol" by Stephen Hegarty of Mill Valley.

The trimmed tree will be given to the Valley Park Convalescent home after the program. Admission is a gift costing under one dollar to be given to patients at Sonoma State Hospital.

Suspects Deny Burglary Count

Three San Francisco men accused of burglarizing a Panoramic Highway residence Thursday have entered innocent pleas in Marin Municipal Court.

A preliminary hearing was set for Thursday for Peter Anthony Arai, 22, and Michael Lee Krane and Arthur George Metzger III, both 26.

They were nabbed by sheriff's deputies shortly after a reportedly witness saw their car leaving the house.

A $30 tire and rim were stolen yesterday from a truck owned by Lewis F. Bortfeld at 249 Jewell Street which was parked in front of 114 Bungalow Avenue, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Give Old Taylor for all it's worth.

When you give Bourbon why not give Old Taylor, the top-selling, premium-priced Bourbon in America. We can prove it's worth the extra money. There are about six reasons why:

OLD

1. Old Taylor was created by Col. Edmund H. Taylor, Jr., foremost Bourbon distiller of the late 1800's.

2. People galore tried to copy Old Taylor. So, in 1909, Col. Taylor changed the color of his label to a loud and clear yellow and printed the warning below. That took care of that!

THIS YELLOW LABEL IS IN EXCLUSIVE AND CONCLUSIVE USE

3. We make Old Taylor in this castle because it's near the delicious limestone spring the Colonel discovered in 1887.

4. Old Taylor is a signed original. Another step the Colonel took to foil would-be imitators.

OF TOPMOST CLASS

5. Nothing's changed since Col. Taylor put these three words on the label. We still use the same costly small grains, tend our mash as lovingly—still do everything just as the Colonel did it.

6. Taste it and you'll know why Old Taylor is the Bourbon worth giving. And this year the sculptured holiday decanter and regular bottle come gift wrapped at no extra cost. We've even engraved the word "Bourbon" under the decanter label.

Local Butcher Vanishing Breed

By HENRIETTA LEITH

NEW YORK (AP) — He wears a straw hat while he works; he flirts with the customer whether she's 18 or 80, and he goes down to the market and puts his stamp on a side of prime beef before it gets off the truck.

On his sales slips, cold cuts are called "provisions." He still speaks with a heavy German accent, his long white apron is unabashedly blood-spattered and his knives are wiped, never washed.

He is Arthur Braun, butcher, and he's one of a vanishing breed, an anachronism in these days of packaged supermarket meat.

THERE ARE STILL about 1,500 independent small-store butchers in all New York City, but a trade official can remember when there were 6,000.

And the shops, he says, are closing down every day for a variety of reasons in addition to supermarket competition—high rents, thefts and vandalism in changing neighborhoods, high labor costs.

In the narrow little shop on Eighth Avenue, Arthur, a short, round, man whose straw hat hides a bald pate, explains as he puts a paper frill on a double lamb chop how he manages to keep his customers.

"Charm . . . beauty . . . modesty," he says. "They come from all over the city, in cabs, in cars, the chauffeur brings them or the chauffeur picks up the meat. We deliver all over— we even deliver to a few old customers on Long Island and a couple in New Jersey.

"WE GET RICH people — show people, society people, stock brokers, importers and poor people. Negroes and Puerto Ricans, who are just sick and tired of supermarket meat.

"We give them 16 ounces to the pound. If you care to pay our price, you get service."

Since "our price" in the little butcher shops is frequently less for prime meat than the suburban housewife is paying for supermarket meat, thousands of New Yorkers are still trading with butchers like Arthur.

"Those who stick with the independent stores do not pay a penny more," says David Deerson, of the New York-Bronx Retail Meat and Food Dealers Association. "The supermarkets will advertise maybe one or two items cheaper, but over-all you pay just as much."

An old customer telephones Arthur Braun and simply says "My freezer's empty." "Okay, darling," says Arthur, "I'll fix you up," and he starts to cut and wrap all sorts of meat and provisions."

ONE PIECE OF beef is inspected, then carried back to the refrigerator — "not aged enough."

His partner, Bob Abeles, who like Arthur learned his trade "on the other side"—Arthur in Germany and Bob in Vienna—is filling a box with pounds and pounds of meat. The customer lives near him in Riverdale, in the Bronx, and he'll deliver the order "after hours."

A chic silver-haired lady in purple tweed wants "two breasts and a leg—I want to make creamed chicken." She wants loin lamb chops, too, but Arthur sadly tells her he just cut them all up for a big order and "the ones I have inside are all too fresh."

Another lady, not so chic, asks for veal—"a nice piece—is that good for grinding?" and is assured it will be perfect for grinding. She and the chic one discuss how to cook some odd cut.

"It's very nice for a change," says the silver-haired lady. "I've never made it but the girl does."

A STOOPED, tired workman asks for lamb neck and shank-cut in two pieces. "Take the fat off?" "No, leave it on."

A young swinger in knit bell-bottoms pushes a baby carriage into the store and Arthur says "Boy, the baby is getting big" and she studies the displays while a middle-aged woman asks for "the piece in the window."

With costs up, Bob and Arthur say their profit margin is "much less" and they have to make it up in volume. This means cutting out some of the "fancy butchering" that takes time—like cutting flowers in the fat on a roast or as one Manhattan butcher still does, inserting truffles under the skin of a turkey.

Industry sources say butchering will become even more automated soon. And the big chains won't even cut the meat and put it in the uniform, plastic-wrapped packages, but will get it that way right from the packing plant—all "portion-controlled."

But for a while, a lot of people will still be going to the Arthur's and Bob's and asking for a nice, dark, well-aged piece of beef or a dozen double lamb chops or soup bone and some scraps for the dog.

Ordinarily you don't get that at the supermarket. Nor do you get a free slice of bologna for the kid or a card at Christmastime, as you can at Arthur's.

BUTCHERS BOB Abeles, left, and Arthur Braun work on a costumer's order in their New York City meat market. They are considered a vanishing breed, since there are only about 1,500 independent small store butchers left in the city. A trade official remembers when there were 6,000 before supermarkets, high rents, thefts, vandalism and high labor costs forced many butcher to close their shops. (AP Wirephoto)

JO ANN VARGO

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony B. Vargo of Corte Madera announced the engagement of their daughter Jo Ann to Ronald Alan DeSilva, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DeSilva of San Rafael.

Jo Ann was graduated from Redwood High School. A member of the Native Daughters of the Golden West, she is employed by the California State Automobile Association in Greenbrae. Christine Vargo is her sister, and she is the granddaughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Della Maggiora of San Rafael High School and attended College of Marin. The future bridegroom served in the Navy and is employed by Walnut Optical Company in San Rafael.

Alcoholism On Increase Among American Women

Until 10 years ago, male alcoholics outnumbered women by about five to one. But authorities on the subject believe there are now three male alcoholics to every female alcoholic. Or even only two.

Precise figures are difficult to come by because so many woman alcoholics are "invisible" — housewives drinking secretly in their homes and found out only by husbands and children. Job-holding women alcoholics run the same risks of discovery by colleagues and bosses as men alcoholics.

Alcoholic mothers tend to blame their disease — and doctors believe it really is a disease — on such causes as boredom, loneliness, depression, marital troubles and fears of aging. Like men alcoholics, they tend to come from heavy-drinking families. Sixty-two per cent of alcoholics have at least one alcoholic parent.

The emotional havoc created by an alcoholic mother is so pronounced that it is surprising that any children escape. Many alcoholic mothers try to retain the illusion that their children do not know about their drinking, but it is invariably an illusion, the experts say. One alcoholic mother learned this when her three-year-old daughter tried to grab a can of beer from her hand. At that point the woman went permanently on the wagon.

TO PUBLISH ENGAGEMENT AND WEDDING STORIES IN THE I-J

Forms for engagement and wedding story information to be printed in the Independent-Journal are available from the I-J offices in San Rafael, Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma.

Wedding forms should be returned promptly to the I-J office in your area and information will be printed immediately after the wedding. Photographers should be urged to submit a print of the wedding picture promptly. Color photographs cannot be used.

The Independent-Journal does not print wedding stories or photographs received more than seven days after the wedding.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

We're Conditioned To Look For The Beauty That's On The Surface

DEAR HELEN:

"Fussy" who worries because she automatically turns off fellows who aren't terrifically handsome, is doing what comes naturally — but because she worries about it, there may be hope for her.

We're conditioned to look for beauty and handsomeness first, and push the real values aside. Even a politician can't make it any more unless he photographs well on television. If a gorgeous woman chooses an ugly man, people assume there's something wrong with her, or she married him for his money. It's even worse if a handsome guy marries an unattractive gal. She would have to be completely sure of herself or she'd lose him to the predators. And good looks have been so ground into us, that it's difficult for unattractive persons to ever be sure of themselves.

I hope "Fussy's" letter will start a lot of people thinking — and looking for the beauty underneath. — NO LONGER FUSSY

DEAR HELEN:

I once, like "Fussy," thought a date had to be just so in the looks department, or I was embarrassed to be seen with him. I soon found out Greek gods expected worship — among other things — and really, they often were dull fellows. Then I realized I was getting to be a dull girl too, because I figured my looks would carry me through.

So I found a man I could talk to. He's loaded with intelligence, charm, sex appeal, empathy, and he has terrific standards. Six months ago I might not have given him a second glance.

Now we're engaged, and I'm the luckiest girl in the world to be in love with an ugly-handsome man. Who ever said Romeo was an Apollo? — NO LONGER DULL

DEAR HELEN:

Enclosed is my picture. Please send it to "Fussy." Maybe it will start a beautiful friendship — DON

DEAR DON:

Sorry, I don't mix and match.

Besides, a handsome guy like you doesn't need a go-between — unless he has nothing going for him but good looks. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I used to think the Adonis type was automatically a wolf, so I left the tall-and-handsomes to my girl friend and chose the little intellectual-looking fellow with glasses. I planned to play it safe.

Who do you suppose wound up the night in a knock-down drag-out wrestling match: My girl friend with the wolf? Never. T'was me with my quiet guy. After one such encounter ended with a bloody nose but my virginity intact, I finally woke up to the fact that you can't tell a book by its cover. — DE-DE

DEAR HELEN:

My parents won't let me buy underground papers. Mainly, they don't like the ads in them and the four letter words. I'm 16, and well aware of what they mean, but that doesn't prove I'm going to become the kind of "swinger" mentioned in those ads or some of the stories, any more than my Dad will turn into the satyr that he laughs at in Playboy cartoons.

A lot of the writing in the undergrounds is alive and aware, and it tells you the other side that you often don't get in regular papers. I'm capable of sorting the good and bad. Why must my reading be censored? — 16

DEAR 16:

Adults censor because the underground newspapers tell them more than they really want to know about things they'd rather pretend don't exist.

I don't think the undergrounds will contaminate a wise 16, but then I'm not your parent. — H.

Modern Cards

The modern era of Christmas cards dates from 1900 to 1910, when a number of new publishing firms were first established. But the big boom came immediately after World War 1. At that time, public fancy was won over by the symbolic designs —Christmas trees, holly wreaths, gleaming candles, and church bells.

Longevity Outlook Is Optimistic For The Young People Of Today

If our younger generation keeps its cool, chances of its members living to the age 60 are considerably better than they were for their grandparents.

The outlook for young women is particularly heartening. According to the Health Insurance Institute, their chances of reaching the three score mark compared with those of young men, are even better today than they were 50 years ago.

IN 1910, for example, a 20-year-old man's chances of reaching 60 was about three in five, while a 20-year-old woman's was two in three.

The latest census figures indicate that today's 20-year-old man has about an eight out of 10 chance of reaching 60, while the 20-year-old woman has about a nine out of 10 average.

Young married couples, too, can in most cases look forward to something their forebears could never take for granted — the possibility of reaching the usual retirement age of 65 together.

And the odds are better than every that both husband and wife will live together 10 or more years beyond that point.

THE DRAMATIC progress made in recent years in medicine and public health is credited with creating the improved longevity outlook.

The average American's life span has improved so greatly that the 25-year-old husband with a 22-year-old wife can expect to be alive when she reaches 60 — in two out of three cases, that is.

Also, two out of five of these couples will survive the wife's 70th birthday, while one out of two will celebrate her 65th together.

Fifty years ago only three out of 10 couples could expect to be together to toast the little woman's 70th birthday.

THESE ESTIMATES, points out the Institute, are conservative in that they make no allowance for future medical advances that might further increase our survival rate.

Longevity today depends to a large degree on the quality and availability of health care. To date, more than 19 million people over 65 years of age have Medicare to help pay their hospital bills, but more than 10 million also own their own private hospital expense insurance to help pay the bills not paid by the government program.

But what are the chances of a newly married couple — the sound of wedding bells still fresh in their ears — living to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary?

On the basis of figures provided by insurance statisticians, their chances of reaching their 50th wedding anniversary are better than one out of four at the present time.

The couple plan to be married July 11.

If You Like It, You Can Wear It To A Party This Holiday Season

By JANE ROGERS
London Express Service

(London) — Down with the little black dress and three cheers for the fancy dress look in party clothes!

For years we've been expected to turn up at cocktail parties in something short, dark and respectable looking, to dinner parties in something long and hostessy, to grand parties in something that approximates a ball gown. This Christmas, thanks in a large measure to the influenece of the Hippies, we can wear exactly what we want to and get away with it.

At a party I went to in London last week, populated largely by show business personalities and models, but with a good solid core of spectator types too, it was fascinating to see the wide range of clothes worn, from near fancy-dress to very dress-down garments, and they all looked absolutely right because each party-goer had dressed to suit his or her personality — and that's the secret of the whole thing.

Don't be tempted to dress out of character. Nothing looks more apologetic than the girl who's wearing a Pocohontas outfit and isn't quite sure whether its right for her. Even worse, in a way, is the girl who's decided to take the plunge and buys a dress with a low-diving neckline only to try to cover it up, in an embarrassed way, all evening.

If you feel at your best in a plain dark dress then wear it — the chances are that this year you will stand out in the crowd as the girl who looks different. Play up to the color, especially if it is dark aubergine or black, by adding matching stockings and shoes, a bow in your hair too. Look dramatic.

The girl who loves dressing up, however, will have a simply wonderful time this year; nothing she chooses can be wrong, and separates rather than one-piece outfits are in favor so it is possible to mix and match your evening clothes, swap items with friends, adding pieces here and there to make an ever-changing look. Start off with a basic maxi-length skirt or culottes and build up your party wardrobe from there. If the skirt is plain and dark you can top it with overskirts in chiffon or net from time to time to give it a different look. Even the trousers can be jazzed up by the addition of braid round their bell-bottoms or a strip of osprey feathers. Lampshade fringing in the same color will give them a 1930s look, and the same trimming can be used for your top.

There's a huge variety of ideas from abroad around in the shops at the moment at prices that are very easy on the purse — mini-dresses from India, for instance, which make superb tunic tops. In brightly colored cotton they are heavily embroidered with pieces of mirror appliqued all over them so that they glitter when you move.

From Morocco came mini-length caftans in plain fine cotton lawn edged with matching braid. Slightly see-through, they look good worn over a glittery bra or, if you had a silver crochet bikini last summer, it looks very exotic underneath.

The biggest and newest idea on the party scene at the moment is the poncho in dozens of different forms. At one end of the scale it is knitted up in colorful wool and giant needles as a granny-type shawl, at the other it is made from black net, edged with flouncing and scattered with sequins to give it a flamenco look. The wide loose look that goes with the poncho idea can be seen in some of the evening dress designs too, in cowl necklines and generously cut belled sleeves, often embroidered with beads and sequins.

Want to turn a summer evening dress into a winter party one? Then sequins are the quickest and most glamorous way out we know. You simply dot round the pattern on the fabric with a special glue and stick sequins on to highlight the design.

Miss Duignan To Be Bride In Santa Rosa

The First Presbyterian Church in Santa Rosa will be the setting for the wedding of Nancy Kay Duignan of Santa Rosa and Andrew Isaac Koski Jr. of Petaluma on Jan. 10.

Nancy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Duignan of Santa Rosa, was graduated from Santa Rosa High School and Santa Rosa Junior College, where she was a member of the Women's Luncheon Club. Affiliated with the International Order of Job's Daughters, she is employed by a Santa Rosa insurance company.

Andrew, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Isaac Koski of Petaluma and a graduate of Petaluma High School, attended Santa Rosa Junior College, where he was a member of the Circle K Club. He is employed by a Petaluma lumber company.

Meditation Center Wins Marin Approval

A Hindu guru and his 40 disciples will be allowed to set up a center for meditation on a 250-acre ranch near Tomales, County Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill announced yesterday.

He approved a use permit for the Blue Mountain Center of Meditation, which was established in Berkeley in 1960 by Eknath Easwaran, an Indian guru who teaches the theory and practice of meditation at the University of California. The meditiation center will be located on the north side of Tomales-Petaluma Road about a mile and quarter east of Tomales.

Clean-cut disciples of Easwaran, most of them students or college graduates of the Berkeley-Oakland area, appeared before the zoning administrator on Dec. 1 and assured him that theirs is no hippie culture.

Spokesman Bronwen Godfrey, a registered nurse, said her group shuns drugs and doesn't even smoke cigarettes. The aim of the center to use the art of meditation for solving personal problems and improve family and community relationships, she said.

In approving a use permit for the meditation center, Cordill imposed several conditions. The group must meet all sanitary and fire protection requirements and may be ordered to undertake any reasonable program of weed abatement or soil protection to prevent erosion or spread of noxious weeds.

Police Agency Plans Approved

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — Planning of programs to guide improvement of local law enforcement agencies has been approved by the Association of Bay Area Governments regional criminal justice advisory board.

Completion of planning, as proposed by the board's staff, will take up to two years, reported Robert A. Mullen, staff coordinator. Local agencies will be able to use the programs in applying to the federal government for grants under the Safe Streets Act, he said.

The planning program, approved Friday, includes models for the juvenile justice system, police-community relations, mutual aid among police agencies, attacks on organized crime, training of police, corrections and rehabilitation, and drug abuse.

Closed Meeting By Hub Board

The San Anselmo School District board will hold a closed meeting today to discuss firing a teacher and possible hiring a nonteaching personnel.

The closed meeting will follow the open meeting starting at 7:30 p.m. at the Red Hill School library.

At the open meeting the board will hear a report on San Anselmo's proposed urban planning assistance program from City Engineer Charles R. Leitzell and planning consultant Sydney H. Williams.

Suspended Students To Gain Reentry

All students suspended from Tomales High School in an investigation of marijuana use will be allowed to return to school by next Monday, Supt. Charles E. McCully of Shoreline Unified School District announced yesterday.

Eleven of the students, who were suspended last Thursday, were allowed to return today, McCully said. Four others will be allowed to return tomorrow, two on Wednesday, and the remaining three next Monday.

McCully said no student was expelled. They were warned, however, that repeated infractions may bring more severe discipline, he reported.

McCully and Asst. Supt. Anthony Matulich met with the suspended students and their parents in individual conferences during the weekend. "The parent conferences were very successful, I felt," said McCully.

To follow up on the crackdown, the district will initiate a drug use education program for all classes in the high school, the superintendent said.

A meeting with the student body to discuss the problem and outline what remains to be done was scheduled today.

The crackdown followed a party at a Tomales home at which marijuana, beer and wine were in evidence, and continued reports of marijuana use by high school students. There were reports that as many as 50 teenagers attended the "pot party."

Checks Stolen

Two blank checks were stolen Saturday from the office of Mufflers Unlimited at 626 Lindaro Street, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Western Union Safe Is Hit, $220 Is Taken

Burglars pried open the safe at the Western Union office at 1004 Tamalpais Avenue, San Rafael, stealing more than $220 Saturday or Sunday, police reported yesterday.

They broke through a window at the adjacent Bargains Unlimited at 1006 Tamalpais Avenue, police said, and then bored a hole through a plasterboard bathroom wall into the Western Union office.

Two Christmas bundles containing shirt and ties valued at seven dollars each were taken from Bargains Unlimited, police said. Damage to the wall was estimated at $100.

28,390 Pounds Of Milk Is Produced

Ideograph Burkgov Steps, an 8 -year-old registered Holstein in the herd owned by Marvin L. Nunes of Point Reyes Station has produced a 28,390 pounds of milk and 980 of butterfat in 365 days, the Holstein-Friesian Association of America has announced.

The average dairy cow produces 8,821 pounds of milk and 325 of butterfat in the same period.

Marin City Firm's Shuttle Service Subsidy Doomed?

A Marin City company's appeal for a three-month subsidy to start bus service between Mill Valley and Tiburon apparently was doomed today by Marin County Transit District directors, despite a 4-3 vote approving the appeal. (See another transit story, page 1.)

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney advised the split board that six votes would be needed to authorize the $10,000 subsidy because it was not budgeted for this fiscal year.

However, the narrowly passed motion, made by Supervisor Michael Wornum, only authorized staff preparation of a contract for the subsidy, and did not itself authorize payment of the subsidy.

But board chairman John F. McInnis warned that unless the Marin City company could switch two votes, their appeal was "just a dead cause." None of the three who voted "no" offered to change his vote.

Voting for the subsidy were Mill Valley Mayor Deon N. Meyer, Supervisors Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., Wornum and McInnis. Voting against it were supervisors William A. Gnoss and Louis H. Baar and Corte Madera Mayor Edward W. Colthurst.

But even if two votes switched to the "aye" column, doubt remained whether the subsidy would be enough — since the Marin City company has upped its appeal from $10,000 to $15,000.

Last month, the company, Marin County Transit Systems Inc., won transit board approval of a $10,000 subsidy "in principle."

Today, however, company consultant Paul Kahn asked for $15,000 for the three-month trial.

The service is to feed commuters to the Tiburon ferry and to shuttle shoppers midday, but Kahn said the $10,000 subsidy had been based on the expectation that the company's three buses also could handle school children.

Asked if the company could start service with a $10,000 subsidy, Kahn told the Independent-Journal "we'll talk about it."

Last month the transit board had conditioned its approval of the subsidy on condition that Greyhound Lines West agree not to use the service as a reason to curtail its own operations. Greyhound declined to make such a promise, but district manager Seymour Kashin said Greyhound's "only concern was not to set a precedent for other interests they have."

McInnis said this explanation satisfied him. "We can't ask for more," he said.

Baar sharply criticized Kahn's estimate that showed operating expenses at 5.5 cents a mile, which Baar said was 20 years out of date. "If there's to be a subsidy, it should go to someone who has had experience," Baar said.

He also declared that the company "should get a new expert."

Kahn defended his figures, saying they were comparable to those in operating systems elsewhere in the nation. New equipment will reduce the company's costs, he said.

His figures set net income at $7,468 for three months, operating expenses at $22,776, and the net operating loss at $15,308. The company has reported it will get foundation grants to buy the buses.

Gnoss said the figures showed "there must be something wrong in the management." He said the job could be done better by the Golden Gate Bridge District.

School Held Ethnically Imbalanced

Pacheco School in the Novato School District is ethnically imbalanced under state Department of Education criteria, the district board learned last night.

The school's population is chiefly from Hamilton Air Force Base and 25 per cent of the enrollment consists of minority students.

The state consider sanything over 15 per cent of a district's average racial grouping an imbalance, Asst. Supt. for Instruction Paul C. Mobley told the board.

The district's average is 8.4 per cent, according to Edward F. Dolan, district information officer.

Mobley told the board a plan for correcting the imbalance is under study and will be available by June.

The Novato School District board also:

CLOSED SESSION — Spent 75 minutes behind closed doors to discuss renew contracts.

NEGOTIATIONS — Appointed Deputy Supt. Ralph Giovanniello as its chief representative to the teachers negotiating council, changing past policy naming the superintendent. Four principals were named as a team to assist him.

SAN MARIN — Learned bids for construction of a shop at San Marin High School will be opened Jan. 19 and be presented to the board Jan. 24. Federal financing is available for the building, Dolan said.

ADULT SCHOOL — Approved two new courses for the adult evening school winter sesssion — understanding your teenagers and cake decoration and design.

EASEMENT — Authorized a roadway easement along the Hill Road side of Hill Junior High School to the city for future widening.

TRAFFIC FLOWS AND SO DOES THE MUD

Automobiles sail past a mudslide on Puerto Suello Hill on Highway 101, just north of San Rafael. The mud slide, caused by heavy rains on Friday deposited only a small amount of dirt on the freeway shoulder and did not affect the traffic flow. According to Robert W. Halligan, of the State Department of Public Works, the slide was the result of a failure in the slope last winter and not unexpected. "We can expect minor mud slides until the hill stabilizes," Halligan said, adding he does not feel the slides will be large enough to create a hazard for motorists. (Independent-Journal photo)

Fire Budget Of $106,125 Is Presented

A preliminary 1970-71 budget of $106,125, up $30,502 from the present fiscal year, was presented by Fire Chief Gaylord E. Bonfield to the Marinwood Fire Commission last night.

Bonfield said the budget, which must be approved by the community services district board, would help to bring the department up to American Insurance Association standards and thus soften insurance rates for homeowners.

Bonfield said the AIA requires certain hose footage, smoke ejectors, flood lights, emergency generating equipment and other items not included at present in the Marinwood department's supplies.

Bonfield said the tentative budget would provide the department's five paid firemen with a 10 per cent salary increase, including 5 per cent for a cost-of-living rise.

The commission asked for budget revisions by its Jan. 12 meeting. The budget may go to the CSD board later next month.

Marin Tax Bite Less Than 33 Counties Get

Marin County's Basic tax rate of $2.395 per $100 assessed valuation is well below the statewide mean, according to a report from State Controller Houston I. Flournoy to the county auditor-controller.

Basic tax rate for the 58 counties range from a low of $1.67 in Orange County to a high of $3.42 in Sacramento County. Thirty-three counties have a higher rate than Marin.

Of the total budget requirement, Marin finances 39 per cent through property taxes. This is the highest percentage in the state.

"This merely means that our total welfare budget is low and we receive less federal and state subventions," said County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell. He said counties that have huge welfare costs get more in state and federal aid, which means a larger percentage of state and federal aid.

The county that receives the most outside aid is Trinity County, which pays only 15 per cent of its total budget from local property taxes.

Contra Costa and San Mateo pay about 33 per cent of their total budget from local property taxes. The percentage in Alameda, Sonoma and Napa counties is 30 per cent.

By population, Marin ranks 18th in the state. Yet, in total welfare budget, Marin ranks 31st.

Hub Restaurant Barred On Takeout Service Grounds

After a two-hour discussion, the San Anselmo Planning Commission last night voted 6-1 that a proposed operation by Cable Car Burgers and Fisherman's Wharf Fish and Chips was a carryout restaurant, and would not be permitted in the proposed location on San Anselmo Avenue.

The commission found four grounds for its decision, assistant planner John T. O'Rourke reported.

Promotional material, including the menu, referred to takeout food; a proposed sign for the building read "takeout food"; the physical plan for the building and self-service layout indicated a takeout operation, and the method of serving — throwaway plates and the like — indicate a takeout operation.

Sole vote against the motion was cast by Commissioner Allen J. Creighton, who did not give a reason for his dissent, O'Rourke said.

The proposed restaurant site is in a commercial district which permits restaurants but not takeout restaurants.

The Cable Car-Fisherman's Wharf franchisers may appeal to the city council, O'Rourke said.

The commission also recommended council approval of apartment zoning sought by Ronald Harder for two lots at 55 Magnolia Avenue, now in single-family zoning. The lots must be combined and the front yard setback must be 27½ feet instead of 20 feet, the commission ruled.

Ross Trustees Adopt Teacher Rating Policy

The Ross School District board last night adopted as policy a requirement that a teacher's performance be officially evaluated before the instructor is permitted to progress on the salary schedule.

Dist. Supt. Thomas A. Anderson said it was discovered this spring that Ross, unlike many other districts, did not have such a policy.

The Ross School District Teachers Association, after reviewing the evaluation proposal, expressed it approval last night, Anderson said.

In other business, the board named Marian Gumz, an English teacher, to take on the added duties of district librarian for the remainder of the school year at an unspecified salary. The librarian, Shirley Peltzman, resigned for personal reasons.

The board also postponed until the Jan. 19 meeting a report by Paul Rosenthal and Associates on an engineering survey at Ross School. Anderson told the board last night, however, that a boiler at the school, feared worn out, would not need replacement.

Body Identified; El Cerrito Woman

The body of a woman found floating east of Angel Island Sunday was identified today by the Marin County Coroner's office as that of Betty Ann Ourke, 36, of El Cerrito.

The corormer reported that Mrs. Ourke, a divorced and unemployed computer operator, had been missing since last Thursday and that her car was found yesterday parked at the eastern end of the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge.

Judge Leaves Melkonian Out Of Jail

Melkon Melkonian, Mill Valley "marijuana martyr" convicted two years ago of having pot for sale, yesterday won his long fight to stay out of jail — at least in Marin County.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson decided to accept the recommendation of the probation department contained in a new report ordered last month that Melkonian receive straight probation for one year.

Two years ago the same judge had sentenced Melkonian to one year in jail. Melkonian was allowed a stay of that sentence, however, while the case was appealed. When his conviction was upheld almost a year ago, Melkonian did not show up for the jail term.

His attorney, Richard Cohen of Sausalito, said yesterday that Melkonian mistakenly believed that the Marin case was "trailing" one in San Francisco that is still being appealed. When he found out this was not true, he came to court, according to Cohen.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Gary W. Thomas yesterday argued that Melkonian should have to serve the year. When Judge Wilson pointed out that Melkonian had served about half that time in his San Francisco case, Thomas asked that he now serve the other half.

Noting that Melkonian still has a "prison sentence hanging over his head" if the San Francisco conviction is upheld, Judge Wilson turned down Thomas's request.

Melkonian had been convicted in Marin of having more than 26 kilos of marijuana for sale. In San Francisco he was convicted of conspiring to sell pot.

During his trial there, nearly 2,000 affidavits supporting pot smoking were presented.

Arrest Leads To Drug Check

Johnathan Christopher Roberts, 31, of Gate 5 Road, Waldo Point, was arrested today by Sausalito police on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs after a white powder was found in his pocket while being searched following his arrest on San Francisco and Marin County traffic warrants.

Roberts was booked into Marin County Jail to appear in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon.

Police said Roberts was arrested on the warrants after he had been ejected from Fred's restaurant at Bridgeway and Spring Street at 8:30 a.m. as an unwanted guest.

Terra Linda Slate

Robert Bennett was elected chairman of the Terra Linda Community Service District board at last night's meeting of the group. He replaces Neal D. Harding who served in the post for two years. Richard L. Lessing was named vice chairman.

Editor Still Facing Pot Violations

When no complaint was ready to be filed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court against Stephen McNamara, publisher and editor of the Pacific Sun, he was allowed to proceed with plans to leave for a two-week visit to Denmark.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Peter Mitchell said today, however, that charges will probably be pressed against McNamara, who was arrested about noon Saturday on suspicion of possessing marijuana and narcotics paraphernalia and being in a place where pot was used.

The case of a woman arrested with him at his home, Mair Hefina MacKenzie, 36, of Sausalito, was also still under investigation today by the district attorney's office. She was booked on suspicion of being in a place where marijuana was used.

Police went to the McNamara home Saturday morning after an anonymous phone caller said she feared McNamara had been hurt and was ill after a party Friday night which resulted in broken windows throughout the house.

Police called out, but receiving no answer, entered the house to look for McNamara. In the kitchen, officers said they found three plastic bags of what appeared to be marijuana.

The smell of burning marijuana filled the house, police said, and McNamara and Mrs. MacKenzie were the only persons there.

$12,000 Damage From Blaze In Lagunitas Cabin

Fire gutted a four-room cabin in Lagunitas last night causing $10,000 damage to the structure and $2,000 to the contents, Marin County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom reported today.

Flames engulfed the kitchen in the cabin at Arroyo Road and El Cerrito at 8:36 p.m., according to Bloom, when tenant Larry Storkey tried to throw a flaming can of charcoal lighter fluid out of a window and missed. Storkey had been trying to light a wood stove when the lighter fluid ignited the can, part of the kitchen and the stove, he said.

Seven firemen using three trucks fought the blaze for thirty minutes before it was contained. The cabin was owned by Judith Fullick of 121 Redwood Avenue, Woodacre, Bloom said. Storkey and the other tenant William E. McGuire were not injured in the fire.

Innocent Plea To Burglary Charge

John D. Renda, 25, of Santa Rosa, pleaded innocent yesterday in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court to charges of burglary and assault with a deadly weapon.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon refused a defense request to lower the $25,000 bail because an injury had been involved in the incident. A preliminary hearing was set for 10 a.m. Thursday.

Renda is accused of burglaring the Ruegge Motors, 527 East Washington Street, Petaluma, Thursday night and striking owner Lee Ruegee with a tire iron when he happened on the scene. Ruegge was treated at Hillcrest Hospital for cuts of the head and throat.

Against What Education Do The Students Rebel?

In Carl J. Brown's outspoken statement at last week's San Rafael Board of Education meeting, he touched on what may be at least in part the explanation for student uprisings.

Calling for establishment of limits on students' freedom of action and choice, "Coach" Brown said:

"I am positive that the permissiveness of education — exemplified by the 'satisfactory for this child' syndrome — is responsible at least for the lawlessness and rebellion of youth."

IN THE WAKE of student uprisings at colleges, universities and high schools throughout the land, we have heard over and over again from educational leaders that the students are rebelling in large part against what they feel is the irrelevance of their education.

What kind of education is it against which they are rebelling? What is it that they find so irrelevant?

The implication in the educators' writings seems to be that the students want to throw off the yoke of required lectures and rote learning.

OVER A CENTURY ago, students in some American universities did rebel violently against such an education — a hidebound curriculum inherited from the Renaissance institutions of Europe and based mainly on Greek and Latin grammar and philosophy; lectures with no opportunity for student discussion; endless rote learning and memorization.

But that kind of education is long gone.

Rote learning and memorization have virtually vanished. No public school has required Greek and Latin in a long time. Class discussion has largely replaced the lecture.

BUT WITHIN the present decade, current writings of doubtful value have in many classes replaced the literary classics that replaced Cicero and Vergil. The English grammar that replaced that in Greek and Latin has been downgraded. Sociology has assumed the all-encompassig role in the curriculum that was accorded philosophy when those 19th Century students rebelled.

Course titles have become unreliable. A course labeled "English" may turn out to be sociology of a sort; one labeled "history" may also turn out to be sociology of a sort.

Along with this has come what Brown called "the 'satisfactory for this child' syndrome," with abandonment of strict examination, grading and promotion requirements. The point to which standards have crumbled was well illustrated in August when the California State Board of Education, mandated by the Legislature to establish requirements for graduation from high school, placed them at the eighth grade level in English and mathematics — because it dared not put them any higher.

IT IS THIS KIND of education at which the students rebel.

And what has been the response, in most cases, of school administrators and faculties? It has been to give the students more freedom of choice among the courses they find meaningless. It has been to put students on faculty committees, as if they knew how to run the school.

Every school still has many sound courses. The majority of every faculty is still devoted to genuine education. But this does not stop the erosion any more than does the fact that the majority of students are too intelligent to turn outlaws in protest.

If students find the courses meaningless, the solution is to offer them courses that have meaning.

If they find grades meaningless, the solution is to give the grades meaning.

If they show disrespect for their school, the solution is to enforce rules that will produce a school they will respect.

GOLDEN GATE VIEW

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

California Democrats have perfected the art of fighting among themselves even when there are no spoils.

Facing a hopeless match against Gov. Ronald Reagan's certain bid for reelection, at least Democrats will be treated to another debilitating intraparty bloodletting.

First to wave the red flag signaling it's time to tear themselves apart was former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. He didn't stop last week at declining to endorse either Unruh or Alioto, but added, "I'll do for Jesse what he did for me."

The Assembly Democratic leader originally supported Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in 1968.

OF ALIOTO, who nominated him for president at Chicago, Humphrey said, "I can't help but feel a sense of obligation to his wonderful helpfulness to me in the presidential election."

Thus, with a few ill-chosen words, Humphrey, whose nomination split his party wide open, threw salt into the wounds his own campaign left in the impoverished flanks of California's Democratic Party. With friends like this, the Democrats don't need to worry about the Republicans doing them in.

MARIN DEMOCRATS suffer from the same divisions, which we recently said had reduced them to a oribund state. Th desciption was welcomed by several leading Democrats as somewhat charitable. One county official, who happens to be a Democrat, suggested that the only way to revive a second political party in Marc would be for the Marin County Democratic Central Committee to resign en masse with a public admission that its members had failed utterly to provide leadership, and an invitation for new party loyalists to take over the job they muffed.

REMEMBER the Tripartite Transportation Committee?

It used to meet regularly and even make news sometimes before the Golden Gate Bridge District board was expanded to include Marin and San Francisco supervisors. In those days, which ended a year ago, the committee was the only forum where representatives of the two counties and the bridge district could meet.

It hasn't met since March, but it's still in existence — like some sick cow no one has had the courage to dispatch. Meetings are called at odd intervals, but cancelled when someone remembers there is no reason for it to meet.

As Clemenceau once remarked, "There is no passion as intense as that of the functionary for his function." And so officialdom clings to a committee with no function.

MARIN is the center of the universe, we all know, so it seems only appropriate — to us, at least — that Marinites hold five of the 25 voting seats on the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission. Not bad for a county with only about 5 per cent of the Bay Area's population.

One was appointed by the governor, one by the Senate Rules Committee, one by the state Resources Agency, one by the Marin County Board of Supervisors, and one by the Association of Bay Area Governments.

More Readers Comment On Carl Brown Statement

From Novato

You are to be commended for giving Mr. Carl Brown's statement front-page treatment. He has spoken the views of most parents we know.

Edmund Burke wrote: "The only thing necessary for the triump of evil (or mediocrity) is for good men (or those who know better) to do nothing."

Congratulations to Carl Brown, who did something. We support his attack on the amo- freedom-without-responsibility rality of this country and the that pervades America.

It was refreshing to read Mr. Carl J. Brown's remarks concerning teacher permissiveness and the rebellion of youth. The City of San Rafael is extremely fortunate to have a man with his philosophy on their school board. We sincerely hope that school board members, teachers and administrators in other districts will carefully study his remarks since we believe they express the feelings of the vast majority of parents and citizens in this area.

From San Anselmo

Congratulations to Carl Brown of the San Rafael Board of Education and member of the Tamalpais School District for expressing so well the feelings of many other teachers like myself with regard to current social and educational trends! And congratulations to the I-J too for giving his views such prominent "billing"! This isn't the kind of thing one expects to hear from modern educators, so it was indeed heartening to see the views of the over-ruled and out-voted minority in print for a change. It's about time the public learned that they aren't alone in having serious apprehension and forebodings with regard to some of the policies which have recently been introduced into our schools. There are still, thank God, a lot of wonderful kids and excellent students — but the number of "bad apples" is increasing alarmingly. "The proof of the pudding," they say, "is in the eating." Shouldn't that also apply to educational changes?

Self-respect and self-discipline are the fore-runners of respect for other human beings, their rights and properties.

Mr. Carl J. Brown is so agonized over the battered and muddied heap of our attitudes and morals that he felt compelled to publicly express his agony.

His statement provoked feelings of admiration from us for him and a wish to make a commitment to decency and the standards of behavior that support feelings of self-respect and discipline and standards that will not deprive us of the beauty and meaning or our personal and public lives and our environment.

Santa Venetia

From Greenbrae

Mr. Carl J. Brown, in your Dec. 10 issue, certainly was "telling it like it is," in your article, "Scathing Attack on Nation's Morals."

It takes "guts" to go counter to the general drift of things, even when you know you are right. Mr. Brown is to be commended for standing up for our youth, in the face of our liberal "let the kids run it" influence so unfortuantely prevalent.

If there are people who still wonder at the lack of support and enthusiasm on the part of the general public for our educational policies, they would do well to digest this article.

It would certainly behoove those citizens who feel that Mr. Brown's statements are the result of a very sound and sensible analysis of the situation, to give him a verbal "pat on the back" and support him wherever possible. We should not permit Mr. Brown's sentiments to be drowned in the mass of persiflaginous verbal attacks surely to follow.

Bully for Brown!

From Marinwood

Your article in the Dec. 10 issue, "Scathing Attack on Nation's Morals," highlights of a paper read by Carl J. Brown during a meeting of the San Rafael Board of Education, earns you a "bouquet."

Anticipating the certain counterattack coming against Mr. Brown, I wish to make several points in support of his stand:

1. His statements as to conditions extant are certainly those accepted by the public generally.
2. His arraignment of the underlying causes appears to be accurate and sensible. Certainly, few people would disagree with him on this.
3. His concern, rather than being strictly "dollar oriented," which in itself is defensible, is more with the youth themselves, and the effect of the "do it yourself" philosophy so prevalent amongst our educators, and supported by many school board members.
4. I have had several occasions to discuss various matters of policy with members of the San Rafael Board of Education, and have found Mr. Brown to be the only member who is always straight forward in conversation, open in discussion, and real and sound in his concern for our youth as well as our money.

Mr. Brown is a very believable person, and I support his efforts to promote sanity within the San Rafael Board of Education. I recommend what he has to say to the public and to all the educators of the county.

From Tiburon

"Amen" to Carl Brown's statement (I-J, Dec. 10) to the San Rafael school board about the nation's morals.

Teachers, school boards, etc., take note: The concerned thinkers are fed up with permissiveness and destructive negative teaching (in the guise of self-criticism) in the educational systems. Yes, there are wrongs in our country, but where else can you openly discuss them? That's a positive feature in itself! Instead of constant criticism we need grateful hearts with a desire to do better with what blessings we have!

Good for Mr. (Carl J.) Brown. I support his remarks 100 per cent! And if the votes are ever counted let mine be the first.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Dec. 16, 1959

A proposal to run a rapid transit line through Mill Valley's Project 17 recreation area met nothing but objections at a public meeting in Mill Valley.

Fairfax School District trustees decided to try again in March an election to increase the district's general purpose operating tax rate from $1.25 to $2. The raise was turned down at the polls in October, 1958.

20 YEARS AGO

Dec. 16, 1949

The Inland Boatmen's Union approved a contract settlement with the Richmond-San Rafael ferry, ending a five and one-half month strike.

Rep. Richard M. Nixon, Republican candidate for the Senate seat held by Democrat Sheridan Downey, made a bid for Marin votes at a meeting of civic leaders in Mill Valley.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Call For Israel Settlement May Have Come Too Late

WASHINGTON — With his genial, unassuming presence Secretary of State William P. Rogers has stepped into the lion's den of the Arab-Israeli conflict. Whether as another Daniel he will survive unscathed is still uncertain.

The first reaction to Rogers' speech stating publicly for the first time that Israel must withdraw from the territory overrun in the six-day war in return for Arab guarantees of a binding peace has been favorable. This has been the American position, privately expressed, for a long time.

As a public posture intended to galvanize the four powers — Britain, France, the Soviet Union and the United States, which have been working for agreement of the middle east, it may come too late. As the four have backed and filled, with long, quiescent, do-nothing periods, the undeclared war has steadily escalated. In continuing exchanges in the air and on the ground it has stopped just short of full-scale conflict.

NEW TO FOREIGN policy when he accepted the post to secretary a year ago, Rogers did his homework at the United Nations General Assembly in the fall. He had long talks with the Arab foreign ministers in a sincere effort to go behind the propaganda speeches to try to learn the realities of their position. One thing he found was their genuine concern over increasingly total depandence on the Soviet Union for both military and economic aid.

Rogers saw at least a hope of willingness to work toward a peaceful settlement that could see the end of terrorism and reprisal for that terrorism.

But the secretary is under no illusion about the degree of success the Russians have had in the Middle East. Their propaganda barrage linking the United States and Israel in a conspiracy against the Arabs has been highly effective. Coupled with their aid it has meant a penetration deep into the Mediterranean littoral and, beyond that, in Arab Africa.

THIS GIVES added importance to Rogers' African journey in February. He will go first to Morocco and Tunisia. The latter, flanked by Libya, where the recent coup put Nasser-like colonels in power, and Algeria, which is tied to Moscow, is understandably worried about a position that has been pro-western and resistant to the demands of Cairo.

At least four countries to the south, including Kenya and Congo-Kinshasa, will be on the itinerary. It will be the first time a secretary of state in office has gone to Africa. That fact alone gives the journey a special significance.

NOT ONLY did the secretary bite the bullet of a peace settlement, but he gave at least a glancing thought to the unthinkable. In a passage long debated in the department and finally left in the draft of the speech, he talked about the Palestinian refugees. For over 20 years, he pointed out, the United States has provided virtually the entire support for the ever-increasing refugee population, at a cost of a half-billion dollars.

"The problem posed by the refugees will become increasingly serious if their future is not resolved," he warned.

The tragic dilemma of Israel as "victor" in the six-day war grows out of a greatly enlarged dominated population resorting to terror and violence that can be controlled only by the sternest repression.

ISRAEL, WITH close ties with the West and a rapidly expanding economy incorporating all of contemporary technology, has had a unique place in the Middle East. Opinion in the West has with few exceptions favored the new nation surrounded by a sea of turbulent Arabism. This imbalance has been a source of deep resentment in the Arab world.

Today opinion appears to be shifting. Two leading London newspapers, the Times and the Sunday Times, recently ran articles critical of Israeli treatment of Arabs in the occupied territories. Charges have come from various quarters of the concentration-camp-like treatment of subject peoples, the leveling of houses and even whole towns. These may be grim necessities, as the Israelis see it, in the midst of an alien and hostile population. But the consequences in world opinion can be damaging. Rogers' declaration may at this point look like a poshible way out.

Russ Writer Puts Finger On U.S. Policy Conflict

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

A publication just out in Moscow declares that in the field of foreign relations the United States follows "a very zigzag policy."

To this, some of the United States' allies in NATO echo a fervent "amen."

The new Moscow publication bears the title "The Modern Diplomacy of Imperialism" and comments on the policies of the United States, Britain, France, West Germany and Japan.

THE AUTHOR of the American section bears the well-known name of Gromyko. He is Anatoli Gromyko, son of Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko. The younger Gromyko served in the Soviet embassy in Washington and is on U.S. Affairs.

Presumably by coincidence, the book came out just before the start of the U.1-Soviet Strategic Arms Limitation (SALT) talks in Helsinki.

It is Gromyko's contention that the United States still is far from committed to a policy of disarmament, although sentiment is moving in that direction.

HE SEES a confrontation in Washington between forces "who are not interested, at least at the present moment, in a radical easing of international tension," and "those who want to see American diplomacy break away from the heritage of (John Foster) Dulles."

"This confrontation," he said, "is reflected in the activities of the Nixon government, which practices a very zigzag policy in the international arena."

THE ECHO of agreement comes from NATO nations who find themselves unsure of U.S. intent but nonetheless find by necessity their own foreign policy bound to it.

For publication, they favor the U.S.-Soviet Helsinki talks but privately fear that any agreement between the two would mean a corresponding decline in American interest in the security of Western Europe.

They fear also the extent of U.S. determination to use its nuclear arsenal in the event of Communist attack, that in its new isolationism it might opt for its own safety over that of Western Europe.

For the same reasons they do not wholly trust U.S. assurances that U.S. troop strength of around 200,000 in Europe will be maintained at that level at least until the middle of 1971.

THAT, AT the moment, is their greatest fear. The United States already has withdrawn 32,000 men and Britain 5,000. Canada is to cut her 9,800-man force in half.

Drastic U.S. troop cuts, they say, would place upon Western Europe an insuperable burden in its own defense.

Eastern Kansas Towns May Give Preview Of Marin Next Year

The shape of things to come: On the Thanksgiving weekend, I took a trip to eastern Kansas. There the two towns I visited had enacted anti-backyard burning laws. Why, I could not figure out, because the wind is almost always blowing in Kansas and the chance of air pollution is very remote.

In case one is not familiar with eastern Kansas towns, they have wide parking areas between the sidewalks and streets. These are lined with elms, maples, sycamores, hackberry and other deciduous trees. In the autumn, the leaves fall.

So these fallen leaves were piled all along the parkings, waiting the city trucks to haul them off. There were miles and miles of four to six foot high piles of leaves and other debris. It was illegal to rake them into the street.

To keep the leaves from blowing around, some people covered the long mounds with old blankets, rugs, rug padding, plastic sheets, and anything that would hold them down. A few had put them in big plastic bags.

Of course someone had pull with the city and the city's street sweeper was going past his house. The man (probably the mayor) would rake the leaves into the street (illegal) and the sweeper would pick them up. Up and down the sweeper went, getting the leaves of just the one man. Everyone else had to pay to have his leaves hauled away.

That may be a sampling of what we are in for after the backyard burning ban goes into effect here on Jan. 1.

BABE SILVA, who has been the watchdog on the finances of the Novato city government for all but two of its 10 years, may not be on the city council next year.

It is not that he is quitting public service, but he may go up a step. He might run for the board of supervisors. With his following in Novato and his friends among the rual people of the district, he would be a powerful candidate.

Although it is a little early to predict, there is talk around North Marin of Babe's running for the board.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss has not yet announced whether he will run. When he campaigned last time, he said he would not run again, but all politicians can change their minds. When asked, Bill answered with the question, "Do you think I should retire?"

From here now it looks as though if Gnoss does not run, Silva will try to take his place.

Of course there will be other candidates.

THE NORTH MARIN Federation (of homeowners associations) has waged a long, hard battle against John Kenney's proposal for 1,800 mobile home pads south of Highway 37 west of Black Point. Apparently it has won, at least temporarily. After the planning commission deadlocked over it Monday night, Kenney withdrew the application for a use permit.

The federation's main argument was that mobile homes do not pay their share of taxes, even though this one was proposed for an adult community and would not add to school costs.

We wonder if in winning its point, the federation didn't possibly open a can of worms? The area is still zoned "planned community" and Kenney could present a plan for single-family units.

Then with the new state law allowing prefabricated low-cost housing anywhere in the state, the area could be turned, almost overnight, into a mass of cheap houses. These would probably be occupied by young families and the school district could suddenly find several thousand more children in the district. Then the tax problem would really be great for the school district.

OUR VOTE for the meanest individual this time of year goes to those who steal outside Christmas decorations and lights.

Guilty Plea To Burglary Count

Kenneth James Hough, 22, of Novato, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to the second degree burglary of a San Rafael landscape firm Oct. 23.

Sentencing was set for Jan. 5.

Hough was arrested after police found him and 16-year-old companion near the Turf and Tree firm at 625 Grand Avenue. He was accused of taking seven chain saws valued at $2,200.

Pleads Guilty

Paul Ross Mushen, 19, of Sausalito, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to possessing a dangerous drug Aug. 28 in Sausalito. Judge Joseph G. Wilson set sentencing for Jan. 26.

ART BUCHWALD

Spend, Spend For Christmas— Remember Adolph Zimmermeister

WASHINGTON — The death of Adolph Zimmermeister was listed on the police books as an accidental fall from a traffic helicopter over the Long Island Sound.

But Mrs. Zimmermeister said she suspects foul play and has asked for a reopening of the case.

She told me in her modest apartment in the Bronx that she is certain that someone took Adolph for a ride.

"WHO COULD IT have possibly been?" I asked her.

"I don't know. Adolph didn't have an enemy in the world, at least not until a month ago. That's when the trouble started. Adolph announced at the family Thanksgiving dinner that he wasn't going to buy any Christmas presents this year. At first everyone thought he was joking, but Adolph said he was absolutely serious and if they didn't believe him they should try holding their breath waiting for a gift or a card from him.

"Someone at the dinner must have told someone what Adolph said, because two days later three men, all wearing carnations, showed up at the apartment.

"ONE OF THE MEN said, 'Adolph, is it true that you are not going to buy any Christmas presents this year?'

"Adolph replied, 'Absolutely true. My wife and I agreed we love each other and I don't have to buy her a fur coat or a diamond ring to prove it.'

" 'As for the children, they're at the age when they resent anything we do for them, so there doesn't seem to be any sense spending money on them when we're only going to get kicked in the teeth.'

" 'But what about the spirit of Christmas giving?' one of the men said.

" 'I've got the spirit,' Adolph told them. 'It's just that I can't afford it.'

" 'NO ONE CAN afford Christmas,' one of the men yelled, 'That's not a valid excuse. The very lifeblood of this nation depends on people who can't afford Christmas to go out and buy, buy, buy, even if they go into debt to do it.'

" 'That's just the point," Adolph said. 'I decided not to go into debt this year.'

"One of the men who seemed to be the leader said, 'Adolph, we're from the Gross National Product Society, the GNP, and our job is to see that no one, and we mean no one, does anything to hurt the country's economy.

" 'This nation cannot live without Christmas. Your attitude is more danagerous than the worst bomb-throwing anarchist. And if other people heard what you were up to and followed suit, this country could go down the drain.'

" 'I'M SORRY about that. Would it make you feel any better if I went to church on Christmas Day?' Adolph said.

"The leader of the group got up and said, 'Adolph, we're giving you a last chance. Are you or are you not going to buy presents this Christmas?'

"The three men started for the door. 'Don't say we didn't warn you!"

"BUT," I ASKED Mrs. Zimmermeister, "why did you suspect foul play?"

"For one thing, Adolph's never been in a helicopter in his life, and for another, at his funeral a large wreath arrived with a ribbon which said, 'To our dear friend Adolph, from his fraternal brothers at the GNP'."

Busterud New Leader Of Club

The Scott 2503 Compact Stereo System... it's not as expensive as it sounds.

Scott has an enviable reputation for making the best professional stereo components. And when you hear the 2503 compact AM/FM/FM stereo/phono system, you'll know that reputation is well-deserved. Rated by Buyers Guide Magazine as a BEST BUY, the exciting 2503 puts a lot of entertainment in a small space. Integrated Circuits and Field Effect Transistors make the difference, letting you hear more stations more clearly, with virtually no outside interference, no drift, no distortion.

The automatic turntable is made to Scott specifications by Garrard, and includes sensitive Pickering magnetic cartridge and diamond stylus. There's also a cueing device that lets you raise or lower the tone-arm at any point on the record. The speakers are Scott air-suspension systems... bookshelf size, ballroom sound.

The 2503 is versatile, too. You can plug in extra speakers, a tape deck, tape cartridge player, headphones, and a microphone and guitar. And the biggest surprise of all is the price . . . from $259.95 to $379.95 depending on choice of speakers.

120—New Cars For Sale

THANK YOU MR. and MRS. MARIN

A recent survey of the comparison of motor vehicle registrations (Source: Department of Motor Vehicles) showed that Marinites are buying a higher percentage of their new cars in Marin . . . Between 1960 and 1969 Marin and San Mateo counties gained 37.2% in new private passenger car registrations whereas San Francisco DECLINED 6.6%. We, the new car dealers of Marin appreciate your confidence in us and in our product and local service. We shall strive to continue to warrant your confidence through lower prices and better service.

Before You Buy "Across the Bridge" Compare Prices, Trade-in Allowances and Service with these Marin County New Car Dealers!

ACCOUNTANTS' REPORT

TO THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS
Marin Hospital District
San Rafael, California

We have examined the accompanying balance sheet of MARIN GENERAL HOSPITAL as of June 30, 1969 and the related statement of revenue and expense for the year then ended, and including the accumulated excess of revenue over expense. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

We were unable to obtain confirmation of receivables aggregating approximately $437,000 from the fiscal intermediary for the Medicare program and from the other government agencies; however, by using other auditing procedures, we were able to satisfy ourselves with respect to such receivables.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements present fairly the financial position of Marin General Hospital at June 30, 1969, and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

MARIN GENERAL HOSPITAL
MARIN HOSPITAL DISTRICT
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
JUNE 30, 1969

NOTE 1 — ALLOWANCE FOR MEDICARE REPORTING:

An amount of $35,000, comprised of $25,000 relating to prior years and a $10,000 provision for the year ended June 30, 1969, has been established for possible adjustment of amounts previously recovered under the Medicare program. The actual amount which may be payable is subject to review and possible adjustment to an extent indeterminable as of June 30, 1969.

NOTE 2 — PROPERTY, PLANT AND EQUIPMENT:

The Community Mental Health Center was completed during the current fiscal year. The Marin General Hospital District had owned the real property upon which the Community Mental Health Center was constructed and accepted title to the improvements and various portable equipment which had been constructed with federal and state aid.

Total project cost amounted to $1,581,392 including portable equipment of $88,281. Construction cost of $1,493,111 includes certain fixed equipment costs which are not determinable at this time. Since it is the Hospital's policy not to take depreciation expense in the year of acquisition the entire $1,493,111 has been treated as an addition to buildings for current statement purposes with proper classification to be made during the coming year.

Depreciation for the year ended June 30, 1969, aggregating $197,751, was provided for each individual asset using the straight-line method and the use of estimated useful lives determined by specialists which range from 40 years for buildings to 5 to 20 years for equipment.

NOTE 3 — PENSION PLAN:

The Hospital has in effect a contributing pension plan for its eligible employees. The total pension expense for the year ended June 30, 1969 was $89,138, which includes amortization of prior service cost (aggregating $220,000) over a period of 25 years. The Hospital's policy is to fund pension costs accrued. At January 1, 1969, assets of the pension plan exceeded all vested benefits.

NOTE 4 — COUNTY REIMBURSEMENT FOR COMMUNITY MENTAL HEALTH CENTER:

From the opening of the health center to June 30, 1969, the Hospital received $355,771 from Marin County as reimbursement for expenses incurred in operating the Community Mental Health Center Outpatient Clinic.

It was the Hospital's understanding that the County would reimburse the Hospital for the net excess of cost over actual billings for inpatients and for the regular daily room rate and ancillary services for all County patients. To date, however, the County's reimbursement to the Hospital has been for the estimated cost of services rendered. Based upon a review by hospital management of all Community Mental Health Center patients treated through June 30, 1969, the County has overpaid the Hospital by approximately $43,000 for inpatient care. This amount is subject to review by the County since there may be some difference of opinion between the Hospital and the County as to who may qualify as a County patient, and also as to the nature of certain of the charges.

NOTE 5 — CONTINGENT LIABILITY AND COMMITMENTS:

The Hospital is contingently liable as guarantor of patients' loans aggregating an approximate amount of less than $5,000.

The Hospital has accepted a bid in the aggregate amount of $96,213 for the filling and placement of temporary drainage structure and temporary paving for the parking area across Bon Air Road.

Teeth Broken In Auto Crash

Tommie Lois Pockrus, 21, of 20 Locksly Lane, San Rafael, was treated for broken teeth and cut left knee at Marin General Hospital Sunday after a three-car collision at Grand Avenue and Second Street at 10 p.m., police reported yesterday.

Candyce Jane Lundgren, 18 of 55 Canal Street, San Rafael was cited for failing to stop for a red light, according to police.

After colliding with the Packrus car, Miss Lunudgren's car spun into the front of a car driven by Harold Kenneth Harroun, 49, of 154 Terrace Avenue, San Rafael, police said.

Counterfeit $20 Bill Is Passed

A counterfeit $20 bill was passed Saturday at the Gilmore Shell Service Station at 834 Irwin Street, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

The male suspect was about 22 or 24, weighing 160 pounds, standing five feet, ten inches tall and wearing a purple shirt, black slacks and an Afro-haircut, police said. He was accompanied by a woman, 25 or 26, wearing a blue print dress, according to police.

First Quarter Probation Subsidy

Expected commitments of youths and adults to state institutions will be reduced in Marin and Sonoma counties during 1969-70, projections of first quarter figures indicate.

The program, called probation subsidy, provides state money to counties which reduce their commitment rate.

Marin can expect $32,000 and Sonoma $240,000, according to figures from Allen F. Breed, director of the California Youth Authority. In 1968-69, Marin received $88,000.

Breed reported Marin's expected level of 44 will be reduced to 36 commitments based on first-quarter results. The decrease is 18.8 per cent.

Local probation officials, however, have a more optimistic view. Commitments for the first quarter were higher than usual and are not believed characteristic of the rest of the year.

Sonoma's expected level of commitment, 96, will drop to 36, a decrease of 62.6 per cent, according to Breed.

Garbage Ordinance On Hub Agenda

The San Anselmo City Council will consider final adoption of a revised garbage ordinance when it meets at 8 p.m. today at city hall.

The new ordinance will provide for unlimited pickup to take care of garden clippings after the backyard burning ban begins Jan. 1.

Shut Session Complaint Is Aired

What was described as a complaint against two teachers in Sausalito School District last Tuesday was actually a complaint against the superintendent and a principal, the man who made it said yesterday.

The district board went into closed session last Tuesday night during its regular meeting. When a reporter asked the reason for closing the session, he was told it was to hear charges against two teachers.

Not so, said Dr. Thomas J. Mannell of 596 Sausalito Boulevard, who made the charges. He said they were against Supt. Phillip W. Schneider and Principal Sidney F. Walton Jr. of Martin Luther King School.

Mannell said he complained also about the level of instruction in Martin Luther King School. This, however, would not be legal reason for a closed board session.

The charges were made in connection with Mannell's request that he be permitted to transfer his two daughters, who attend King School, to another district. The board postponed decision on the request to its Dec. 22 meeting.

Fund Panel To Be Decided

A proposal naming the Marin City Council as "project area committee" to secure federal funds for planning will be considered by the Marin County Redevelopment Agency at its 8:30 p.m. meeting tomorrow at Manzanita Center in Marin City.

The agreement would provide the apparatus for securing funds to supplement "701" planning money up to $50,000 for two years. Federal agencies require citizen participation before granting money and provide two-thirds of the money required for developing a master plan.

The Marin County Housing Authority will meet at Manzanita Center at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow to receive from the Marin Ecumenical Housing Association plans for the Hilarita housing development.

Soldier Is Held Burglary Suspect

An AWOL soldier was picked up by Pacifica police Saturday on a Petaluma warrant for burglary.

Frank J. Vargas, 19, of 95-B Cornona Road, Petaluma, formerly of Novato, was turned over to military police who said he had been absent without leave from Fort Lewis, Wash.

Petaluma police had accused him of taking $440 worth of televisions and radios from the neighboring apartment of Joseph M. Cabral, 95-A Corona Road.

Possession Of Drug Admitted

James Robert Chrisler, 20, of Mill Valley, admitted yesterday in Marin Superior Court that he possessed marijuana when arrested Sept. 11 in Mill Valley.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson set sentencing for Feb. 2.

Door Smashed

Vandals yesterday smashed the front glass door at the American French Laundry at 700 A Street and a southside window at Rafael Carpets at 112 Jacoby Street, San Rafael police reported today.

It Hurts When Rohde Looks Back On Season

Next Sunday's 49ers-Philadelphia Eagles contest in San Francisco is a nothing game. A zero. Both teams are among the National Football League's also-rans and they'll be left wanting when Santa Rozelle fills stockings at season's end.

But, the loser of this Nothing Bowl stands to profit in one respect. That's the annual player draft in which teams with the worst records select higher in the grab bag.

Thus, wouldn't it be better for the 49ers to lose next Sunday since nothing else is at stake?

"I couldn't care less about the draft. I don't care if they ever draft a player. We just want to win. Right now I'd like to go kick hell out of the Eagles just for spite."

Len Rohde, offensive tackle for the 49ers, thus summed up his team's attitude for the Marin Boosters Club yesterday as he and guard Elmer Collett and tight end Bob Windsor discussed a variety of pro grid topics over lunch following Sunday's 10-7 loss to Minnesota.

Rohde, with 10 years of hash marks on his professional armor, fairly bristles when he looks back over the 1969 season in which the 49ers started with a promise and wound up with not so much as a peck on the cheek.

It Started Very Early

"I'm sick," he said. "I look at our personnel and statistics and it makes me sick to see where we are. It all started in our first exhibition game against Cleveland when we dominated the game and mistakes beat us. That typifies our season. Yesterday I felt we could have beaten Minnesota easily and still weren't playing our best. I don't know. I feel hollow."

He added that key injuries on defense had a lot to do with San Francisco's collapse. "That hurts with a defense as complex as ours," he said. "The top teams like Minnesota, Dallas and Oakland didn't hurt as much on defense. Maybe the breaks will go our way next year."

Incredible playing conditions in snow-bound Minnesota Sunday came up for discussion. Rohde said Minnesota's famous Fearsome Foursome defensive line is "probably the best in the league but the conditions didn't afford them the opportunity to maximize their ability."

Collett, who grew up around Mill Valley and Stinson Beach, said playing in a blizzard for the first time was an "interesting experience," adding, "Oh, I'd been to Squaw Valley one weekend and last year got to throw some snow balls on Mount Tamalpais, but nothing like this. You just can't run. And trying to block is ridiculous."

Caught Holding Twice

The barrel-chested, physical culturist who attended Tam High was whistled down twice for holding Sunday. He said he was a marked man because a defensive player "notified the ref that I was possibly holding. I hadn't been called for holding on a running block all year, so to be called twice in one game is ridiculous. It was just an honest slip and an honest grab."

Charles Elmer also said 1969 has been "a hard, frustrating season and it gets a little harder each game to get up the old vim and vigor."

Officiating in Sunday's game came under discussion, particularly on a crucial fumble by 49er Doug Cunningham that killed a 49er goalward drive. "The ref blew the play dead before the fumble," noted Windsor, "but another ref came up and said Doug fumbled before the whistle and talked him out of it. Obnoxious might be a strong word, but I think it fits them. I think they were Central Division refs."

"We have specials for every game," chuckled Windsor, "and hadn't played Atlanta for nine games. Nobody knew what he was talking about and here was poor Kwalick trying to explain the patterns with about seven seconds to go. Finally, Spurrier just winged it as far as he could downfield hoping somebody would get it." It was intercepted. It's now called the "Minnesota Special."

Windsor 'Running Scared'

Windsor said the presence of Kwalick, the heralded No. 1 draft choice, behind him had a lot to do with his great season. "I was fortunate to start off real well and Ted was late getting to camp. You might say I've been running scared," he said.

Asked to compare Los Angeles and Minnesota for their NFL divisional title game Dec. 27, Collett said: "Well, I judge teams by their defensive lines and their team unity and I'd say it's pretty much of a tossup."

Rohde added: "Winning is contagious. If L.A. loses next week then the Rams will be in trouble. They'll have trouble getting up."

The 49er Boosters will have their final regular meeting of the season next Monday noon at Dominic's Restaurant in San Rafael. Guests will be team physician, Dr. Lloyd Milburn; player personnel director, Lynn O. "Pappy" Waldorf, and an assistant coach, according to program director Dave Scofield.

Soccer Win For Redwood

Carter Ingram scored three goals yesterday to lead Redwood High School to an 8-3 victory over Novato in the makeup of a Marin County Athletic League soccer match that was postponed from last week due to wet grounds.

The victory pushed Redwood back into a first place tie with San Marin, each team with four victories, one loss and three ties.

Two goals each by Jon Broderick and Francis Kelonzo and one by Anders Carlsson completed Redwood's scoring. Novato's scoring came on two goals by Jim Nissen and one by his brother, Bob.

Big Week For Drake's Carl Brown

By GARY TISCHLER

Last week was the week that was for Carl "Red" Brown, educator, board of education member, coach and tournament director.

Even on a normal basis, it would have been a hectic week, what with his coaching duties as Drake High School basketball mentor. His team was one of the entries in the annual Drake Invitational Tournament, which Brown also directed and nurtured.

But that was also the week in which Brown delivered a long and impressive blast at today's permissive society in an address read to the San Rafael Board of Education. It was Brown pouring his philosophical heart out at long last about something which had been building up for a long time.

AS A RESULT of the speech and its publicity in the Independent-Journal the following day (Wednesday), things have not been quite the same for Brown.

The speech was brought on by Brown's growing concern over the lack of discipline among students, permissiveness among teachers and it turned out to be, as Brown admits, a member of the so-called silent majority speaking out forcefully. And he apparently was heard loud and clear.

"The response has been amazing," Brown said. "And it's all been favorable. I've gotten about 70 letters plus phone calls every night."

BROWN'S WIFE, Kelma, has had to take the brunt of the well-wishers and callers.

"She's really beginning to become unglued," Brown said. "But she'll survive. She always has. She didn't even have time to cook."

With Brown busy at the tournament Wednesday through Saturday, Mrs. Brown was the only one around to handle the phone until Brown got home from the tournament.

"We've gotten about 30 to 40 calls," he said. "Things like 'Don't let it stop here,' 'God bless you' and one from an Italian who said that it's about time an American spoke out."

IN THE MEANTIME, Brown has coached (his team lost three games in the tournament), and has taken care of the loose ends (supplying towels, first aid, lockers, equipment and coffee for the press) at the tournament.

"It hasn't affected any of these things, my coaching or the tournament," he said. "There has been comment from the students, but none of my players said anything. Not a word."

Brown feels his interest on the subject of the speech acutely. As a member of the board, as a coach, as a teacher and an individual, he overlaps himself in all areas. But he doesn't, as yet, plan to do anything further, such as speaking engagements.

"We'll just have to play it by ear," he said.

THE MARIN COUNTY Athletic League water polo race is still tight and furious. Terra Linda remained unbeaten last week, blasting San Marin 18-6, as Steve Bator scored six goals and Pat Ellington five. And Redwood, now 4-1, downed San Rafael, 15-4.

Ellington, incidentally, has really been going to town. He's scored 39 goals in six league games, an average of almost seven a game.

THE MCAL girls' gymnastic season is set to start Jan. 10 with the Marin County Compulsory meet at Drake High School.

There will be seven schools participating this season with 30 girls on each squad.

FIRST DAY ON THE JOB

New Los Angeles Kings coach Johnny Wilson kept a close eye on the action during last night's National Hockey League game with Minnesota in L.A. Wilson, who replaced Hal Laycoe as head coach, came up from the Kings' Springfield, Mass., farm club in the American Hockey League. Wilson had to be content with a 4-4 tie in his first day on the job. (AP Wirephoto)

Wells Surgery Postponed

OAKLAND (AP)—Way back last September, in their first American Football League game of the season, the Oakland Raiders had to struggle from behind to beat the Houston Oilers 21-17.

The Raiders have come a long way since then, rolling to a 12-1-1 mark and their third straight AFL Western Division title.

FAVORITE

The Oilers, meanwhile, posted a season record of 6-6-2, which should make Oakland a big favorite when the two teams meet here Sunday in a playoff game.

The Raiders had a schedule break early in the season, playing the relatively weaker teams first, and their coaching staff was able to bring them along slowly.

By the time they met Kansas City and New York, they had ironed all the bugs out of their system.

It would appear that the Raiders' luck has held as they get the less-impressive Oilers while the Chiefs and Jets struggle to knock each other off in another playoff game.

THE BOMB

Ironically, it was a 64-yard touchdown pass from Daryle Lamonica to Warren Wells late in the game that enabled the Raiders to overcome the Oilers in that first game.

Wells is definitely out of this one. The league leader in touchdown receptions with 14 suffered a shoulder separation last week against the Chiefs and for a while it appeared he would have to undergo surgery.

That apparently won't be necessary, according to Raider Coach John Madden, who is obviously hoping that Wells might be ready if the Raiders get into the title game here Jan. 4.

WILL HURT

The Raiders' chief offensive weapon is the touchdown pass, often the long bomb, and any prolonged loss of Wells is bound to hurt that eventually.

Not only is Wells unsurpassed in getting downfield, he also has the kind of moves that often leave him all alone in the end zone to wait for Lamonica's bombs to drop while would-be defenders are, picking themselves up off the turf.

If the opposition double-teams Wells, that leaves Fred Biletnikoff open. Though not as fast as Wells, Biletnikoff has the same moves and is, if anything, better at catching the ball in a crowd. He has 12 touchdown receptions this year, second to Wells in the AFL.

Madden, who watched the Oilers beat Boston on television Sunday, said: "They ran the ball well. When they have Hoyle Granger in there, he's a good runner, and Woody Campbell has stepped in well after returning from the service."

Seals Get Howie Menard

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Seals, hoping to add some aggressiveness to their forward line, have acquired Chicago Black Hawks' center Howie Menard in exchange for forward Gene Ubriaco.

"Menard is an aggressive hard-working center whose forechecking has been a strongpoint during his career," said Seals' General Manager Frank Selke. "The trade does not solve our problems but we believe his scrappy play will help turn our club around."

The Seals, 7-16-4, are in fifth place in the National Hockey League's West Division.

Menard, 27, has scored two goals and has three assists this season. Ubriaco, who will be 32 next week, scored 19 goals last season, but has seen limited action this year and has one goal and an assist.

Rec Basketball

Cain's Tires defeated Rejects 53-44 and Kettle downed Sausalito Pharmacy 54-43 last night in the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department's adult basketball league.

Grand Jury Indicts Three In New York Boxing Probe

NEW YORK (AP) — Chief Asst. Dist. Atty. Alfred J. Scotti announced today a grand jury had returned three indictments in an investigation of corruption in professional boxing.

Named in indictments were light heavyweight boxer Frankie DePaula, 29, of Jersey City, N.J.; Joseph "Joe Carlo" Calabro, 44, Brooklyn, N.Y. and James "Jimmy Nap" Napoli, Scotti said.

Scotti said the grand jury, meeting in June, was probing alleged sports bribe-receiving, grand larceny by extortion, criminal usury (loan sharking) and promoting gambling.

The indictments, however, specified only perjury in the case of DePaula and perjury and criminal contempt in the case of Calabro and Napoli.

DePaula and his manager, Gary Garafola, were suspended by Edwin Dooley, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission after they were called into an investigation of boxing corruption last May, but DePaula won court permission to fight again.

The probe, has been conducted in near-secrecy by the District Attorney's office since its inception last May after the Dick Tiger—Nino Benventi bout. Both Tiger and Benvenuti were called to testify.

Speculation about a possible crackdown intensified last Friday night after Teddy Brenner, matchmaker for Madison Square Garden, was supoenaed to testify before next month's grand jury.

Tomales High Withdraws From Tourney

Once one of the most promising basketball teams in the area, the Tomales High School Braves, riddled by injuries and suspensions, have withdrawn from the Rose City Invitational Tournament at Cardinal Newman High, near Santa Rosa, scheduled this week.

Coach Davis Danielson's team is without six top ball players, including 6-foot-7 center Bob Dixon, who averaged 27.3 points per game last year. Dixon was among the three players suspended and prospective starters Ron Petroni, Dennis Rodoni and Mike Velloza are out nursing football injuries.

Tomales will be replaced in the tournament by Eureka High School.

THREE AT HOME

Busy Slate For Marin

College of Marin's basketball team, the new champion of its own invitational tournament, gets its reward this week.

Four ballgames in five days. And a Merry Christmas to you, too!

Actually, nobody is trying to torture the tired Tars. The whole thing is a slight scheduling mixup that couldn't be avoided.

"Three games I wouldn't mind," Tar coach John Panagakis said. "But four, that's a little too much."

'TOO MUCH'

The Tars, now 4-3, after winning three straight games and the title in their own tournament last week, go to Fremont to play Ohlone College tonight at 8 o'clock. Tomorrow, they host Napa at 8 p.m. Thursday, they can stay home and rest. Friday, Yuba College is in Kentfield for an 8 p.m. game, and Cabrillo College visits Kentfield Saturday night at 8 o'clock. And Sunday will eventually come around.

The following weekend, the Tars get to play possibly three more games, in the Santa Monica Tournament.

The worst may be yet to come, but the Tars and Panagakis are still basking in the afterglow of winning, for the first time, their own tournament, a feat that will surely give them a shot in the arm.

"This is definitely a boost for us," Panagakis said. "That was really great. They just really performed well. They were tired, but what a fine group of kids."

The big turnabout, which saw the Tars lose three of their first four games only to win three in a row in the tournament, may help them in the long week ahead.

Ohlone is reportedly improved over past seasons. Napa and Yuba both played in the COM tournament, with little success while Cabrillo is reportedly big and tall with a front line running 6-8, 6-6 and 6-5.

"I know it will be hard to get up for some of these games, like Napa and Yuba," Panagakis said. "But on any night, they can knock you off."

South Africa Tennis Group Welcomes Ashe

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa, (AP) — Arthur Ashe, the American Negro tennis star, wants to play tennis not politics in South Africa, believes Alf Chalmers, president of the South African Lawn Tennis Union.

He said, "I think Arthur Ashe wants to come to South Africa to play tennis. From what I have seen of him he is quite a decent chap.

"The things he is reported to have said may have been exaggerated and misquoted," he added. "This could easily have happened."

Chalmers said the union was unanimous in its decision to allow Ashe to play in the South African Championships. "He is a great tennis player. As such we have no objections."

Chalmers said his organization had received a lengthy letter from the U.S. association which stated that Ashe was such an outstanding player he should be accepted to compete in the championships. He added that the Union was quite happy to allow him to play in the national championships in Johannesburg next year. It was now up to Ashe to get his visa in New York.

Other Tall Tales Of Marin Outdoors

Boy! Here we go again! The other day, as I left home, a young fellow named Bob Campagna of San Geronimo Valley stopped me. He wanted to know if all the stories I write are true? Now that's some question.

Here are some of the problems I have to cope with:

Last week I really caught a 90-pound sturgeon. I brought it home, actually weighed the thing, filleted it out, and then decided to bait some fisherman. So, I took it up to Millerton Point on Tomales Bay where I placed it along the shore line, figuring the birds, crabs and other fish would soon dispose of it, but that it would shake up the fisherman there, too.

Later that day, a number of fishermen on Tomales Bay noticed the fish and the stories and the action started!

Marty Medin of Woodacre, who fishes Tomales often and keeps up on things, came by the house and told me about Dave Plant of Inverness helping some angler land a monster sturgeon at Millerton Point, then filleting the fish out right on the spot. He also described the stomach contents of this fish as containing three ghost shrimp and two rock crabs. The stimated weight was 150 pounds! All this is very interesting to me.

The following morning LeRoy Martinelli of Pt. Reyes told me the same tale, adding that some of the fellows from the Silver Dollar Bar at Pt. Reyes Station went down and picked up this carcass, and brought it up to the bar. Measurements and educated guesses were flowing all over the place as well as the other choice drinks served there. This fish by now had almost reached the 200-POUND class.

Later that day, I was telling Sonny Cheda of Pt. Reyes about the unusual growth of this fish, when along came Lefty Arndt, another local, who is a former commercial fisherman, a good sports fisherman, and a very honest and sincere guy.

Good Nite, he started to tell Sonny and me about this same sturgeon. He said he personally measured it and that it was slightly over eight feet long. (I know by tape measure that it measured six feet, three inches in length.)

Now I'm reporting these stories as they come in, so you can see if I didn't know about this particular fish, I would be reporting to you that an eight-foot sturgeon weighing over 200 pounds was taken off Millerton Point this past week.

There's only one answer to all this: Fish when removed from the water must begin to grow and take on weight, so from here on out it might be a good idea to subtract one-half of the reported weight, then you should have the true size of the fish before it was taken out of the water, and before this phenomenal growth takes place.

Other interesting events reported were:

Waldo Giacomini of Pt. Reyes shot a four and one-half pound mallard, Pete Valconesi of Pt. Reyes say a 30-pound silver salmon jump off Inverness (the record California Silver weighed 22 pounds); Bill Thompson of Inverness caught a 236-pound black marlin in Mexico this past week and his wife is now reporting that it now weighs 240 pounds and growing; four anglers checked at White House Pool said they had four steelhead, but when I looked at the fish they had all turned into silver salmon (silver salmon have a black mouth and tongue; steelhead have a pure white mouth and tongue); also Bruce Daniels, the Pt. Reyes Veterinarian said he had the biggest strike ever at White House Pool; and I personally saw Mike McLean, the constable, jerk his line when Bruce wasn't looking, though I will admit the man's reaction caused the tears to come to my eyes from laughing (It's impossible to describe this event.) Now you wouldn't call all these fisherman and hunters liars would you? So, to answer Mr. Campagna, certainly, all my stories are true.

At White House Pool at Pt. Reyes Station, the rain caused the salmon to move in from the bay, so the action was fair. Lots of fish jumping with probably 20 to 30 taken the last three days. A few steelhead were also taken.

The new hot lure has been a Meps Gold Comet No. 3. Most of the fish weighed 16-pounds. (Subtract one-half for true weights.)

John Ball Jr., aged 13, and Bobby Bunce, 9, pooled their talents to land a nice fish. Both these kids knew their fish was a salmon and they let me estimate the weight. In the water it weighed three pounds.

Over the weekend at Tomales Bay, checked one Brant (about 300 are in up there) with mixed limits of sprig, wigeon and bluebills. Generally the skullers did the best.

Striper fishing should pick up in Tomales off Inverness with the rains. George Smith of Inverness is now leading the Inverness derby with a 26-pound fish. George trolls by rowing and seems to have far better luck than the anglers using motors.

And San Pablo should now improve striper, sturgeon and flounder wise with the rough fish gone. Let's go get em!

Harry Hidekawa of San Francisco took a 115-pound sturgeon. And good numbers of flounder to five pounds were also caught.

Warriors Host Seattle Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—It's anybody's guess at the starting lineup when the San Francisco Warriors host the Seattle Supersonics tonight at Civic Auditorium.

The Warriors, riddled by injuries, have had to improvise on offense the last couple of weeks. Yet they have not fallen far behind in the National Basketball Association Western Division race. Their 14-15 record leaves them 4 1-2 games from first place Atlanta.

INJURIES

The Warriors have been without guard Al Attles and forward Jerry Lucas for several weeks. Forward Dave Gambee has been hobbled by a variety of hurts, and forward Joe Ellis has been playing despite the pain of a damaged tendon in the little finger of his shooting hand.

"I don't complain about injuries" says coach George Lee. "Every team has them. But things are getting brutal."

Lee used 6-4 Jeff Mullins at forward last weekend in the Warrior win over Detroit. But Lee says this strategy will work only against teams with small frontline men.

Seattle has big, muscular forwards including Tom Meschery, Bob Boozer and John Tresvant. The Sonics sent Los Angeles to the foul line 47 times Sunday night and lost to the Lakers despite a 45-point effort from center Bob Rule.

"KRule is tough," said Lee. "He tries to take our Nate Thurmond outside, and score with little jumpers and a good hook."

Lee also expects the Sonics to run on the Warriors. Seattle player-coach Len Wilkens leads the NBA in assists.

MESCHERY RETURNS

Tonight's 8 o'clock game marks the first time San Francisco fans get a chance to see former Warrior Meschery this season.

Meschery, while with the Warriors, was known as "the mad Russian." Now he has a thick mustache to go with the nickname.

Three Share Marin Prep Point Lead

San Marin's returning one-man show, Redwood's widely-acclaimed forward and the big man at Tamalpais are the top scorers among Marin County Athletic League cagers in non-league fames.

That would be Gary Howard of San Marin, Jerry Piro of Redwood and Bill Secor of Tamalpais.

Howard, after a 28-point splurge in an 84-82 loss to Pinole Valley, Saturday took over the scoring lead, average wise, with a 21.3 average on 106 points in five games.

Secor scored 78 points in three games at the Healdsburg Tournament, upping his season total to 124 points in six games for a 20.6 average.

Piro has more points than anybody with 141 markers, good for a 20.1 average over seven games.

The trio make up the 20-point club, since no other cager is near that mark. Best after them is San Rafael guard Bruce Nave with a 16.6 average and San Marin's 6-foot-8 junior Dana Laferriere with a 16.6 average.

Ninteen MCAL cagers are averaging in double figures.

Marin Semi-Pro Quintet In S.F. League Playoffs

Paradise Pharmacy of Corte Madera will be the lone Marin County entry in the annual Potrero Class A Invitational Basketball League playoffs, and the Marin semi-pro team will be trying to get a crack at all the marbles tomorrow in San Francisco.

The Marin entry finished second in regular season play in a league stocked by five teams from San Francisco, and two from Oakland.

Tomorrow's game, which will be played at Potrero Hill Recreation in San Francisco at 7:30 p.m., could give Paradise Pharmacy the playoff title and one point. Two points are needed to win the overall title.

Chiefs, Raiders Playoff Picks

LAS VEGAS (UPI)—Kansas City was made a three-point favorite by oddsmakers yesterday over the New York Jets in Saturday's American Football League playoff game at New York.

The Oakland Raiders were favored by 13 to beat the Houston Oilers in Sunday's other AFL inter-division contest at Oakland.

Halas Slaps Huge Fine On Carter

CHICAGO (AP) — Discontentment, dissension, disenchantment—call it what you will—but it all seems to be surfacing for the Chicago Bears in the wake of charges against the club by quarterback Virgil Carter, who has been slapped with a $1,000 fine.

Carter, the usually soft-spoken Mormon from Brigham Young, sounded off after being lifted at halftime of Sunday's game with the Green Bay Packers and replaced by rookie quarterback Bobby Douglass.

The Bears lost their 12th National Football League game in 13 starts as the Packers scored all their points in the third quarter for a 21-3 victory.

SOUNDS OFF

Carter fumed that Coach Jim Dooley "didn't have the guts" to tell him why he was taken out, called Dooley a liar and demanded to be traded.

"They've been threatening to trade away a bunch of players and I'm making it easy for them — I'm volunteering," snapped Carter, who is in his sophomore year with the Bears.

"I told Virgil," said Halas, "that when he mentions he wants to be traded or play out his option, or his troubles with Dooley, that's one thing. But when he says he wants to play out his option and hopes that the chicken management won't stand in his way, that's something else. I told him, 'Now you are in my bailiwick and you are being fined $1,000' for conduct detrimental to the ball club."

BIGGEST FINE

"Carter said, 'You can't do that.' I said, it's being done.

"It's the biggest fine I've ever made against a player for this type of thing. The money will be turned over to the Crusade of Mercy fund."

Carter was not available for comment after the fine.

Halas said Carter 'seems to be under "the dire influence of someone who has caused a wholesale change in his character."

Dooley said that "anything particular I have to say to Virgil or the team will be done as a group and at an appropriate time."

Dooley added that it was a "coaches decision" to bench Carter.

6½ GAMES

"He has played 6½ games in two years and all of a sudden he is quesioning the coaching staff," said Dooley.

Two hours after the announcement of Carter's fine,a "Dollars for Virgil" drive sprung up in Chicago.

Santa Clara, Pacific Quints Get Stiff Tests This Week

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Santa Clara and the University of the Pacific, two of the highest-riding Nothern California basketball teams at the moment, may find out just how good their squads are in the near future.

Santa Clara, which won its third straight Cable Car Classic title Saturday in running its unbeaten string to four, visits Houston tomorrow and Oklahoma City Thursday.

UOP, 4-1 after a successful road trip, hosts always - tough Portland Thursday.

LAUDS DEFENSE

"We were extremely happy to win the tournament again," said Santa Clara's Dick Garibaldi before his club, ranked No. 11 in the country, left on its road trip. "Our defense carried us to both wins. Our offense needs to show improvement."

Pacific's Dick Edwards, whose club beat Seattle on the road and lost by two points to highly regarded Drake, said, "I think we've improved in every game we have played. We've played some excellent basketball in spurts and kept the pressure on when we needed to."

The Northern California Basketball Writers named Santa Clara's Dennis Awtrey and Pacific's Bill Stricker as players of the week. Awtrey is averaging 18.5 points and 16.2 rebounds a game. Stricker is averaging 24.2 points.

IMPROVING

California's Jim Padget, whose team is 3-2 after beating Army and losing to Santa Clara in the Cable Car tournament, said,"Our defense is improving, which is a must if we're going to compete in the Pacific-8."

The Bears are on their final-exam break and next play New Mexico at home. Stanford, 1-3, is also taking time out for exams and next plays St. John's of New York next Monday and UC Santa Barbara on Tuesday.

USF's Phil Vukecevick, whose team is 3-2 after losing to Army and Santa Clara, blamed the losses on dry shooting spells.

"We went 11 minutes without a field goal against Army," the USF coach said. "I think we are a better shooting team. We just have to be more selective in our shots."

The Dons next play Utah in the Utah Classic Friday night. Bradley and Michigan State are the other teams in the tournament.

Mike Cimino, St. Mary's coach, said he was puzzled by his team's 1-3 record. "We're a better team than the way we've been playing. We're turning the ball over too many times and we're shooting poorly."

St. Mary's starts a tough road trip this week, playing DePaul tomorrow, Miami Friday and St. Francis of Pennesylvania next Monday.

RAPS OFFICIALS

San Jose's Danny Glines criticized the officiating in his team's dedeats at Brigham Young and Utah over the weekend, but said it probably made no difference in the outcome of the games.

The Spartans, now 1-5, are at Wyoming Friday and at Colorado State next Monday.

Harry Jupiter, co-director of the Cable Car Classic, said the tournament broke even this year and has lined up such teams as Weber State, South Carolina, LaSalle and Duke for the next four years along with USF, Santa Clara and Cal.

Krueger To Return For Another Season

REDWOOD CITY (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers don't know if John Brodie will start at quarterback against Philadelphia on Sunday, but they know veteran defensive tackle Charlie Krueger will be back next year.

Coach Dick Nolan said yesterday that Kreuger, 32, had said a year ago he might retire. But the 49ers convinced him to stay and he's done so well he plans to return next year, Nolan noted.

Krueger has been on the field for every single defensive play this year.

Nolan also reported he was pleased with Steve Spurrier's performance in last Sunday's 10-7 defeat at Minnesota, but that it's too early to tell whether Brodie or Spurrier will start next Sunday.

Spurrier has completed 74 of 129 passes for 849 yards and a 57.3 percentage while filling in for Brodie, who has been nursing a sore elbow.

FOOTBALL

NEW ORLEANS — Billy Kilmer, quarterback for the New Orleans Saints, rested in a hospital today. A Saints' spokesman said the exact nature of Kilmer's ailment won't be known until after a series of tests today.

BALTIMORE — Lenny Lyles, 12-year veteran of the Baltimore Colts announced he will retire at the end of the 1969 National Football League season.

INDIANAPOLIS — The Continental Football League revoked the franchises of the Omaha Mustangs, the Ohio Valley Ironmen and the Chicago Owls.

BASEBALL

LOS ANGELES — Jim Barbiere and John Miller of Spokane, of the Pacific Coast League have signed contracts to play for the Chunichi Dragons in Nagoya, Japan.

CINCINNATI — The Cincinnati Reds traded pitcher Gerry Arrige to the Chicago White Sox for outfielder Angel Bravo.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Market Drop Hits Mutual Fund Holder

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Last March we invested most of our life's saving in three funds, Founders, Gryphon and Puritan. Should we take our loss — which is large — and put our money in the bank? — L.A.

A. It is easy for a counselor to dispense words of encouragement. But for the individual faced with a sizable shrinkage of his hard-earned capital, patience and optimism are hard to muster. Yet reviewing past performance in your three holdings, there is every reason to believe that with an improved market atmosphere you will see recovery in these three mutual funds.

The largest, Puritan, has 69 per cent of its $825 million assets invested in about 200 different common stocks. Bonds, preferreds, cash and short-term notes constitute the balance. A $10,000 investment made in January, 1959, with all distributions reinvested would have tripled by the end of last year.

A similar investment in Gryphon, founded in April 1963, tripled by the end of 1968 — less than six years. Also the most speculative of the three, Gryphon has shown the sharpest decline this year.

Founders, a more conservative growth-income fund, appreciated 135 per cent in the same 10-year period.

Q. How would you compare Philadelphia Electric 8s of 1975 and Tennessee Valley Authority 8s of 1974 as to safety and retention of market value? — W.J.

A. The safety factor of these two short-term noncallable bonds is the same, both are rated Aaa by Moody's. Interest on the TVA power bonds is exempt from local and state taxes. Price has moved as high as 105-⅝ since this bond was offered to the public at 101 to yield 7.75 per cent to maturity. Philadelphia Electric's first and refunding mortgage bonds came out in mid-August and subsequently reached 104. These now trade at about the same premium as the TVA bond.

In choosing, you must balance the relative advantages of the extra year to maturity for Philadelphia Electric 8s against the tax-exempt feature of the TVA 8s.

New Division

AKRON (UPI) — Firestone Coated Fabrics Co., a division of Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., has formed a new division to manufacture hydraulic linings for water, sewage, and pollution control. The linings have a variety of applications ranging from small reservoirs to golf course water hazards.

Stock Market In Second Day Decline

Volume amounted to around 11,500,000 shares slightly above yesterday's pace.

Among the most active issues were Chrysler, International Telephone and American Telephane. ITT was down ⅝ in late trading. Chrysler closed at 32⅛, off 2⅛, and AT&T closed off ⅝ at 49⅝.

A highlight of the day's activity was a block of 397,200 shares of Chrysler changing hands at 32, down 2¼ from Monday's close. The transaction was handled on both sides—for institutions—by Salomon Bros. & Hutzler.

ITT said it would make a public tender offer to Hartford Fire Insurance Co. after the Connecticut insurance commissioner blocked the proposed merger last weekend.

Other heavily traded stocks included Occidental, Gulf Oil, Texaco, Litton, Skyline, Polaroid and General Electric. Texaco closed up 1-8 at 29 1-8. Before the close, Occidental was up 1-2, Gulf Oil up 7-8, Litton down 2 1-2 and Polaroid off 3-4.

Electronics were mostly lower, as were most motors, oils, airlines and rails. Steels and chemicals traded narrowly.

Prices declined on the American Stock Exchange in moderate trading.

Computer Plan

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Girard Co., holding company for Girard Trust Bank, has agreed in principle to buy an interest in National Computer Analysts, Inc., of Princeton, N.J. Terms were not disclosed.

Construction Picture Brighter Last Month

Marin County construction picked up in November, with a total value of $5,808,673 in building permits, according to figures from the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau.

This was a mighty jump from the year-ago November total of $3,036,669 and about 10 per cent higher than this year's October figures. About 44 per cent of this November's permits were for residential construction and 39 per cent commercial.

San Rafael incorporated and incorporated areas led with $2,659,837 in total permits, of which $1,877,425 was commercial — mostly in the Northgate area. Larkspur was in second place with a total of $1,057,500, almost all residential. Novato totaled out at $322,580 for its incorporated and unincorporated areas, $270,000 of this residential.

Sausalito's $372,300 was 53-per cent residential and almost all of Mill Valley's incorporated and unincorporated total of $485,888 was residential. Corte Madera's $216,570 was heavier on the commercial side and Tiburon, incorporated and unincorporated, had most of its $161,770 in residential construction.

Greenbrae and Kentfield totaled $128,000 with $75,000 of this residential. Fairfax with $103,400 had nearly all residential construction. Incorporated Belvedere's total of $40,562 was all miscellaneous permits as was the Ross total of $6,000. San Anselmo's $36,566 was two-thirds residential.

In west Marin, the $145,900 total was over 64 per cent residential and in all other unincorporated areas a total of $71,800 was mostly for miscellaneous permits.

November Bank Clearings Up

Marin County bank clearings for November were up from 1968 figures, continuing a trend which has existed throughout the year.

The Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco reported unadjusted debits of $223,491,000, compared with $195,556,000 during November of last year. Unadjusted deposits rose from $101,376,000 a year ago to $102,572,000.

Seasonally adjusted debits, deposits and turnover ratios are not yet reported for Marin County.

Giant Subs For Alaskan Oil Proposed

NEW YORK UPI) — General Dynamics Corp. made its formal bid today for support for its project to build nuclear powered submarine tankers to haul oil from Alaska's artic slope.

Roger Lewis, General Dynamics president, said the company whose electric boat division at Groton, Conn., is the free world's major builder of submarines, has made extensive feasibility and cost studies and is convinced the submarine ultimately will be needed for all-year transport of Alaska's arctic oil.

General Dynamics envisions a submarine 900 feet long, weighing a total fo 250,000 tons and capable of hauling 170,000 tons of oil. She could be loaded either on the surface of the sea or while lying submerged off Alaska Prudhoe Bay. She could traverse the Northwest Passage in midwinter by sailing under the ice where the water has a steady 28-degree temperature. She would be immune to surface storms as well as to the ice.

General Dynamics submitted its proposal to Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), Atlantic Richfield, Mobil Oil, Standard Oil (Ohio) and Phillips Petroleum, ali of which have large stakes in Alaskan artic oil. Lewis said delivery schedules and cost proposals were made for a fleet of six of the submarine tankers.

Even though the underwater tanker would cost considerably more to build than an ice-breaking surface tanker of comparable size, Lewis said it would achieve substantially lower costs in moving oil year round from Alaska to the east coast of the United States.

Lewis also said the studies showed General Dynamics could build a nuclear-powered tanker of up to 300,000 tons capacity. The tanker sub could not be built in electric boat's Broton yard but would have to be built at General Dynamics large shipyards at Quincy, Mass.

When the experimental ice-breaking tanker Manhattan returned from her epochal voyage through the Northwest Passage this fall, chairman M. A. Wright of Esso's Humble division told a news conference the oil companies definitely are interested in the possibility of using submarine tankers. He said their main concern is how soon General Dynamics would be able to build the craft.

Coast Guard officers at the conference raised the question of whether the water under the ice is deep enough along the whole route for safe navigation of such a huge submarine since the craft would measure 85 feet from keel to top of her conning tower. But a General Dynamics' spokesman said: "There is plenty of water under the ice.

"General Dynamics' position is that both surface tankers and submarines, and probably pipelines as well, will be needed to haul arctic oil, he said. "We also believe the big flow will not start for five years which leaves plenty of time to build submarine tankers."

We'd rather send you no one.

No one is better than anybody. Anybodies seldom meet your job requirements. They're a waste of your time.

Never sending anybodies has been the Snelling and Snelling policy since we started.

And it's worked.

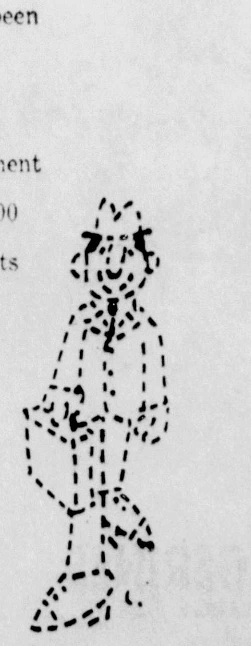
Who personally interview 50,000 job applicants every month.

Who have one million applicants on active file.

Who successfully place twice as many people as the next largest service.

So it's not often that we have to send you no one.



Snelling & Snelling, the people people.

Column FROM Colleen

HELLO THERE!

Hi......

Well Christmas time is almost here . . . Just a few days left to purchase your last minute Christmas Gifts . . . Disco is your one-stop shopping store for all your needs, family and friends.

For the one person so near and dear to you, the camera section has a complete line. The warm rememberances of the holiday season can be fondly shared with all by purchasing a movie camera and projector from our Disco Camera Department at our special low discount price.

How about a present for the whole family? The comfort of sitting at home on Christmas Day watching the parades and football games on your new color TV. . of course you are lounging in the latest styles of at-home-wear from our clothing departments for men women and children. Oh! We can't forget those warm slippers for the whole family.

How about that toy for that boy or girl who has been extra good this year, our toy department has a large variety ranging from the latest educational games to such things as electric train sets.

Of course Disco has all the tree trimming necessities that you can possible imagine . . There are foil "icicles" to garnish the trees limbs that are tarnish proof as well as flame proof. To light up the tree one could use our indoor replacement bulbs of many assorted colors and shapes.

Happy holiday to everyone and hope to be seeing you in the new year.
